Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

MARS HILL

Our Sunday school was rained out Sunday but we hope it will be favorable for the next, as we ave a wonderful subject for our next Sunday's lesson. "Christ's Cross and Mine." Perhaps the question arises in the minds of some—Must I bear a Cross? One answer to that question is no. No one is compelled to bear a cross. Jesus said "If any mean will come after me" thus indicating that no one is compelled to follow Him. And that all who follow Him must do so voluntarily.

Many live their entire lives in ease and self-pleasing and never take up a cross. But those who contemplate living without a cross should look to the end of the course.

Jesus declared that those who refuse the cross for the sake of their own prosperity and pleasure forfeit their souls in so doing. On the other hand, whoever chooses the way of the cross, although he may appear to the world to have thrown his life away, in the sight of Christ and in reality enters into life and lives fully and abundantly.

Sunday afternoon is our regular singing date and we invite all singers from other communities to come and be with us.

HERE'S JUDGE READY TO RETIRE AT 70, BUT THEN HE'S ONLY 33

Oklahoma City, Okla.—The nation's youngest federal judge, Alfred P. from Birmingham on a freight train in "Fish" Murrah, 33, who came westward 1918, takes his oath of office today. And he said he'll be ready to quit when he is 70.

"I'll have 37 years on the bench," he said, "and by that time I'll be ready to retire".

He was appointed recently by President Roosevelt to a roving assignment as the state's Fourth Federal District judge, a $10,000-a-year job.

duced Murrah to the president when Senator Josh Lee, (D., Okla.), intro-

Murrah was being considered for the post.

The president turned to Lee, Murrah said, and declared

"He's young enough. Is he liberal enough? Does he recognize the rights of the man in the street as well as the man in the skyscraper?"

Murrah did not disclose Lee's reply.

"I'm going to try to be a human and a natural federal judge," he said. "I hope to look more into the philosophy of the law than into its technicalities."

His statement that he'd be ready to reire when he was 70, was the only one he would make touching on President Roosevelt's court reorganiation plan.

"I'm a Democrat, a Franklin Delano Roosevelt Democrat," he said speaking at a recent Roosevelt "victory dinner" in Tulsa, "but I expect to lay aside my politics when I go on the bench."

Murrah was born in Indian Territory. His mother died and the father returned the family to Alabama. When his father died in 1918, Murrah and his younger brother, George, remained a month with relatives, then flagged a freight out of Birmingham.

The sharp toe of a railroad brakeman landed them in Oklahoma City. The two boys made their way to the home of grandparents in Verden, Okla. In high school, Murrah's blond hair, with a peculiar golden glint, earned him the nickname of "Glodfish" which was quickly shortened to "Fish". The name stuck. Murrah completed high school in three years, enrolled at the University of Oklahoma, making his own way.

He is married and has two young children and several cousins in Chilton caunty.

Immediately after taking the oath, Murrah plans to leave for Ada, Okla., to hold his first court term.

"The Monster At The Gate"

(Editorial in The Montgomery Advertiser)

Dangers are everywhere all the time. This republic is menaced from many directions, all of them, however, internal. Our basic economic situation is far from healthy. Certain natural conditions such as those made by the floods, dust storms and soil erosion cause deep anxiety to every thoughtful person. The low living standards of millions sadden the student of human waste.

Mr. Roosevelt is a statesman and leader of the first rank because he has the imagination to see all of our basic problems and see them clearly and because, once seeing them he seems determined to do something about them.

But there is one menace to the security, the health and the integrity of the republic to which he seems indifferent, upon which he does not dwell in his inspirational fireside talks.

Apparently the sit-down strike principle leaves the President cold. This puzzles us. We do not understand how so good a man, how so intelligent a man, how so brave a man can hold his peace in the face of this extraordinary menace.

At The Adevertiser sees it, it is time that the American people realized the nature of this problem and decide what their attitude should be.

What should be American policy with reference to this new variation of trespass? The question is not idle. It is fundamental in its implications. It calls for immediate consideration.

Newspaper readers know the recent story of the sit-down strike. They know that it whipped General Motors, that its threat brought steel to submission, that now it is tormenting Chrysler and Nash, that it has intimidated countless other industries.

We know that the sit-down strikers have had the sympathy of Mr. AND Mrs. Roosevelt, of Secretary-Sister Frances Perkins of the Department of Labor. But we have not quite understood why these three have been silent in the face of a monster that demands tribute from every American fireside.

Let us get down to the realities. The technique of the sit-down strike is the technique of revolutionists. It is entirely possible that under this technique the private properties of the United States could be transferred from those who now own them to those who now work for them. That would be revolutionary—and robbery. That would represent the triumph of the bottom rail over the top rail, and it would be bloodless.

Bloodless revolutions are better than the other kind, to be sure, but is this country ready for revolution? Do we need one?

The problem of the revolutionist in a society that condones sit-down strikes is purely one of organization. If, inch by inch, some powerful, bold personality should achieve authority over workers in every field—and the present drift is in that direction—only his conscience will stand between Americans and an overthrow of their institutions. Mark well these words, for they are true!

Let's divert ourselves for the moment by supposing a little. Suppose a Lewis, once prepared, should call sit-down strikes on the railroads, the buses and the ships, suppose he should call sit-down strikes in steel, motor cars and mines and the same in mercantile establishments, banks and publishing houses as well as farms—and SUPPOSE that neither the Federal government nor the State governments should intervene to expel the strikers who say that all they want is the property of their employers—where would this republic be? Where would property be? We are just asking, because we want to know.

A thing that is basically immoral ought also to be unlawful. The sit-down strike is basically immoral and intellectually indefensible—but only the people are against it. The Federal government and the governments of the States are for the sit-downers. What are you going to do about it? What can you do when the final great crisis comes, as it surely will come?

Lesson for March 21

JOHN'S PICTURE OF THE TRIAL AND CRUCIFIXION

LESSON TEXT — John 19: 4-9, 14-18, 25-30.

GOLDEN TEXT — Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us; and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren. I John 3:16.

PRIMARY TOPIC — When Jesus Died for Us.

JUNIOR TOPIC — On a Hill Far Away.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christ's Cross and Its Meaning for Me.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ's Cross and Mine.

The cross is accepted throughout the world as the emblem of the Christian church. The death of the Son of God for the sins of the world is a focal point not only in history but in theology. It is for this reason that we give so much study to the cross and its meaning.

Calvary comes between Christmas and Easter. Jesus came as the Babe of Bethlehem—God incarnate in the flesh. He died for you and me. Death could not hold him. He arose in victory. He is now at the Father's right hand, an Advocate with the Father. He is coming again. Each statement is an indispensable truth!

The assigned text gives only a portion of the moving account of the trial and crucifixion of Jesus but suffices to bring before us in graphic contrast four pictures—

I. Pilate—Convinced but Afraid.

Pilate was in a most difficult position. To turn one way meant to incur the wrath of the Jews he governed. To turn the other meant that he would be accused of disloyalty to Rome. He was convinced that Jesus was innocent, but was afraid to follow his own convictions.

Many there are who follow in his steps. They know what they ought to do with Jesus, but fear the comments of friends or loss of earthly advantage, and take their place with Pilate.

II. The Jews—Hostile and Hard-hearted.

The common people heard Jesus gladly. They loved him and would have followed him. But the Jewish leaders, and those whom they had misled, hated him with malicious hatred.

They are typical of those who in our day have long and repeatedly rejected the claims of the Lord Jesus on their lives. They have hardened their hearts against him until they have become embittered.

Paul says, "They received not the love of the truth that they might be saved, and for this cause God shall send them a strong delusion, that they should believe a lie" (II Thess. 2:10,11).

Let those who have long rejected the Saviour be warned lest they also crucify afresh the Son of God.

III. The Disciples—Remembered by the Saviour.

The thoughtful tenderness of Jesus in providing for his mother even in his own hour of deep suffering, moves upon our hearts and urges us to follow his example. This is a hard world; let the followers of Jesus be tender and kind.

In thus caring for his mother, Jesus gives thought also to the new responsibility of the disciple "whom he loved." What a sacred and responsible trust, but is it not true that we also are called and commissioned by him?

IV. Jesus—The Saviour.

To see the guiltless, spotless Son of God hung on the cross in propitiation for our sins is to bring us to our knees to cry as did Martin Luther, "For me, for me!"

Majestic in the assurance that he laid down his own life, he walks as a King in the midst of all the confusion round about him.

He was

1. Silent. His enemies made great hue and cry against him. Pilate questioned him again and again. Few were the words he spoke, but fraught with more meaning than all the words of men.

2. Strong. All through his life and in his death one is impressed by his strength. All too often sacred art, drawing on its imagination, presents our Lord as an effeminate weakling. No; he was and is gloriously strong.

3. Sympathetic. We have already dwelt on his tender love for his mother. Gentleness is always an attribute of strength, not of weakness.

4. The Saviour. When he cried "It is finished," he did so in no weak submission to an inevitable death. No; he had wrought out redemption, a complete and finished redemption for you and for me.

'STOWAWAY", WITH SHIRLEY ON AT THE WADESONIAN

Romantic as the radiant Chinese moon, and as glamorous with its surrounding company of great stars, teeming with danger, thrills, excitement, war-lord bandits, and Shirley Temple as a little waif who talks and sings Chinese, Twentieth Century-Fox's new film, "Stowaway", comes to the Wadesonian Theatre in Clanton next Sunday and Monday, March 21 and 22.

Yes, Shirley's in China now — and you'd think you'd never seen her before—so different is the setting—so surprising the story!

As Ching-Ching, the adopted daughter of a missionary couple killed in a rebel raid, Shirley is picked up by Robert Young, a care-free young millionaire who is touring the world in a vain attempt to get away from himself. Shirley, accidentally stowing away in Young's car on a cruise trip, is instrumental in his meeting Alice Faye, pretty fiancee of stuffy young Allan Lane.

While waiting for Allan to join her at Hong Kong, Alice tours the town with Young and his little protegee, all of them having a glorious lark, which culminates in Shirley's winning a prize in a Chinese amateur show, singing in the native tongue.

Allan then appears to claim his bride to-be, but they part in a fierce quarrel. Meanwhile Young is told by Chinese authorities that he cannot adopt Shirley, being unmarried, and must put her in a local orphanage. Determined not to part from her, he proposes to Alice that she become his wife in name only, then proceed to Reno for a divorce. This she does, but Young, realizing that he is really in love with her, follows her to Reno and with Shirley's artful aid, wins her consent to stay married.

Shirley's strong supporting cast includes, in addition to Robert Young and Alice Faye, Eugene Pallette, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher, J. Edward Bromberg, and Astrid Allwyn.

THE GIVER OF THE INVITATION

Come Unto Me.—Matt. 11-28.

This is the royal invitation, for it is given by the King of Kings. We are so familiar with the words, that we fail to realize them. Sometimes we are so sad, lonely and disturbed over our conditions that we cry aloud. Lord, to who shall we go? May the Holy Spirit open our ears that we may hear the voice of our King, calling to all, "Cme Unto Me All Ye That Labor And I Will Give You Rest."

Oh, the human hearth within us craves a personal, living rest and refuge. No creeds, no systems, however perfect; will give our soul this eternal rest. Nothing but the King of Kings can give rest that will cause us to go about our daily task with a light heart and a smile. As surely as you and I are persons, individualities, real separate existences, so surely must we have a person, no less real and individual, to whom to go in our more or less conscious need of rest. Forsake not the assembling of your selves together, is the command of our King. If we want a community where there is love joy and peace let each member of the church meet at the house of worship and place all their little difficulties in the hands of Him that said, "Come Unto To Me, And I Will Give You Rest."

May the Holy Spirit begin this day to help each member of Pleasant Hill church to place their troubles in the hand of the King of King's for He will not only give rest, but will lead each to higher grounds.

"Come Unto To Me." Just think what that one word means! Oh! sinner friend the invitation is for you to seek out all the great and wonderful titles of Christ for yourself, and write after each one, and He says, Come Unto To Me! Unto Me, the mighty God— the God that created this great world in which we live. He says, "Come Unto To Me And I Will Give You Rest." Oh! if we all could only realize what these words mean, and all would place our selves lovingly in the hands of Him who said Come Unto To Me. We would have Heaven in our souls, Heaven in our homes, Heaven in our communities. Oh may the Holy Spirit help each one that reads this message. We hope they will place their lives in the hands of Him who said, "Come Unto Me and I will Give You Rest."—L. G. Nunnally, Pastor of Pleasant Hill Church.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness during the illness and death of our infant son, Maurice Reed.

We especially thank Dr. Lawrence, his nurse and Mrs. Mattie Lou Crew. —Mr. and Mrs. Reedie Smith.

Most of the club members were brought to and from the rally on the school buses, the expense being met by each member paying a small amount.

The day was a most enjoyable and beneficial one to the large number of children in attendance. All will remember the occasion with much fondness, and are looking forward to next year's rally.

TRIED IN MAYOR'S COURT

There were four cases to come up before Mayor C. Feen Jones in city court Monday of this week. Three were for public drunkenness; all were fined and are making payments on their fines.

One case was for driving over a fire hose during a fire. Inasmuch as the man was from out in the rural section of the county and was not familiar with the city law regarding the matter the fine was placed at one dollar by Mayor Jones. Had the party been a resident of the city limits, the fine would have been at least ten dollars.

Mayor Jones wishes the attention of everyone called to the necessity of this law being strictly observed. Driving over the fire hose might cause considerable hindrence in fighting a fire, hence the necessity of the law being observed. The co-operation of everybody in this matter is urged.

ALL FLOUR IS EXEMPT UNDER ALABAMA SALES TAX LAW

Birmingham, Mar. 23.—Due to the difference of opinion in reference to the Chichester Sales Tax exempting flour, B. C. Apperson, secretary of the Alabama Independent Merchants Association, in a letter asked Rep. J. N. Poole of Butler County, author of the amendment exempting flour, coffee and sugar, for an expression setting out his intentions when he offered the amendment.

Mr. Apperson's letter to Rep. Poole is as follows:

"There appears to be some discussion between Tax Commissioner Henry Long and Attorney General Carmichael with reference to the exemption of flour under the Chichester Sales Tax Act. It was my understanding that your intention was to exempt all flours, as per your amendment in the bill. If convenient for you to do so, I will appreciate an expression from you as to your intention in offering this amendment".

Rep. Poole's reply to Mr. Apperson's letter reads as follows:

"In reply to yours of March 17, I wish to say that it was certainly my intention to exempt all flours when I introduced my amendment, and in my opinion the members of the legislature who voted for the amendment certainly thought they were voting to exempt self-rising flour. If self-rising flour is not flour, then what is flour?"

FISHING LICENSES READY

Montgomery, Mar. 23. — Resident fishing licenses, required of all fishermen using rods and reels or artificial bait, have been distributed to Judges of Probate where anglers may buy them. UNION-BANNER HAD VISIT FROM GRANDMA ROBINSON

The editor of the Union-Banner, as well as the office force, was very pleased Monday afternoon to have a visit from Grandma Robinson, sometimes known as Aunt "Vill" but whose real name is Survilla, wife of Riley Robinson, of Providence, Beat 16.

Despite her advanced age of eighty-four, Grandma is able to get around quite lively. However, she was in Clanton to see the doctor about some kind of rheumatism in her legs. We were indeed glad to see her and hope that she soon gets rid of her rheumatism and is able to go about her work around the home, which she so much enjoys.

DRYS TRIUMPHANT IN GEORGIA REPEAL MOVE

By a vote of 109 to 84, Georgia's house of representatives, now in session in Atlanta, has defeated a repeal measure, which would have legalized the sale of hard liquors. Encouraged by the victory, dry forces and church leaders in Georgia are renewing their campaign to outlaw the sale of beer and light wines, legalized about two years ago.

More than 2-thirds of the counties of Georgia voted against the sale of beer and wine in a local option election in 1935.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR WILL HAVE EASTER SERVICES

The Knights Templar will observe Easter on next Sunday in a brilliant presentation at the Clanton Baptist Church at the eleven o'clock morning services.

All Sir Knights are requested to meet at the Asylum promptly at ten-thirty o'clock to march to the church enmasse, in full regalia. A reserved section of seats will be occupied by the Knights. The public is most cordially invited to attend these services.

MOVED SCHMITH SHOE SHOP

Mr. John Schmith has this week moved his shoe shop from the back of Clanton Cash Store into Fox building, next to Tiffin Furniture Company.

The new place gives Mr. Schmith much more room, and he says that he is going to be better equipped to turn out first class shoe repair work.

A WATCH THAT HAS NOT RUN SINCE CIVIL WAR

There is in a man's possession in Clanton a watch which has not ticked since its first owner, Lieut. John Crosby, was killed with it in his pocket in 1862 at the battle of Richmond, near Richmond, Va. The case of the watch, old engraved yellow gold, was considerably crumpled up by the explosion that killed Lieut. Crosby and one of the mules he was driving. The watch is now in the possession of Judge T. W. Bryan of Clanton.

Lieut. Crosby was an uncle of Mrs. Bryan, who came into possession of the watch 48 years ago.

The name of the watch is "Railroad Time Keeper," and was made in liverpool by M. J. Tobias in 1852. It has to be set and wound by a key fitted to two square posts in the back of the works.

Mr. Lee Hughes, the watch-fixer, has the old time piece in his shop, and says that he is going to make it run. If Mr. Hughes does succeed in his undertaking, we will tell our readers about it.

PRETTY SPRING DISPLAYS IN LEVINE BROS. WINDOWS

Levine Brothers really put into practice the theory of advertising what they do and doing what they advertise. A glance at their display windows this week will convince anyone that these two hustling young business men really believe in showing the buying public what they have and doing it in a most pleasing and attractive manner.

Their windows are really something attractive to look upon, and the ideas of Spring and Easter predominate on every angle. Be sure and don't miss visiting Levine's and see their beautiful windows some time this week end.

ROYAL CLEANERS HAVE FINE SERVICE FOR CUSTOMERS

On another page in this issue o The Union-Banner, Royal Cleaners have an advertisement which should be carefully read by everyone. It has always been the policy of The Union-Banner not to accept advertising of any product or process unless we were convinced that it was genuine.

Mr. R. P. Bryan, the owner of Royal Cleaners, has shown us this policy mentioned in the advertisement, and there is no doubt in our mind of its genuineness. It is written and backed by one of the largest and strongest insurance companies in the world, and we assure our readers that it is just as represented.

This is a valuable service which Royal Cleaners are offering this trade territory, and everybody who ever has any clothes cleaned should be proud of the chance of getting such unusual service.

NEGRO BATTLES COLOR BARRIER IN COURT PLEA

Demands Admittance To Pharmacy School In Tennessee

Memphis, Tenn., March 22.—A bespectacled Nashville negro protested to chancery ourt today the drawing of the "color line" by educational authorities in refusing to enroll him in the State University.

The negro, William B. Redmond II, contended the State must either enroll him in the University of Tennessee's School of Pharmacy here or provide separate instruction for him.

Edwin S. Hunt, assistant State attorney general, said the State constitution forbids negroes and whites attending the same schools and that it "would be an economic absurdity" to set up a separate school for Redmond.

Argument before Judge Lois D. Bejach was based on the 27-year-old negro's application for a writ of mandamus to compel officials at the University's Knoxville headquarters or the Memphis branches to enroll him.

The suit was brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in a "test case"—part of its campaign to obtain equal educational opportunities for Southern negroes.

MRS. MATTIE SCOTT DIED

Mrs. Mattie Scott, age 62, died at her home in Pleasant Grove community Sunday night, at 10:30 o'clock. She was ill only a few days. The burial was held Tuesday, at 11 a. m., at Mt. Nebo Church. Rev. Cecil Ellisor officiating; Spigener Funeral Home directing.

She is survived by one son, T. R. Scott, Clanton, Rt. 1; one daughter, Mrs. Era Wilson, Clanton, Rt. 6.

WORK PROGRESSING ON BORING THE CITY WELL

Workers began Monday morning to boring the new well for the city water works. The large augur, about eight inches in diameter, goes down about one foot a minute in ordinary dirt or clay; of course, it slows up considerably when it strikes rock. The machinery operated only twenty or thirty minutes Monday, when it went a depth of twenty feet. A depth of eighty feet had been reached Tuesday afternoon.

The drilling is being done by Layne-Central Company of Memphis, Tenn. It is not known whether this well will be successful or not, but if it is not, another will be bored until one is found satisfactory.

ILLICIT LIQUOR FLOWING AGAIN

Repeal Has Failed To Cure Evil In Section Where It Has Been In Force

Big time bootleg rackets, temporarily thrown out of joint by changing conditions following repeal are in high gear again, according to statements by beverage control officials and executives of the liquor industry, compiled by the National Voice News Bureau.

Estimates of the nation's consumption of bootleg liquor run as high as 50 per cent of the total consumed, according to an article in the January issue of West Coast Brewer, quoting Louis J. Gilbert, of the California Distilled Spirits Institute.

"From rather reliable sources," says the Chicago Beverage Dealer, liquor publication, "come estimates that approximately one-third of the liuor sold in the United States is still bootleg. On the other hand we are given to understand that there is very little attempt made to dispose of illicit liquor direct to the consumer. This can mean only that a goodly share of the goods sold through legally licensed packaged outlets and served over the bars of legally licensed outlets is spurious."

MABLE WOODWARD MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Mable Woodward Missionary Society of the Mulberry Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. O. O. Calfee Monday afternoon, March 22, at 2 o'clock. 19 ladies were present.

The program was as follows: Devotional—verses from the Bible by all; business—discussed by all. The rest of the book, "Follow me" was discussed by Mrs J. H. Wells.

The distributing of the presents was last.

The next meeting will be held next Wednesday, March 31, at Mulberry Baptist Church; it will be an all-day affair. Several carloads of ladies from Birmingham are expected to be there. We welcome any other visitors who can come and help us out in our work.

All the ladies from both of the circles are urged to come and bring a pie, cake, or anything that they want to, and can bring, to help out with the dinner.

The program begins at 10 o'clock.

They are: One for driving motor vehicle while intoxicated, out on bond; one for abusive language and public drunkenness, out on bond; two for robbery, one out on bond, the other is still in jail. There was one commitment to jail on a federal charge of getting a money order cashed illegally.

P.-T. A. To Bring Mighty Haag Show

Three Ring Wild Animal Show Is Coming To Clanton

On Monday, April 12, just about the time most of the people of Clanton are thinking of getting up, the long line of trucks of the Mighty Haag Shows will begin arriving here, and start work pitching their vast city of tents on school ball grounds where they will give two complete performances.

The Haag Show this year will bring to Clanton more wild animals, horses, ponies and trained dogs than ever before exhibited. This year the Haag Shows are featuring such well-known acts as the Tan Araki Japanese Troupe in a new act, Johnson Duo of Wire Walkers, Zeldo Troupe of head balancers, Fisher Family of Acrobats and Haag's Herd of Performing Elephants largest and best trained in the country presented by Miss Helen Durrett, who takes her life in her own hand twice daily when she places her head in the mouth of one of the elephants.

There will be a street parade at 1 o'clock p. m., followed by a number of free exhibitions on the show grounds. Performances start at 2:00 p. m., and 8 p. m., but doors will open one hour earlier so as to give everyone ample time to visit Haag's Gold Concert Band.

Adission will be at popular prices, and the public is assured of a whole evening of splendid entertainment.

GABBY TIFFIN GOING GOOD AT WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

The Union-Banner has just received a copy of "Old Gold and Black," the college paper of Wake Forest College, North Carolina. According to this issue of the college paper, baseball prospects at Wake Forest are very bright this year, Coach John Caddell having stated that this year's team is one of the most promising he has ever had during all his 16 years as coach at Wake Forest.

In the write-up of the team and the probable members who will go to make up the varsity, James (Gabby) Tiffin receives prominent mention as a very likely starter in a number of games on the schedule this spring. Gabby is fighting it out with two other candidates for the catcher's position, and his chance of making the grade is good. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tiffin of Clanton.

SPECIAL SUNRISE SERVICE AT CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

There will be a special Easter sunrise service at Clanton Methodist church next Sunday morning at 6:00 o'clock. Mrs. Barney Roberts will preside at the pipe organ and will play appropriate music. The public is invited to attend this special service.

PAT CRUISE GOES WITH SELMA AUTOMOBILE FIRM

Pat Cruise, who for the past several months has been on the sales staff of Hayes Chevrolet Co., local Chevrolet dealers, has accepted a position in the new car sales division of Carr Motor Company, Ford dealers in the Selma territory.

When Pat came to Clanton he had many friends around Clanton, and has added many good friends during his stay in our city. Pat is a great fellow, and we, with his hundreds of other good friends, wish for him the greatest measure of success on his new job.

CHILTON PEOPLE NEAR TEXAS BLAST

The Union-Banner recently received from Mr. and Mrs. George Tippett, at Gladewater, Texas, a letter relative to the awful school disaster which occurred at New London, Texas, last Thursday afternoon, in which over 450 children were killed. These former Chilton county citizens lived within 25 miles of where the terrific explosion happened.

Mr. and Mrs. Tippett sent to The Union-Banner a copy of The Dallas Morning News, date of March 19th, which paper gives a vivid and horrifying description of the disaster. It was said to be the worst catastrophe since the Galveston flood. Residents two and a half miles distant said that they felt the ground shake when the blast went off.

The building, housing 700 children, was a two-story structure, made of brick, with a tile roof. The explosion, caused from gas, mushroomed the roof, blew the walls outward, and the ceiling and roof settled down upon those who had not been blown out of the building.

Almost the entire child population of that oil-producing little city was in the school, and well over half of them were killed. One child from Cullman, Ala., was a victim, and was brought back there and buried Sunday.

RECITAL AT HIGH SCHOOL

Mrs. Barney Roberts will present pupils from her piano classes, in recital at the High School auditorium, Tuesday afternoon, March the 30th, at 3:30 o'clock. Those interested are invited to attend.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

THE SEVEN MISTAKES OF LIFE

The "Seven Mistakes of Life" includes what I believe to be the seven fundamental mistakes we make as individuals that effect our career most seriously—mistakes that short-circuit our progress and seriously hinder the development of all men and women, consequently impeding the progress and advancement of the race:

No. 1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others down.

No. 2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected.

No. 3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we ourselves cannot accomplish it.

No. 4. Attempting to compel other men to believe and live as we do.

Miss Nomia Heflin spent the day with Effie Mae Mims Sunday. She reported having a nice time.

RAISING MEAT SOME

Mr. George Murrah handed to the Union-Banner a few days ago some interesting figures about raising hogs. These figures came from the farm of Mr. B. C. Garman, of Birmingham.

Three sows farrowd 32 pigs and raised 29 of them, the pigs, weighing 6,720 pounds sold for 11 cents a pound.

Six months later the same three sows farrowed 33 pigs, and 28 of them attained the total weight of 1,780 pounds. Two were kept.

The two litters, spring and fall, brought $1,182.77.

These same three sows farrowed again this month, bringing 42 pigs and have 33 now living.

AN APPRECIATION

We wish to take this means to thank each and everyone for their kindness and help during the illness and death of our sister, Emma De Shazo.

We especially wish to thank the doctors and staff of nurses at both the Baptist and Hillman hospitals for their faithful services. Especially are we grateful to Dr. Hardee Johnston for his faithful services before Emma was removed to the hospital.

We are grateful to those associates of hers among the nurses of Birmingham who volunteered and furnished the burial robe. This evidence of respect would be deeply appreciated by her, could she know.

To the Spigener Funeral Home and every one who sent flowers or aided in any respect, however small, we are deeply grateful. Your expressions of sympathy have touched our hearts and may God's richiest blessings be with each of you.—W. F. De Shazo, J. C. De Shazo, J. W. De Shazo, W. G. De Shazo, Mrs. G. R. Callaway and Mrs. Henry D. Champlin.

CLANTON, ALABAMA

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"No man succeeds in the foreign mission field who has been unfaithful to his seminary duties." That is what an outstanding missionary said. In other words, if a student in college be untrue to his missionary trust. be untrue to. his missionary trust What we are in maturer years depends upon the foundation we lay when we are young. If a building is to be permanent it must have the right kind of foundation. "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." If young people in our schools and colleges build their lives as many of them are doing on the wrong foundation, there will be moral crashes in coming years. No man ever fell suddenly. Back of every tragedy in character there is a long, slow, silent process of preparation. Men who do the heroic thing in the time of crisis were prepared by early training for the hour of their heroism.

We are not to judge by the above paragraph that teaching is all that is necessary in the developent of character. Nicodemus called Jesus a Great Teacher. Jesus said in substance, "You need a life-giver." It is impossible to teach people who are not teachable. Spiritual truths cannot ve taught to people who are not spiritual. "The natural man receiveth not the things of the spirit of God for they are foolishness unto him, neither can he know them beause they are spiritually discerned." That is the teaching of God's word. Men must be born again before they can be taught spiritual truths. So, the most important thing is to lead a young person to Jesus Christ and then the young person is in a position to be taught spiritual truths. We may drill into youth the idea of self-control, and of course, that is good, but no process of teaching can drill spiritual life into the heart of a person. "By grace are we saved through faith and that not of ourselves, it is the gift of God." The Bible says that some people are babies in Christ. They have to have milk. Other Christians who are more mature can eat meat. Christian growth is important, but there must be life before there is growth. The first thing we try to do in the Bob Jones College is to win to Jesus Christ every young person who is not a Christian. When this is done we are then able to teach these young people how to live. There must be spiritual life before there can be spiritual growth.

SPRING CLEAN UP TIME

Just before Easter is a good time to do the spring cleaning. Take advantage of the sunshine and this pretty weather. First take the inside. Air and sun all clothing, bedding and linens. Then clean the floors and walls, clean and polish all furniture, the pieces that need to be retouched and painted, put aside. Get out the old brushes and prick up a few small cans of paint, repaint any extra chairs, the breakfast room suite, the porch set, or any of the worse pieces needing freshening.

On the sunning, be sure not to turn the right side of rugs, quilts, drapes and clothes directly to sun rays as the sun will fade the colors. Either turn them inside out or be sure to place something over them, or else just hang them in the shade and let them air.

The kitchen usually needs most attention at this time of year. After thoroughly cleaning and if possible repainting see if you can't add some new conveniences. New shelves, cabinets, make a list of articles needed in the kitchen and put in your purse ready for the next trip to town.

Now for the outside—The yards should be cleaned, any rubbish burned and destroyed, and old tin cans punctured and carried off. Then the shrubs and flowers. Work and fertilize them. If the yards haven't been sodded they should be because it eliminates work for the housewife in sweeping the yards and the grass is more pleasing to the eye. Now is the time to get things cleaned up and to make any new changes needed.

VERBENA ESSAY CONTEST WON BY MISS LERIS BULLARD

The Union-Banner has received the following letter from a Verbena teacher, which is self-explanatory:
Editor Union-Banner:

The 5th grade class of Verbena has just completed a very interesting unit on "Securing Safety". I offered at the end of the unit to have the best essay written by any member of the class published in your paper. The class worked diligently at it, and a number of splendid essays were given the elementary school faculty, to act as judges, selecting the best one.

Points considered were form, subject matter, and penmanship. After much consideration the essay written by Leris Bullard, 12-year-old daughter of C. D. Bullard, Verbena, was selected to be sent to you for publication.

Leris led her class last month by making straight A's. She was closely pushed by her twin sister, Eris, Myrtle Cooper, Margaret McGalliard, Katherine Pratt, and Hazel Taylor, who had their report cards marred with one B.

The essay is enclosed.—Mrs. A. B. Stanley, teacher.

Following is the winning essay:

What I Can Do To Make Verbena Safer

Long ago people had to look to themselves for safety. They had to fight the wild beasts of the forest. They had to overcome the danger of fire and flood.

Nowadays we do not have to depend upon ourselves alone to protect us. We have a great part in protecting ourselves and other people too. We children have as big a part to play in the safety game as any older person.

You would wonder how we can have such a big part—we are so small. By abiding by these safety rules, we can make Verbena a safer place:

Never throw fruit skins, broken glass, nails, or any rubbish in the streets.

Do not play in the street or on the railroad track.

On a rainy day, do not cover your face with an umbrella.

Do not run across a railroad track or street. You might fall and get hurt.

Play on the playground—not in the street or on the railroad track.

Look both ways before crossing the street.

Never steal rides.

Help those in need.

Never run in front of an oncoming vehicle.

Never stand in the street when waiting for someone.

Never push anyone in front of a moving vehicle.

Never play rough with anyone in the water if they cannot swim.

Keep to the right when riding a car.

When you catch a car, catch it with a right hand clasp. Step up with the left foot first. When you leave a car, catch hold with left hand and hold firmly; step with the right foot first to the ground.

Do not get off a car backwards.

Do not play with matches or a sharp knife.

Treat a cut with the greatest of care.

Do not play with a sling-shot.

Do not run downstairs from an upper room. You might trip and fall.

Do not play with gasoline, oil or kerosene.

If you would only heed these and many other safety rules, you san help to make Verbena a safer place to live.

LOWER COTTON PRICES EXPECETD IF FARMERS INCREASES IT

Auburn. — A material increase in cotton acreage this season could easily place cotton producers in a position similar to that in which they found themselves when cotton was bringing about five cents per pound and cotton seed about $8 per ton, warns C. A. Cobb, director, Southern Division, AAA, in a letter to P. O. Davis, di-director of Alabama Extension Service.

Some of the things which farmers should seriously consider before increasing their cotton acreage this year are listed by Mr. Cobb as follows:

(1) That we again face low-priced cotton unless we continue to maintain a balanced production; (2) Conservation payments at five cents a pound for the average yield on the diverted acres are sure and certain; (3) The cost of producing cotton on diverted acres is saved; (4) Cotton that is produced will cost less per pound to grow; (5) The diverted acres produce conserving crops, some of which may be used for food and feedstuffs; (6) Soil fertility is conserved; and (7) A better price for cotton is assured if production is kept within reasonable limits.

"Despite the fact that the burdensome surplus of American cotton has been reduced, our carry-over of approximately seven million bales is still two million bales above normal,' he says.

The estimated world supply of all cotton for the present season was over 42 millions bales. In only one other year, 1933, has the supply equalled or exceeded this. The world supply and demand for cotton largely determine the price American growers receive.

WEATHER FAVORABLE FOR BOLL WEEVILS

Auburn, Ala.—There has been very little cold weather this winter to kill the cotton boll weevils that hibernate during the winter on the suface of the soil under grass and leaves around the old cotton fields. In central and south Alabama the winter has been favorable for over-wintering of weevils, reports J. M. Robinson, entomologist at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

The Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Washington, reports that at field stations in Louisiana and South Carolina more weevils are surviving this mild winter than survived the past two winters. It says present propects are that in many localities there will be more boll weevils early this season than last spring.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for March 28

JOHN'S RECOLLECTION OF THE RISEN LORD.

LESSON TEXT—John 20:19-29; 21:20-24.
GOLDEN TEXT — And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not; I am the first and the last: I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death. Rev. 1:17,18.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Our Living Lord.
JUNIOR TOPIC — Eating Breakfast With Jesus.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Who Saw Jesus After His Resurrection?
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Christ's Resurrection a Glorious Fact.

"The best authenticated fact in all history"—that is what competent historians have called the resurrection of Christ. One of America's greatest legal authorities used it as an illustration of how properly to prove a fact in court. If anyone comes to this lesson with doubts about the bodily resurrection of our Lord, let him give himself to a study of the evidence. He will find it overwhelmingly satisfying and complete.

That is as it should be, for the resurrection is vital to the completeness of man's redemption. Had Jesus died and remained in the grave, his claims would have been nullified; we should indeed have been "of all men most miserable" (I Cor. 15:19). But Paul goes on in triumphant faith, "Now is Christ risen from the dead." We have a resurrection faith, a living Saviour.

Our lesson brings before us our Lord in his post-resurrection appearance to his disciples, and a subsequent conversation with Peter. These verses fittingly tie up the resurrection of Christ with the life and service of his followers. Those who serve the risen Christ have an inward peace and an outward authority and power. Their convictions are based on the best of evidence and carry them forward to a life of personal responsibility and service.

I. Peace (20:19-21).

Peace of Soul is absolutely essential to useful and satisfied living. Only as we are "steadfast, immovable," can we be "abounding in the work of the Lord" (I Cor. 15:58). Steady at the center, active at the circumference.

II. Authority (vv. 21-23)

Commissioned and sent by the Son of God, clothed with Holy Spirit power, the Church of God has his authority. While some have read too much into verse 23, others have read out of it the real authority that God has given.

III. Conviction (vv. 24-29)

Thomas made the serious error of being absent from the gathering of the disciples when the Lord Jesus stood in their midst. Let those who commonly absent themselves from the place and hour of worship take heed lest they miss a blessing, and coming later add nothing to the spiritual life of the church, but rather become troublers and doubters.

But God graciously turns the doubt of Thomas into a means of blessing to all of us who since then have read of his experience. Thomas was an honest doubter. God is always ready to meet such with satisfactory proof. The trouble is that there are so many in the world who use professed doubts to cover a life of sin.

Doubt may come to any man. In itself it is no sin. But to cherish it and hold to it in unbelief—that is a different matter. One wise spiritual leader rightly counselled his people, "Believe your beliefs and doubt your doubts. Never make the mistake of doubting your beliefs or believing your doubts."

When Thomas saw the Lord, doubt rapidly changed to strong personal conviction and abandonment of himself to his Lord and Saviour.

IV. Responsibility (21:20-24)

This incident took place at a later appearance of Jesus to a smaller group of the disciples. The irrepressible Peter has, as usual, a question to ask, "What shall this man do?" It is a right thing to be concerned about the welfare of others, to see to it that they live right and do right. But there is in our relationship to God a primary personal responsibility, our own lives. The writer of the Song of Solomon (1:6) spoke a profound and deep-cutting word when he said, "They made me keeper of the vineyards; but my own vineyard have I not kept." Perhaps Jesus is saying to me, or to you, the solemn words that he spoke to Peter, "What is that to thee? follow thou me."

Personal responsibility should be one of the most resultful factors in the making of manhood, as in the finding of salvation.

BILL RIGGINS SINGING WITH MOXLEY MINSTRELS

Bill Riggins, a former Chilton County boy, and known in the Birmingham district as the "golden voiced tenor," will have a featured role in the Moxley Minstrels, to be given on the nights of April 6-9 at the Ensley High School auditorium, sponsored by the Ensley Kiwanis Club, in co-operation with the P.-T. A. of the Ensley district.

Mr. Riggins has built for himself quite a reputation as a singer around Birmingham, and at one time was a member of the Dixie Four, a quartet which sang regularly over various radio stations.

MRS. ROOSEVELT ALABAMA GUEST

Birmingham, Mar. 23.—Self control through a more temperate attitude toward life was given by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today as the solution to the liquor problem.

Here for one of a series of lectures, Mrs. Roosevelt arrived on the first day legal beer has been offered for sale in this city since 1915. Prohibition statutes were repealed in 24 counties in a local option election March 10, and beer sale permits became effective today.

The nation's first lady said she believed temperance must come through education, after telling newspaper men reasons for her change from support of prohibition to advocacy of repeal.

Prohibition did double harm, she said, in that it led to surreptitious drinking, and that it made it fashionable to drink.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she expected to return to Washington Friday, one day ahead of the president. Smilingly she added that she hoped to get back to the White House at least one day before Mr. Roosevelt, now at Warm Springs, Ga.

She will leave here tomorrow for Jackson, Miss., and will go to Knoxville, Tenn., Thursday for the final address of the tour which began on March 4.

Grow a Few Uncommon Vegetables This Year

U. S. Department of Agriculture Lists 2,000 Different Varieties

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture there are 2,000 separate varieties of vegetables grown in this country today.

To the gardener whose huge, luscious tomatoes take prizes in the fall shows, and whose corn is known about the neighborhood for its sweetness, this may not be startling news; but to those ordinary amateurs who grow a pea, bean, corn and tomato garden, with no variety from year to year, it should awaken a little curiosity.

Variety adds interest to vegetable gardening. Here are a few uncommon edibles which can be easily grown: leek, a fine onion-like flavorer for soups and stews; marrow, delicious when sliced and fried; chicory or French endive, for winter salads; salsify or oyster plant, a root with a distinctive flavor which can be left in the ground over winter; and there are many others. Look for them in the new catalog.

Plant seeds of hardy perennials now—campanulas, delphiniums, pinks, columbines and others.

Start putting in gladiolus from now until June.

MORE FARMERS TELL HOW THEY STOP RUST and START PROFITS

In Georgia they say: "NV POTASH PAYS!"

C. O. BRICE, Barwick, Ga., says: "150 pounds of NV KAINIT per acre gave me a gain of 153 pounds of seed cotton per acre despite the worst drought I have seen in 40 years. I used 4-8-6 at planting but where no extra NV KAINIT was used a third of the crop was dead from Rust when picking began. The pickers would hunt for kainit cotton because it was so much easier to pick. The bolls were larger, better matured and wide open. The staple was better and the seed better matured."

—NV—

M. H. EVANS, Ty Ty, Ga., says: "I had about decided three years ago that I couldn't make cotton because of Rust. Leaves would fall off before fruit reached maturity, bolls were knotty and the staple was poor grade. I decided I'd try NV KAINIT. I used 100 pounds of NV KAINIT with 300 pounds of 4-8-4 fertilizer per acre. My yield increased more than 50 per cent and I had no Rust at all. Before I started using NV KAINIT, my yield never went over a half bale per acre. Now I average more than three-quarters of a bale per acre and get a much better grade of staple. I'd hate to plant cotton without extra potash. It is the best crop insurance I can get, and the cheapest fertilizer I can buy."

—NV—

W. R. ANDREWS, Cuthbert, Ga., says: "My 1936 cotton yield was 137 bales on 148 acres. For the last few years my crops have been equally as good. I use 400 pounds of 3-9-5 fertilizer at planting and top-dress with 200 pounds of 17-0-12. This gives me better maturity, cotton that is free from Rust, better lint and gin turn-out and a crop that is easy to pick. Where there is any indication of Rust, I apply extra kainit or muriate in addition to my regular fertilizer and top-dresser.

"This year I expect to top-dress with 200 pounds per acre of a mixture consisting of 140 pounds of nitrate of soda and 60 pounds of muriate of potash. Any top-dresser without some form of potash does not give cotton a fair chance. Potash is too cheap to let the lack of it cut my crop and lower my profits. High-potash fertilizers are fine for corn, potatoes, small grains and other crops. The money that I spend for potash gives me the best returns."

In North Carolina they say: "NV POTASH PAYS!"

L. O. MOSELY, Kinston, N. C., says: "A six-acre field had been abandoned because of Rust. Three years ago I planted it to cotton. The first year I gave each acre 100 pounds of top-dresser made with soda and kainit in equal parts. I made 9 bales on the six acres, but some of the top bolls were rusty and the leaves looked rusty. The second year I changed my top-dresser to equal parts of nitrate of soda and muriate of potash to get more potash. All the bolls opened wide and turned out a fluffy, white lint that brought a premium of $7.50 per bale. My return per acre was 976 pounds of lint, which brought $146.40 and 49 bushels of planting seed which sold for $73.50. Think of growing fancy planting seed on old rusty abandoned cotton land."

—NV—

J. W. RICHARDSON, Monroe, N. C., says: "My young son, not knowing the difference between NV MURIATE OF POTASH and other fertilizers, top-dressed a three-acre field of cotton twice with NV MURIATE OF POTASH, using 133 pounds per acre in addition to our regular fertilizer. We thought he made a mistake, but the extra potash cured the Rust and gave us strong, healthy stalks that bolled right up to the top. The bolls were large and a man could pick twice as much and still have no skinned fingers. When night came, there were no rusty, dry leaves in the cotton to cause a bad sample. We made more than three bales where we were expecting only one and a half to two bales. The year before, the same field suffered badly from Rust and made only about one-half bale per acre. The stalks were dead long before picking time and produced some rusty bolls that were hard to pick. My boy didn't make a mistake. We expect to cure some more rusty land in 1937 and show Mr. Rust where to get off."

—NV—

H. L. HERRING, Central Warehouse, Kinston, N. C., says: "My cotton showed Rust for several years and in 1936 I used 4-8-10 fertilizer plus an application of 200 pounds of NV KAINIT per acre. The crop showed much improvement and very little Rust. I also believe in high-potash applications for tobacco, corn and beans."

In South Carolina they say: "NV POTASH PAYS!"

M. E. SHULER, Holly Hill, S. C., says: "For years I used 3-8-3 and nitrogen top-dressing for cotton. But now I have changed to 3-8-8 under my cotton and use potash in my top-dresser. One field which showed decided Rust for 15 years is now free of Rust and making as good cotton as any on the place.

"I have found that peas following oats, fertilized with soda and kainit in equal parts, make more peas and hay. There was a big difference in the grain from the use of potash. I used to allow 18 bundles of oats to the hundred pounds, but it takes only 14 bundles now."

—NV—

C. C. WALLACE, R. F. D. No. 3, Newberry, S. C., says: "I used fertilizer containing 10% potash and top-dressed rusty spots at first chopping with 100 pounds of NV MURIATE OF POTASH per acre. On 32 acres, having an average base production of 90 pounds of lint per acre, I produced an average of 300 pounds of lint per acre. Some of the best land ran as high as 500 pounds. The lint was uniform, with large, wide-open bolls, making picking easy. I had no Rust and shedding was materially reduced."

—NV—

H. P. MILAM, Sandy Springs, S. C., says: "I fertilized 125 acres of cotton with 600 pounds of 6-8-6 per acre. Six acres were top-dressed with 50 pounds of NV MURIATE and 75 pounds of soda. We had no rain from May 10 until August 15 except a few small showers. During this drought the potash top-dressed cotton kept growing, retained its color and held its fruit. It made more than a bale per acre and no sign of Rust or Wilt could be found."

—NV—

M. W. JACKSON, Wagener, S. C., says: "For eight years I have been using 8 to 10% potash in my cotton fertilizers. People told me it would burn up my crop, but it never has. It makes my cotton fruit better, boll right up to the top of the stalk and pick better. The yields are much larger and the lint is higher grade. I use the same fertilizer for my corn and find that it pays by filling out the ear and making good grain."

—NV—

GEO. A. COPELAND, Clinton, S. C., says: "For the last few years I have used a potash top-dresser 14-0-10 on my grain and have been well pleased with the results obtained. Also, I have increased the amount of potash used under cotton to double what I was using a few years ago and find that it pays well—especially on sandy land."

—NV—

WILLIAM A. SPRADLEY, Timmonsville, S. C., says: "In 1935 our vocational teacher examined my cotton and found that it was damaged by Rust. The leaves shed off the plants before the cotton was matured. The bolls were small and the cotton hard to pick. The lint was short. In 1936 I used 100 pounds of NV MURIATE OF POTASH per acre, in addition to my regular fertilizer. As my cotton began to mature the leaves did not shed off. The bolls were large and properly filled out. The lint was long and strong, and the yield was far better than it was last year. My net gain, after paying all expenses, was $12.42 an acre more than the year before. I am learning how to grow cotton."

In Alabama they say: "NV POTASH PAYS!"

J. W. WILLIAMS, Goshen, Ala., says: "NV POTASH paid me well in 1936. Figuring conservatively, with seed cotton at four cents a pound, I made a profit of $13.60 per acre, after allowing for the cost of an extra 100 pounds of NV MURIATE OF POTASH per acre, in addition to my regular fertilizer. The NV MURIATE was used as a top-dresser."

—NV—

C. M. GAMMAGE, R.F.D. No. 5, Eufaula, Ala., says: "One acre fertilized with 200 pounds of 6-8-4 mixed goods produced 800 pounds of seed cotton. One acre with the above and 100 pounds of nitrate of soda produced 1,047 pounds of seed cotton. One acre with the above amounts of mixed goods and soda, which was top-dressed with 100 pounds of NV MURIATE OF POTASH, produced 1,299 pounds of seed cotton. Where the extra potash was applied there was no Rust whatever."

—NV—

W. P. BOYETT, R. F. D. No. 2, Enterprise, Ala., says: "Where I top-dressed with NV POTASH I made 933 pounds of seed cotton per acre against 746 pounds where I didn't use it. The NV POTASH made enough extra cotton to pay for all the fertilizer, soda and potash and still return a profit of $3.10 per acre. My cotton was badly damaged by two storms. In a normal year I believe NV POTASH would pay a still greater profit. It produces larger bolls that are better matured and easier to pick."

HERE are more farmers who have found that it pays to give cotton plenty of NV POTASH. If you have been using a low-potash fertilizer year after year—you too have something to look forward to when you start top-dressing with NV POTASH. Top-dressing with 200 pounds of NV KAINIT or 100 pounds of NV MURIATE per acre keeps cotton strong and healthy, maturing fruit until a full crop is made (including a good top crop). It PREVENTS RUST, helps control Wilt and produces strong vigorous plants with less shedding, larger bolls that are easier to pick and better yields of uniform, high-quality lint.

The time to top-dress with NV POTASH is when you chop out. Use 200 pounds of NV KAINIT per acre, or 100 pounds of NV MURIATE, or a nitrogen-potash, mixed-goods top-dresser containing plenty of genuine NV POTASH. Remember, NV POTASH STOPS RUST and STARTS PROFITS.

LITTLE GARDEN WILL GROW A LOT

Five Foot Square Will Produce Many Fine Edibles.

Lack of available space causes many families to forego the pleasures and benefits of a home vegetable garden, but the family which has even a small amount of backyard space, can and should utilize it, no matter how small it is.

Any space from a 5 foot square up may be profitably tilled into some kind of a vegetable patch. Thought and planning must, of course, go into such a tiny undertaking, but with careful consideration of the crops most suitable to succession, a surprisingly large amount of fresh, succulent produce may be grown for the table.

This problem of succession, which mean to follow one crop by another in order to get two or even three products from the same piece of ground, is a fascinating one. For instance, one row may be planted with radishes early in the season, and when they have been harvested, beans may be planted. Also a companion planting, early peas in the same row with carrots, the former coming up and used before the carrots are ready for the table. Mix a packet of early radishes with a late variety, and have two crops in the same row.

As an alternative an early crop of spring vegetables may be grown and used, leaving the ground available for annual flowers. Radishes, leaf lettuce, young onions and a row or two of greens (spinach or mustard) are good suggestions. They will be ready for the table quickly, and leave the ground in fine condition for flowering plants or bulbs.

KIWANIS CLUB TO CELEBRATE ITS NINTH ANNIVERSARY

A gala night is in store for members of the Clanton Kiwanis Club when they gather tonight to celebrate and observe otherwise the ninth anniversary of the organizing of the Kiwanis Club of Clanton.

Nine years ago, that was in 1928, the first Kiwanis Club was organized here with a good membership. Cohen Stapp, former county agent, was elected president of the first club. He was followed, after serving two terms, by Dr. Vincent J. Gragg. J. Mell Martin followed Gragg as president. Then, each year they served as follows: W. M. Wyatt, now of Montevallo; John Hollis, Luther Little, Earle Thomas, Dr. C. O. Lawrence, and John W. Fant, the latter now presiding, with Patterson Hicks as vice president.

Informal Program

The program tonight will be very informal. No set speeches, no set music—just a real birthday celebration and party. A good time is expected for all who attend.

A special invitation has been forwarded to former residents of the club who were members of the club in past years, and many have already replied they would attend.

Each year, more and more farmers are looking for dairy bulls with records which indicate breeding value. And each year the members of the dairy herd improvement association, three of which are located in Alabama, are putting more proved bulls on the market.

How to Trench Soil.

Too much can not be said about the proper preparation of our garden soils before planting for half the work of cultivation can often be saved by having the garden properly ploughed or spaded before we start planting. We hear gardeners talk about the physical condition of garden soils, physical condition being the fineness of the soil, the absence of lumps, the ease with which it can be worked early in the spring, freedom from crusting or baking after a rain, and the way it absorbs moisture. The custom often followed by Old World gardeners of spading their gardens two lengths of the spade in depth is a good one. Digging two "spits" deep they call it. This method of preparing the soil gives a double deck garden, two gardens, one right on top of the other and a chance for the roots of the plants to go deep for their food and moisture when the surface supply becomes exhausted.

HELP KIDNEYS
To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

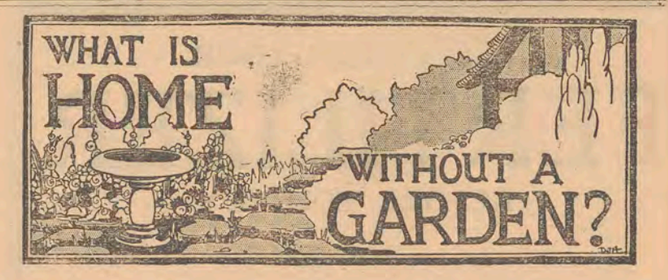
A PREACHER AT MILLERVILLE WRITES BANNER

Millerville, Ala., Mar. 22, 1937.
Editor Union-Banner:

I would like to have a small space in your paper. I receive the Banner every week, and it is welcome and much appreciated; we are always glad to get it.



We are doing fine over here in Clay county; our work is moving along nicely. I always enjoy the news letters that are printed in the paper. They are really just like a letter from home; and the editorials are fine too. I especially enjoyed the one of this week. I am proud of Chilton county and Clay county too, the latter going three to one. The time will soon come to elect new State officers, and time to grind some of their corn.

This sales tax is the most outrageous piece of legislation I have ever seen—except repeal of the 18th Amenment. I enjoyed Judge Reynolds' letter and only wish that he would write more of them. I wish that we had more preachers who would take off their gloves and preach the old-time gospel in the old corn-field way—preach with the power of the Holy Ghost and warn the people of the dangers of losing Heaven and going to Hell. I know they call it "Hades" and other names. But Jesus said there was a hell and it had fire in it.

Speaking of money, Paul said the love of money is the root of all evil—not money but the love of money. All I know of in favor of whiskey is that at the bottom of it was money—not moral.

I hope more of the folks of Concord-Billingsley will write to the paper, also Antioch, Pleasant Grove, Etc. I enjoy reading letters from all of them. I wonder what has become of our good friend, W. B. Cooper of Pleasant Grove and Bro. Willie Williams of Concord.

If this letter gets by the trash pile, I may have another one some time soon. In the meantime, I hope to read lots of letters from the communities over Chilton county.—Rev. J. S. Johnson, pastor Millerville district.

Seedbed Protects Young Plants From Sun, Wind and Washing Rain

Select a Sheltered Position for the Seedbed if Possible.

Preparing a seedbed properly is a big step towards a successful garden. It tells the story of how much return in the way of plants you are likely to get from a packet of seeds and eliminates much waste.

Select a position sheltered from the full force of wind and sun if possible. Bear in mind that directly under the branches of trees is not a good location for the drip from the branches during rainstorms is likely to wash seeds out of the ground. Spade the soil thoroughly. It is an excellent plan if the soil breaks up with difficulty to run it through a sieve for the top layer. If the soil is heavy lighten it by working in torpedo or silver sand. Heavy soil that crusts easily is a poor medium for seed sowing. It should be easily penetrated by the tiny root striking downward and the tiny leaves pushing upward to the light and air.

It is not necessary to fertilize the seedbed. Fertility is not a requisite in producing germination. That comes in the later stages. Ordinarily good soil vill do perfectly well.

If the seedbed necessarily is exposed to the full sweep of wind and sun it is an easy matter to erect a temporary fence or shelter to break the force of the wind and also an easy matter to improvise a lath screen to set over it to break the full force of the sun if hot days happen along. To break the force of driving rains which might wash seeds out of the row, window screen is excellent. Burlap may be laid over the bed until the seeds start germinating to serve the same purpose and also to prevent too rapid evaporation of the moisture.

With the seedbed carefully prepared, make it a point not to sow the seed so thickly that the plants will come up in bunches. Sow thinly and in the case of seed so fine that it is difficult to handle, mix with twice or three times its bulk of fine sand to make thin sowing easier. Space the big seeds so that the plants will not touch when they germinate.

HOGS OFFER MARKET FOR HOME-GROWN FEED

Auburn, Ala.—"According to present indications, a ton of pork will be worth as much as 4 bales of lint cotton this fall," says F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist, in a letter to county agents urging that farmers in every county of the state produce a few litters of pigs for exhibit at hog shows and sales in either Montgomery on September 2-3 or at Birmingham on September 8-9 this year.

"One of the main purposes of the state shows is to provide a market for the litters at prices in line with their value," he says. "The packers have given us their cooperation by promising to pay Chicago prices for all hogs that qualify."

LOANS ARE AVAILABLE FOR DESTITUTE FARMERS

Auburn, Ala.—Any deserving Alabama farmer in the low-income or destitute class who cannot secure adequate finances from some other agency on reasonable terms is eligible for assistance from the Alabama Rural Rehabilitation, advises Julian Brown, state director.

Interested farmers should place their applications with farm and home supervisors in their local counties, he advises. After the application is made it is left to a local committee composed of representative citizens of the county to pass on the honesty and integrity of the applicant. If the application is approved by the county committee the RA farm and home supervisors then go to the farm and develop a sound farm and home management program.

Of first consideration in the development of the farm management program is production of sufficient food and feed to meet the home needs, he says in emphasizing that "these families must live at home."

Next comes the production of cash crops. The loan must be repaid and the income must be sufficient to provide the necessities of living. To do this the farmer must follow the very best known farming practices.

The interest rate on all loans is five per cent and the loan is secured by a mortgage on the crop and chattels. The loans are for the purchase of feed, seed, fertilizer, work stock, work tools, and subsistence goods.

During the year 1936 loans were issued to 13,500 families in Alabama amounting to $2,500,000. Over 70 per cent of the funds loaned have been repaid and the goverment is adequately secured for the remaining amounts due, he says.

FEDERAL GRANTS ARE PUSHED

Montgomery, Mar. 23. — Having already secured more than $80,000,000 of federal funds for construction and rehabilitation projects in Alabama in the two and a half years of this administration, Gov. Bibb Graves has received assurances from Washington that an additional $3,350,000 will soon be made available by the Public Works Administration for a variety of projects throughout the state.

Because June 30 is the dead-line on PWA activities unless congress enacts pending legislation to extend that agency's life until June, 1939, Gov. Graves has urged Alabama's congressional delegation to exert their influence to obtain favorable and speedy action.

All of the projects included in the governor's new list have been approved but no money has been located because of the uncertainty of the PWA tenure.

The largest single project is for a loan and grant of $936,363 for the construction of a bridge connecting Dauphin Island with the Mobile County mainland. Another is for a grant of $745,364 to supplement local funds for the erection of a bridge over the Tennessee River between Forence and Sheffield to cost a total of $1,656,364.

Among the other projects is that of Clanton's municipal improvements and paving; amount requested, $32,589; total estimated cost, $72,420.

NATION IS WARNED INFLATION MAY BE NEAR

Familiar Spiral of Boom Era Already In View, Expert Says

Washington, Mar. 19.—A high grade of statesmanship in government, industry and labor is necessary to keep the present recovery from reckless and inflationary tendencies that would undermine it, in the opinion of Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institution.

Dr. Moulton, a recognized authority in the economic field, author of several books, and director of the institution, already sees the beginning of the familiar spiral of previous boom eras which have led to an end of prosperity.

New maladjustments are arising to tend to shorten materially the period of prosperity, according to Dr. Moulton. For a time, rising prices may stimulate an increase in production. But as maladjustments increase, the foundations of enduring recovery may be undermined.

Dr. Moulton fears that the economic system may be thrown out of balance if labor capitalizes its position to advance wage rates too rapidly or cut hours too sharply, without keeping in mind the principle that hours and pay must depend fundamentally upon production efficiency and capacity; and if industry seizes the occasion of wage increases to push prices upward, as was done recently in the case of steel.

He feels that the administration and labor should move very cautiously in formulation of wage and hour policies. He points out that if the country in the next five years reaches the production and consumption level of 1929 it will, on the basis of Brookings researches, have to utilize all present unemployed labor.

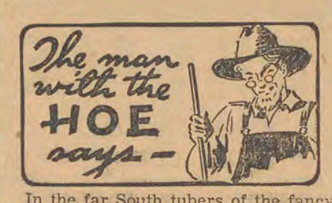
MAKE GARDEN PLAN; DRAW IT ON PAPER

Use Ruled Form and Enter All Types and Varieties.



Those wno nave never tried it sometimes have difficulty getting a garden plan drawn to scale, the only satisfactory and accurate manner of getting a workable plan on paper. The simplest method is to use paper ruled off in squares. To save the labor of doing the job yourself with rule and pencil it is an easy matter to buy paper already so ruled.

Each square may represent a unit of measure in the garden plan, 1 foot square, 2 or 5 as desired. The first step is to get the outside dimensions of the garden, the length and width. Then, rule off these dimensions on the paper to any selected scale. It is then an easy enough matter to figure out the space you wish to give to different vegetables and flowers, and block off the squares or rectangles on the paper, writing in the space laid off the name of the subject to occupy it.

The flower garden is slightly more difficult to lay out, because it will usually have irregular or rounded contours, but it can be managed with a little practice.

Mark your plan with exactly the types of vegetables and flowers you will grow. In cases where rows are used, as with vegetables, write in the names. Where flowers must be situated in an irregular border, numbers should be substituted. These numbers will relate to a key which tells not only what kind of flower, but the variety, height and color. This latter is important because it will assist you to visualize the garden as it will look, and aids materially in avoiding color clashes.

In the far South tubers of the fancy leaved caladiums may be planted now. Also tubers of the yellow calla, Calla elliottiana.

"and we averaged better than 25 MILES TO THE GALLON"

The new "60" Ford V-8 (illustrated) is the thriftiest car in all Ford history! Drive it all day on a tankful of gas—owners report 22 to 27 miles per gallon. And it carries the lowest Ford price in years.

Yet the new thrifty "60" V-8 is as big and roomy, as well engineered as the "85." You get the same all-steel body with safety glass throughout. The same new quietness and beauty. The same easy-acting, quick-stopping new Ford brakes. The same large luggage compartments.

And it's a real performer! Like most cars it bows a bit to the brilliant "85" Ford V-8 in pickup and top speed but you will be amazed at what it will do just the same. The thrifty "60" V-8 is a car you will own with pride and drive with pleasure. A car that will save you not just pennies but dollars! A car that's built so fine and priced so low you will have to drive it to believe it exists. Your Ford dealer invites you to drive this car yourself. Call him today.

VOLUME 44.—TEN PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 1, 1937 NUMBER 50

Foundling Baby Dies From Cold

Left On Porch Near Isabella Just After Midnight Friday Night

A new-born baby boy left on the front porch of the home of J. D. Conway, farmer, who lives 10 miles west of here, died at Central Alabama Hospital from the effects of exposure Sunday morning.

Conway said he heard a car drive up to his home about 1:30 a.m., Saturday and that his dogs barked. The baby was found on the front porch at 6 a. m.

Noticing that the infant was suffering from exposure, Conway brought it to the hospital. Hospital attaches said the boy, a well-formed eight and a half-pound baby, probably would have lived had it not been for exposure to the cold.

The baby was left in a pasteboard box and was wrapped in a towel, a blanket and part of a sheet.

The body is being held at the J. Mell Martin Funeral Home in Clanton in the hope the parets can be located.

MRS. ALICE WELDON

On March 1 the spirit of Mrs, Alice Weldon was wafted away to the haven of rest. She was a daughter of the late Newt and Emma Lou Culp.

She leaves to mours her loss: two sons—Leonard of Florida, and Virgil of Clanton; three brothers—F. F., Robert, and N. H. Culp, all of Clanton Route 6; one sister—Mrs. Nummy of Clanton.

We wish to thank the good people of Clanton for their kindness during her illness and death. Especially do we thank Dr. Moore and Mr. J. Mell Martin for their services. We pray God's richest blessings on all of you. Sincerely,—N. H. Culp.

ALABAMA MILLS STOCK

There seems to be some kind of a little flurry in the stock market over Alabama Mills stock. In fact, there is being so much said about it that Clanton's representative in the company, Mr. Frank J. Callen, has a message in this week's paper to the stockholders.

If you have Alabama Mills stock, or if you are figuring on buying some of it, read what Mr. Callen has to say about it elsewhere in this paper.

BLIND BOY HERE SELLING BROOMS

Ralph W. Andrews Has Been Coming Here For Past Eleven Years

The many friends in Clanton of Ralph W. Andrews, blind boy of Montgomery, were pleased to see him again last Friday. A native of Dothan, but having adopted Montgomery as his home, Ralph has been coming to Clanton selling brooms eleven years this coming August. During that time he has made for himself a host of friends.

Having just undergone a series of five operations on one of his eyes, Ralph is in high hopes that the next time he comes to Clanton he will be able to see. The operations were performed at John-Hopkins, in Baltimore, the first one October 24, 1935 and the last one June 16, 1937. He has been totally blind for 23 years; one eye was injured with a piece of wire, and the other went out from injuries to the first one. Attending school at the school for blind in Talladega eight and one-half years, he finished there in May, 1926.

Shortly after finishing school Ralph Andrews took up the work of traveling over the country and selling brooms. A total of 135 towns and cities were on his route, in the States of Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi and Florida.

This young man is a very interesting personage. It is nothing short of marvelous how he can remember voices, location of plaes of business, Etc. He has mastered the streets of every one of these 135 towns, being able to call on all places of business which he desires, knowing all the time where he is and who he is calling on.

His many friends in Clanton join with Ralph in wishing him success in the operation on his eye. The bandage on his eye will be taken off in a month or six weeks.

LAY DAM PREPARING FOR GOOD BASEBALL TEAM THIS YEAR

According to business manager R. D. Woodson, Lay Dam is preparing to put another first rate baseball team on the field this year. The field out at Lay Dam, too, has been graded and leveled, and is now one of the prettiest parks anywhere around. And if ever one of the boys hits a long one over the dump around the edge of the outfield, somebody can get on his bike and go after the ball—it'll go a mile.

Mr. Woodson stated that negotiations are under way to secure some of the best baseball talent in the state, including several star players from college teams, as well as other places around over Alabama. He did not know just when their season would open, officially, but said that practice would begin in the very near future. Advance information on all games this season will be given full advertisement in the county papers.

W. J. CUMMINGS GETS PROMOTION

Mr. W. J. Cummings enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps on April 15, 1936. After Cummings' conditioning period he was turned over to Mr. James H. His record in this organization has been an excellent one, and his rise to the grade of assistant leader and camp barber has been rapid.

It is gratifying to have, as a member of this company an enrollee of his caliber.

FRANK HOGAN IS IMPROVING

We know the many friends of Frank Hogan will be delighted with the news that he is improving. During the past several weeks his condition has undergone a marked change for the better, and it is now believed that he will win the valiant struggle that he has waged with the grim reaper for several months.

On November 8, while en route from Clanton to Montgomery with a party of friends, he was critically injured in an automobile crash, and since that time has been in a Montgomery hospital with most of his body in a cast. It is thought now that he may be well enough to be brought home in about six weeks.

Frank Hogan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hogan, the former being L. & N. depot agent in Clanton. Before being injured, Frank attended Chilton County High School.

RURAL CORRESPONDENCE FOR UNION-BANNER INVITED

The Union-Banner would like to arrange for a good live correspondent in most every community in Chilton County, who would get up the interesting happenings and send them in every week.

Your community needs the publicity through the paper, and the paper likes to have interesting news from over the county. It would be a good idea for your church or Sunday school, or even for literary schools, to take up the matter and appoint someone to look after the assembling of the news. Others should co-operate with this one in getting all the important happenings together.

The Union-Banner asks that its friends in the various communities look after this matter of correspondence. We would be glad for anyone to come in and talk it over with us.

W. A. CALLOWAY ILL

Reports recently received say that Mr. W. A. Calloway of Cooper is in a serious condition with a heart ailment. Mr. Calloway has had attacks of the trouble before but not so bad as the one he is now suffering. Four or five doctors were called in to see him Monday.

ERROR IN COURT REPORT PUBLISHED LAST WEEK

In publishing the proceedings of the Circuit court in last week's Union-Banner, an error was made in the case of the State vs. Cooper Lumber Company, to collect revenue. It was reported that the verdict was for the plantiff. It should have been: "Verdict for the Defendant."

CATTLE SHOULD BE KEPT FROM RUNNING AT LARGE

The attention of cattle owners is called to the necessity of cattle being kept from running at random in Clanton. People forget or overlook the fact that such practice works a disadvantage to those people who have gardens and small patches in the city limits.

No one intends to permit their cattle to be a nuisance to anybody else, but such becomes the case very easily. For this reason, The Union-Banner has been asked to bring this matter to the attention of cattle owners in Clanton, and urge them to see that cattle not be permitted to run at large and injure other people's property.

BASEBALL AT HIGH SCHOOL PARK NEXT MONDAY, APRIL 5

Spring is here again! The crack of the bat and the zip of the old horsehide calls to all baseball fans. And to you who like baseball, an early season treat is in store for you next Monday, April 5, at the high school park.

Riggs (Ole Hoss) Stephenson's bold, bad Birmingham Barons of the Southern League will be in town for a tangle with the Montgomery Bombers of the Southeastern circuit. Although this is a pre-season practice game, local fans will be able to see some pretty smart baseball.

The Chilton County High School is to get a cut of the proceeds, so if you like baseball, be on hand Monday afternoon. Besides seeing a jam-up baseball game, you will be helping the high school lads as well.

Don't forget — Monday afternoon, April 5, at the Chilton County High School park. The Barons and the Bombers!

DO WE WANT CENTRAL ALABAMA FAIR?

In the good old times when our farmers were, maybe, more free and independent, we used to have a county fair in Clanton every fall. J. N. Dennis, Dudley Collins, W. T. Bean, and some others, I believe, obligated themselves to finance the project and put it over, without loss to themselves and with great benefit to both our farmers and business men, especially the farmers.

I have been saying for years that this should be revived. I believe that it would help our farmers in many ways as individuals, and would help to advertise our town, our county, and the central section of our state.

It would help to make our farmers better farmers; they would have a chance to check on themselves and compare their products with those of others. They and their wives, and their boys and girls, could have a chance to "show off" their handiwork without the expense, time and inconvenience necessary to go further away. Then, if they so desired, this fair could be a kind of "clearing house" where they could select the very best to be carried on to larger fairs later in the season. This one should be held rather early so its best exhibits might be shown elsewhere later if desired.

Now, since our farmers are so "rich" and live in such "luxury" and help to keep up the poor manufacturer, speculator, capitalist, etc., by paying a luxury tax on such "luxuries" as plow points, blue overalls, work shirts, etc., I think they need not stay in the background any longer. I think they might just as well get proud of themselves, "strut their stuff" and have a Central Alabama Fair right here in Chilton County. Select some good men to help run it and make it a permanent project for an annual fall affair.

If you will pardon the reference, I would like to mention a county fair that I visited in the latter part of February of this year at Redlands, Fla.

In that community I saw hundreds of acres of corn, the greater part of which was in the roasting ear stage. I saw thousands of acres of tomatoes and potatoes ready to be harvested, being harvested, and some already harvested and followed by corn as a second crop which was already up, two to four blades high.

The week before this, I noticed in a Miami paper that from the south side of Dade County alone there was shipped in one day 116 cars of fruits and vegetables, and in four days 365 cars. It also stated that 50 per cent of this was potatoes, and the greater part of the other 50 per cent was tomatoes. Well, we can raise both of these in season.

Now, maybe you think I stretched my blanket when I talk about so many cars in one day or four days, or tell you that I saw a fair full of all sorts of farm and garden products about like we have here in, say, September. Well, I refer you to Mr. Howard Oden, and ask him if he did not see all this and more. Then if not satisfied, I will produce other witnesses.

But what about our fair? Farmers, do you want it? If you do, you should say so now, and start today to getting ready to show your best products. If you want to do this, tell your wife, tell your neighbor, tell your merchant, tell me, and tell the other folks—and, WE'LL HAVE IT!—V. J. Gragg.

CITY WELL WAS NO GOOD

City officials regret to have to report that the new city well which was bored last week proved no good. It reached water all right, but the quantity was not sufficient to put in the pumping machinery, Etc. No stream was struck—only seep water out of a layer of sand. Therefore, the new well would not yield any more water than the old wells do.

Therefore, there is only one alternative. Clanton will have to look outside the city limits to some free-running stream for its water supply. This can be accomplished by constructing a dam and creating a reservoir. This will necessitate some more filtering processes. But our present water supply is not sufficient — and certainly will not be when the new territory of the city is added to the system.

AAA CITES REGULATION ON STATUS OF TENANTS

Auburn.—The agricultural Adjustment Administration may withhold any 1937 benefit payment if the landlord or landowner makes any changes in the status of tenants for the purpose of diverting any payment to which tenants or share croppers would be entitled if the 1936 leasing or cropping arrangements were in effect in 1937.

In calling this to the attention of landlords ad landowners, C. A. Cobb, Director, Southern Division, cites the following paragraph in the regulations for the Southern Division:

"If the Secretary, upon the basis of an investigation my the State Committee, finds that any person has for 1937 made any change from the 1936 leasing or cropping arrangement for the farm or has adopted any other device for the purpose of, or which would have the effect of, diverting to such person any payment to which tenants or share croppers would be entitled if the 1936 leasing or cropping arrangement were in effect for 1937, the amount of any payment which otherwise would be made to such person may be withheld in whole or in part."

FIRM SEED BEDS GIVE BEST COTTON STANDS

Auburn. — Fertilizers should not come in contact with the planting seed, warns J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, in advising that a firm seed bed is important in getting a good stand of cotton.

Many farmers are losing money on their cotton crop through bad stands, due in part to planting on loose seed beds and allowing seed and fertilizer to come in contact, he says.

FARMERS URGED TO GROW PLENTY OF FEED CROPS

Auburn.—Since feed costs represent approximately 50 per cent of the cost of producing milk, farmers should make a sincere effort to reduce production costs during 1937 by producing as much feed as possible at home, advises F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service.

Each dairy cow will require two tons of legume hay, such as alfalfa, soy beans or pea vine per year.

If silage is available, three tons of ensilage and one ton of legume hay will make a more economical and satisfactory ration.

In addition to the above roughage, each dairyman should provide 15 bushel sof corn and either 15 bushels of oats or 500 pounds of velvet beans and 500 pounds of cotton seed meal per cow.

This will furnish sufficient feed for a cow producing 250 to 300 pounds of butter fat per year if two acres of good pasture is furnished to supply roughage during the spring, summer and fall.

MILLION POUNDS ALABAMA FARM SURPLUSES REMOVED

Auburn. — More than a million pounds of farm products were purchased in Alabama in 1936 through a national program for the removal of price-depressing surpluses, reports the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to P. O. Davis, Director, Alabama Extension Service.

The products purchased in the state include 256,666 pounds of cabbage, 805,650 pounds of sand pears, and 21,775.5 gallons of syrup. The cabbage and syrup were distributed in Alabama and Kentucky.

THANKS FOR HELP

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to express my gratitude for the contributions of the good citizens of Canton for their help on the expense of the grave vault for Mrs. Mollie Scott. She was a widow, and poor, with so much doctor bills and other expenses that her son had no means of buying the material, so the writer raised the amount from the good people of Clanton. I called on 33 people, and 30 of them responded. We can never forget their kindness. I am sincerely proud that I was born and reared in Chilton County in the midst of friendly people. We can't express our true thanks for the kindness manifested. We thank Bro. Jeff Best for his service in building the vault.

BIRTH RATE UP AS DEATH RATE DROPS IN ALABAMA

January Records Show 4,983 Born; A Rise Of 181 Over January, 1936

According to the monthly report of the bureau of vital statistics of the State Department of Health, just completed, there were reported 4,983 births in January, of which 3,083 were white and 1,900 colored.

This is an increase of 181 over the total of 4,802 births reported for January of last year.

Alabama's urban birth rate for last January was 18.4 per 1,000 population for white and 17.1 per 1,000 population for colored, the average for the two races being 17.9 per 1,000 population. The state's rural birth rate was 20.1 for white and 24.2 for colored, or an average for the two races of 21.6 per 1,000 population.

Seven diseases were responsible for a reported number of more than 100 deaths each during January of this year, these being influenza 126, tuberculosis (all forms) 147, cancer (all forms) 137, cerebral hemorrhage 202, disease of the heart 376, pneumonia (all forms) 290, and nephritis 174; 42 deaths were reported from motor vehicle accidents last January, while 199 other violent deaths were reported.

Calves Need Only Dry Feed After First Four Weeks

Milk Fed in Limited Quantities the First Month.

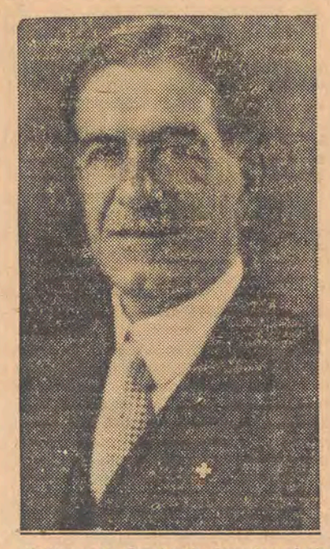
Dairymen have always been troubled by the problem of how to get calves on dry feed. They realize that most of their worries are over when the calf is completely off milk and entirely on dry feed, yet few practical solutions for accomplishing this feeding change have been offered. Recent advances in milk prices have made their problem more acute. Research has shown calves are entirely capable of digesting solid food when only three or four days old.

Calves with Mother 3 Days

A simple plan for getting calves on dry feed has been worked out at the Purina Experimental Farm where hundreds of calves are raised. Calves are left with the cow only three days During that time they get mother's milk because of its colostral content, an important and necessary lubricant to the new born calf's digestive system.

Soon Learn to Eat Dry Feed

After the calves are three days old they are taken from the cow and fed all the dry starting feed they will clean up. At first this is not much, but every day the amount is increased. At first they get only two quarts of milk per day with calf startena, hay and water. At the beginning of the second week they are fed four quarts of milk daily and all the calf startena, hay and water they will eat. During the third week they get five quarts of milk daily with dry feed kept before them all the time. At the beginning of the fourth week the milk is cut to three quarts daily, causing calves to eat more dry food. After four weeks no milk is fed at all. Calf startena, hay, a little salt, and water is their entire ration. These amounts of milk are for Holstein and the larger breeds of calves. Guernsey and Jersey calves are fed a little less milk.



I DARE YOU--

A Challenging Book By a Practical Business Man.

Not often does a two-fisted, hard-hitting business man have the time or the inclination to write from his experiences such an inspirational book as "I Dare You." William H. Danforth, author of this challenging volume, has drawn from the wealth of his own experiences in writing this daring message.

Nationally Known

As founder of a large feed and cereal business, lecturer, church worker, author and world traveler, William H. Danforth, chairman of the board of Ralston Purina Company, has dared to do many big jobs. As an employer he challenges the physical and mental best of every one of his thousands of employees. But his influence extends outside his business organization. In the field of education, and in church circles, William H. Danforth is known as the challenger who dares young people to bring out the best that is within them.

William H. Danforth, founder of the Ralston Purina Company, and author of "I Dare You."

Ranks Among Best Sellers

"I Dare You," at first printed privately for circulation among associates and friends, has today found its way into schools, churches, camps, and libraries all over the nation. So rapidly has the popularity of this little book grown that today it is ranked among the best sellers of the nation.

William H. Danforth in explaining why he wrote "I Dare You" says that as a business man he agrees that he should stick to business, but that he had the urge to share his philosophy with the few who are headed somewhere. "I Dare You" will be passed up by those who are afraid," says the author. "It will only bore the sophisticated, and amuse the sceptic. It will antagonize some. Many will not even know what it is about. It is written only for those who believe they can be bigger and more important than they are."

(Editor's Note: A folder on "I Dare You" can be had for the asking by writing the "I Dare You" committee, St. Louis, Missouri, 835 S. Eighth St.)

A. A. Jackson And Sales Tax

Editor Union-Banner:

As the sales tax question has quieted down, and the collection of same is getting in full swing, and as I am a merchant who is trying to collect the tax, as required by law, I would like to let the public know what I think about this law.

The law, as passed by the legislators, and approved by Bibb Graves, forces the merchants to collect the tax and keep a complete record of his gross sales, without compensation, under a penalty of $500 fine and six months in prison if the merchants fail to collect said tax.

This law, as I see it, places the merchant directly into involuntary servitude, which our Constitution says shall not exist within the United States.

The Constitution says: "Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for chime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States." Notice, the language says neither slavery nor involuntary servitude. As I understand this language, involuntary servitude has the same stress put on it as does slavery. Is not the merchant forced under a penalty and without pay to collect this tax, and does not that put him directly into servitude?

If this law will stand a constitutional test, why not have another session of the legislature, and place the negroes of Alabama back into slavery? I think one will be just as constitutional as the other.

What have our Chilton County merchants to say on this question? Shall we submit to this servitude as did the negroes to slavery back in the old colonial days? I would like to hear from the merchants on this most important question. Respectfully,—A. A. Jackson.

ALABAMA FARMERS RECEIVE $7,125,008 IN FARM PAYMENTS

Auburn.—Alabama farmers continue to receive payments for practicing soil improvement and conservation during 1936.

Within the past few weeks they have been paid $7,125,008 in benefit payments and present indications are that 250,000 in the state will receive a total of about $10,000,000 for cooperating under the Agricultural Conservation program in 1936, reports Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of the program in the state.

Detailed information on the 1937 program has been given at state, county, and community meetings throughout the state during the past three weeks. It is estimated that approximately $10,000,000 will be paid farmers of the state next winter for cooperating in 1937.

University News

University, Ala., March 29.—Representatives from many Alabama county high schools will be present at the University of Alabama this weekend when the Alabama Junior Academy of Science meets simutaneously with the senior Academy of Science. Dr. Walter B. Jones, state geologist connected with the University, is president of the Academy.

The Academy session will be featured by a welcome address by University president, Richard C. Foster. The sessions are April 2 and 3.

There are 173,914 volumes of books in libraries on the University of Ala. campus, a survey conducted here last week reveals. The survey was made by Mr. Gles B. Robertson, librarian at Emory University and a member of the American Library Association committee on resources of Southern libraries.

Youths under 21 were responsible for over one-sixth of all the arrests made last year, according to a statement made at the University of Alabama last week by R. E. Harbo, one of G-man J. Edgar Hoover's chief aides in the war on crime. Harbo, speaking on "Youth on Crime" before a large University audience, blamed much youthful criminality on the lack of home discipline that characterizes our times. He urged support of the schools and organizations such as the Boy Scouts to overcome criminal tendencies.

The University of Alabama's student magazine will be edited and published by the co-eds this onth. The Alpha Chi Omega sorority won the right to edit the magazine in an advertising and editorial campaign sponsored by R. Hadley Howard, Florence, editor of the University of Alabama Rammer-Jammer.

The Summer School session of the University of Alabama will employ 21 administrative officias and 109 faculty members, it was announced here today by Dr. John R. McLure, director of the 1937 Summer School. A number of visiting instructors from other schoos will be included among the faculty members. The administrative officers are headed by Dr. Richard C. Foster president, and Dr. George H. Denny, chancellor.

Music clubs from 100 Alabama towns will participate in a state convention of the Alabama Federation of Music Clubs, to be held at the University of Alabama on April 6, 7, and 8, it was announced here today. Choral competition is to be one of the features of the convention. Men's glee clubs, women's glee clubs, women's chorus groups, and mixed chorus groups, will each participate in separate competitive events. Entries from Judson, Montevallo, the University, Selma, Montgomery, Wetumpka and Birmingham have already been received.

Nina Jo Anthony of Phoenix City was elected vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet at the University of Alabama in elections held last week. Mary Ann Evans, Mobile, was elected treasurer. In the other two races, Martha Bedsole will serve as president next year and Lois Drolet as secretary.

The now vice-president, Nina Jo Anthony, was also recently named secretary-treasurer of the Council of the National Student Movement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

IN MEMORY

In memory of our dear son and brother, Dave Mims, who died March 20:

It was on March the twentieth,
Just after the break of day,
When the Lord called our
Dear son and brother away.

Although unable to speak to us,
And could not even say goodbye,
We knew his thoughts were with us,
When he was called to die.

We miss him, oh, we miss him,
For our Savior called him away,
But we are praying to meet him
In a better world some day.

Sickness and sorrow it seemed that
He had more than his share,
But now we believe he has won a home,
Where everything is bright and fair.

His smiling face here on earth
No more we can see,
But if we could only meet him in heaven,
How happy we all would be.

Dear son and brother, to see you go—
We could not help but cry,
But there is a blessed hope that we May meet you in the sweet bye and bye.

—By his mother, and family.

STATE FARMERS URGED VISIT PROJECT AREAS

Auburn, Ala.—Now is an excellent time for farmers or farm groups to visit farms of cooperators in erosion control demonstration areas to see what is being to protect the soil, states O. C. Medlock, state coordinator.

The demonstration areas have been set up not only to control erosion within the specified areas, but also to serve as demonstrations of the best known methods of erosion control in operation under actual farming conditions.

County agents of the Extension Service or project managers of the Soil Conservation Service in Alabama will be glad to organize tours of these areas at the convenience of the farmers. The projects are located in Tallapoosa, Butler, and Calhoun counties.

Cotton seed treated with mercury dust generally gives better yields of lint than untreated seed, reports the Bureau of Plant Industry. "Our experience last year with the Ceresan treatment of cotton seed was highly satisfactory," says H. B. Tisdale of the Alabama Experiment Station.

Insect pests in the southeast are showing signs of life earlier than usual because of the abnormally warm weather this winter, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

The prices of soy beans, cow peas, and velvet beans are considerably higher and the supply of seed lower than a year ago.

The Alabama State 4-H Short Course for Girls will be held in Auburn, May 31 to June 5, announces Elizabeth Deloney, girls state 4-H Club leader. Several hundred girls from every county in the state will attend.

4-H Club rallies are being held in practically all counties in Alabama this spring.

State Capitol News

Montgomery, Ala.—Joining three other New Deal Governors of southern states in a nation-wide radio appeal for endorsement of President Roosevelt's proposed judicial reforms, Gov. Graves last Saturday declared that the supreme duty of Congress "is to save the court from itself."

Permission to sell whiskey and wines by hotel and restaurant proprietors was provided in the State alcoholic beverages act merely as a convenience to patrons of such establishments and not as a huge profit-making enterprise, according to chairman William O. Baldwin of the Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

This statement was made to clarify the board's position in the current agitation launched by the hotel and restaurant owners who are demanding more than the 10 per cent discount allowed them on purchases of liquor from state stores.

Chairman Baldwin pointed out that the liquor bill was amended to allow these establishments to sell liquor "purely as a courtesy" to their patrons with no idea of permitting them to compete with the state liquor stores to be opened soon in the 24 wet counties of the state. Nothing in the act would prevent hotels and restaurants from charging higher prices than fixed for retail sales in the state stores.

SPRING TONIC OF GARDEN 'GREENS'

Is Healthy Food for Every Member of Family.

A Garden of "Greens" for Medicine.

"Greens," meaning the green foliage of any vegetable cooked and eaten, have for years had attached to them a legend of medicinal value as a spring tonic. Spring has been the season for "greens" when dandelions, spinach, horseradish tops, mustard, furnished the chief material. Later came the beet top and then came the Swiss chard, a comparatively modern vegetable compared with its relative, the beet. These were the materials of the early settlers on the Atlantic seaboard who sent the "greens" tradition over the country.

Now green vegetables are an all-season diet. We eat spinach every week in the year. The tonic idea has been replaced with the more accurately scientific vitamins. The tonic idea came about probably because the "greens" of spring furnished an element that had been lacking in the winter diet, vitamins, and the user of the "greens" showed more "pep" as a result of making up for the deficiency.

Collards and turnip greens are typical of southern "greens" as are dandelions and spinach in the North, although northern markets now get a very large part of their spinach supply from southern growers. Both collards and turnips are greens for early planting.

The collard is really a non-heading cabbage. The collard, the mustard and the turnip top are all of the same botanical family and have a somewhat similar taste when cooked.

This is the season to sow seed of "greens"—mustard, turnips or collards as well as spinach. Beets and chard can also be sown to come along as succession to the earlier and faster growing "greens." The main thing is to have an adequate supply of "greens" coming on to furnish the needed vitamins and to give variety to the diet.

Farmers And Business Men Met At The Thomason Hotel

WHICH IS THE BEST NITRATE OF SODA?

This question was discussed at a dinner meeting at the Thomason Hotel in Clanton, Thursday night, with about 40 local business men and farmers, and Barrett Co. representatives. Mr. J. C. Pridmore of Columbia, S. C. was the principal speaker. To answer the question he made a black-board talk and gave results of four southern experiment stations that had made many field tests of all three kinds of soda, to see which is best.

The Georgia Experiment Station, Mr. Pridmore stated, had made tests covering four years and reported that Arcadian produced 1034 pounds of seed cotton per acre, while Old Style Chilean gave an average of 1013 under indentically the same conditions.

The Delta Experiment Station, at Stoneville, Miss., reports having made 36 comparisons over a period of eight years. Mr. Pridmore said, during which Arcadian produced an average of 1,274 pounds of seed cotton per acre, while Champion and old style soda, used interchangeably, gave an average of 1266 pounds under the same conditions exactly.

In tests covering seven years at the Northeast Louisiana Station, at St. Joseph, sole source experiments gave identical yields with Arcadian and Champion. Both produced 2068 pounds per acre. As a result of four years side dressing tests at this station, Arcadian gave 2103 pounds of seed cotton per acre, while the Chilean soda gave 2,094 pounds.

In side dressing tests at the Pee Dee Station in South Carolina, Arcadian gave 1911.3 pounds of seed cotton per acre, while Champion produced 1915.6 pounds per acre; old style gave 1883 pounds per acre, during the same period.

It should be pointed out, in this connection that the nitrogen content of Arcadian and Champion is identical. Each contains 16 per cent nitrogen, according to guarantees of the producers. Old style contained 15.25 per cent when used in these tests. Due to the difference in the nitrogen content, it was necessary to apply 105 pounds old style to provide the same amount of nitrogen supplied by 100 pounds Arcadian and Champion.

While this difference may seem small, it means in final analysis that the farmer applying soda to his crops, must use 2100 pounds old style to give them as much nitrogen as 2000 pounds Arcadian or Champion will give. Twenty tons Arcadian or Champion supplies as much nitrogen as 21 tons old style. When this adjustment is made, the experiment stations all conclude that one nitrate of soda is as good as another, from a crop producing standpoint.

The basis of choice must be made upon the source from which the materials come. Arcadian is a domestic product and is produced in Hopewell, Va. The others are foreign and must be imported.

Four national directors of the association will convene with the Sovereigns of Alabama, he said. They are De Emmett Bradshaw, national president, of Omaha, Nebr.; W. M. Crawford, of Birmingham; R. G. Plunkett, of Macon; and R. E. Miller, of Dallas, Tex., members of the board of directors.

Prominent Sovereigns in this jurisdiction who have indicated that they will attend the convention include:

L. D. Holiway, state manager, of Montgomery; John N. Cochran, assistant state manager, of Florence; Harry K. Martin, junior past head consul, of Dothan; W. R. Peacock, head adviser, of Troy; W. W. Beasley, head banker, of Carrollton; Harry A. Cook, head clerk, of Montgomery; W. B. Beasley, head escort, of Garland; W. L. Adams, head watchmen, of Letohatchie; and W. E. Moon, head sentry, of Piedmont.

Elect Sovereign Camp Delegates

At this meeting, delegates will be elected to represent the jurisdiction at the Sovereign Camp convention, the supreme representative legislative body of the Woodmen of the World, which meets later in the year.

A feature of the convention will be the initiation of a large class of members from all sections of the jurisdiction.

Large Local Investments

Woodmen activities in this state are always noted with interest by national headquarters, it is said, as the association has large investments in municipal, county and state securities in this area.

The Woodmen of the World is today the strongest fraternal life insurance association in the world, with assets of $124,493,972, as of January 1, 1937.

During 1936 alone, the Woodmen of the World enrolled more than 90,000 new members, with insurance protection totaling in excess of $108,000,000.

Woodmen membership now totals nearly 400,000 men, organized in about 8,000 local camps, in 44 states.

Two $1,500,000 Refunds

In the spring of 1936, and again in February, 1937, the association returned about $1,500,000 of assessments to its members. These were the largest single refunds ever made by a fraternal society, and affected nearly 300,000 members each year. Eligible for refunds were all members who had held a beneficiary certificate (in good standing at the end of 1936) for two years or more.

President Bradshaw, who is honored and respected in every state in which the association operates, is particularly interested in improving and enlarging the services of the Woodmen of the World Memorial hospital at San Antonio, Tex. Here, members afflicted with tuberculosis are treated without cost.

"Like A Letter From Home"

OLDEST NEWSPAPER IN CHILTON COUNTY

New Poultry Book Outlines Care and Feeding of Birds

All Phases of Poultry Raising Discussed By Experts.

Good chicks, good feed and good management. These are the three major factors in successful poultry raising, according to the new "Chick and Pullet Book," recently released by Purina Mills. A thirty-page booklet it covers practically every phase of poultry raising from "pip through production." In it are discussions of starting feeds and comparative results in chick growth at the end of six weeks; a baby chick feeding plan; the importance and profits resulting from feeding a good mash through the growing period; and an analysis of range rearing as compared to raising birds in confinement.

Good breeding, modern feeding, and correct management result in one and a quarter pound birds at six weeks Death losses are cut to a minimum.

"Control Feeding" Discussed

A relatively new practice in poultry raising, "control feeding" is given prominence in this publication. The advisability of letting chicks and hens "pick and choose" their feed has long been questioned. Within the last few years an increasing number of poultrymen have been successfully raising their birds on control feeding programs. Greater uniformity of birds, better growth and development, and higher production are definite benefits gained.

Vitamin A Needed For Growth

As birds go through the growing period there is a constant need for vitamin A. Poultrymen know that the quicker birds make the jump from the starting period to the laying house, the quicker begin the profits. They also know that fast growth calls for plenty of vitamin A. Pullets that do not get vitamin A in sufficient amounts to meet their needs go into the laying house "thin, scrawny, and 'knotty.' Later, unable to keep up under the strain of heavy egg production, they break down. This means red-ink entries in the poultry ledger. How to assure a ration containing a sufficient amount of vitamin A is explained in the Purina "Chick and Pullet Book."

Prevention Lowers Disease

One section is devoted to poultry diseases, with helpful hints as to means of prevention, and general treatment. Preventive sanitation and preventive management are listed as the two important phases of disease control. Keeping the houses and ground clean gives the most protection, of course. Preventive management includes intelligent effort to keep birds under conditions as natural as possible thereby cutting down spread of disease among the flock.

Copies of the 1937 Chick and Pullet Book may be secured, free of charge, from feed merchants handling Purina checkerboard feeds.

Even Simple Home Life Is Dangerous

Expert Tells How to Avoid House Hazards

Ignorance of Danger and Careless Use of Modern Equipment Is Cited

By WALTER JAMES STUBBS
Safety Engineer

The American home should be the safest place on earth—but it isn't.

On the contrary, life in the American home is perilous. Fire and accident make it so. And instead of decreasing, the nation's peace-time casualty list is increasing rapidly.

Adventurers go to Africa to shoot big game; to the Alps to scale dizzy mountain heights; to the polar regions for exploration. But statistics indicate that they may be safer than if they had remained in their homes in America. In 1935, according to the National Safety Council, 31,500 persons died as a result of accidents in American homes. In 1936, the total grew to 39,000 deaths. That is more than double the number of fatalities that occurred in private industry and almost twice the number of deaths resulting from motor accidents during the same period.

The worker in his factory or en route to and from home by motor is safer than he is at home. He is careless at home. He is more careful at work or on the road.

Fire is a tremendous hazard in the American home. According to the National Fire Protection Association, a home is attacked by fire every two minutes throughout the year in this country. In 1935, there were 260,000 home fires and the loss totalled between $85,000,000 and $100,000,000. Eight thousand deaths were caused by burns, fires and conflagrations. Eighty per cent of those deaths came from fire in the home.

The use of combustible roofs, instead of fire-retardant roofs such as asphalt shingles and tiles; careless habits in smoking and the use of matches; defective chimneys and flues and defective wiring are among the major factors in the tremendous annual fire loss.

Fire and accident can be virtually eliminated in the home through care.

Make a survey of your home today. Note the unsafe conditions in cellar, on roof, wherever they exist. Inform other members of your family of these dangers immediately. Then set about the task of making them safe. Failure to recognize unsafe conditions and failure to correct them after they have been noted are the fundamental reasons for America's appalling peace-time loss of life.

To Avoid Accident

1—Provide stairways, especially cellar stairs, with hand-rails.

2—Be sure that electric switches are properly placed, so that dry, non-conductive footing is assured and walking in darkened room unnecessary.

3—Fasten all rugs on stairways securely.

4—Don't wax floors highly. It makes them too slippery.

5—Don't permit water to remain in cellar near electric outlet. To do so invites short circuits, possibly fatal shocks.

To Eliminate Fire

1—Don't smoke in bed.
2—Never start fires with kerosene.
3—Don't allow paper rubbish to accumulate in cellar, especially near stove or furnace, or in garage.
4—Provide your fireplace with heavy screen.
5—Beware of home dry cleaning.
6—Use fire-retardant materials where practicable, especially where no additional expense is involved, as in roofing. Combustible roofs have caused great percentage of home fires. Fire-retardant roofing materials, such as asphalt shingles and tiles, resist fire.

LIFE IN THE SMALL TOWN

Life in the big city has attractions that the smaller towns do not furnish, but probably the disadvantages of living in a city more than offset them—at least in the opinion of those who have lived where they know almost everyone they see. It is easy to be lonely in the city, although you are surrounded by humanity. But here you are surrounded by friends instead of simply people. You can depend upon them in time of need. They will advise you and help you. There is little if any danger from robbers, kidnappers and other criminals. There are no huge theaters, but neither are there any $2.20 seats. You can't buy a six-course dinner, but you need pay only a quarter to half a dollar for a substantial meal. There is no metropolitan newspaper sold by a newsboy screaming its headlines, but the paper you read tells about people that you know and love. Yes, the small town has many advantages city people don't even know about. —Belleville (Kan) Telescope.

A QUESTION FOR CUMMINGS

Attorney General Cummings, defending the president's judicial reorganization plan, said, as to charges of packing the Court, that nothing could be farther from the truth. Suggestion of dictatorship, he said, was irresponsible talk, and ignored the realities. Much of the remainder of the address was devoted to discussion of aged and infirm judges; men who at 70 have lost vigor, their minds are not as active, their senses not as acute, etc.

One question, Mr. Attorney General: Suppose the Court had upheld the New Deal program, would there, even if the judges averaged 90, be any judicial reorganization plan today?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

One thing that the ruling powers in Europe might arrange for in the Spanish crisis is some reliable war news.

What Uncle Sam should do is not to grant Europe a loan but to let Europe alone.

"SWING" POLITICS

What is to be the ultimate political effect upon the so-called Democratic party of today —and upon its opposition—of the present effort of the Roosevelt administration to rewrite the Constitution of the United States without going to the people for its amendment? What is to be the political effect of a spending program that is heaping heavier and heavier burdens upon the tax-paying people—all of the people, despite efforts to make it appear that the burden is falling and is to fall merely upon the rich? What is to be the effect of a failure on the part of the administration to insist that the laws for the protection of property be enforced—as in the case of the sit-down strikes which now are springing up throughout the country like mushrooms? And what is to be the effect of the creation of a great bureaucratic government which is interfering more and more with the ordinary activities of the people? It would be a major prophet indeed who could answer these questions in detail. However, it is permitted even the layman to guess.

One thing is certain. If the Republican party will think first of the interests of the American people and the country as a whole, it will progress. If it will stick to the principles of the constitutional form of government under which America has grown great and the people have enjoyed huge benefits, it will have its definite place.

It would be both idle and unfair to contend that nothing of good has been done by the New Deal administration. But it would be just as idle and certainly incorrect to maintain that the New Deal has not inflicted many wounds upon the people from which they will be many years recovering.

The next four years are full of political portent. And yet, the main issue, as always, is the greatest good for the people. It is an issue that transcends all parties and smashes all party lines. When the time arrives, if it does, that the country is convinced that the New Deal maintains itself only by passing out favors for which the people pay through the nose in dollars and in loss of liberty, it will turn to another leadership. It is for such leadership that the G. O. P should prepare itself.—Washington (D. C.) Star.

SHOWING IT CAN BE DONE

The chief importance of Sen. Borah's proposed amendment to the Constitution (as a substitute for the legislation asked by President Roosevelt) is that it now shows clearly how surely present-day problems can be solved constitutionally and in accordance with American principles.

It emphasizes anew the prime truth that every need of the nation can be met without making the judiciary subservient to the executive and without placing in grave peril the rights and liberties of the citizen.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

Spring is almost here. The big league baseball players have gone South to train. It will not be long until the boys are getting ready for the congressional elections next year. Tempus certainly does fugit, especially when you are old enough to remember when the first Roosevelt was president.

The power of reason enables you to see the right and the wrong in everything that doesn't affect your pocketbook. — Buffalo Evening News.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

One cannot help becoming impressed by the change of political atmosphere during the past few months. In the late campaign the New Deal orators from the president down, impressed us with the change of conditions which had come over the country during four short years. We were reminded during the oratorically closing days of 1936 of the factory chimneys all over this broad land of ours belching the black smoke of prosperity; we had pictured for us, too, the thousands of happy workmen with well filled dinner pails going into these manufacturing institutions whistling "Happy Days Are Here Again". There were painted for us the joyous and smiling faces of well nourished children which had taken the place of the pinched and hungry countenances of the youngsters back in the days of the wicked and inefficient Hoover era of 1933. The depression had been conquered, we were told. Only a few details remained. The New Dealers should be rewarded with a vote of confidence. Certainly we were led to believe that the tiger of plunder and predatory privilege had been leashed by such Sir Galahads as Prof. Tugwell and Henry Wallace, and that from now on the sunshine of prosperity and New Deal democracy was to shine steadily, albeit gently. The people responded with a New Deal endorsement that swept everything from the moorings except Maine and Vermont, two commonwealths which a great many newspaper jokesters immediately began to picture as realms outside of the United States.

Now a few short months have passed. The New Deal is in the saddle more firmly than ever. It is true that Prof. Tugwell has gone on into the realms of big business, but others have stepped into the breach. There have been strikes here and there, but no signs of a business recession. The stock market insists on going higher and higher upon the slightest encouragement. Nobody has let loose the tiger of plutocratic plunder. All is apparently serene.

And yet there is being delineated for us a picture of doubt and fear—painted by the same artists who gave us such roseate landscapes back in the fall of 1936. It seems that they have discovered that all is not well along the Potomac. The tiger is still loose. We have not been rescued. In fact we are about to be swallowed boots and saddles by the same forces of evil which were devouring us when the Knights of the New Deal rode to victory back in 1932. The reason seems to be this—the Supreme Court is against the people. It is composed of nine men, the majority of whom have passed the age of 70 years, men who continue to look back on the precedents of a century in interpreting our fundamental law instead of dating it from the era of Donald Richberg and Felix Frankfurter. It is necessary therefore, that there be another change. The Supreme Court must be curbed in its present mood before we can have the assurance of that state of beatitude which we were told that we possessed in the fall of 1936. The law ought to be changed so that the president can appoint if necessary six new justices to assist those who have passed the age of three score years and ten. Then and then only can we be assured that the law shall be interpreted as it ought to be interpreted.

It is true that the high tribunal nullified the NRA and the AAA months before the campaign of 1936. It is true also that business seemed to take a new lease of life from the time these decisions were rendered. It is a verity also that long after the decisions we were led to believe, in the campaign, that we had arrived at Utopia and were free men. But something has happened. The scenery has changed. We are in danger again. They tell us it will take six new justices of the Supreme Court to alleviate the peril.

CAMOUFLAGE

To the statement of the president that he should be allowed to name six more members of the Supreme Court in order to relieve congestion of work the answers seem to be:

1. There isn't any congestion.
2. Fifteen men will take longer than nine to reach a decision, thus making for congestion.

Otherwise, this reason assigned by the president for his extraordinary proposal is good. There remains, of course, the fact that the assigned reasons were not the real reasons.—Lynchburg (Va.) News.

ALCOHOL ADMINISTRATOR WARNS OF LIQUOR EVILS

The liquor evils of which the public complain have largely grown up around the tap room and tavern, according to Wilford S. Alexander, in an address before delegates of the National Retail Liquor Package Stores Association in Chicago recently.

He said that there we find a scene that is entirely new in American life—women and young girls drinking at the bar, women and young girls soliciting trade, and women and young girls serving customers. This is abhorrent to the moral sense of the public, and it is feared that if it is not corrected will be visited with a terrible punishment.

THIS READER ASKS THE GOVERNOR TO RESIGN

Dear Mr. Editor:

Please print this open letter to Bibb Graves.

In your haste to impose your infamous sales tax upon a long suffering people you forgot to tax the air we use.

I would like to interest you in the sale of enough devices for every person in Alabama so that a meter will show just how much tax one owes on the air that perforce must be used.

Now, governor, there are not enough polite words in the English language for me to express myself on your shameful betrayal of the poor in this state who in the last analysis pay the bulk of tax collected and who are in no condition to stand a further drain upon their slender resources.

Governor, due to the fact that you have violated your word to the people I shall call upon you to resign from the high office bestowed upon you by the voters of the state. If you fail to do so, I shall call for your impeachment upon grounds of incompetency. —George W. Proctor.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our heartfelt thanks for the sympathy and kindness extended to us during the illness and death of our dear mother, Mrs. Mollie Scott. We Wish to thank our many friends and neighbors for their kindness. We thank Bro. Ellisor and Bro. Bass for their consoling words. We also want to thank Mr. Marvin Durbin, Miss Bertha Dennis, Dr. Mastin, Dr. Johnson, and the Spigener Funeral Home. We extend our appreciation for the beautiful floral offerings. May God's richest blessings rest on each and every one of you is our sincere prayer.—The children, Reedie Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Jodie Wilson.

"LIBELED LADY" BOASTS THE LONGEST SHOT EVER MADE

The longest single motion picture shot, in both time and distance, so far as film veterans can remember, was filmed by Metro-Goldwn-Mayer.

It was the initial scene of Libeled Lady, which stars Jean Harlow, William Powell, Murna Loy, and Spencer Tracy, and comes to the Wadesonian Theatre next Sunday and Monday, April 4th and 5th.

Winding through the maze of the lobby of a large metropolitan hotel, the scene covered more than a city block in space and runs four minutes on the screen. For that take, 360 feet of film were exposed from the time Powell and Tracy meet in the elevator until, four minutes later, they were seated in the hotel dining room.

With film running through a camera at the rate of 24 frames per second, 5,760 separate pictures of the two stars were made in the take.

The enormous set required 437 lamps to light it, and was peopled with 300 extras. Jack Conway, to whom moving shots are important parts of an individual technique, was the director.

Lesson for April 4

GOD THE CREATOR

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 1:1-5, 26-31.

GOLDEN TEXT—In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth. Gen. 1:1.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When God Made the World.

JUNIOR TOPIC—In the Beginning—God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—God the Maker of All.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—God in Creation.

From the completion of the great Gospel of John, which took us back to that time "in the beginning" when the Living Word "was" and "was with God and was God," we turn to the first book of the Bible, which is, as indicated by its title, a book of "beginnings." We find in it not only the record of the creation of the heavens and earth, but of man, and the beginnings of his history, the entrance of sin into the world, the beginning of God's revelation of redemption. It is indeed a most important book, fundamental to an understanding of the rest of the Bible.

Genesis has been the special object of attack on the part of critics, and especially by those who saw in its account of the creation statements which apparently did not square with the announced findings of science. Fortunately, as men make advances in scientific discovery, as well as in the understanding of God's Word, they are beginning to realize that there is no real conflict between the established facts of science and a proper interpretation of Scripture. When there is an apparent clash it will be found that either the Bible has been misinterpreted by men or they have mistaken a hypothesis of science for a fact.

We are in error when we talk about the Bible's being confirmed by archaeology or by science. If the United States naval observatory should find that its master clock does not agree with the observation of the stars, it would not assume that the universe had gotten out of order. It would know that the clock is wrong, and would make correction. Science does not confirm the Bible; the Bible confirms true science.

The account of creation may be considered in two great divisions.

I. The Creation of Heaven and Earth (1:1-5).

"In the beginning God"—what awe-inspiring words! How fully and satisfactorily they state the origin of all things.

Men ask us to believe their theories, but there is no cosmogony offered which does not call for a measure of credulity. Man cannot explain the origin of matter, the origin of life, the origin of rational life. These three great gaps and many smaller ones his theories cannot bridge. Man asks us to take his word for them. But we prefer to take God's Word.

Study the entire account of creation. Space here forbids more than the briefest reference to its perfect order and symmetry, its completeness, the self-evident fact that it is a true account of the working of God. It is so received by thoughtful men and women of our day. Even scoffers have long since ceased to speak foolish words about "the mistakes of Moses."

II. The Creation of Man (vv. 16-23).

"Let us" is an indication that the Holy Trinity was active in creation. God the Father is mentioned (v. 1), the Holy Spirit (v. 2), and without the Son was nothing made (John 1:3).

Man was created in "the likeness and image of God." This undoubtedly refers to a moral and spiritual likeness. Man is a moral being, possessed of all the characteristics of true personality. He is a living spirit, with intelligence, feeling, willpower. This image, no matter how it may have been defaced by sin, is that in man which makes it possible for us to seek him in his sin and beseech him "to be reconciled to God." "Down in the human heart, crushed by the tempter, feelings lie buried that grace can restore."

Notice that God gave man "a helpmeet unto him," that he established the family as the center of life on this earth. He gave man dominion over the entire creation, and his restless pioneering spirit still carries him on to the complete realization of that promise. He provided not only for man's spiritual and social needs, but also for his every physical need. Surely we may say with Moses that "everything that he (God) had made . . . was very good" (v. 31).

A Man of Sorrow

One reason why Jesus was a man of sorrow was that He saw as none other the pain and sin and woe of the world.

A Hard Road

The hard road of sin is always so crowded that it gives little room for turning around and going back.

Determination

He only is a well-made man who has a good determination.—Emerson.

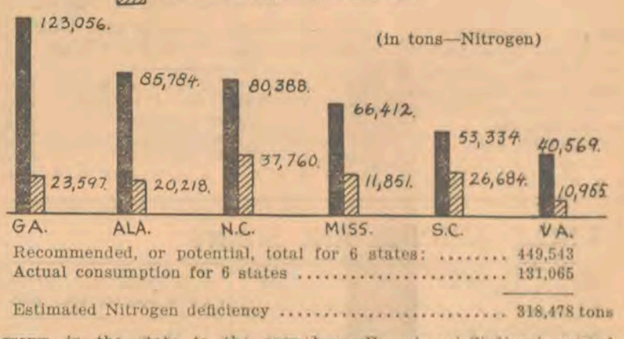
Southern Agricultural Workers Told Nitrogen Consumption Low

The consumption of much needed Nitrogen in growing profitable farm crops in the South is far below the recommendations of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Southern Experiment Stations. This situation was outlined in a paper presented at the annual meeting of the Southern Agricultural Workers in Nashville, Tenn., February 3-5 by E. J. Willis of The Barrett Company.



A survey was made in the six southern heavy fertilizer using states: Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi. By applying the Nitrogen recommendation of the Experiment Stations for each crop grown in the state to the crop acreage given in the 1934 census, an estimate of the recommended or potential Nitrogen was determined. A startling difference was found between these figures and those showing the estimated actual Nitrogen consumption taken from "The Survey of Plant Food Consumption" published by the National Fertilizer Association in 1934.

The amount of Nitrogen consumed was very low and varied from one-fifth of the amount recommended in Mississippi to about one-half of the amount recommended in South Carolina. This difference for each state is shown in the above chart.

These figures show that the total potential or recommended Nitrogen amounted to about 450,000 tons and the actual consumption to around 131,000 tons. When Nitrogen consumption is so far below indicated standards there is real cause for concern—concern not only that the farmer is not realizing the maximum benefits from his land, but that he may be actually draining the soil of the natural resources which are essential to its continued use for agricultural purposes.

Experimental investigations have resulted in the development of intelligent and effective methods for utilizing available fertilizers. Director M. J. Funchess of the Alabama Experiment Station is quoted as saying, that cotton fertilizer carrying twice as much Nitrogen as customary might be used with profit, and U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletin 452 as saying, that cotton yields might be doubled or tripled by applying large quantities of Nitrogen, with mineral fertilizer.

There is distinct evidence of increased Nitrogen consumption during 1935 and 1936, and with increased buying power and reduced costs of fertilizer the farmer can not afford to overlook the rich rewards to be derived from the intelligent restoration of Nitrogen to the soil.

Recommended, or potential, total for 6 states: 449,543
Actual consumption for 6 states 131,065

Estimated Nitrogen deficiency ..... 318,478 tons

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

No man has reached true greatness until he is able to stand alone on the side of right It is easy to go with the crowd. It takes courage, faith, and true greatness to walk alone on the path of right with the mass of people disapproving and condemning. Great souls have always been lonely. Jesus was lonely. He came to His world which He, Himself, had made and His world would not receive Him. He gathered about Him His own disciples and they left Him alone and slept while He suffered. Jesus was approachable. The magnetism of His divine personality drew wicked women of the underworld as well as religious leaders and men of culture. He had a power that caused little children to crowd about Him. Yet men did not understand Him. Some day every knee shall bow and every tongue confess that He is the Son of God and the divinely appointed King. He is the Heir of all things. All things were made by Him and for Him. "All hail the power of Jesus' name."

Why do some men around the age of fifty seem to lose their moral stamia and go off at a tangent? the writer inquired of an old physician several years ago. "Many men about the age of fifty have reached their goal in life and have no forward look, so they turn to indiscretion for stimulation," the old doctor replied. What a pity some men lose the forward look! I have just returned from Florida. The happiest people I saw were old people. Old age should be the happiest time in life for a Christian. If we have faith in God and the future why should we worry? Beyond the gold of the sunset is the gold of the city streets the gates of pearl, the walls of jasper, the crystal fountains, the cloudless sky, and everlasting youth, and there is no sighing and no crying and no dying.

"If it were not so I would have told you." That is what Jesus said to His disciples when their hearts were sad. In other words, Jesus said, "I am going away to prepare a home for you. When the home is ready I will come back again and receive you unto Myself. If it were not so I would have told you. In other words, "you can depend on Me. I would not deceive you. I would not stir hope in your heart and then dash that hope. I would not cause you to dream dreams that cannot come true. I would not create longings that will never be satisfied. You need have no doubt. You can caunt on Me." I wonder if the promises of Jesus are real to those who read these lines? Do you wonder sometimes if the thing is so? Jesus was no madman. He was no wild dreamer. He was not a sinner. He never deceived. He would not permit us to be deceived by refusing to give us the facts. His disciples asked him one time: "Will thou at this time restore the kingdom of Israel?" He said to them, "It is not for you to know the time or season, This is a secret locked in my Father's bosom." Evidently the disciples understood that some day the kingdom would be returned to Israel. It is not reasonable to suppose that Jesus would have left them under that impression if the impression was wrong. Jesus would not tell us that He is coming again to take us to a prepared home if it were not ture. "If it were not so I would have told you."

Ending a long study in wind, tide and general weather conditions, the executive committee decided on the dates after a conference with veteran skippers of fishing craft and sportsmen.

Motor Car Accident Rate Reduced in Southern States

Safety education, standardization of traffic regulations, improved highways and road markings have all helped to bring about a reduction in the highway traffic accident rate in the south during the past year.

HIGHWAY traffic fatalities in six southern states were reduced more than seven percent in 1936, according to preliminary figures for the first ten months of the year compiled this week.

The states of Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi and Tennessee all registered reductions in the ratio of traffic fatalities to gasoline consumption.

The State of Florida made the best record with only 23.7 fatalities per ten million gallons of gasoline consumed by motorists, it was pointed out by W. E. Smith, president of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky.

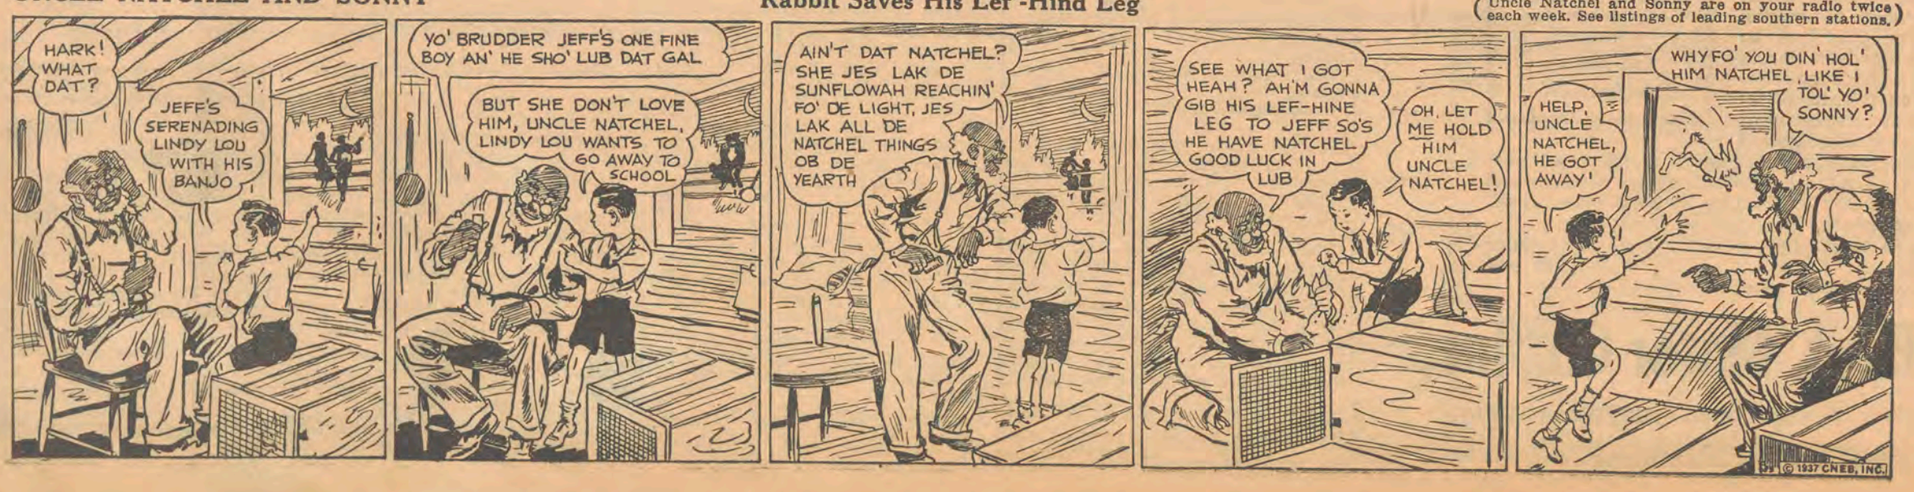
"Although the year 1936 saw a marked increase in motor travel throughout the south as indicated by the increased consumption of gasoline, motorists in this section established new standards for safety and the accident rate veered sharply downward," Mr. Smith stated.

"Tennessee and Georgia were the two states showing the greatest improvement over 1935. Tennessee reduced highway fatalities approximately 18 percent, while Georgia showed a 13 percent improvement.

"In Kentucky the ratio of fatalities per ten million gallons of gasoline was reduced from 30.1 in 1935 to 26.3 in 1936, and in Alabama this ratio was lowered from 33.6 in 1935 to 28.6 last year. Mississippi improved its standing from 32.0 to 27.4.

"The widespread program of safety education now being directed at motorists and pedestrians in this and other sections of the country is proving effective in cutting the accident rate.

"The petroleum industry has played an important part in the drive against traffic deaths through its 'Lubricate for Safety' program inaugurated last spring. Mobiloil dealers report increasing awareness on the part of motorists of the important part lubrication plays in contributing to safe motor car operation, particularly at this time of year.



"Many other factors are contributing to reduction in the number of fatalities. Highway improvement, improved road markings and standardization of traffic laws throughout the country are all aiding the cause.

"Another important factor is the improvement in the new cars themselves. Automobiles are being made safer than ever before and automotive service facilities are better equipped to keep them operating safely the year around."

P.-T. A. To Bring Mighty Haag Show

Three Ring Wild Animal Show Is Coming To Clanton

On Monday, April 12, just about the time most of the people of Clanton are thinking of getting up, the long line of trucks of the Mighty Haag Shows will begin arriving here, and start work pitching their vast city of tents on school ball grounds where they will give two complete performances.

The Haag Show this year will bring to Clanton more wild animals, horses, ponies and trained dogs than ever before exhibited. This year the Haag Shows are featuring such well-known acts as the Tan Araki Japanese Troupe in a new act, Johnson Duo of Wire Walkers, Zeldo Troupe of head balancers, Fisher Family of Acrobats and Haag's Herd of Performing Elephants largest and best trained in the country presented by Miss Helen Durrett, who takes her life in her own hand twice daily when she places her head in the mouth of one of the elephants.

There will be a street parade at 1 o'clock p. m., followed by a number of free exhibitions on the show grounds. Performances start at 2:00 p. m., and 8 p. m., but doors will open one hour earlier so as to give everyone ample time to visit Haag's Gold Concert Band.

Adission will be at popular prices, and the public is assured of a whole evening of splendid entertainment.

Contributors Suggests This Name For The Alabama Legislators

It seems that the above name should be the by-word of the Governor and Legislators now, that they have broken every promise they made two years ago, also some they did't make.

They didn't stop with taking $30,000 of the taxpayers' money to take Xmas. with, but have laid a tax on the widow women and orphans and have told the people of Alabama that they needed the money to run the schools and educate the poor little children. Also that they would provide a homestead exemption for farms in Alabama, but I want to say right here that 60 per cent of the farmers of the state are tenant farmers and the laboring people are almost one hundred per cent renters who then house this bunch of goat heads in Montgomery exempted from taxes—such poor fellows as the insurance corporations, federal land banks, industrial corporations and a few other little fellows such as private banks, credit merchants and other commercial farmers along with what few farmers who have not had their farms sold.

This is some of the (Little Colonel) Bibb Graves' New Deal stuff which he promised the people two years ago. Now they are not satisfied with this form of taxation (two per cent sales tax), they have come back with a new liquor bill for referendum March 10th to legalize liquor in all counties who vote for repeal and dry in all counties who vote dry. Now this is just too bad isn't it? One side says that if one county goes wet every county in the state will be wet as you will be allowed to go in any wet county and buy all the good old state sold and taxed liquor you want and take it right back in your dry county, drink it as you please and the law can't hurt you. Why? Because you bought it from a state liquor store and paid this much needed tax while this bunch down on goat hill tells us that we can keep our county dry by only voting dry and that we can control our dry laws as usual. What a joke they have played on the people of the fair state of Alabama. How long will the good people of Alabama stand far this high handed treatment? If you will remember, Bibb Graves promised the people of Alabama a referendum and recall law so if any official did not comply with the wishes of the people he might be removed from office and a new man elected. But we notice he failed to mention this in any of his special sessions he has called during the past two years.

If he had fullfilled this promise I am sure it would be too wet to plow for that bunch in Montgomery for I believe the people would recall the entire bunch on the first ballot.

Listen Brother Farmers, here is what I mean, such high handed treachery would never have occured if you had been organized as you should and been on the job to have helped make such laws as were needed and to have helped defeat such men as we have in the legislative halls of Montgomery. Will you continue to sit with your hands crossed and let yourself and your children be taxed from the cradle to the grave or will you rise up and drive those officers who devour your very being with taxes from the halls of Montgomery and try to right the wrong that they (Goats in Montgomery) infected upon you? I say let's organize and educate the people before it is too late.

A. O. Smith, Secy-Treas.

NEWSPAPERS LARGEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM

Philadelphia, March 30.—Newspapers were the nation's greatest advertising medium during 1935, according to a report of the census of business on advertising agencies, William L. Austin, director of the Bureau of the census, announced today.

Newspapers handled 37.7 per cent of the total of $405,888,000 billed to clients by agencies in 1935. General magazines, agricultural papers and religious publications hendled 26.5 per cent.

REFUGE

Our Sunday school was rather small last Sunday, but we are hoping the members will become more interested as the weather gets better, especially the teachers. The classes are always looking for their teachers on Sunday morning, especially the smaller children. Let us try, as teachers, to encourage them instead of discouraging them. We are sorry to report that there was not a teacher present last Sunday. Let's stop a little and think—if the Lord was as careless of us as we are about His work, where would we drift to? We are drifting nearer the grave every day, and how sad it will be if we drift there unprepared.

There will be singing here Thursday night. Everyone who can come is invited.

Notice the announcement of the annual all-day singing the third Sunday in May.

More than 40,000 native trees and shrubs were planted along Alabama roads in recent months by construction forces of the State Highway Department to replace many ancient and beautiful trees sacrificed in the horse-and-buggy days of dirt and graveled roads.

Alabama's highway patrol "will show no mercy to an intoxicated man or woman behind an automobile wheel," Chief Walter K. McAdory said in pointing out the same Legislature which set up whisky legalization machinery strengthened laws against drunken driving.

Max Hawkins, Talladega undertaker, let a business associate use his new auto and it was destroyed by fire. Hawkins undertook to forget his grief over his auto by going to a movie. He won a $475 bank night award.

Alabama's ninth annual Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, largest deep water angling event in the country, will be held August 9, 10, 11, eight days earlier than last year, the executive committee of the rodeo association decided after a long study of wind tide and weather conditions.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY ALA. EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Montgomery, Ala., March 27.—By the last day of its recent annual convention in Birmingham, the membership in the Alabama Education Association reached the total of 13,551.

In the name of this great body of teachers, the Assembly of Delegates, in convention assembled, assumed a solemn pledge of rededication to the service of the childhood and youth of Alabama by the adoption of the following resolution:

That whereas, the educational progress of the children of Alabama has greatly suffered during the past few years due to the demoralized financial conditions existing in the public schools of Alabama; and whereas, it now appears that we shall soon have normal school terms in Alabama again, we, as teachers, solemnly pledge ourselves to redouble our efforts in behalf of these children to the end that some of this damage may be repaired.

The teachers of Alabama, also, reaffirmed their faith in the philosophy "that wealth should be taxed wherever it is in order to educate children wherever they are", They endorsed the fundamental principles underlying the minimum program and pledged themselves to an unremitting effort to extend the minimum term to eight months as a step toward the eventual provision of a nine-month minimum term, with no discrimination between the length of elementary and high school terms.

Mr. T. E. Wyatt and Mr. J. W. Cagle made a business trip over to Centreville and Tuscaloosa, returning by way of Birmingham, last Thursday.

Man Drowned In River Tuesday

Albert Davis, Drug Clerk, Perished at Knight's Ferry; In Water 7 Hours

Funeral servces for Albert E. Davis, age 31, were held Wednesday at 2 o'clock, at Bethel Church, conducted by Elders R. F. Hyde and E. B. Tucker. Spigener was in charge.

Albert E. Davis died from drowning when his car which he was driving plunged off the ferry at Log Cabin Beach, or Knight's Ferry, shortly before noon Tuesday. Dragging for the car, a Plymouth sedan, began immediately and was not brought out of the river until about dusk. Alabama Power Company employees at Mitchell Dam and others, succeeded in getting the car out after repeated efforts had failed. The body of Davis was lying between the seats of the car when it was brought out.

An employee of Alred Drug Company, Albert Davis left the store about 11 o'clock Tuesday, supposedly to go to dinner. He was said to have purchased gasoline at a local filling station about 11 o'clock. The watch on the body was said to have stopped at 11:25.

Ferry operators who saw the automobile plunge into the river said the car went down nose first, and that the man was last seen fighting at the back glasses of the car as if attempting to free himself.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Nina Gillespie Davis, and two children, Nina Lou and Albert Edwin; father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Shirley Davis of near Maple Springs Church. There are several brothers and sisters.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION MEETS HERE 1st SUNDAY MAY

The Chilton county singing convention will hold its regular Spring session at the courthouse in Clanton the first Sunday in May and Saturday night before, according to announcement by Prof. W. M. Devaughn, chairman. All singers of the county are invited, and a number of music publishers and prominent quartets of the South are invited.

FOURTEEN ARRAIGNED BEFORE MAYOR JONES PAST TWO WEEKS

During the past two weeks there have been a total of fourteen cases disposed of in Mayor's court by Mayor C. Fenn Jones. Monday morning of this week two were tried for public drunkenness. Both parties are making weekly payments on their fines and costs. One for disorderly conduct was continued to Saturday.

Last week there were eleven cases tried. Four negro men were tried on the charge of gambling. All paid their fines. Five white men were tried for public drunkenness; one case was continued, one paid off in full, the other three are paying by the week.

Two negro boys were tried for stealing chickens. They were sentenced to work on the streets. Before they got their sentences worked out they stole some cow hides and were arrested by county officials and placed in the county jail.

A total of 1,850 people from over the state have come here to see the baby since it has been at the undertaking parlors of J. Mell Martin & Sons.

CITY HAS PURCHASED MORE LAND AT WATER WORKS

The city of Clanton closed a deal a few days ago whereby it became the owner of twenty additional acres of land adjoining the present water works site. It was the Butler Lowe property, lying just north of the water works. It lies between the highway and railroad and extends north across the ditch for several yards. The cost to the city was $3000.00.

Work will begin at an early date to dig two or more wells on the newly acquired property.

Mayor C. Fenn Jones comments that the main phase of the deal of interest to him was that the city was able to pay cash for the property. This is rather rare of transactions usually made by municipalities, and it speaks well for Clanton's mayor and councilmen.

VIOLATORS WHO PAID PENALTY CAN SELL LIQUOR AGAIN

Persons convicted of bootlegging or violating other provisions of the state's former dry laws will be issued licenses to sell liquor and wine in cases where they have paid the penalty, it was declared today by W. E. Corning, North Alabama director for the State Beverage Control Board.

"The board holds nothing against a man who has paid up in the eyes of the law," said Mr. Corning. His record, so far as we are concerned, is clean once he has paid the penalty.

"Of course, the board reserves the right to revoke a man's license for failure to comply with the law in every detail, and only qualified hotels, restaurants and clubs will be permitted to sell liquor and wine."

Much Damage Done By Storm Monday

Home of Bunker Vinzant Damaged; Several Places In State Feel Blow

The home of Mr. Bunker Vinzant, south of Union Grove church was damaged by a strong wind early Monday morning. A barn in that vicinity was also reported damaged. This was only a short distance away from the path of the destructive storm of 1932.

The daily papers Monday carried reports of a rather serious storm in New Orleans some time Sunday night. Also a tourist camp and dance hall down below Montgomery were said to have been completely swept away.

Quite a bit of damage was done in south Montgomery, some two or three homes being blown over and damaged. Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hutts were injured when their home blew down, and they had to be taken to a hospital for treatment of their wounds. The home of Terry Smith was also damaged.

Six persons were killed in Alabama, and 29 others were injured. The dead in Alabama included: Fred Liles, 32-year-old fisherman, drowned below Wilson Dam, at Florence, when a gust of wind capsized his boat; two children of George Hall and his wife, negroes, killed near Shorter, in Macon County; two negro farm hands, killed in Pike County, and another in Russell County, near the Georgia line.

With the passing of the storm a new danger arose along the Conecuh, Pea, and Choctawhatchee Rivers, at Elba and Geneva, as the result of unprecedented rains over the watersheds. A crest of 45 feet on the Conecuh was predicted at River Falls, in Covington County.

Arrests For Drunken Driving On Increase

State Highway Patrol Picked Up 211 During March, Against 128 During February

Montgomery, April 3.—Chief Walter K. McAdory, of the Alabama Highway Patrol, evidently meant what he said when he announced he planned to rid the state's highways of drunken drivers.

Figures released by McAdory today showd that his division made 211 arrests for drunken driving during the month of March, compared with 128 for that offense in February.

Chief McAdory says there is going to be no let-up during April in his present campaign.

"We've just begun, and we are going to keep up our drive until our roads are cleared of intoxicated persons behind steering wheels," he announced.

McAdory reported a decrease in the number of highway deaths in the past month. His figures showed 67 accidents, resulting in the death of nine persons, the serious injury of 14, and the slight injury of 54.

In February there were 88 accidents with 17 deaths.

McAdory reported that the highway patrol made a total of 1,938 arrests for various offenses during March. In addition, patrolmen stopped and warned 2,953 motorists.

Sit-Down Strikers Are Worrying Democrats

Southern Democrats Show Resentment At Lax Official Stand

Washington, April 5.—Rebellion stirring among Southern Democratic leaders in congress over the sit-down strike situation is symptomatic of a condition in the party which may presage for President Roosevelt, if it does not actually forecast a definite cleavage.

When Sen. James F. Byrnes (D., S. C.), once the fair-haired Jimmy in White House councils, started his move to condemn the sit-down technique, it looked very much like the waning of the coriality—strained very much at times, to be sure—which Mr. Roosevelt and his Southern leaders have shown for so long to a doubting world.

The sit-down strike, with all its portends to inborn conservatism, is just the sort of issue to crystallize the distaste which some Southern leaders have shown privately for the Roosevelt policies.

Sen. Byrnes merely became the mouthpiece for many Sourtherners who, publicly on a small scale and privately in a large way, have been criticizing the president for not speaking out against the sit-down strike and for not, as they express it, putting a check on John L. Lewis.

Gathered about the president at the White House a week ago, Southern leaders talked plainly and sought a public statement. This having failed, the South Carolina senator took matters into his own hands, and thereby started a row whose ultimate consequences to the Democratic party cannot be forecast now.

Nobody has stood up in congress to condone sit-downs. Condemnation has been general.

But there is a difference of approach which defines the two view-points within the party and which roughly divides the Southern Democrats on one hand from the Eastern, Northern and Western Democrats on the other.

Clanton Man Killed Last Sunday Night

Noah Chadwick Stabbed At His Home In Brawl With His Brother-In-Law

The tragic death of Noah Chadwick, age 36, was the result of a fight between him and his brother-in-law, Odis Wilson, about 7 o'clock Sunday night. The fracas occurred at the home of Chadwick near the old canning factory site in Gowan Addition, Clanton. Wilson lived with his mother in the old Tom Kemp store building on Main Street.

Officers who investigated report that trouble arose between Chadwick and his wife, whereupon Mrs. Chadwick called for her brother. Upon entering the house the fight started, the result being the fatal stabbing of Chadwick. He was said to have been slashed in three or four places.

Spigener's ambulance was immediately summoned, and the injured man was rushed to Central Alabama Hospital. He died 10 minutes after arriving at the hospital. It is reported that Chadwick's little 12-year-old girl also was cut attempting to assist her father. Her wounds were not serious, however.

Chadwick was a married man with a wife and five children. Wilson, age 28, is single. Both men, officers report, have police records. Wilson surrendered to officers about 10 o'clock.

Funeral services for Chadwick were held at Shiloh Tuesday morning, the Rev. W. P. Lowery officiating. Spigener was in charge.

The dead man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chadwick, the latter being a blacksmith here for several years. Both survive.

State Liquor Legal In Dry Counties

Attorney General Ruled Last Saturday on Queries From County Peace Officers

Alabamians in the state's 43 dry counties may possess alcoholic beverages purchased in state stores to be established in the 24 wet counties. The office of Attorney General A. A. Carmichael ruled Saturday in an opinion that said no limit was placed on the amount possessed for personal purposes.

Carmichael's ruling, made at the request of Sheriff E. Dick Burrows, of Walker County, said the attorney general had received similar requests from the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board and several sheriffs and chiefs of police.

The attorney general's opinion followed lines expressed privately by expert legal authority, but was the first official word regarding possession in dry counties.

No liquor may be manufactured or sold in dry counties. This is specifically prohibited by the Alcoholic Beverage Control Act, under which the A. B. C. Board will establish state liquor and wine stores in the counties which voted wet in the state-wide local option election March 10.

The opinion was briefed by Assistant Attorney General Silas Garrett, as follows:

1. Alcoholic beverages, including liquor, legally purchased in a wet county in Alabama, can be legally possessed in a dry county in Alabama.

2. Since the act places no limit on the amount of alcoholic beverages, including liquor, that can be legally purchased in a wet county, there is no limit, so far as provisions of the act are concerned, on the amount of such beverages, so purchased, that may be legally possessed in a dry county in Alabama, so long as the same are not possessed for the purposes of sale or distribution.

The control act provides that no liquors, wines, rums, gins or other hard drinks may be purchased from sources other than state stores and qualified hotels, clubs and restaurants.

The board may license cubs, hotels and restaurants to retail liquor and wine for consumption on the premises, but the beverages must be purchased from state stores. These establishments may buy at 10 per cent discount from the regular store prices.

Carmichael's official opinion said that while the control act prohibited sale, manufacture and distribution in dry counties, nowhere in the act is there any restriction whatever on or any prohibition against the possession of legally purchased alcoholic beverages.

It was very clearly the intention of the legislature, according to the opinion, that alcoholic beverages, including liquor, legally purchased in a wet county in the State of Alabama could be legally possessed in a dry county.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

AAA OFFERS OPPORTUNITY FOR IMPROVING LIVESTOCK

Auburn.—Farmers of Alabama and most of the Southeast are confronted with a splendid opportunity to improve livestock production in connection with the Agricultural Conservation program, which is returning thousands of acres to grass and other soil conserving crops, states F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist.

In the past, Alabama farmers have depended to a great extent on cotton, and other cultivated crops for their income. Under the Agricultural Conservation Program thousands of acres are being seeded to improved pastures and soil conserving crops which can be marketed to best advantage through livestock.

It is conservatively estimated that the packing industry has invested $10,000,000 in the past eight years in the states of Alabama, Virginia, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, and Tennessee. This expansion has come about with two objectives in view, namely, to meet the demand in what promises to be the nation's coming industrial section, and, second, the money has been invested in the anticipation that the Southern farmer will improve and expand livestock production, Mr. Burns points out.

Cattle production can be improved by the use of purebred sires. The number of hogs can be increased by the use of purebred boars and the maintenance of sows of improved breeding, and the sheep industry can be expanded and improved by the use of purebred rams and the addition of more small farm flocks of well-bred ewes, he says.

CCC WORK

Trees — the long-time remedy for erosion—have been planted on 965 acres of steep and badly eroded land as one phase of the erosion control program in the soil conservation service area near Clanton.

During the planting season just ended, 452,500 tree seedlings were set out on the farms of co-operators, bringing the total planted in the area to 1,067,175. Black locust and pine were the principal species used.

Although control of erosion is the main purpose of these plantings, the black locust will provide valuable fence post material within a few years. Other species will furnish a continuing supply of fuel and farm lumber through periodic removal of deformed, diseased, slow-growing and other undesirable trees. With proper management, the woodland will yield a cash crop of timber.

Either permanent hay crops or trees can be effectively used for erosion control on land too steep or too severely eroded for cultivation, James H. Wood, Superintendent. Other things being equal, the choice usually depends on the farmer's needs for additional hay and or woods to balance his farm program.

Such woodland plantings afford a good illustration of how, through proper land use, erosion can be controlled and a more balanced farm program attained by making each acre serve the purpose for which it is best adapted, Mr. Wood said.

ALABAMA WILD LIFE FEDERATION

Montgomery, April 5.—Alabama Wild Life Federation directors, meeting at the Ann Jordan Game Preserve, near Kellyton, laid the foundation for an intensive campaign to acquaint sportsmen, landowners and interested citizens with the need for wild life preservation. While plans are in the hands of committees for their immediate consideration and recommendation, it is probable that a 5-point program, suggested by Dr. Walter B. Jones, president, will be adopted in whole or in part.

This program would embody what President Jones termed fundamental principles of game restoration, combatting of the woods fire menace, observance of game laws, educational activities in the schools and among citizens, soil erosion control and the halting of stream pollution.

BUILDING SOUTHERN INDUSTRIES

During the past score of years, industrialization of the South has proceeded at such an amazing pace, as to completely change the economic life of the entire section. The South is no longer an agricultural empire dependent upon imports from the North and foreign countries, to supply its manufactured articles. Industry and agriculture are interdependent. To flourish each must have the support of the other. The South today is largely self-contained; its industries contribute to agriculture; and agriculture contributes to its industries.

Support of residents of the South of their own industries is, of course, exercising common sense. Supporting Southern industries increases our purchasing power, which enables more of our agricultural products to be purchased and consumed here in the South.

One of the largest industrial plants established in Dixie in recent years is the nitrate plant at Hopewell, Va. The Barrett Company distributes the product, Arcadian Nitrate of Soda, throughout the country, but by far the bulk of the soda is used on Southern farms. The nitrate is taken from the air and fixed in soda ash, which is obtained in Louisiana. All Southern ingredients are used in its manfacture, the plant is operated by Southern labor, and 90 per cent of the nation's commercial nitrogen is produced at Hopewell.

The plant is an invaluable asset to America's national defense. Up to its operation, begun in 1929, the country was wholly dependent upon importation of foreign nitrates.

The use of nitrate of soda to restore soil fertility is widespread throughout the South. Until the manufacture of American nitrates began on a commercial scale our farmers were forced to pay whatever price the foreign monopoly demanded.

In 1928 the farmers were forced to pay $52.75 per ton retailed here in Cullman to the foreign monopoly for soda. In 1936, after seven years of competition with the American product, the Cullman farmer is paying $33 per ton, a saving of about $20 on each ton. During 1935, approximately 5,000 tons of soda were sold in this county. The reduced price, forced by the competition of the American nitrate with the foreign monopoly, saved the farmers of this county alone $100,000.

Southern people are patronizing Southern industry more and more each year, increasing the pay-rolls, and demand for farm products. The South's rapid growth, progress and development is influenced to a great extent by the extent of our encouragement to industries of the South.

Southern mills and their employees are the farmer's best customers. Every effort should be made by each farmer to purchase products manufactured here in the South — Cullman Democrat.

HERE is an action picture of the great Rosalind, winner of the 1936 Hambletonian — the $50,000 trotting stake which is held in August every year at Goshen, N. Y.

Nature gave Rosalind something an ordinary horse hasn't got and can't get—a natural balance of vital elements, speed, stride, courage, endurance. That's why she is worth a fortune compared to an ordinary plug.

Mother Nature also gave a natural balance of vital elements to Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda. Nitrogen, of course—and that's mighty important—but in addition to nitrogen Natural Chilean contains more than thirty other elements such as calcium, iodine, boron, potassium, manganese and so on. And remember, because of its natural origin, these vital impurities are always carried in Natural Chilean Soda in Mother Nature's own wise balance and blend.

Lesson for April 11

THE SIN OF ADAM AND EVE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 3:1-15.

GOLDEN TEXT—The soul that sinneth, it shall die. Ezek. 18:4.

PRIMARY TOPIC—In the Garden of Eden.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Trying to Hide From God.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Sin Is and Does.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Consequences of Sin.

"One of the curiosities of the British Museum is a brick from the walls of ancient Babylon which bears the imprint of one of Babylon's mighty kings. Right over the center of the royal seal is deeply impressed the footprint of a 'pariah' dog which apparently trod upon it when it was soft and plastic. Long ages have passed; the king's superscription is visible but defaced: the footprint of the dog is clear and sharply defined.

"Human nature is like that brick . . . Man originally was made in the image of God, but over the royal beauty of the Divine likeness there has been superimposed the dirty disfigurement of the Devil's imprint" (D. E. Hart-Davies).

Last Sunday we saw the heavens and earth, the animals, yes, the entire creation crowned by man himself, as it had come from the hand of God— "and behold it was very good" (1:31). But, sadly enough, it did not long remain so, for sin which had already entered the universe soon found its way into the world.

God created Adam in his own likeness and image, gave him "a helpmeet unto him," and placed him in perfect surroundings. He gave him congenial employment, and above all the inestimable privilege of fellowship with Him.

But because man was not a mere automaton—a toy in the hands of a superior being—God gave him the power of moral choice, the opportunity to exercise his God-given personality in making that choice. Obedience is the underlying moral principle of the universe.

Today we go with Eve and Adam into that cataclysmic experience which we call "the Fall of Man," for as we read in Romans 5:12, "by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned."

I. Temptation (vv. 1-5).

Satan is not a cloven-hoofed monstrosity with a forked tail and a trident in his hand. No, indeed, he is more subtle than anything in creation. We read that he is "transformed into an angel of light" (II Cor. 11:14). His approach in our day is as smooth, and cultured as it was in the garden of Eden. An example is the insidious liquor advertising of our day. Another is his use of the man who stands behind the pulpit or sits in the professor's chair and destroys the Christian faith of young men and women.

Note the five steps in the fall of man:

1. Listening to a slander against God (Satan lied about God).
2. Doubting God's Word and love (If we trust God we will obey him).
3. Looking at that which God has forbidden (The eye will betray us unless we guard it).
4. Lusting after what God had prohibited (Compare Genesis 3:6 with I John 2:6).
5. Disobedience to God's command.

II. Sin (v. 6).

Sin is deliberate transgression, not a natural weakness, nor a necessity. It showed itself in its true light when it at once reached out and dragged down another. We do not sin alone for very long.

III. Consequences (vv. 7-15, also 16-19).

1. The serpent is cursed.
2. Sin, death and condemnation enter the world.
3. Sorrow is linked with motherhood.
4. Responsibility and headship is given to man.
5. The ground is cursed and the burden of labor introduced.

IV. Redemption (v. 15).

Here we have the first promise of redemption, and the scarlet thread of redemptive truth thus runs from this point at the Bible's beginning to its very last chapter. Even in judging the first Adam for his sin God promises the coming of the second Adam who is to redeem the race. You are in the family of the first Adam by natural birth: have you entered the family of the second Adam by supernatural rebirth? (I Cor. 15:21, 22, 45.)

Dr. Gran and Coaches Harold Drew, Tilden Campbell and Joe Dildy spent the past week end with Jesse Frank Foshee, at Clanton, fishing on Lake Mitchell.

William Waldman, Ft. Deposit, is the only unopposed candidate for election in the annual campus-wide political races now in full swing on the campus of the University of Alabama. He is running for vice president of the Student Association. Candidates for president of the student body are Wattrous Garrett, Grove Hill, and Henry Reid, Bessemer. The race for secretary-treasurer finds Bubber Gordon, Columbiana, pitted against J. C. Thomley, Stockton, and that for president of the Cotillion Club finds Robert Hearin, New Orleans, La., against Sam Lee, Okolona, Miss.

Students were to cast their election ballots on Tuesday, April 6. Election of officers of the three student publications on the campus are to be made one week following the general election.

A busy week in track and baseball is in store for Tuscaloosa fans, with a baseball game and a track meet on the menu.

The Tide will meet Northwestern University in a 2-game series, April 7 and 8. On April 12 and 13 the team will go to Baton Rouge for a 2-game series.

The track meet will feature the Crimson speedsters against the Georgia Tech yellow jackets, and is set for Saturday.

The newly organized University of Alabama golf team will have a trip around Georgia the middle of this month. They will meet Georgia Tech and Emory in Atlanta on April 15 and 16 respectively. On April 17 they will move over to Athens, where they will swing their clubs against the Georgia Bulldog team.

An event of state-wide importance was the 14th annual meeting of the Alabama Academy of Science held at the University of Alabama last week end, April 2 and 3. An address of welcome was delivered to the visiting delegates by Dr. Richard Clark Foster, president of the University. During the convention special emphasis was placed on the production and conservation of natural resources in Alabama. The principal address of the session was delivered by Dr. Edgar Allen, a famed authority on mammalalian reproduction, and internal secretions, and a number of the Yale University faculty who spoke in Morgan Hall on Saturday. Guests at the convention were feted at a special banquet held in the dining room of Tutwiler Hall Friday night.

Experiments made at the University of Alabama recently by Dr. Anna P. Church, of the Chemistry faculty, revealed possibilities of a new industry developing in the state from the use of valuable chemical properties in Alabama water oak acorns. Dr. Church proved that these hitherto worthless nuts are as rich in vitamin A as cod liver oil or spinach, and very effective as a body-building food.

Over 40 schools entered the county division of the State High School Debate Tournament held at the University of Alabama April 1, 2 and 3. The question for debate was: "Resolved, That the National Government Should Own and Control Electric Utilities." The University annually awards 1-year scholarships to winners of the meet. The country winner is scheduled to debate the winner of the city tournament, Ramsey Tech High School of Birmingham, for the state title and the right to represent Alabama in the national tournament.

RESULTS OF COTTON SPACING TESTS GIVEN

Auburn. — It is recommended that cotton be spaced 18 inches apart in the drill with from one to three plants per hill, says the Alabama Experiment Station. The width of rows, where liberal applications of fertilizer are made, may vary from 2½ to 4½ feet. Under conditions of low fertility or where only moderate fertilizer applications are made the widths of rows should not be more than 3½ feet.

From 8,000 to 25,000 plants per acre gave the largest yields. Spacings which gave less than 8,000 or more than 25,000 plants per acre tended to reduce the yield and the size of the boll was increased by wide spacings and decereased by close spacings, says Dean M. J. Funchess.

FARMERS ARE TESTING PHOSPHATE FERTILIZERS

Auburn.—A total of 15,000 farmers in the seven Tennessee River Valley states, Alabama included, are co-operating with Land Grant colleges in testing the value of experimental phosphate fertilizers in an improved land use program on 2,233,556 acres of land, according to reports received by the Alabama Extension Service.

These fertilizers are being produced for test purposes by the Tennessee Valley authority at Muscle Shoals, and are available for application only on sod forming pasture, hay and cover crops.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"I have set the Lord always before me." That is what the Psalmist said. Very few people do this. Some people set the Lord before them when the baby is sick or when other trouble comes. God should always be before His people. No man can fall into sin until he takes his eyes off Jesus Christ. You can hold a dollar in front of some men, and they cannot see God. All they can see is the dollar. There are people who could see God above a mountain of gold. God is everything to them. In all things, He should have the pre-eminence. He should be above business, above pleasure, above all social relations. Since He is God, He should be supreme over our lives.

The way from earth to heaven is spoken of as the path of life. I do not know what life means. No man knows. I know what the scientists say about life. A doctor comes to the bedside of a dead man. He holds the mirror over the dead man's face and there is no breath stain on the mirror. He examines the dead man's heart with an apparatus, and there is no response of the dead man's heart. The doctor says he is dead. There are certain tests to which he would respond if he were alive. A Christian responds to Jesus Christ. In the Christian's heart there is divine life. Jesus came that men might have life and that they might have it more abundantly. A Christian's heart answers to the heart of his Lord. I have heard the great orators, and my soul has been stirred by their eloquence. My emotions have been moved by great dramatic events. But nothing ever sent such a tingle up and down my back as a simple gospel story. Since I've found Jesus my heart responds to the divine message. The artist's heart responds to art. The soul of the musician responds to music. The heart of the great actor responds to drama. The heart of the Christian responds to God.

FARM PRICES DOUBLE THOSE FOUR YEARS AGO

Montgomery. — The highest farm price index in seven years is reported by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

At the same time, J. C. Garrett, state and federal statistician, reports to R. J. Goode, commissioner of agriculture, that prices of farm products in Alabama are about twice as high as they were in 1933 when the national farm program was launched.

A warning has been issued by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration against persons reported to be misrepresenting themselves as AAA agents and collecting fees for taking claims for processing taxes paid out by consumers under the Agricultural Adjustment Program of 1933, 1934, and 1935. The AAA has no agents of this type working for it anywhere.

Entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture have found definite evidence that the screwworm fly attacks cottontails, jack rabbits, opossums, and deer, and that these wild animals may spread the screwworm to domestic livestock.

High hog prices this summer following a spring period of little change in prices is forecast by the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Four cotton mills of the Southeast have written J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service, endorsing the cotton improvement program being conducted by the farmers of Alabama and other states in the Southeast.

Fertilizer tag sales in Alabama are about 20 per cent higher this year than they were on the same date last year.

CLANTON, ALA.

CANE CREEK

The Sunday school here is doing fine. Our crowd Sunday was rather small, but the lessons were good. This quarter is interesting, it tells us how the world was made and who made it. All of it is good if we study it right. We need more people interested in God's work instead of the wrong kind of things. If you don't attend Sunday school at some other church, come here and will find a welcome with us.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. We urge all our members to come who possibly can. We know we all have excuses but let's not let that hinder us from our church. We have two preaching days each month, the 2nd and fourth Sundays. Rev. Norris is pastor of our church, and he always has something good for us.

Remember the 4th Sunday in June is our annual singing day. We are taking this means to invite all singers to come and be with us. We want this to be the best singing we have ever had. Also, we are planning on a Mother's Day service, we will announce that later.

Remember our services here and come. If you don't receive a welcome tell us, and if you do tell others.

For the past several weeks the pastor of the Thorsby Congregational Church, Rev. L. L. Stanley, has been conducting an Expert Endeavor Class. The members of this class have shown a real interest in the work, and a desire to make their own society a better one. The Christian Endeavor members of Thorsby are fortunate, indeed, in having a pastor who is so interested in the young people and their work.

Last Sunday evening an interesting program was presented on 'Choosing Our Life's Work." Those present were especially interested in discussing the question of whether or not a Christian can enter and remain in just any occupation. Inez Duke of Randolph was the leader.

Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock an Executive Council meeting of the Christian Endeavor was held in the Social room of the Congregational Church. Reports of the meetings and work of the various committees were given by the committee chairman. Suggestions as to how the work of these committees could be more easily and efficiently done were given by the president and pastor.

Three Ring Wild Animal Show Is Coming To Clanton

On Monday, April 12, just about the time most of the people of Clanton are thinking of getting up, the long line of trucks of the Mighty Haag Shows will begin arriving here, and start work pitching their vast city of tents on school ball grounds where they will give two complete performances.

The Haag Show this year will bring to Clanton more wild animals, horses, ponies and trained dogs than ever before exhibited. This year the Haag Shows are featuring such well-known acts as the Tan Araki Japanese Troupe in a new act, Johnson Duo of Wire Walkers, Zeldo Troupe of head balancers, Fisher Family of Acrobats and Haag's Herd of Performing Elephants largest and best trained in the country presented by Miss Helen Durrett, who takes her life in her own hand twice daily when she places her head in the mouth of one of the elephants.

There will be a street parade at 1 o'clock p. m., followed by a number of free exhibitions on the show grounds. Performances start at 2:00 p. m., and 8 p. m., but doors will open one hour earlier so as to give everyone ample time to visit Haag's Gold Concert Band.

Adission will be at popular prices, and the public is assured of a whole evening of splendid entertainment.

The Union-Banner would like to arrange for a good live correspondent in most every community in Chilton County, who would get up the interesting happenings and send them in every week.

Your community needs the publicity through the paper, and the paper likes to have interesting news from over the county. It would be a good idea for your church or Sunday school, or even for literary schools, to take up the matter and appoint someone to look after the assembling of the news. Others should co-operate with this one in getting all the important happenings together.

The Union-Banner asks that its friends in the various communities look after this matter of correspondence. We would be glad for anyone to come in and talk it over with us.

This Sit-Down Strike Business

A good friend subscriber to The Union-Banner a week or so ago failed to get his paper, and the next day he stormed into the office to register his complaint. He said he thought maybe The Banner force had joined the sit-down strikers and had skipped a week's publication.

Well, that was all a joke; but there is more to the sit-downers and the forces behind them than a joke. In fact there may be something not far behind these strikes that will command the best thought of our great men to solve and that may even threaten the foundation of our American social structure. Some very brainy Americans have already concluded that there is a strong and evident Communistic tie-up in the sit-down strikes.

Representative Schulte of Indiana has asked for an investigation of this propaganda against the American form of government, saying: "There is no question that Communism is creeping into labor organizations and fomenting unrest." Another observer in Congress declares that the "spread of lawlessness will wreck this country."

Some folks are asking: Where did this sit-down strike idea come from, any way, and who invented it? Well, it seems that the first of such things happened back in 1922, and you can most likely guess in what country it had its origin. Yes, it was in Red Russia. The idea later invaded France, and now the oriental "technique" has been imported to America to assist us in solving our domestic problems.

And the reason we know that it is a Communistic scheme is that not a single Communist in America is withholding his backing to the sit-downers. Of course, not many of our workers are avowed Communists, but a great many of our genuine American workmen have been deluded by this imported strategy. The idea may have some aspects of a solution to our problems, but deep thinking will explode it too quick to think of.

Indeed, a thorough investigation of the sit-down strike racket, the originators and the backers, should be made by those in national authority. The thing bears all the ear-marks of a scheme that is dangerous to our American form of government.

THE MATTER OF TAXATION IN AMERICA

In the year 1913 the per capita taxation in this country was $22.66; in 1936 it was $80; this year it is $109. This means that an average of $109 is being paid by every person in the country, and that means every person, regardless of age, sex, nationality, or anything else. This is federal taxes, mind you, nearly all of which is hidden.

In 1913 only 8.8 per cent of the national income went to pay federal taxes. In the prosperous period from 1923 to 1928 the percentage was 13 to 14. This year it has reached the high peak of 30 per cent. That is, nearly one-third of the money you make goes to pay taxes. Thus, the power to spend in America has been to a great extent diverted from income creators to bureaucrats in the employ of 180,000 taxing units in the United States. As a result of this diversion, the people in America who really work and produce the necessities of life are just being "soaked".

For a time free and easy government spending is popular, and thoughtless people get a great kick out of continually "getting from the government". Huge government figures being lavished on hilarious enterprises make things look like they are booming. But pay day eventually comes, and the gradual drag against the standards of living of the people, and their outlook on the future will not redound to much encouragement and opportunity.

Is Nature's Way Best?

SCIENCE MAKES BETTER NITRATE OF SODA THAN NATURE—SCIENCE GIVES YOU MORE FOR YOUR MONEY IN ARCADIAN, THE AMERICAN NITRATE OF SODA.

Every farmer knows that just because a thing is natural doesn't mean it is the best that can be.

That very thing is also true about nitrate of soda.

Some years ago, American scientists set about for a way to improve on nature and make a better nitrate of soda. They knew that the reason farmers bought nitrate of soda was for the nitrogen in it, and they figured that if they could make one that would have more nitrogen in it, they would do a service to the farmer.

Millions of dollars were spent, and finally they produced a "soda" right here in the South that was more perfect than any that had ever been produced before by Nature or by Man.

That product is known as Arcadian, The American Nitrate of Soda.

It gives more nitrogen for the money than any other "soda". And Nitrogen is what your crops need from nitrate of soda.

So, you see, Science has once again improved on Nature for your benefit.

When fertilizer makers buy nitrate of soda for their mixed goods these days, they buy Arcadian because they know nitrogen is what "soda" gives them, and they want the most for their money.

So why don't you do the same?

When you buy Arcadian, you not only buy wisely, but you are buying an all-Southern product—made in the South, by Southerners, for Southern crops.

FORGOTTEN PROMISES

In the first place he campaigned only a few months ago on the Democratic platform which made no mention of court-packing, but specifically promised the process of orderly amendment. The president had hardly taken office before he threw this portion of his platform into the waste basket.

He—and his apologists—assume that having been elected by an overwhelming majority he has mandate to do something which he specifically promised not to do. Could any assumption be more unwarranted? Since so many seem to have forgotten it, we here quote verbatim what the Democratic platform said about the Constitution:

"If these problems cannot be effectively solved by legislation within the Constitution, we shall ask such clarifying amendments as will assure to the legislatures of the several states and the congress of the United States each within its proper jurisdiction, the power to enact those laws which the state and the federal legislatures within their respective spheres shall find necessary in order adequately to regulate commerce, protect public health and safety, and safeguard economic security. Thus we propose to maintain the letter and the spirit of the Constitution".

President Roosevelt has been implored by many of his own friends and by the liberals of both parties to adhere to this promise. He refuses to do so, and purposes instead to pack the Supreme Court to destroy its effectiveness, and in so doing to destroy both the letter and spirit of the Constitution.—Bridgeport Post.

WHY?

Why should Mr. Roosevelt, professed exemplar of democracy, prefer the expedient of usurpation—packing the Supreme Court—to the straightforward course of asking the people to give him the power he seeks by submitting to them a constitutional amendment for their discussion and deliberation?—Hartford Courant.

WHY THE STRANGE SILENCE?

One of the most remarkable phases of the president's campaign to enlarge the Supreme Court and so make possible the validation of laws like the NRA and the AAA, is its newness.

Back in 1936 we had a political campaign. It was so intense that few of us have forgotten it, although some of the issues seem to have been placed in the limbo of forgotten things. The opponents of the New Deal charged that it was seeking to regiment the nation, to give us a new era of some modified form of fascism or communism, and was prepared to go to the length of destroying the Constitution, if necessary.

The proponents of the New Deal ignored this form of campaign or answered it at best with a few words of denial. Their slogan was "happy days are here again". They dwelt not on the Constitution and the organic law, but described with feeling words the busy factories, the humming cities, or appealed to the sleek and well-fed citizens who had jobs, or the citizens who were becoming sleek and well-fed at the expense of the government.

Like a voice crying in the wilderness, former Sen. Jim Reed of Missouri charged that the New Deal heads would, if elected, pack the Supreme Court to carry out their plans, if necessary. Nobody paid any attention to him. The populace was busy listening to the siren song of federal checks and rising prices.

But now, a few short months later, the worm has turned. The New Dealers themselves tell us we are confronted with a great crisis. The only way to save the common man from a return to the law of the jungle is to increase the number of Supreme Court judges. Anyhow, it was alleged, this should be done in the interest of the judges who might otherwise overwork themselves; but now the real truth is out—we need more up-to-date judges to put over the New Deal.

The serious-minded political student might pause to wonder why all of this wasn't anticipated by the New Dealers and discussed in the campaign of 1936; why was it reserved for the opening of congress in 1937? Is it possible that enlarging the Court wasn't regarded as a good campaign issue? Anyhow there sure has been a change in the past few months. The official song is no longer "Happy Days Are Here Again", but "The Goblins Will Get You If You Don't Watch Out".

PRICE FIXING DOES NOT WORK

A 240-page report on NRA has been prepared by the Committee on Industrial Analysis appointed by President Roosevelt, but one of the most imortant revelations in it can be boiled down to a few words—Price fixing does not work.

The committee found that some of the trade practice provisions intended to raise prices, to stabilize prior price increases or to reduce accumulation of inventory, failed to accomplish their intended effect.

Price fixing has been tried again and again, but it never has succeeded. If it helps one group, it harms another. Generally, it defeats itself. Modern activity is too complicated and affected by too many factors to make it possible to establish prices and hold them.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

They used to talk about the long arm of the government, but the way it's interfering with private business now perhaps we ought to say the long nose of the government.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert

Students of American affairs must now be convinced that the so-called sit down strike has brought a new element into our national and political life. There are 6,000 employees of the Chrysler plants in Detroit who have purportedly igored or rather defied an order of the courts of the state to vacate the premises of the company. It is reported now that the men will resist any effort on the part of the court authorities to eject them from the buildings.

Here we have the instance of a group of men who are occupying the premises owned by the stockholders of the Chrysler corporation, refusing to vacate and prohibiting duly elected directors of the company from carrying on business. We have the further instance of the purported refusal of the strikers to obey the court's order which was predicated on the well established human right to own and control property. The strikers themselves state that the Chrysler company itself first was guilty in failing to obey the Wagner Labor Relations Act, and that for this reason they have acted on their own. The argument seems somewhat strained. Conceding that the company did violate the state or federal laws, then there is a remedy in the courts, the same remedy which has been sought by the company itself in the instance of the sit-down strike. The solution of one problem due to law violation is not the commission of other illegal acts. Two wrongs never make a right.

Without going into the justice or merits of the problems in the automobile industry, however, it might just as well be admitted that the American people, with the sit-down strike imported from France, are really up against a new problem. This is generally being realized, as is indicated by the sudden outburst of oratory in the Senate the other day when short speeches calling attention to the seriousness of the situation were made by Senators Johnson, King and Lewis. The former of these, a so-called New Deal Republican, is quoted as stating:

"The most ominous thing in our national economic life today is the sit-down strike. It is bad for the government, and in the long run is worse for labor. If the sit-down strike is carried on with the connivance or the sympathy of the public authorities, then the warning signals are out, and down that road lurks dictatorship."

Senator Lewis asked: "If conditions are as we now see them to continue, what will be the result? If these strikes and protests against any and every form of order in society or government circumvent the due processes of peaceful government, then what will be the end? Both sides will soon enter into the strife and the final result will be an assault upon every form of peaceful government in America, and there always wait at such time those ready to take up the cause and carry it on to the form of despotism or destruction."

Both of the Senators above quoted have called attention to the disturbing outlook. A long continuance of the present strife and disturbance can lead only to class hatred and class warfare in America, and this form of violence is always the forerunner of some form of fascism, whether we have the brand practiced in Russia, in Italy, in Germany, or some modification of the three. The Michigan state and local governments temporized in the General Motors disturbances and fortunately the strife was settled, but the temporizing has only encouraged more of the same kind of trouble all over the country. The federal government is still discreetly silent. Sooner or later it may be compelled to take a hand to prevent something worse than sit-down strikes. What will its solution be?

STILL SPENDING

The Baltimore Sun's Washington correspondent, Frank R. Kent, notes that the federal government is not only spending more money this year than last, but the increase is in the regular departments, not in the emergency agencies.

The national debt has risen a billion in eight months, and will be above the 35 billion mark in the next fiscal year. He fears that the policy of borrowing to finance deficits will become a settled habit that can only lead to grave troubles.

The optimistic are banking on rapid and full recovery to roll money into government coffers and thus restore solvency. But they lose sight of the fact that money is still distributed with lavish hands, and there is no patience in Washington with suggestions for reducing and retrenching. Any such moves that are started meet with a wail of discontent by the politically faithful of the country, and spending is resumed. With the highest tax receipts ever known, we're still spending ahead of them, and that, as Kent says, can't go on forever.—Meriden Journal.

WHY RED IN THE FACE?

Sen, Robinson, as the news dispatches tell, grew red in the face in the Senate. He denounced as untruthful and unfair charges by opponents of the Supreme Court packing proposal that the president is seeking to become a dictator. How unreasonable!

If the statesman from Arkansas does not know that a great many sincere people in this land of ours believe Roosevelt has dictatorial ambitions, he is badly out of touch with public sentiment. Probably the senator's letters from his home state hill billies do not say much about it, but it is a safe guess that among those of the intelligent fringe, even in Arkansas, there are many who entertain the view over which Robinson becomes red-faced in the Senate.—Portland Oregonian.

ON THE POOR MAN'S BACK

In its latest report the tax research staff of the Twentieth Century Fund supplies us with the information that the city wage earner is taxed more heavily than the farmer. Thus a typical New Yorker with an income of $2,000 pays from $276 to $334 in annual taxes, while a representative farmer with the same income pays from $195 to $198. Though the discrepancy is rather startling it is not as surprising as the size of the burden in either case. Still more surprising, at least to the uninitiated in such matters, is the discovery that the lower the income, the greater the proportion of it that taxes consume.—New York Herald-Tribune.

A man can fail many times, but he isn't a failure until he begins to blame somebody else.—Buffalo News.

F. F. A. Meeting

There will be a district F. F. A. meeting held at Clanton Friday, April 16. A number of schools are going to attend. They are as follows:

Shelby County High, Clanton, Weogufka, Goodwater, Marbury and Jemison. One boy from each place will make a speech on any agricultural topic. The winner of the district meeting will enter the state meeting this summer.

Bad Weather

Owing to the rainy weather the big game of the season was called off. We were sorry to hear this because we were expecting to see a real game of class and speed.

There will be a game here Friday afternoon, at 3:15 o'clock—Clanton High and Montevallo High. Both teams seem to have had some stiff practice and it is expected to be a good game. Clanton and Montevallo are strong rivals. Last year one of the best games of the season was played by them. Clanton has good prospects of giving a good fight. Don't miss it.

Track Meet

There is going to be a track meet here soon. Mr. Duncan is working on it, and we feel sure if any one can get it worked out he can. You will hear more about it later. There will probably be several different contests to enter—you should try your luck.

Well, boys we hate to admit it but it looks like we're in for a full term of school. This information comes from the higher-ups.

Mr. W. C. Looser has resigned his position as history teacher of this school. His successor has not yet been named.

Monday morning of this week we had as a chapel speaker, Dr. S. J. Ezell. Everyone seemed to enjoy his speech, "Successful Living." We cordially invite Dr. Ezell as well as any other speakers to visit us any time they wish.

Mr. Evans spent last week end in Birmingham.

As You Like It

Last Friday several high school students were excused to see "As You Like It", a play written by Shakespeare in early days. Some students have been studying this in Literature. It was decided that it would be very educational for the students to see the picture.

The students wish to thank Mr. Wade for his kindness shown at this time.

This may seem like an April fool but it isn't. By some reason there happened to be about 20 pupils absent April 1st. We can not say if all had legal excuses, but we are sure some of them have and probably some of them haven't. This is what causes people to talk about our school and teachers. May we ask—how can teachers control the students when the parents don't themselves.

Program in Chapel

The Junior three class put on a very interesting program in chapel Monday and most everyone enjoyed it very much.

The program was demonstrations of how much some of the teachers had taught the students. Mr. Duncan must be popular with the students and from the demonstration given he doesn't seem to be able to teach them much.

BIRMINGHAM-SOUTHERN NEWS

Birmingham - Southern faculty and students participated in several national and regional conferences the week end of April 2-3. In the Faculty-Trustee room at the college the annual meeting of the Alabama Association of Colleges was held on Saturday morning. This assembly brought to Birmingham deans and education officials from all the colleges and universities in Alabama in an effort to render a greater service to the State of Alabama. The Southern Sociological Society meeting at the Tutwiler Hotel consisted of prominent social workers, university professors and research students from the southeastern section of the United States. According to Dr. Bernice M. Moore of the University of North Carolina, the South, with its high birth rate and its lowest per capita income of any region in the United States, is destined to become the source of supply for labor in the next decade.

In a united effort to "save the church," members of the Birmingham-Southern faculty and the McCoy Memorial church are contributing freely to the building fund goal of $22,500 which is to be raised by June 1. This church is the one attended by the majority of college students and adjoins the Birmingham-Southern campus.

"Cheese and watches are not the extent of Switzerland's exports," declared Max Fleckner to Birmingham-Southern faculty and students at the regular chapel program Wednesday. Herr Fleckner is the exchange student from Switzerland this year at Birmingham-Southern, and in his discussion of political and social conditions in his native land brought new light to his interested listeners.

EDUCATION HEAD REPORTS

Numerous reports have come to this office indicating that a considerable portion of the public has an exaggerated idea concerning the amount of new revenues available for the operation of schools. The recent legislature did not provide unlimited funds for the schools. It merely provided revenue to pay the existing appropriation to the schools and did not increase the present appropriation one dime. The state appropriations when paid in full are sufficient to provide only a seven-months elementary school term and a nine-months high school term in those counties and cities which levy four mills of county taxes and three mills of district taxes, or a total of seven mills. Patrons should not expect full school terms if they are not voting their full constitutional taxes locally, because the state in making appropriations to the public schools considered each county as having available from local funds a total of seven mills.

When all appropriations to public education are paid in full, the elementary and high schools and institutions of higher learning will have available annually between three and four millions of dollars less than was available in 1929-30. Despite this loss in funds, the average daily attendance of the public schools has increased 70,000 since 1929-30, and the enrollment of the colleges 30 per cent.

The payment of state appropriations to public education in full for the present year is largely dependent upon the amounts collected from the sales tax. The State Tax Commission is maikng every effort to secure a full collection of the tax. If everyone liable for the payment of the sales tax makes his payments on time, there will be sufficient revenue to pay appropriations and operate schools for normal terms.

MACEDONIA NO. 1

On the third Sunday in this month April 18th, there will be an all-day singing at Macedonia Church between Jemison and Randolph. We are expecting the Lackey Quartet, W. M. Devaughns Quartet, B. L. Coffer and son and Ralph Grant; in fact all of the best directors of the county and many others. So be sure and come. Bring your new books and be there on time. The singing begins at 10 o'clock.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for the kindness and sympathy shown us in our recent bereavement in the death of our dear son and brother, Wilton Gillespie. We also express our thanks for the beautiful floral offering. May the Lord's richest blessing rest upon each of you.—J. B. Gillespie and family.

Mrs. Emma Gentry was called to King's Memorial Hospital, at Selma, Thursday night to her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Culver, where she was being operated on for appendicitis. She is resting well at this time.—Mrs. E. H. Gentry.

Mrs. A. A. Culver, Mrs. Inez Womble, Miss Arrie Gentry and Miss Ethel Gentry, all motored to Selma last Saturday to see Mrs. C. A. Culver at King's Memorial Hospital.—Mrs. E. H. Gentry.

Dock Bryant and Mrs. Janie Bates were married at the home of Rev. W. W. Robinson, at Providence, last Thursday afternoon.

HOW IS YOUR WEIGHT?

Have you checked yourself lately? If not, do so; then check on the various members of your family. It is the duty of the housewife to keep in mind any problems of special diets as she plans the daily menus for her family. Over eating, or not eating the desired foods, is responsible for a great percentage of ailments. A person should check on his eating constantly and see if he eats balanced foods. Those in need of special diets, special information should be studied concerning his case, and if necessary a physician should be consulted; but if a special diet is recommended, then by all means follow it.

MULBERRY W. M. S. MEETING

On March 31 the Mulberry Women's Missionary Society held its monthly meeting at the church, with Mrs. J. H. Wells, president, in charge.

Dr. S. J. Ezell gave a wonderful devotional on Power of Witnessing, and Rev. Paul Oden, our pastor gave us several songs, also a talk on Missions.

PETER PAN

As a feature of Rosetime in Birmingham, the Junior League is presenting Peter Pan at the Temple Theater on the afternoons of April 24 and 25. In order that as many children as possible in the state may see this splendid play, admission prices have been kept very dow; reserved seats 25c, 50c and 75c, and unreserved seats 10c.

The play is under the direction of Blake Scott of New York, who was for a number of years a member of Eva LeGallienne's Civic Repertory Theater, and who helped Miss LeGallienne to stage her production of Peter Pan, as well as acted in it. Mr. Scott's long and varied theatrical career will make it possible for the children of this generation to see this famous play produced with the highest professional standard. Peter and Wendy and the boys will fly just as high as they flew when Maude Adams thrilled many thousands of children 20 years ago, and the dog and the crocodile and all the other animals, not to mention the Indians and pirates, will all be there.

The Junior League is anxious to show Peter Pan to all the children who have never had a chance to see it, and assures them of a thrilling afternoon's entertainment.

RESETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATION

Rehabilitation loans and debt adjustment of Chilton County's distressed farm families are playing an important part in halting the rapid increase in the number of tenant farms.

More than one-fifth of the 153 farm families under the rehabilitation program in the county are progressing toward full ownership of their farms through the aid of a farm plan and loan and debt adjustment. Restoring these farms to a productive basis enables continuance of purchase contracts and gradual liquidation of mortgaged indebtedness.

While four-fifths of the rehabilitation families in the county are on a cash rental, lease or share-crop basis, the assistance being provided through rehabilitation is laying the foundation for placing tenant farmers on a self-sustaining basis. This constitutes the first step up the ladder to farm ownership.

New opportunities for all of the 2,237 tenant farmers reported in Chilton County in the 1935 agricultural census, to start the climb toward ownership is expected to result from tenancy legislation now before congress.

Seriousness of the tenancy situation in the nation as a whole is seen in the fact that less than half of the farmers own the farms they operate and tenant farms are increasing at the rate of about 40,000 a year.

The president's recent tenancy message and legislation now before congress indicate a concerted drive to solve the problems of farm tenancy and bring aid to thousands of farmers at the bottom of the agricultural ladder.

The helping hand of the federal government already has been extended to many tenant farmers through the rural rehabilitation program. Of the 475 families who have received rehabilitation loans in Chilton County, approximately 370 have been tenants.

An important beginning in the movement to reduce the prevalence of farm tenancy and in providing greater opportunity for farm ownership for tenants has been made through this rehabilitation work. It is recognized that the farm and home supervision given in connection with the rehabilitation loans, along with farm debt and adjustment and cooperative services, will go far toward helping thousands of farmers take the important upward step from farm tenancy to farm ownership.

The latest agricultural census figures show there are 2,237 tenant families in Chilton County and that 56 per cent of all farms in Chilton County are operated by tenants.

The telephone, on your farm, can pay for itself. Remember:

In selling farm products, it is easier to sell at the right time—by telephoning buyers and keeping in close touch with the market.

In securing parts and repairs for machinery, hours and even days can be saved by telephoning.

When sickness threatens your family or your livestock, the doctor and veterinary can be summoned quickly.

Fire hazards, too, are less dangerous when your neighbors or a nearby fire department can be speedily called upon for help.

More valuable than money is the pleasure it gives the family to keep in friendly touch with neighbors and relatives.

On the farm, you really can't afford to be without a telephone. For information, visit, write or call your nearby telephone office.

"CAN THIS BE DIXIE?" SHOWING AT THE WADESONIAN THURSDAY

Jane Withers, whose new Twentieth Century-Fox picture, "Can This Be Dixie?" shows at the Wadesonian Theatre Thursday of this week, is probably the most air-minded young star in all Hollywood. This because of the honors which have been showered on her literally "from the skies".

Recently, at the christening of the new giant aluminum air flagship California, "Ginger Jane" was made honorary chief air hostess, the only person to hold such a title in the whole world.

It was from no other person than President C. R. Smith of the American Air Lines that the youthful star received her title, accompanied by the customary insignia of silver wings and a hostess uniform. An engraved certificate, attesting to the diminutive star's new honors, was also handed her. President Smith announced that he was having her title copyrighted so that Jane would be the only person to enjoy it.

Immediately following the ceremony Jane entered upon her official duties —the first tickets she accepted being from the youngest member of parliament, Mr. Roland Robinson, and his wife. Needless to say, the Robinsons extended an invitation to their air hostette to visit them, whenever she should be in Londan.

"Ginger" Jane's air honors did not end here, for a few days later, she received notification from the Women's International Association of Aeronautics that she had been made a full-fledged Zoomer in that organization. She received her membership card in the Junior Division of this noted association from its president, Mrs. Ulysses Grant McQueen.

Zoomers, it might be noted, embrace members who are over seven years of age and under 16; those under the age of seven are designated as Tailwinds. Jane at once adopted the Zoomer slogan, "Happy Contacts," as a sentiment for her autograph signatures, which are much in demand among movie fans.

Featured in "Ginger" Jane's "Can This Be Dixie?" are Slim Summerville, Helen Wood, Thomas Beck, Sara Haden, Claude Gillingwater, and Donald Cook. Executive producer Sol M. Wurtzel selected George Marshall to direct.

This makes a total of 60,703 pounds of poultry sold in the county to the co-operative poultry car, bringing a total of $8,109.42.

VOLUME 44.—EIGHT PAGES CLANTON, ALA., THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1937 NUMBER 52

Grand Jury Inquiry Asked In Petition

Resolution Passed Thursday Asking Grand Jury Be Called Together To Consider Evidence

The County Commissioners Court on last Thursday set the fuse for what may be the biggest blast so far in the fight that has been going on between the Court and Supervisor T. J. Arledge ever since the latter took office nearly a year ago. This last development was a petition to Circuit Judge Arthur Glover, asking him to call a special session of the Grand Jury to investigate the official actions of the Supervisor.

At the hearing, called for the purpose of considering action toward the removal of Mr. Arledge, Omar L. Reynolds, county attorney, advised the Court that he believed the petition to the Circuit Judge the best plan to go on to bring about such removal.

The local act which set up the office of Road Supervisor provides that the Commissioners Court may remove such officer for good and sufficient reason, and that he may have recourse to the courts for reinstatement if he desires. However, Mr. Reynolds expressed the belief that this section of the local bill is unconstitutional, and is contrary to a section of the state constitution which provides that any county officer can be impeached only by action of the Circuit Court.

Mr. Reynolds stated that according to the constitution of the state there are five methods to start action for the Supervisor's removal: By appearance of the Commissioners Court itself before the Grand Jury in regular session, by the Circuit Judge calling the Grand Jury into special session to consider the evidence; by the Circuit Solicitor starting suit, by the action of any five citizens starting suit, or by removal of the officer by the governor. Of all these, the above-mentioned plan was considered best.

As is well known over the county, the Court and the Supervisor have been at loggerheads with each other ever since he took office nearly a year ago. Charges and counter-charges have been thick. According to reports, in June of 1936 one of the county's road tractors was removed from the county by a machinery company without the consent of the Commissioners Court, which contends that such removal was made at the instance of the Road Supervisor, who, by the local act, made him sole custodian of the county's road-building equipment, and liable and answerable to the Court for such equipment. Therefore, on February 11, the Commissioners Court passed the following resolution:

Resolution Passed February 11

Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the Commissioners Court that one of the county's tractors, and being a Caterpillar Tractor No. 50, from the Second District, was removed from Chilton County on or about the month of June, 1936, and said tractor was carried to Smith-Pittman Tractor Company in Birmingham, and is now without the jurisdiction and control of Chilton County, and, Whereas, no order or agreement was made authorizing and directing any person to remove said tractor from Chilton County;

And, Whereas, in and by virtue of a Local Act for Chilton County known as the Supervisor Bill, Section 6 of said statute provides as follows:

"That said Road Supervisor shall be the custodian of all machinery, equipment, supplies or materials owned by the county under this Act, and shall be required and liable to account therefor to the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., upon written demand by them, and shall render an account therefor at the expiration of his term of office."

And, Whereas, said Supervisor did assume office of Supervisor on May 1, 1936, and on said date did assume custody and control of all machinery, equipment, supplies and materials owned by Chilton County, and has been since acting and serving as such, and was at the time of the removal of said tractor from the county, and, Whereas, said Supervisor has requested of the Court of County Commissioners their opinion or determination as to the Supervisor's liability for the removal or loss of said tractor, the property of Chilton County;

It is, therefore, the opinion and determination of the Court of County Commissioners that upon the assumption of said office of Supervisor, said Supervisor did become custodian, under said Act, of all Machinery, equipment, supplies and materials owned by the county, and said Caterpillar Tractor No. 50 having been removed from Chilton County, and so far as is known is now lost to the county, that the liability therefor and the duty of accounting for the same is upon said Road Supervisor in and by virtue of said Local Act, and the Court of County Commissioners, in pursuance of its duties, by the terms of said Act, does hereby call upon said County Road Supervisor to render an accounting to the Court of County Commissioners for said Caterpillar Tractor No. 50, which was removed from the Second District of Chilton County, within the time and in the manner provided by law.

According to report from the Court, Mr. Arledge answered this resolution by asking to present his side of the question to the Court; his request was

MEN OF CLANTON HAVE NO EXCUSE FOR NOT ATTENDING YOUR SUNDAY SCHOOL

The men of Clanton, especially those Baptist inclined, regardless of age, are now stripped of all possible excuses for not attending Sunday School in Clanton. The adult men's department of Canton Baptist Sunday school has been reorganized and three classes put into operation where only two have been heretofore. H. A. Harris has been chosen superintendent of this department, and two new teachers have been installed. The teachers in this department are: H. S. Shaw, Patterson Hicks and Luther E. Little.

Now, men and young men of Clanton, Prof. Harris and these three teachers want you to attend Sunday school. You are at perfect liberty to choose whichever class you prefer. Of course, the primary intention is that Mr. Shaw have the older men, Mr. Hicks the middle class, Mr. Little the younger men. But if you prefer to split the affair in a different direction, why, it is your privilege to do so and attend whichever class you like.

The idea is—the men of Clanton should be attending Sunday school, and the men's department of the Sunday school is doing its best to make itself inviting to the men of the city.

Think about this matter seriously between this and next Sunday morning, and let nothing keep you from attending Sunday school. You will be benefitted; and when you come once, you will want to come again. Try it.

VERMONT ENACTS ANTI-SIT-DOWN LAW AND SETS PENALTY

Montpelier, Vt., April 9.—Vermont Friday became the first state in the Union to ban sit-down strikes when Gov. George D. Aiken, Republican, signed a bill providing penalty of two years' imprisonment or a fine of $1,000.

The new law provides for imposition of the sentence when "three or more conspire together or act in concert for the purpose and with the intent of forcibly and unlawfully occupying, holding or possessing any store, factory, mill or plant, dwelling house or any part thereof against the will and without the consent of the owner, lessee or management thereof".

FROM A TOKEN TOTER

When I came into possession of the first piece of Bibb Graves' Chinese money, I wondered how in the name of mercy he arrived at placing the word Luxury thereon; it struck me that the word nuisance would have been more appropriate. However, after taking second thought, I could understand very clearly that he had used the right and only fitting word—for any state that can afford a governor and legislature like Alabama has—it is indeed a luxury.—A Token Toter.

COOKING SCHOOL CONDUCTOR WAS INJURED IN RECENT STORM

POLITICS DOESN'T COUNT AS THREE G. O. P.'S FOR LAW

Washington, D. C. April 15.—The Supreme Court decisions upholding the Wagner labor relations act furnished additional evidence that a man's politics does not necessarily indicate how he will vote after becoming a member of the high tribunal.

The majority ruling sustaining the law was brought about by the vote of three Republicans—Chief Justice Hughes and Associate Justices Stone and Roberts—and of two Democrats—Justices Brandeis and Cardozo.

Chief Justice Hughes was Republican nominee for president in 1916, former Republican governor of New York, and secretary of state under Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

Justice McReynolds, a Democratic attorney general in the Wilson administration, delivered the dissenting opinion, holding that Congress had "transcended" its powers. Justice Butler, one of the dissenters, also a Democrat, while the other two—Justices Van Devanter and Sutherland—are Republicans.

None is active politically, for when a justice goes on the bench, he traditionally retires from politics.

Justice McReynolds has been the most consistent opponent on the court of Roosevelt administration legislation, voting against it 16 times and for it four times.

Justice Cardozo has led in upholding administration laws, voting for them 15 times and against them five times.

Baseball Club Formed For Coming Season

J. E. Easterling Will Be Manager; Nearby Teams Invited To Take Part On Schedule

According to late reports, Clanton will have a baseball team this summer. This will be cheering news for local fans, and the management of the team is looking forward to good attendance during the year.

The club is made up of local boys entirely, playing purely for the fun of playing, and deserve the support of Clanton fans.

New uniforms and equipment have been bought, we are informed, and it is expected that the boys will be going strong on a regular schedule before long, with practice almost every day now.

J. E. (Mickey Cochrane) Easterling will manage the club, and Tom (Spot) Tiffin is taking a hand in the business management. The team will be known as the Clanton Woco Peppers. In fun, various names have been applied to this team, such as Careless Cavaliers, Hitless Wonders, and the like, yet the team has won both of the games it has played this season, beating the Spigener Prison team 6 to 5, and taking the CCC camp last Sunday 11 to 6.

On the roster the following names appear: Durwood Williamson, L. D. Easterling, J. E. Easterling, Benson Sims, Tom Reynolds, Bill Armstrong, Willie Armstrong, Tom Tiffin, Dutch Nivens, Clyde Cleckler, Theron Ellison, Virgil Glass, Carl Golson, and others. James (Gabby) Tiffin is expected to join the team when he returns from Wake Forest College a little later in the spring.

The management of the team is desirous of scheduling games with nearby clubs. For such arrangement address the manager of the Clanton Woco Peppers baseball team, at Clanton.

Shriners Held Rally Here Last Tuesday

More Than One Hundred From Alcazar Temple, Montgomery, Join With Local Shriners

For a short while Tuesday afternoon Clanton was a gay spot, and all business operations were suspended. About everybody in the city gathered around the main section, where the main street between Sixth and Seventh Streets had been roped off and washed clean of all dust and rubbish. For about thrity or forty minutes the Shrine Band of Montgomery did some drilling and playing of some select band pieces. The local and visiting Shriners had a gay time, and the spectators enjoyed it with them.

After completing their drilling and parading in the city, the Shriners were taken to the river, to Mell Martin's camp, where a fish supper was served. It is said that about 165 were present in all. There were about 125 Shriners here from Alcazar Temple and there were about 40 local members participating.

The group arrived at the river camp about 5:30 o'clock, and they remained there for about two hours. There were about 15 ladies present. The reports say that all had a good time. Earl Diefenderfer and Maurice Lande were there also.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN

Lost, strayed, stolen, or otherwise disposed of, method unknown, one No. 50 Caterpillar Tractor. Last seen in Second District of Chilton County. Was once used in road work—a naive practice now almost unheard of. Anyone knowing or learning the whereabouts of this roaming machinery will please notify the Commissioners Court of Chilton County. The hunt is on!—Man in the Moon.

First Berries Sold

The first strawberries in enough quantities to be sold were brought in last Friday, April 9th, by Mr. Arthur Headley from his farm on N. S. Johnson place on Lay Dam Road. Mr. Headley had four quarts, and sold them all here. They were nice size berries.

Mr. Headley, and other berry growers, say that the crop is cut short this year, but that it is altogether possible that it will turn out to be a rather good crop yet, even after the blooms and young berries have been killed off two or three times.

Mr. L. E. Diefenderfer, the veteran strawberry man of the county and secretary of the Clanton Association, says that he expects this vicinity to come through with about a 60 per cent crop this season.

Shipment of berries, according to Mr. Diefenderfer, will begin about the 20th of this month.

Mrs. S. J. Ezell Is Given High Honor

Clanton Lady Receives Honorable Mention And Bouquet From Daily Paper

Mrs. S. J. Ezell, wife of Dr. S. J. Ezell, of Clanton, was the subject of a nice write-up in Monday night's Birmingham News. In connection with the story was a small picture of Mrs. Ezell underneath a setting of pretty flowers.

The story follows:

An Orchid To—

Mrs. S. J. Ezell, of Clanton, Ala., from the Birmingham News.

Mrs. S. J. Ezell, of Clanton, Ala., was born and reared in Spartanburg, S. C. She attended Winthrop College, graduating, and taught two years in the high schools of South Carolina. Later she became the wife of Rev. S. J. Ezell, who has been located, for the past 14 years, at Clanton as minister of the Baptist Church.

Mrs. Ezell has been instrumental in developing many worth while civic and religious activities and during the time spent in Clanton she has taken an active part in many local, state and county developments. She teaches the young matrons class at present, she has served as superintendent of the State Association for five years and has served as assistant superintendent for a number of years.

She has served as state vice president of the W. M. U. for four years. She is interested in the P.-T. A. It was Mrs. Ezell who started the effort in getting a health unit for Chilton County and in securing the Farm and Home agents for the county. She has worked months, and is still working on plans for building a library for the school.

She is always interested in young people and is ever ready to assist with their camps and clubs. She has two fine children.

Mrs. Ezell seems to be one of the pioneers in many respects. She is the only woman ever given the privilege and having written an editorial page for the Alabama Baptist. She is one of the most outstanding women of Alabama, having accomplished so much lasting results from her service in so short a time. Her beautiful character and personality serves as a model to many and the results of her efforts are found everywhere and will continue to live long after she is gone.

Chairman Henry S. Long, of the State Tax Commission, announced last Friday that the equal share of each county in Alabama of state gasoline tax revenue collected in March on the sales made during the preceding month of February, amounted to $7,109.16, and that a warrant for that amount was mailed to each of them on April 7.

Last year, from collections of revenue from the same source during March, the equal share of the counties was $5,721.18. Mr. Long recalled. The warrants just mailed exceeded that amount by $1,387.98 each.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

WAYS TO CONTROL INSECTS ARE GIVEN

Auburn.—An application of derris powder or cube root powder applied as soon as the first bean leaves appear and the application repeated every 10 days usually kills most bean leaf and Mexican bean beetles.

Young plants of sweet potatoes, tomatoes, egg plants, and peppers are often seriously damaged or destroyed by a very small black beetle known as flea beetle. Dusting with derris powder will control it.

For plant lice (alphis) dust with derris or cube powder or spray with water containing soap and nicotine.

Calcium arsenate mixed with gypsum or a cheap grade of flour is good in controlling the spotted cucumber beetle which often does considerable damage to watermelons, cantaloupes, and cucumbers. One part of calcium arsenate mixed with five parts of gypsum is strong enough and the plants should be dusted as soon as they come through the ground. This application should be repeated weekly until the plants start sending out the first runners.

Calcium arsenate is cheap and an effective insecticide to use in the control of the potato bug.

For information on controlling the other insects, farmers should see their county agents.

RETURNS FROM 100 HENS EQUAL 5 BALES COTTON

Auburn.—A summary of the results obtained from Alabama poultry demonstration flocks during December, January and February reveals that at average egg prices for the past five years 100 hens laying 160 eggs per year return an average gross income equivalent to five bales of cotton.

This is reported by John E. Ivey, extension poultryman, in calling attention to the fact that the gross income per 100 hens was $35.99 in December, $31.49 in January, and $29.25 in February. On this basis the gross income from 100 hens equaled the value of 290.24 pounds of lint in December, 255.2 pounds in January, and 223.14 ounds in February.

Figuring that 25 per cent of the grain and mash was purchased at $3.50 per 100 pounds, and that the other 75 per cent was produced at home, the birds paid an average of $3.31 per bushel for the corn they consumed in December, $2.66 per bushel in January, and $2.59 in February.

TURNIP PATCHES GOOD FOR BEANS AND PEAS

Auburn. — Turnip patches infested with the vegetable weevil should not be planted to tomatoes or cabbage, advises Prof. J. M. Robinson, entomologist of the Alabama experiment station, in calling attention to the fact that the weevil will damage such as tomatoes and cabbage, but not beans and peas.

ANNUAL REPORTS FOR COUNTY AND CITY GOVERNMENTS

Montgomery, April 8.—When the assembly of delegates of the Alabama Education Association adopted the report submitted by the Committee on Research during its recent convention in Birmingham, it went on record as favoring the enactment of a law requiring county and city governments to file with the state agency uniform annual reports giving adequate, significant and comparable data concerning receipts and expenditures of public funds.

In support of its recommendation to the assembly, the Committee on Research referred to the difficulty it had experienced in attempting to study the costs of the various governmental services carried on in Alabama.

The Committee said that data on revenues and expenditures of state governments alone are available. The difficulty is encountered when an attempt is made to get the data for revenues and expenditures for state and local government combined. Local governmental units, both municipal and county, are not today making official reports to any state agency of total local revenues and expenditures on many important services which the state is financing in part in these local units. We do not know, for example, just how much is being spent in Alabama for administering the courts and enforcing the laws, or building and maintaining roads. We do not know as yet if we will be able to get a complete picutre of combined state and local revenues and expenditures for one of the functinos of government other than that of public education.

OLD AGE BENEFIT CLAIMS EXPLAINED

Social Security Lump Sum Payments Procedure Is Outlined

Procedures for filing of claims for the payment of lump sums under the federal old-age benefits plan of the Social Security Act, surpassing in simplicity any others for similar use yet devised either for government or private business purposes, are outlined by Harvey Enloe, Jr., field representative in charge of the Social Security Board's office at Birmingham.

Moreover, the Board declared that when the claims procedures are in full operation the adjudication of properly completed claims can be accomplished with unusual dispatch following their receipt in the Washington office. The claims already filed range from a few dollars each to $105.

A simple form has been devised by the Board for the use of each of the five different types of claimants. Separate forms are provided for: 1—Wage earners; 2—widows or widowers; 3—other close relatives; 4—executors or administrators; 5—guardians or committees. They ask a minimum of from two to a maximum of 12 questions.

A sixth form, known as Statement of Employer, is a simple report by the employer giving only the total amount of wages paid the employee and the employment period.

The Board said forms are obtainable, and that assistance in executing them is available, at any one of the 12 regional offices and 111 field offices now open at strategic points throughout the United States. Forms also may be obtained at the Board's office in Washington, D. C. As the claim load increases, the Board stated new field offices will be opened, until the maximum number of approximately 400 offices is established.

The field office of the Social Security Board is located at 1829 First Ave., North, Birmingham.

NEW PUBLIC WORKS PROJECTS

Montgomery, Apr. 12. — Gov. Bibb Graves returned from Washington last week with definite pledges from federal officals of about $2,000,000 for new public works and welfare projects, at least two of which will be established on a permanent basis for the general economic and social advancement of the state.

Monthly allocation of $50,000 to be used in coordinating the activities of the State Department of Public Welfare, Unemployment Compensation Commission and the Alabama Employment Service was the juciest plum plucked from the lush government tree.

"This money will be used to aid those not now benefitted by the unemployment compensation law," the governor explained. "A person working for a firm employing eight persons or more already is safeguarded against the awful spectre of dire need, but there is another class—domestic help, farm workers and employes of small organizations not eligible for unemployment insurance.

Montgomery—Validity of a 1935 act of the legislature authorizing the state to set aside one-twelth of the six cent gasoline tax for matching Federal road funds was upheld Friday by Judge Walter B. Jones, of Montgomery circuit court.

Judge Jones issued a declaratory judgment empowering the Alabama Highway corporation, composed of members of the highway commission, to issue approximatey $2,500,0,00 of road and bridge bonds.

The decision was in a test suit by the corporation against State Comptroller Charles W. Lee, and officials indicated the case would be taken immediately to the state Supreme Court for final adjudication to expedite the road program. Gov. Graves has indicated the plan will result in a road building program of $8,000,000 to $10,000,000, most of which will be government funds.

All trees and shrubs that have been transplanted recently should have the protection of a good mulch of porous paper, hardwood leaves, pine straw, peanut hulls, well rotted sawdust, cane pumice, peat moss, or other similar materials, placed immediately around the base of each plant and in many cases extending for several feet.

The 4-H Club enrollment in the United States has passed the million mark, with Alabama leading with 66,242 members.

Under a recent act of the legislature homesteads in Alabama up to the amount of $2,000 are now exempt from all state ad valorem taxes. The law is in effect on taxes now assessed and which will become due October 1, 1937. An order to this effect from the governor was directed to the comptroller Friday, and he passed the instructions on to the tax assessors and tax collectors.

This simply means that each taxpayer who lives in his own home will be relieved of all State taxes on that home if its assessed value is not over $2,000. If his property is assessed at $2,000 or more he will get $13 off on his taxes this year.

A comparison of Alabama's wet and dry counties was made this week by Dr. Roland Harper, state geographer stationed at the University of Alabama. Dr. Harper's statistics revealed that wet counties have smaller families, a lower birth rate, higher death rate and infant mortality rates, and proportionately about twice as many divorces and suicides as the dry counties.

Dr. Harper presented his paper before the Industry, Economics, and Geography section of the Alabama Academy of Science, which held its 14th annual convention at the University last week.

April is a big month this year for the University of Alabama's Glee Clubs and dramatic organization. ENCOURAGE HOME PRODUCTION

In a recent message to farmers, U. S. Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, member of the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, points out that there is an available source of nitrogen manufactured in this country—in Virginia—and further, that part of the raw material required in the manufacture of American made nitrate of soda is produced in Louisiana.

Formerly all of our nitrates had to be imported. For this we sent large sums of money abroad each year. By using the domestic nitrate of soda, commonly known as Arcadian, we can now keep this money in our country, employ our own people in its production, and thereby encourage industry at home.

As the price of all nitrate of soda is the same, and as field tests at experimental stations show one to be as good as the other, our people are urged to use this domestic made product.

American Toy Fair In Progress at N. Y.

Two Clanton Men Attending Largest Display Of Toys

New York, April 10. — With 15,000 new toys that will delight the nation's youngsters on display and with an extraordinary large outpouring of buyers from every section of the country, including W. I. Smith and O. M. Webb, of V. J. Elmore 5c, 10c & 1.00 Stores, Inc., of Clanton, the American Toy Fair is in full swing at the Hotel McAlpin here.

Seven acres of exhibits—the largest display of playthings ever shown in one place—include countless practical things designed to teach youngsters up-to-date developments in various fields. There is a strong trend toward scientific playthings, but toys that suggest the military are remarkably scarce. Prices on an average are 10 per cent ahead of 1936, with buyers eager to place orders to escape a further upswing in prices.

Sensation of the show is a replica of the Bob Burns bazooka, named by M. M. Pochapin for the screen and radio star, while proving extremely popular are the Cab Calloway hi-de-ho, a horn with a derby attached for achieving jazz effects, a walking stick and musical instrument in one termed a kazoo-cane, and a megazoo, which serves at once as a kazoo, a megaphone and a party hat. All these musical novelties are direct descendants of the comb and tissue paper contraption of dad's childhood days, which, because anyone can play it, is rapidly being adopted by the schools as part of the development of sound and rythm in elementary music training. Another best seller is a safety attachment for roller skates which rings a bell, warning pedestrians of an approaching skater.

PASTURES

Green pastures that are beginning to provide tender young grass after the long winter months may be brown and dry by midsummer if moisture is not conserved for use during the hot months ahead.

It is not too late to construct contour furrows in pastures to aid in storing water of spring rains. Contour furrows will not only promote a better growth of grass, but will help to control erosion as well.

Bermuda grass, if available, can usually be sprigged over the entire pasture area to advantage at this time of the year. It is especially useful where galled spots and small gullies are beginning to develop.

Application of fertilizer will aid in establishing a good sod and will tend to control the growth of weeds which compete with pasture grasses for food and moisture. Fertilizer recommendations can be obtained from County Agent J. W. Funt.

A good pasture will furnish cheaper feed than any other crop. It reduces labor cost because the cattle themselves harvest the crop. Experiments have shown that a good pasture sod is one of the most effective agents of erosion control.

In demonstration areas of the soil conservation service, the moisture conserving value of contour furrows has been strikingly illustrated by the more luxuriant growth of pasture grasses on these areas during the periods of hot, dry weather.

Fresh cows should be started on about three pounds of grain on the fourth day after calving, and this should be increased at the rate of ½ lb of grain daily as long as the cow continues to increase her milk flow. A month will generally be needed to get the fresh cow on full feed.

SALES TAXES IN TWENTY-FIVE STATES

Washington, April 15.—Twenty-five states still have sales taxes despite statistical proof that they constitute the most unfair form of taxation according to "Facts for Farmers" bulletin of Farm Research, Inc.

"According to a study by Jens Jensen, consultant in taxation for the Kansas Legislative Council," the bulletin says, a one per cent sales tax, including food takes $6.09 out of a $1,000 income and $5.85 per $1,000 out of incomes between $1,000 and $2,000. A two per cent sales tax takes $12.18 from the $1,000 income and $11.72 per $1,000 incomes between $1,000 and $2,000.

Advocates and sponsors of sales taxes in various communities are listed in the survey. Principal supporters of the "sock the poor" tax are found to be (1) Hearst publication, (2) Property owners including real estate, public service corporations and some farm groups who thought it would lower property taxes, (3) teachers organizations who swallowed it as a school relief tax, (4) Government agencies, as R F C, and state relief officials, and (5) Bankers holding obligations of state governments.

A JOLLY OCCASION

On Sunday, April 11, the children, in-laws, and grandchildren of Rev. E. L. Manning met at the home of Mrs. L. P. Cagle to celebrate his 85th birthday. A fine dinner was served, and greatly enjoyed by all.

There were present: Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Cagle, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cagle, and Kenneth Gray, all of Verbena; Mrs. Bertha Pierce and children of Billingsley; Mr. B. L. Manning and son, Junior, Mr. L. C. Cagle, and Mrs. Lola Dawson, all of Birmingham; Mrs. Martha B. Gray and son, Nolan, of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Nelson and children, Miss Eloise Keen, Mr. Homer Gwathney, and Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson, all of Clanton Route 3; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Kicker of Mt. Creek—incidentally, Sunday was Mr. Kicker's 65th birthday.

Your humble servant and wife had the pleasure of being in the crowd, and I tried to do full justice to the dinner. I have an invitation now to spend his 100th birthday with him 15 years hence. I am looking ahead to that time. All in all it was a very enjoyable day for all who attended, and I trust the good Lord will spare Bro. Manning to enjoy many more happy birthdays.—Q. C. Meroney.

CHILTON HIGH SPLITS TWO

The Chilton County High School split even in last week's two baseball games, winning from Verbena 16 to 7, and losing to Montevallo 7 to 4.

On Wednesday afternoon the Verbena aggregation came up to lose 16 to 7. The Verbena boys were quite erratic in the infield, making several errors. They gathered six hits, all singles, off the combined deliveries of Williamson, Johnson and Jones.

Chilton got 10 hits, led by Ted Reynolds, with three doubles. Locklear and Williamson got a couple each.

On Friday afternoon the Montevallo team came to Clanton to take a good game from the locals, 7 to 4. A full report of this game was not given out.

Cows producing over two gallons of milk daily should be fed grain on pasture; three pounds of grain per gallon of milk is generally sufficient.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Well Known Lady Of Jemison Dies

Mrs. Nora Wells, Postmistress, Died Tuesday Morning From Pneumonia

Mrs. Nora Wells, postmistress at Jemison, Ala., and one of the county's most prominent women, died at her home in Jemison Tuesday morning shortly after eight o'clock. Her death followed a severe attack of pneumonia of seven days duration. She was forty five years old.

Mrs. Wells was prominent in activities of all social, religious circles and took a keen interest in politics of the county and state. She was appointed postmistress at Jemison, Ala., two years ago and made many friends while in that office. She served for a number of years as a member of the Chilton County Democratic Executive committee and as an official of the Woman's Democratic Club of this county. She was a member of the Methodist church and Order of The Eastern Star, taking interest in school activities of her town.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Methodist church, in Jemison with the Rev. Clyde Bass and Rev. Cecil Ellisor officiating. Burial followed in the Jemison cemetery with Spigener in charge.

Surviving Mrs. Wells is her husband, A. C. Wells, well known lumberman of the county. Two daughters—Mrs. Ruphus Brown, of Clanton, and Mrs. Cliff Walton, of LaFayette; one sister—Mrs. S. C. Shaw, of Ensley; three brothers—M. H., W. H. of Birmingham, and Fred Smith, of Jemison; her mother, Mrs. Sallie Smith, of Calera.

Honorary pallbearers were the postmasters of Montevallo, Clanton, Calera, Thorsby, Maplesville and Verbena. Also, J. Lee Smith, L. H. Reynolds, Luther E. Little, Billy Smith, P. D. Wilson, J. A. Simms, E. W. Miller, E. B. Langston, Dr. H. G. Franklin, Dr. Ballard, Dr. R. B. McNeill and W. A. Reynolds.

Active pallbearers were: J. B. Atkinson, E. N. Bentley E. R. Piper, W. T. Hand, Albert Patterson and A. M. Attaway.

The large crowd attending these impressive funeral services and the many beautiful floral offerings attested to the love and esteem held for this citizen of Chilton County.

MINERAL SPRINGS

There will be preaching at this place Saturday night and Sunday by the pastor, Rev. M. Lockhart. Very few have been coming out to church. Let everyone attend next Saturday night and Sunday.

We have Sunday school every Sunday, and would like to see more fathers and mothers out to help us in the work. Come to all the services!

MT. SPRINGS

There will be services here Sunday night at the usual hour, 7 o'clock. No service will be held in the afternoon, on account of the Christian Life Conference at Thorsby. We hope to have a large crowd out Sunday night.

We regret and mourn the loss of a kind friend and brother, Mr. Lucious Davis. We will miss him especially in the church. Our sympathy goes out to the family in their great loss.

Are You Nervous, Sleepless?

Mrs. Annie Sams of 1153 Armstrong Ave., Knoxville, Tenn., said: "I was feeling out-of-sorts, had headaches and pains in my back, due to functional disturbances. I didn't care to eat, never enjoyed a real good night's sleep and any little noise would upset me. I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and I gained weight and strength as my appetite improved and I was able to sleep better at night too."

BONES

The bones in the body
Are two hundred or more;
But for sorting our people
We need only four.
Wish-bone people:
They hope for, they long for,
They want things to come, but
Aren't willing to try.
Funny-bone people:
They laugh, grin, and giggle,
Simle, twinkle and eye;
If work's a joke, sure,
They'll give it a try.
Jaw-bone people:
They scold, jay, and splutter,
They froth, rave, and cry;
They're long on the talk, but They're short on the try.
Back-bone people:
They strike from the shoulder,
They never say die;
They're winners in life, for
They know how to try.

BOOSTERS

If you think your church is best,
Tell 'em so!
If you'd have it lead the rest,
Help it grow!
When there's anything to do,
Let them always count on you,
You'll feel good when it is through
Don't you know?
If you're used to giving knocks,
Change your style;
Throw bouquets instead of rocks
For awhile.
Boost your pastor and your church;
Knock the knocker from his perch;
Lift the stumbler from the lurch—
With a smile!
When a stranger from afar
Comes along,
Tell him who and what you are—
Make it strong;
Never flatter, never bluff,
Tell the truth for that's enough.
Be a booster, that's the stuff,
Don't just belong,

Blank petitions were distributed for signatures of persons wishing a special session of the Legislature to repeal the levy.

"We realize Alabama needs the money for schools, public health service, roads and so forth," the petition reads, "but we know that this revenue can be realized through taxing big corporations, through income taxes on well-to-do individuals."

In Alabama the penalty for lynching is five years in the penitentiary to the death sentence. For aiding in a lynching the punishment is from one to twenty-one years. Only eleven states provide any penalty for this crime. Five of these States are in the south. Eight states place a heavy liability for personal injury and property damage against cities and counties where damage is done by mob violence.

The present development of new paper and kraft mills throughout the South prompts the United States service to warn farmers against letting all the timber on their places go too cheaply.

MALIGNING MR. MELLON

It is hard to be patient when a man of the intelligence of Sen. Robert M. La Follette intimates, as happened on Monday, that Mr. Andrew W. Mellon's magnificent gift of his art treasures to the nation is in some fashion connected with the income tax suit which the Roosevelt administration brought against the former Secretary of the Treasury. His action is cheap political claptrap, at once a gratuitious insult to a generous gentleman and a serious reflection on Mr. La Follette's own judgment.

The truth, as the Wisconsin senator could easily have ascertained, had it interested him, is that Mr. Mellon planned his gift to the nation years before there was any question of a suit against him. The implication that the facts are otherwise not only impugns Mr. Mellon's integrity but assumes that the Roosevelt administration would be corrupt ehough to be influenced by a bribe of this kind.—New York Herald Tribune.

THE PATRONAGE WEAPON

It is reported that Sen. David I. Walsh may suffer reprisals from the Roosevelt administration in the form of the elimination of federal officeholders in whom he has a personal interest, because of his opposition to the president's plan for the enlargement of the Supreme Court. When this becomes a fact rather than a suspicion it will be time to convict the administration and not before.

The numerical strength of the opposition to the Court plan in the Senate might well cause the most careful consideration before such reprisals were indulged in. To punish all the senators who are opposed would add to the bitterness of an already bitter situation and might invite reactions which the administration would regret. If Mr. Roosevelt is as shrewd a politician as he is credited with being, the idea of such reprisals in the matter of the Court is not one which he has either entertained or will countenance.—Springfield Republican.

COURT NOT TO BLAME

One of the noteworthy developments of the strike situation in Michigan has been the verbal efforts of certain proponents of the president's program of enlarging the Supreme Court, to blame the disruption of business on the part of the Supreme Court. They have intimated and in some instances sought to show that the failure to settle the strikes in Detroit has been due to the fact that the Supreme Court up to this time has not seen fit to pass on the validity of the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

As a matter of fact, the relation of the Supreme Court to the Wagner Act has had nothing to do with the sit-down strike. So far as anyone has been able to learn there has been little disposition on the part of either faction in the Detroit trouble to appeal to the provisions of this act. So far as the public has learned, the law has been a dead letter.

In view of the fact that the employers generaly have not been favorable to the Wagner Act it is not surprising that they have not sought to take advantage of it. But the legislation was drafted by statesmen friendly to labor, passed by a friendly congress, and would be administered by an administration which had the support of labor in the recent elections. The failure of the labor leaders to take advatnage of the act in the Michigan troubles is therefore somewhat surprising and it has induced such liberal writers as Ray Clapper, of the United Press, to assert that C. I. O. labor has mised its big chance in the present row by failing to appeal to the courts.

Up to this time the only appealing to the courts done has been by the employers seeking to oust the sit-down strikers from their property, and the strikers themselves have paid little attention to the courts in this respect. It is a little far fetched therefore to assume that the length and bitterness of the present strike can be blamed in any way on to the United States Supreme Court.

But this has been done and there are some observers who believed that the dragging out of the strike to great length would react favorably on the president's proposed Supreme Court legislation in that the public can be made to believe that the Supreme Court is in some way responsible. But it remains to be seen whether the public is as gullible as that. We doubt it.

DESIGNED TO JUDICIAL

A liberal minded judiciary is what Mr. Roosevelt says he wants. And what will happen if a future president wants a conservative minded judiciary? This thing of making the Supreme Court a political football—of applying to its members the terms rightist or leftist—is not in the the interests of the American people. As a matter of fact, there should be no such thing as a liberal minded judiciary. Nor should there be such a thing as a conservative minded judiciary. A judiciary is not, we make bold to say, designed to be either liberal minded or conservative minded. It is designed to be judicial. And for the very reason that the Supreme Court is the highest tribunal in the land this is truer of it than of any other court. If political terms are applied to members of the Supreme Court, the Court is likely to become political in nature. And it is difficult to conceive of any greater blow to the American form of government.—Booth Mooney, in The Texas Weely.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

(By Frank P. Litschert)

One of the significant facts about the present drive of the president and his friends for enlargement of the Supreme Court in the interest of New Deal legislation is that, if successful, it will do away entirely with the necessity of changing our fundamental law by amending the United States Constitution. Up to this time, when it was deemed advisable to enact legislation prohibited by the Constitution, an amendment to that document has been in order. The recent prohibition amendment and its repeal are cases in point.

If it is desirable to re-enact such laws as the invalidated NRA and AAA, as the critics of the president's plan have frequently pointed out, then the logical and proper thing to do would be to amend the Constitution so that such laws might be made valid. But under the president's plan, if such laws now apparently unconstitutional are desired, then the quickest way to bring about the desired result would be to enact a law permitting the president to appoint enough justices to swing the court into line with the new legislation. So, from that time on, the old process of amending the Constitution could and would become archaic.

In his recent testimony before the Senate committee, in which he opposed the presidential plan, Prof. Ray Moley, former ace brain truster, asked these interesting questions, which up to this time seem to have remained unanswered: Does the president mean we shall have no more amendments to the Constitution? Does he mean that in the future there will be change to meet the changing times only through interpretation? Does he mean that the Constitution must always be what the judges say it is? Is our constitutional destiny from generation to generation to be vested in a long succession of reinvigorated courts? Undoubtedly the answer of the president's friends of the question would be No. But if we re-invigorate the court just once, what is to prevent future congresses, obeying future presidents, from doing it again and again?

It has been the argument of the supporters of the president's plan that constitutional amendment at this time would be too slow, and that there ought to be devised a quicker way to permit the president and the congress to carry out the people's will. The argument, however, is not convincing. When the people want the Constitution amended they can do it fast enough. The recent repeal amendment is a case in point. Moreover, it as not yet been proven that there is any great demand for haste. There is no evidence that we have suddenly become confronted with a grave economic crisis which demands immediate re-enactment of the NRA and the AAA. Before the election the New Deal orators told us that the depression had been conquered and the people's heritage restored to them. The smoke was pouring black from the factory chimneys and happy days were here again.

It is true that President Roosevelt was re-elected by a sweeping majority. But the NRA and the AAA were not issues. Neither was the so-called packing of the Supreme Court. The two alphabetic laws just mentioned had been invalidated by the Supreme Court. Business was getting better and the people were apparently satisfied. There was no suggestion by the president or any of his friends that the Supreme Court would have to be changed and regimentive legislation re-enacted. It is difficult to see, therefore, why the legislation now proposed would be enacting the will of the people. It is barely possible that the will of the people was registered under the assumption that times were getting better—even under a Supreme Court of nine old men, and they were satisfied to let well enough alone.

NOT YET

In giving a citizenship to an applicant at Wilmington, Federal Judge Nichols asked: Is the judiciary subservient to the executive branch?

The applicant, according to the news dispatch, looked a little puzzled, and then answered, yes. He was told to return in June after learning the fundamental principles of our government.

His puzzlement was excusable, since some senators and even those in higher places have done so much to becloud the issue. By June the answer conceivably may be correct. Yesterday the applicant might have replied: Not yet. But a multitude of enlightened citizens are declaring: And never will be if the Senate is true to its trust.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

HAND-PICKING

A recent conference of Communist party leaders is said to have discovered to its dismay that in many parts of the country the local party officials, the all-powered secretaries, have been hand-picked instead of being freely elected by the party membership. Perhaps the shock and dismay would not have been so great if the higher leaders had been reading what Trotsky has to say about Soviet bureaucracy, the secretary-bosses and the whole so-called apparatus. Only it is Trotsky's contention that the hand-picking begins at the very top, in the Kremlin, and reaches down through an elaborate system of levers and wires to the remotest locality in the Soviet Union.—New York Times.

When we see some of the changes that are proposed for the government nowadays we feel certain that William J. Bryan in youth was an ultra-conservative.

Montevallo vs. Clanton

Montevallo came to Clanton last Friday and defeated C. C. H. S. 4 to 7. This was a very interesting game, the score staying tied until the 6th inning, when Montevallo got two hits and a walk to score two runs. In the 7th they got another run, making the score 4 to 7. For some reason Clan-game with Montevallo, and are they going to fight if they beat us this time!

MORE FERTILIZER IS USED BY FARMERS

Washington, D. C., April 10.—Farmers in the United States, by appiying commercial plant food to their crop lands, are aiding in the conservation of the nation's soil resources. In their efforts to restore the plant nutrients taken out of the soil by growing crops, farmers last year used 6,815,000 tons of commercial fertilizers, according to a summary prepared by The National Fertilizer Association, and appearing in the current issue of The Fertilizer Review. This was an increase of 10 per cent over the amount used in 1935, but it was still under the level reached in several pre-depression years.

Present indications are that consumption in 1937 is likely to rise to seven and a half million tons. Farm income has continued to expand, and as farmers have more money to spend they use some of it to replenish their depleted land. Total fertilizer tax tag sales in January and February in 17 states were 32 per cent above the corresponding period of last year. Although such a large rate of gain will in all probability not be maintained throughout the year, it does indicate that consumption in 1937 will be substantially higher than in 1936.

NUMBER OF FERTILIZER MANUFACTURERS INCREASES

A substantial increase in the number of establishments producing commercial fertilizers in 1935 is shown by the Census of Manufacturers report for the fertilizer industry, issued recently by the United States Bureau of the Census. It is pointed out by The National Fertilizer Association that this expansion in the number of companies is in contrast to the tendency toward concentration of production in a few large corporations which is so evident in many American industries.

The number of fertilizer plants operating in the United States was larger in 1935 than at any time since 1914, according to the Census of Manufacturers report. This biennial survey shows that there were 670 fertilizer plants operating in 1935.

MRS. MANDY BARNETT

Our home was saddened on March 31, when the death angel visited the home of Mr. W. A. Barnett, carrying away his loving companion and our mother.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

We recently closed a great Bible conference at the Bob Jones College. Every year we set aside all regular school routine for one week and give our time exclusively to Bible study and inspirational Bible addresses. Of course, all students in the college are required to take Bible as a part of their regular course. From an intellectual standpoint, Bible Conference Week is the best week of the year. No man is ignorant who knows the Word of God. The Bible is truly the Book of Books. It is the best book on literature, history, philosophy, law, ethics, science, and religion. It is God's word. Someone said a good man could not have been the author of the Bible and a bad man would not have written the Bible. A good man could not have been the author of it because the Bible claims to have come from God. A bad man would not have written it because it tells how bad he is.

Recently I had a letter from a lawyer telling me that a good woman who heard me speak in a certain city had died and left the Bob Jones College $1,000 in her will. In announcing this at a chapel service at the college, I remarked, "That woman is in heaven". The statement, "that woman is in heaven" taken out of its setting could be greatly misunderstood. Men are not saved by works. They are saved by grace. However, the test of whether a man is a Christian or not depends upon the thing to which his heart responds. A woman who heard me lecture and heard my statement that the Bob Jones College believes the Bible from cover to cover, that it stands without apology for the old time religion, and that it feels that its first duty is to win to Jesus Christ every student who enrolls who is not a Christian, would not have gone home and changed her will in order to leave some money to an institution that stands for what we stand for unless in her heart She was a Christian. No atheist would have changed his will and left money to the Bob Jones College. No modernist who repudiates the blood of Christ and the inspiration of the Bible would put the Bob Jones College in his will. The woman was not saved because she remembered the Bob Jones College. She responded to the appeal of the College because she was saved. Men are not saved by works, but saved men work.

IN MEMORY

There are some people who seem to come from the hands of their Creator especially endowed with those qualities that make up a lovable personality, patience, tenderness, kindness — qualities that produce characters which make the world a brighter, happier place in which to live and home a haven of quiet peace and rest. The world is always richer and better when people of this type pass through.

One such person was Margaret Ann Howard (nee Hull), who passed away at her home in Verbena, April 8, age 66 years. She was a good housekeeper and an ideal homemaker. Her home wa sher kingdom; hus husband, a man whom she could deeply love and respect; her children, their loyal loving subjects. Her sceptre was love and Christ was Lord of all. In her serene, calm, Christian way made home a fit type of heaven and her greatest ambition was that her children shall take their places in the family circle at the roll call in the Heavenly home. Home meant so much to her that her last words, "I can't stay here, I must go home," revealed her longing for that place of rest and freedom from the torturing pain she suffered.

If I should go looking for Mother Howard in Heaven, I would go first to the nursery, for she loved children most dearly and was unusally gifted in making them love her. I should expect to find her among God's little folks. If she were not there for the moment, I would go out into God's flower garden and look for her among the blossoming flowers. She loved bright colors. They seemed a natural complement to her happy and sunny nature.

She is lost to us for a while, yet she lives in the lives of her family and in the memory of those who knew her. While the nearest and dearest to her sorrow because of her going, they rejoice because of the beautiful life she lived, and the Christian heritage she left and most of all because they expect to meet her again.

Mr. W. O. Rich, of Birmingham, has been in Clanton for the past few days visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. Leaborne Eads, of Winfield, Ala., was in Clanton the first of this week visiting friends. Mr. Eads is known here as a singer and teacher. He has been in Lousiana and Texas for the past several months.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends, neighbors and relatives for their help and kindness extended us during the long illness of our little boy, Byron Jean. Especially do we thank Dr. Franklin and nurse, Mrs. Blow, and the nurses and Doctor's at Highland Avenue Baptist Hospital Birmingham.

May God's richest blessings abide with each and everyone, is our prayer.—Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Maddox.

Don't Take Chances—Feed Startena!

THERE'S no question in the minds of more than a quarter of a million poultry raisers as to what starting feed they will use this spring. The results these folks got last year with the new Startena containing Pur-a-tene exceeded even their fondest hopes. They know what Startena will do so they're taking no chances this year.

Purina Startena for years has been the country's finest starting feed. Now, through the addition of Pur-a-tene, it is made even better. Poultry raisers who fed Startena last year had chicks weighing as much as a pound and a quarter and even more at six weeks.

See us today . . . have Startena on hand when your chicks arrive!

Lesson for April 18

THE EFFECTS OF ALOCHOLIC BEVERAGES

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 13:13; 19:23-25; Deuteronomy 32:31-33; Proverbs 23:29-32.

GOLDEN TEXT—At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder Proverbs 23:32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Had First Choice.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Way of Woe.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Science Says About Alcohol.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Scientific Basis of Temperance.

The American people are alert to the forces which threaten the bulwarks of national life, and are ready to take intelligent and effective action against them when fully aroused to the danger. The powers of evil know this to be true and are careful to avoid anything that directs our attention to what is constantly going on under cover. The liquor question is one of our nation's most serious problems. The devastating results of the widespread sale and use of intoxicants will only be known as Christian men and women unmask this wicked business which poses under the banner of congenial and pleasant living, and proudly points to its recognition by the government as a legal enterprise.

The facts are available through various temperance organizations and in such books as "Alcohol and Man," by Dr. Emerson of Columbia university. The Sunday School lessons for 1937 present four opportunities to bring the matter squarely before the adults and children who are in our Bible Schools. We have already (Jan. 31) considered the economic problem, and will later deal with intemperance as a social and moral evil. The lesson for today affords a special opportunity to touch on the scientific side, presenting intoxicants in their true light as a poison. Look up the word "intoxicate" in a good dictionary and you at once have a picture of what beer, wine, and whiskey do to the human body.

The Christian approach to any consideration of the matter is by recognizing that man is a spiritual being, dwelling in a physical body.

I. We Live in a World of Moral Responsibility (Gen. 13:13; 19:23-25).

Life is not a careless drifting from day to day, from pleasure to pleasure, into sin or not as one may choose, with no responsibility for one's actions. Man was created in the likeness and image of God. He possesses the power of choice. He knows right from wrong. If he chooses to do right he has all the resources of the omnipotent God to call upon as his strength and stay. But if he chooses to turn his back upon God and upon Christ, and to go into the ways of sin, let him be sure that there is a day of judgment to come from which he shall in no wise escape. The destruction of the wicked cities of the plain, terrible as it was in itself, is but a prophecy of judgment to come. See Luke 10:10-12.

II. Men Go Two Different Ways (Deut. 32:31-33).

Moses contrasts the Rock in which his people trusted, and the corrupt standards of their heathen neighbors by which they were tempted. One greater than Moses spoke of the two ways (read Matt. 7:13, 14), and pointed out the sad fact that there are many that go down the broad way to destruction, and few who walk in the narrow way of life. Let us seek to win our young men and women away from the sinful ways of this world.

III. The Liquor Way Is the Wrong Way (Prov. 23:29-32).

Skillful indeed are the advertising devices of the liquor interests! They associate their intoxicants (poisons) with holiday festivities, happy family gatherings, social preferment, and so on. They do not picture the bleary eye, the babbling tongue, the "wounds without cause." They carefully overlook the broken-hearted mother, the ragged children, the empty cupboard, and the devastated home life. They say nothing of the men who have lost their characters and their jobs, and of the women who have lowered themselves beyond description because of their love for liquor. Let us in tenderness and heart-broken humility present to our Sunday School classes that picture, which is a disgrace to our nation. The wine may look red, and it may even go "smoothly down the throat" (a possible translation of the words "when it moveth aright," v. 31), but it still has the bite of a serpent and the sting of an adder (v. 32).

After singing "Dixie" the club opened with business session by Mrs. Freeman. It was suggested that our club adopt three chairmen to serve fifteen minutes each with objectives of citizenship, scholarship and farm bureau. Those elected were: Mrs. E. H. Freeman, Citizenship; Mrs. Frank Hudson, Farm Bureau; Mrs. A. A. Culver, Scholarship.

The meeting was then turned over to Miss Grace for demonstrations. Our demonstrator handled very efficiently the subject of canning by the club for extra money, or group canning for the good of the club members.

From this subject she went to the subject of weight, normal and abnormal, also diets being a mother's responsibility along this line, this subject was most interestingly and educationally discussed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. D. B. Johnson on April 14.

During the month of March gasoline gas tax collections in Alabama amounted to $961,533. This is $87,462 more than was collected in March 1936.

There were 67 highway accidents in Alabama in March 1937 resulting in the death of nine persons. There were 88 accidents in February with 17 deaths.

STATE GAME BIRD FARM

Montgomery. — With announcement of an additional WPA grant of $8,388 from Washington, work at Alabama's first state-operated game bird farm will progress rapidly within the next few weeks. Commissioner I. T. Quinn was advised of approval of the funds April 9 in a telegram from Sen. John H. Bankhead.

If present plans mature and funds are available, the 95-acre quail farm is expected to be one of the largest in the Southern states in two or three years. A goal of 20,000 birds within that time is the objective of the conservation department as it places the farm in operation.

Already 75 pairs of birds have been placed in the breeding pens and have begun building nests, indicating that within a few weeks the first eggs will be ready for the 5,000-egg incubator. Most of this year's production will be kept for breeding purposes next year.

SPECIAL DIETS

A well-nournished person is better able to resist disease than and undernourished one. Few families, however, are so fortunate as to escape disease at all times. Any case of serious sickness this should be diagnosed by a physician and in case a special diet is necessary this should be prescribed by him. The duty of every mother is to know how to carry out the physician's instructions in the most efficient and capable way. There are also many minor ailments for which the physician is not called but which a change from the ordinary diet.

In any sickness, care regarding the diet is important and even doing without food or taking very little food, does no harm and gives the digestive organs an opportunity to rest.

A soft diet is one that is given between the liquid and the light or convalescent diet. This may contain any of the liquid foods and such additional ones as toast soften in milk, broth, custards, souffles, junkets, gelatin, ice cream and sherbets.

In any sickness—

No. 1. The diet must be simple.

No. 2. Regularity of feeding must be followed.

No. 3. The appetite must be tempted by having the foods well prepared and attractively served. Possibly a single flower on the tray or attractive china may be used to have effect on the patient's appetite.

Plan now to produce sufficient roughage to supply your dairy herd next winter; two tons of legume hay or three tons of ensilage and one ton of hay should be produced for each cow in the herd.

granted, and March 1 was set as the date for the hearing. It is said that Mr. Arledge brought in his witnesses, among them Mr. Wyatt Owens, the representative of the Pittman Tractor Company, who stated that he did the trading with Mr. Arledge, and who caused the tractor to be removed.

Still more firmly convinced in their belief that the Supervisor had overstepped the bounds of his authority in this action, after the hearing, on March 1 passed the following resolution, making demand for the return of the county's tractor, or that satisfactory arrangements be made about it:

Resolution Adopted March 1

Whereas, the Court of County Commissioners passed a resolution on February 11, 1937, relative to a Caterpillar Tractor No. 50 being removed from the Second District of Chilton County on or about the month of June, 1936, and a copy of said resolution was mailed to Hon. T. J. Arledge, Supervisor of Chilton County roads, and he acknowledged receipt of same February 12, 1937, and on February 23, 1937, Mr. Arledge made a request in writing to the Commissioners Court to present his side of the question on March 1, 1937, as to the removal of the Caterpillar Tractor No. 50 from the county;

And, Whereas, the Court of County Commissioners granted his request and the hearing was held on the above date, and all the witnesses that came before the Commissioners Court did so at the request of Mr. Arledge; and, after hearing the evidence of Mr. Wyatt Owens, a representative of Pittman Tractor Company, who stated to the Court that he made the transaction with Mr. Arledge;

Whereas, after considering all evidence in connection with the Diesel R. D. 7 and Caterpillar Tractor No. 50, it is the opinion of the Court that Mr. Arledge did dispose of the county's Caterpillar Tractor No. 50 without proper authority, and permitted same to be removed from the county;

Whereas, Section 6 of Local Acts, enacted by the Legislature of the State of Alabama, and approved March 10, 1936, provides that the Road Supervisor shall be the custodian of all machinery, equipment, supplies and materials owned by the county, under this Act, and shall be required and liable to account therefor to the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala.; therefore, in pursuance of our duties as Commissioners, we are again making demand that you account for Caterpillar Tractor No. 50, which you permitted to be removed from the county, and so far as we know is a loss to the county; therefore, we are requesting that you have the Caterpillar Tractor No. 50 brought back into the county, or make a satisfactory settlement for the tractor.

Reports are that Mr. Arledge took no action in answer to this resolution, and so the Commissioners began to consider steps for his removal, hence the above-mentioned resolution, which was unanimously adopted by the members of the Court, and was in the form of a petition to Judge Glover, adopted April 8, and which reads as follows:

Resolution Adopted April 8

Whereas, the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County, Ala., is of the opinion that certain acts of T. J. Arledge, County Road Supervisor of Chilton County, Ala., and certain matters in reference to the conduct of his affairs in office and of his actions as a county official should be investigated by the Grand Jury of Chilton County, Ala., looking to the removal or impeachment of said official as said body may determine;

Be it therefore Resolved, by the Court of County Commissioners of Chilton County, Ala., that the Hon. Arthur Glover, Judge of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Ala., be, and he is hereby importuned and petitioned by the Commissioners Court of Chilton County, Ala., to call a special session of said Grand Jury to investigate and ascertain the truth of any such charges and of the acts and doings of said Supervisor to determine whether or not impeachment proceedings should be ordered by said Grand Jury, as provided by law, of said County Road Supervisor; be it further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be mailed to Hon. Arthur Glover, Wetumpka, Ala.

In addition to all of the above, there are many reports afloat, some of them well-founded, that unlawful claims have been presented to the Court for payment, coming under a number of heads; at least some of these, it is said, the Court has refused to pay. All complaints of the Court have not as yet been made public.

As this is written, no report of the result of the request to the Circuit Judge has been given out, but it is expected that a special session of the Grand Jury will be called, to consider this and other matters of importance.

The guests, about 200 in number, were met at the door by Miss Grace Ezell. Miss Lona Thompson was at the desk and had charge of registration. Mrs. S. J. Ezell presided at the punch bowl.

Miss Louise Morton was awarded a $5 permanent wave. Miss Elizabeth Hogan, a model of Miss Josephine Barrett, received the most votes, and was awarded $5 worth of beauty work. There were eighteen models in all.

MUCH PAVING DONE BY WPA IN ALABAMA DURING PAST YEAR

Montgomery, Apr. 10.—The paving, construction, improvement and repair of Alabama roads in sufficient mileage to reach from Montgomery to Los Angeles and back was announced today by A. P. Morgan, Jr., state administrator of the WPA, following receipt of a report on physical accomplishments of the state WPA program during a period of a little over 13 months.

The report on Alabama's progress is included in a nation-wide picture of the WPA program which was released by Works Progress Administrator, Harry L. Hopkins.

During this period 6,465 miles of Alabama roads and streets were built or repaired by the WPA. Work on secondary roads, mostly of the farm-to-market type, constituted 40 per cent of the road and street program. Approximately 300 miles of paving in the program that calls for the paving of 550 miles on the 3-way plan had been completed. Eighty-two of approximately 175 new public buildings were completed. Twenty-nine miles of storm and sanitary sewers and 18 miles of water mains were laid.

PERSISTENT DRIVE AGAINST DRUNKEN DRIVERS, ETC.

Sheriff Hardy and Mayor C. Fenn Jones announce that they are going to use every effort at their command to keep drunken drivers and public drunks off the streets and public roads of the county. Fair warning is given those who drink to stay in their place when "tead" up. The highways and streets must be made safe and decent for people to travel and walk upon. This cannot be done when the drunks are permitted to roam at large.

WHEN IS A MAN A FAILURE?

A man is a failure when he has quit trying. Then and only then. Write that truth deep in your heart and come back to it time and time again.

Then give yourself the courage to stand at the door of your mind like a stern watchman who, sword in hand, bars the way to all thoughts of failure, all thoughts that are negative, all thoughts that tend to tear down instead of build up, all thoughts that will make you a poorer man.

The ability to dream of great achievements was not given us to mock us. The fact that once we were inspired to believe that the high road was the right road is evidence that we possess the ability to climb that road.—Powergrams.

SHELBY COUNTY MAN EXPECTED TO ENTER STATE SENATE RACE

Mr. J. F. McGraw, vice president of Alabama Independent Merchants Association, Inc., of Vincent, Ala., is expected to enter the race for State Senator in the 1939 election, representing the counties of Shelby, Chilton and Autauga, according to reports from political leaders of Shelby County. Mr. McGraw served as a member of the House of Representatives during the 1932-33 session, filling the unexpired term of Luther Saxon. Mr. McGraw, in addition to being known throughout Shelby County, is well known by business and political leaders in both Chilton and Autauga Counties. No other candidate has been suggested. Due to a rotating basis, by which each county takes turn about electing the state senator, it is Shelby's time to elect.

Cullen Suggs, of Russellville, Ala., Dallas Wicke of Pensacola, Fla., Don Barbee of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. Hines of California, all students at the University of Alabama, spent the week end with Jesse Frank Foshee at Clanton.

TIFFIN OFFERING RANGES AT EXCEPTIONAL SAVING

Tiffin Furniture Company is this week offering a carload of Black Beauty stoves at exceptional savings. This firm is carrying an adv. elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner making full explanation of the proposition. Turn to it and read it.

Mr. Tiffin says that it is by special purchase that these ranges can be sold at this price, and that when this carload is exhausted, no one need expect the value to be duplicated in Clanton. Range stoves have advanced 15 per cent within the last two months and further advances are expected.

48 Million Deficit Seen In Tax Loss

Roosevelt Asks Economy As Reports Of Income Indicate Extremely Sharp Decline

Washington, D. C. — President Roosevelt asked Congress for $1,500,000,000 for next year's relief burden in a message projecting the possibility of new taxes next session.

His special message on relief needs during the 12 months beginning July 1 foresaw:

A treasury deficit on June 30 of $2,557,000,000 or $309,000,000 over his January estimate.

A deficit in the 1938 fiscal period ending June 30, 1938, of $418,000,000.

"I purpose to use every means at my command to elminate this deficit during the coming fiscal year," Mr. Roosevelt told the senators and representatives.

Urging economy, the president said he expected to do this by withholding from apportionment for expenditure so far as practicable a "substantial percentage" of the funds available for 1938, and by increasing receipts through liquidation of assets of certain emergency agencies.

On the basis of the president's revised estimates, the public debt would climb close to the $35,500,000,000 mark by June 30.

Discussing taxes, Mr. Roosevelt said it had become apparent there is an "immediate need for a careful survey of the present tax structure."

He said the treasury would be prepared by November next to present to Congress information as to any loopholes in the revenue laws and "suggestions for such new, or additional, taxes as may be necessary to meet deficiencies, if any, in the revenue-producing power of the present levies."

This report will permit congressional comittees, Mr. Roosevelt said, to study such information and such suggestions "for the purpose of proposing early in the next session of the Congress legislation necessary to remedy defacts in the present tax laws.

What About The County Fair?

A few weeks ago, agitation was started by Dr. V. J. Gragg regarding the re-establishment of a Chilton county fair, or a Central Alabama Fair. There has been some comment on the doctor's suggestion, but it seems that the matter has not been considered seriously.

The Farmers Educational and Co-operative Union, Chilton County unit, has a similar idea being formulated, and it seems as though something could be done to get it all in concrete form and get to working toward something definite about a Central Alabama fair.

The Union-Banner wishes to add its name to the list of those in favor of reviving the fair here. There is not much need in arguing the merits or advantages of a fair—these are known already. The fact that Chilton County is a purely agricultural one is reason enough that we should have a fair. We depend solely on farming to keep everything rolling, so why not devote a few days every year to letting ourselves know something of what we are all doing—whether we are advancing or failing to advance. This is the primary purpose of a fair.

This paper invites others interested to express their ideas about a fair to be held in Clanton. Let us hear from others now, and let's get something done during the next few weeks. It will be gathering time before you know it; and it will require some time for all the details to be worked out. If we want a fair, let's get busy about it.

Another Milestone Is Passed

Another twelve months has rolled around, and The Union-Banner is celebrating another birthday, this time its forty-fifth one, the paper having come off the press the first time in 1892. The actual birth date of the paper was October 19th, but we have changed our volumes to run from the date of consolidation of The Banner and The Union, which was in April. Hence, the change in volume number at this season of the year.

The Union-Banner wishes at this time to pause long enough to express its gratitude to its friends for the consideration extended us during our past existence. It is only by and because of our friends that we have been able to function during these years, and we fully realize this fact. We are appreciative of it all, and we want our friends to know it.

Doctor Robinson was born and reared in Union Grove community. He lived there until about 22 years ago, when he removed his family to Clanton. Since coming here he has been engaged in the machine shop business. His wife died here about two years ago.

A LOUD SPEAKER FOR THE COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

Arrangements have been made for a loud speaker to be installed at the courthouse for the county singing convention the first Sunday in May. It will be a first class speaker, and will enable folks to hear the singing who cannot get in the courthouse.

"JO, THE DYNAMO"

On Friday evening, May 7, the Senior II Class of Verbena High School will present "Jo, The Dynamo", a play you are sure to enjoy.

Josephine Johnson, a small town old maid with an extreme case of "teacheritis", goes to New York to visit her former sweetheart, Marshall Martin, and his wife, Madge. Mr. and Mrs. Martin want to marry Jo to some eligible man, especially Barry Barton, a famous playwright. Mrs. Martin and Jo exchange identities, and the fun begins.

Be sure to see Mrs. Bordin Bugsby, a cultured opera singer, who wants her nephew, Reuben, to become a playwright. And you will enjoy the witty sayings of Crabby Grancy.

Don't forget! Verbena High School, May 7 at 8 o'clock. Admission 15c and 25c.

TWO FINED IN MAYOR'S COURT

Mayor C. Fenn Jones reports two cases in his court the first of this week. One was for disorderly conduct; he was fined $5, and paid off the fine. One was for parking in front of fire truck door. he was fined $1, and paid off the fine.

Hereafter, the names of those appearing in Mayor's court will be published.

LEGISLATORS ON PAYROLL

Thirty legislators now are listed as employes of the state government all appointed by the administration which has just forced through oue of the largest tax levies in the state's history. This is worthy of the consideration of all thinking Alabamians.

The payroll for the tax commission for the month of October, 1936, was $28,221.59, while for the month of March, 1937, one month after the special session legislature adjourned, it was $40,006.70, showing an increase during the period of the session of the legislature of $11,785.11. The printed payroll of December, 1934, the last month of the preceding administration, listed 132 employes in the tax commission, the total payroll being only $15,824.59.

The comptroller's office in the December printed payroll showed 39 employes and a payroll of $6,101.62, while the March, 1937, payroll showed 121 employes with a payroll total of $17,054.52.

TERMITE SERVICE OFFERED

A needful public service is now offered to Clanton and Chilton County by The Forest Lumber & Tie Co., Inc.

Seeing the need of builders and home owners for complete extermination and prevention of the house destructive termite or ant, and decreasing the decay of lumber, The Forest Lumber & Tie Co., at considerable expense has purchased complete equipment, guaranteed material, and employed competent employees for this purpose.

In the past, we had to go to Birmingham or Montgomery for this service. We are glad to call the attention of our citizens to one of Clanton's new enterprises. If you see any flying ants going out or under your house we advise you to ask for inspection. See the adv. of The Forest Lumber & Tie Co., elsewhere in this paper.

EDITOR LAKEMAN HERE

The Union-Banner was glad to have our good friend, Editor E. P. Lakeman, of Haleyville, pay us a visit Monday. Mr. Lakeman has been running The Advertiser-Journal at Haleyville, in Winston County for a number of years. Two years ago he sold the paper; but he has now taken it back over, and the business is being operated by Mr. Lakeman and his son, John Lakeman. The latter is editor, and the elderly Lakeman is associate editor.

Mr. Lakeman has been visiting his brother, W. P. Lakeman, at Lay Dam for the past several days.

NAMES OF LAW VIOLATORS WILL BE PUBLISHED

The Union-Banner is hereby announcing that after this week, in making our report of law violations taken from the records in the Sheriff's office and that of the Mayor of Clanton, the names of the violators will be published.

It is not our intention to humiliate anyone, but this is done in order that the committing of crime may be made less inviting to people so disposed to disregard the law.

Therefore, if you get caught by the city or county officers, you may expect to see your name in the paper the following week. And when it does appear, do not blame anyone except yourself.

LOCAL COMMITTEE TO BE NAMED FOR CONSTITUTION ANNIVERSARY

Mayor C. Fenn Jones has received from the National Sesquicentennial of the Constitution a request that local observance be made of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States. The date to begin the observance has been set as September 17th, 1937, and it runs through April 30, 1939. The slogan for the sesquincentennial is: "1787-1937, We The People."

Mr. Jones states that a local committee will be named to look after this observance some time before the beginning date—September 17th. It is intended that at some time during the period all schools of the county and other organizations arrange one or more programs to fittingly observe the occasion.

The underlying purpose is to better acquaint the American people with the fundamentals of our laws, and to create a deeper love and reverence for the American form of government. We should all ceeperate with Mayor Jones in making this observance as general as possible.

ESTIMATE GIVEN OUT ON DIVISION OF SALES TAX

The following was prepared by F. W. Gist, economic adviser of the State Department of Agriculture and Industries, and former state and federal agricultural statistician.

It is an estimate of the counties' share of the 2 per cent sales tax which Mr. Gist fixes at $1,076,642, or a total of $4,306,568 for the entire tax yield after deduction of homestead exemptions of approximately $1,200,000.

The estimate gives each county an equal division, amounting to $8,022 for each county. Then a certain per cent is divided among the counties according to population, the estimate for Chilton County being $4,990, making a total of $13,012 which our county will receive as its share of the sales tax for a year.

The sales tax bill carried a clause which exempts all homesteads up to $2,000 value from payment of ad valorem taxes.

Ethel Mae Jones underwent an operation recently, at the Highland Avenue Baptist Hospital in Birmingham. Attendants say she is doing very well at this time.

317 In Baptist S. S. Last Sunday A. M.

This fine bright sunny spring weather must have put new life into the Baptist people of Clanton, since there were 317 present in all departments last Sunday. And this large attendance was accomplished without any special drive.

This was the largest number to attend Clanton Baptist Sunday school since October 14, 1934, which was during the revival conducted by Dr. Woodward just before he left to go to China. At that time there were 362 in attendance.

Special mention should be made of the lower department, where the attendance was 150 last Sunday. The average attendance in this department is about 85. The seven adult classes last Sunday totaled up 137, and the intermediates 23. There were seven visitors present.

Contributing to the interest in the Sunday school at present is the newly organized young men's class, taught by Prof. Luther E. Little. There were 17 present in this class last Sunday. The other young men's class, taught by Prof. Patterson Hicks, had 9 present last Sunday. Mrs. Ezell's class had a fine attendance also, with 27 present.

It is hoped that this interest will be kept up, and that the attendance will be up to the 300 mark most all the time. There is no good reason why this should not be.

FIDDLERS CONVENTION

There will be a fiddlers convention, sponsored by Circle No. 2 of Clanton Baptist church, at the courthouse in Clanton on Saturday night, April 24, beginning at 7:30. There will be several prizes, cash and other articles. Players are invited. Admission, 10c.

NEW STANDARD STATION BEING ERECTED HERE

Work began last week on tearing down Teel Service Station, the Standard place on the highway. The place will be all torn up, including the concrete flooring, and a much larger building will be erected. The work will require about six weeks for completion, and when finished, it will be one of the most complete stations in Central Alabama.

The operators are continuing to give all the service which they have formerly given; of course, it is rather unhandy for them while everything is disarranged. The public is asked to be patient with them while they are engaged in this thorough renovation.

NEXT WEEK TO BE CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP WEEK IN CLANTON

Every community should take a few days off ever so often and clean up around the back yards, garden fences, side yards, flower gardens, and even front yards.

Clanton citizens will be asked to observe this clean-up and paint-up idea next week. You will probably hear more about it through the county papers next week. Watch for the announcement, and be prepared to jump into the game and do your share of the cleaning up.

ELIGIBLES FOR COMPENSATIONS

Montgomery, Ala., April 20. — Alabama will have 250,000 wage-earners or one-tenth of its population eligible for unemployment compensation when the law providing for payments to unemployed becomes effective January 1, 1938, according to estimates made public today by M. H. Harper, Chairman of the Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Since the law was enacted by the Legislature in 1935 the Commission has been collecting contributions from employers and employees under a program prepared by the National Social Security Board. Indications are that the fund available for unployment compensation in Alabama will have reached $4,000,000 by the time the first compensation is payable. Mr. Harper mentioned, however, that this is an estimate as final figures cannot be relased until the United States Supreme Court ha passed on validity of the Alabama law and all contributions by employers and employees have been paid into the Unemployment Compensation Fund.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

EXTENSION SERVICE TO HELP WITH THE FARM FINANCES

Auburn. — Hereafter the extension service of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute will give special attention to farm financial problems. P. O. Davis, director, announced this week that this service will be rendered and that the aim is to improve financial practices in all farm procedures involving money.

In extending this financial service, money will be thought of as a commodity, and will be dealt with like crops or livestock. With these, it is the duty of the service to increase income by teaching better methods and practies with money, and to increase net incomes by improving the use and handling of money.

James D. Samford, J. D. Moore, and G. W. Ray, who have been working especially on cooperative farm problems, are being assigned to the entire field of farm finances, individually or collectively. They will work with the county agents, home demonstration agents, farm people and financial institutions.

Said Mr. Davis: "It has been my observation that most of our problems soon get around to money. I have observed also that people who are skillful in the use of money always get along much better than people who are not skillful. If, therefore, we can improve the use of money we shall improve farm incomes and thereby develop a more prosperous agriculture in Alabama".

MAY 15 LAST DAY FOR FILING WORK SHEETS

Auburn. — The State Agricultural Conservation Committee has set Saturday, May 15, as the final date for Alabama farmers to file work sheets under the 1937 agricultural conservation program in county offices.

The state committee also has decided that the minimum grain requirement for home consumption needs for 1937 will be the same as was determined for 1936, which were as follows: 60 bushels of corn per mule per year; 30 bushels for each work steer; 20 bushels for each milk cow, 5 bushels for each other kind of cattle; 15 bushels for each hog; 1 bushel for each hen; and 3 bushels for each person.

Two bushels of oats may replace 1 bushel of corn for mules or cows; 1 pound of peanuts may replace 1 pound of corn.

FARMERS ARE PLANTING BETTER STAPLE COTTON

Auburn. — Farmers in at least 40 Alabama counties have started cotton improvement work. Alabama farmers are manifesting more interest in growing better staple cotton than ever before. Reports from over the state indicate that producers of good staple cotton have sold most of their seed, while producers of inferior cotton have received very few inquiries for planting seed.

ALABAMA MARKETS NEED PURE HOME-GROWN CORN

Auburn. — Large quantities of Alabama-produced corn can be sold in the state if farmers will grow either white or yellow corn and not mix the colors.

Mixed corn is usually penalized 5 to 10 cents per bushel on the market. Mills in Birmingham prefer either strictly white or strictly yellow corn, and it is hard to find a suitable market for mixed corn.

Alabama farmers made considerable progress in improving their corn last year, and if the improvement continues two or three years there will be very little mixed corn produced in the state.

FARMERS ADVISED SAVE CRIMSON CLOVER SEED

Auburn. — Prospective small supplies and high prices of winter legume seed next fall makes it most important for Alabama farmers to save all the crimson clover seed possible this spring.

This advice is offered by agronomists of the Alabama Extension Service in calling farmers' attention to the fact that they may obtain blue prints and instructions from their county agents on making hand- and horse-drawn strippers for harvesting the seed.

Crimson clover is growing in popularity as a winter legume in the state because farmers can produce their own planting seed.

PLAN 4-H STYLE REVUES

County style revues again will feature the 4-H program in this state, this newspaper is advised. It is the 8th year of this popular contest, which also provides for a state revue, and a national event to be held in Chicago, December 1, as a feature of the 16th National Club Congress.

It is estimated that 1,500 counties will stage revues this year. In many states every county will hold one. The contest is open to every bona fide 4-H clothing club girl. There are no fees, and girls may procure materials and accessories for their costumes where they choose.

Contestants have a choice of one of four costumes to make and model: 1—wash dress or suit for school or sport; 2—wool dress, suit or ensemble for school, sport or street wear; 3—best dress, or ensemble including dress; 4—informal party dress.

The queen in each county revue will be presented a handsome gold medal of honor, and the other three class winners receive gold-filled pins. All other participants will receive silver pins. The county queen will participate in the state revue, the winner of which receives an all-expense trip to the national revue in Chicago. A silver bracelet will be presented to each of the other three class winners.

National revue queens will each receive a 17-jewel gold watch, which with all other prizes and trips are provided by the Chicago Mail Order Company, as sponsor. The extension agents conduct and judge all contests.

CARD OF THANKS

Again we wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our neighbors, friends, Drs. Eiland and Johnson, and nurse Luella McDowell Taylor for their many deeds of kindness and their untiring efforts during the recent sickness, death and burial of our dear wife and mother. We would not forget Bros. Lowery, Norris and Ezell for their words of comfort and consolation, Mr. Martin, the undertaker, for his kindness, and for the beautiful floral offerings, and the singers for their sweet music. And now, may the Lord's richest blessings be yours to enjoy through life, is our prayer.—W. M. Devaughn and children.

ANTI-SALES TAX NEWS

Montgomery. — A fight to the finish against all forms of unjust taxation and for better state government was in the making this week following a meeting of the executive committee of the old Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association of Alabama held here last Thursday.

Tentative plans for reorganizing the association, broadening its scope and changing its name to the Consumers-Taxpayers Association of Alabama were adopted by the committee.

"We have not abandoned our fight against the sales tax and all other forms of unnecessary and unjust taxation," said Jeff Beeland, chairman of the association, in disclosing plans for a state-wide meeting here early in May.

"We decided to broaden the scope of the association so as to include citizens in all walks of life, rather than limiting it to the merchant and consumer," he said.

Beeland indicated that a state-wide meeting will be held in May or early in June, at which time a speaker of national prominence who is experienced in tax and economy campaigns will address the gathering.

The Intermediate Sunday School class of Samaria church had supper at Walnut Creek Camp last Wednesday night, April 14. Mr. Jim Armstrong had charge of the class, of which he is teacher. Everyone seemed to enjoy the occasion very much. There was plenty of fish to eat, which was especially enjoyed.

Those present were: Ella Ruth Walton, Louise Mims, Janet Smith, Murrel Glenn, Norman Harris, Ned Dennis, Jessie Abbott, Bernice Lowe, Mary Pearl Holley, Frances Smith, Grady Harris, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Armstrong.

FISHING NEWS

During the first 15 or 20 days of enforcement of Alabama's new resident fishing law, probate judges in 51 counties reported that a total of 1,705 licenses had been sold. In the same period 25 licenses were sold at the Conservation Department's capitol office.

The resident fishing license law became effective upon approval by Gov. Graves February 27, 1937, but enforcement started on April 1, after necessary forms had been sent to all probate judges. The figures quoted above represent reports made for the period prior to April 1, the date for the beginning of enforcement of the license act.

University News

For the second time a county high school team composed entirely of girls won the state debating title in the finals of the tournament held recently at the University of Alabama.

Hueytown High School was the victor this year. They defeated Ramsey Tech High School of Birmingham. The champions will be sent by the University to the national debating tournament at Jacksonville, Ill., to be held shortly.

Co-eds at the University of Alabama registered much better grades for the first semester of this year than did the male students, according to figures released recently.

The average grade of the men's student body was slightly better than C, while the co-eds had grades averaging approximately midway between B and C. According to the point system in effect at the University, an A is 3 points, a B is 2 points, and a C is 1 point.

New Y. M. C. A. officers for the coming year have recently been elected at the University of Alabama. J. C. Hearn of Cuba, Ala., was elected president of the senior Y cabinet for the coming year. He succeeded Wilbert Jordan, of Robertsdale. Other officers elected are: Tom Bristol, Long Beach, Calif., vice president; Alston Branscomb, Midway, secretary.

Alabama women are showing an increased interest in the study of medicine, entrance acceptances and records of women students at the University of Alabama School of Medicine show. There are at present four women enrolled in this school, all of whom have outstanding records. They are: Eugenia Elizabeth Kirk and Mary Elizabeth McKee of Tuscaloosa, Katherine H. Anderson of Union Springs, and Mrs. James Fitts Hill of Montgomery.

Two Southern statesmen of national renown were visitors to the University of Alabama this week. Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia and former Sen. J. Thomas Heflin delivered speeches to the University student body.

The high light of the social week at the University of Alabama was the spring dances, led by Miss Alice Street Robertson of Clayton, with Eris Paul, Elba, president of the Cotillion Club.

Music was furnished by George Olsen and his nationally known orchestra. House parties were given by two fraternities — Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Sigma Nu.

The leading article in the March issue of the Notre Dame Lawyer, one of the leading law reviews in the country, is by Prof. Jacob Geffs, of the University of Alabama law faculty. The article is called: Statutory Definitions of Public Utilities and Carriers.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

When water runs off the land more is brought back by the clouds, but if soil and the plant food it contains is washed off the land it is gone for good, says M. E. Pruett, engineer of the Soil Conservation Service.

Realizing this, more farmers than ever before on the Clanton demonstration area this spring are planting close growing crops in strips across the slopes between the row crops.

Close growing crops catch run-off water from the strips above, slow it down, and strain from it particles of soil it carries from the clean-cultivated strip

This is one of the easiest methods whereby soil-depleting row crops such as cotton and corn can be grown on sloping land without enormous soil losses, Mr. Pruett says, adding that spring planting time is one of the best times for farmers to start this erosion control practice.

Mr. Pruett says that the proportion of close growing crops to clean-tilled crops is determined by the slope and the degree of erosion. The steeper the slope, the closer the strips are spaced.

In some instances strips straddle the terrace, reinforcing the terrace and partially protecting two terraces instead of one.

Another method provides for every other terrace to be stripped and the intervening terrace planted to a row crop. It is necessary to increase the proportion of close growing crops as the slope increases, since erosion takes place much faster on the steep slopes.

Strip rotations, says Mr. Pruett, slow up the flow of water, increase absorption, reinforce terraces, minimize sheet ercsion, and are the most systematic and easiest rotations to follow once they have been established.

A marked rural to urban shift in the South's population is reported by Dr. Carl C. Taylor of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics in releasing figures showing that in 1900 the urban population consisted of only 15 per cent of the total Southern population, compared with 32 per cent in 1930.

● If you think that "all low-price cars cost about the same" — forget it! They don't.

Ford makes a car — a 60-horsepower economy Ford V-8 — that sells from 30 to 60 dollars under the prices asked for any other car of comparable size. The lowest Ford prices in years!

Check delivered prices in your town and see for yourself.

"Do I want to save money the day I buy my car and every mile I drive it?"

"Do I want a safe, roomy, comfortable car of advanced design — created from the finest materials to the highest precision standards?"

There's only one answer, of course — the 1937 Ford V-8.

MORE HUNTERS — LESS TURKEYS

As the wild turkey season closed in Alabama on April 15, some interesting observations were made by hunters, game wardens and others. Reports indicated that the season's bag was somewhat under last year, but a definite reason was assigned.

The number of hunters has increased rapidly in recent years, and hundreds were in the woods the past season. The more the hunters, the fewer turkeys killed, it was observed, indicating that gobblers have learned to differentiate between the call of a hen and the call of a human. Comparatively few gobblers were killed, because they became wary of hunters.

On some occasions a dozen hunters stationed in different places would be calling the same old gobbler, and as a result, none got him.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

A few years ago the writer was speaking at a church in the suburbs of one of our best Southern cities. The building was crowded. Just after taking my seat in the pulpit, I watched an usher bring a group of six girls down a long aisle and give them seats in a reserved pew. "Who are those girls " I asked a friend sitting by my side. "They are girls who belong to a 'No Dance Club' in a certain aristocratic church here in the city. They are the only girls in the church who do not dance. They belong to good families and they are certainly wonderful Christian girls," my friend replied. My only objection to that club was that it was a "don't" club. The way to keep from "don'ting" is to "do" so fast you don't have time to "don't". However, these young ladies, because they were loyal to a conviction and refused to be swept from their conviction by the wave of sensual pleasure which had swept over their church gave me an idea out of which grew the fastest growing evangelical orthodox Christian young people's organization in the world. Shortly after seeing this group, I returned to Bob Jones College and at a chapel service told our boys and girls about that group and suggested that we organize a young people's movement to bind together the evangelical young people in communities throughout the Christian world. In the last five years hundreds of Young People's Fellowship Clubs have been organized. More than 50 have been organized in Canada. They are organized in Ireland. They are organized in nearly every state in the Union, and recently we held the 5th international convention. A person who is loyal to conviction always has an influence. Young people as well as older people need to learn to stand for something.

At the recent international convention of Young People's Fellowship Clubs, a delegate told about leading to Christ a young woman who was running a blind tiger, who could not read or write. Just after being converted, the illiterate young woman was sent to the penitentiary where she is now confined. However, she is a wonderful Christian and is having a marvelous influence among the prisoners. "When you write to me in prison, be sure to put the Gospel in the letter so anyone who reads it will know what to do to be saved. You see, I can't read, and I will pass the letters around and get the prisoners to read the letter to me and they will know what to do to be saved and maybe they will accept Christ like I have". That is what the converted prisoner told the delegate to the Felloship Convention. When a person finds Jesus, he immediately becomes interested in winning other people to Christ. God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that man might be saved. A man who has the love of God in his heart has a passion for the lost. The man who has no passion for lost men knows nothing in his own soul of the saving Grace of God.

ENTERPRISE CLUB NEWS

The Enterprise home demonstration club met Monday afternoon, April 12, at the schoolhouse. We had a few visitors, and four new members. We were sorry Miss Grace could not be present; we feel sure everyone would have enjoyed the meeting better if she had been there to talk with us and tell us something new.

We had an interesting lesson on Overweights and Underweights, discussed by the leaders present. Several of the ladies brought flowers and seeds to exchange with friends.

We will meet again May 5, at the schoolhouse. We are always glad to have visitors, and especially glad to have new members.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written By F. G. STEPHENS Publisher of The Southern Democrat, Oneonta

This department was created by an act of the legislature in 1935. This legislation was necessary before the state could participate in the federal funds provided under the Federal Social Security law.

This new law takes over the duties formerly performed by the Child Welfare Department, which has been in operation for a number of years.

It gave the State Department of Public Welfare the additional duties of administering relief formerly done by the Alabama Relief Administration; administering old age pensions; administering aid to dependent children; providing service to county or municipal governments, including organization and supervision for effective carrying out of welfare functions; acting as agent for the federal government in all welfare matters of mutual concern, and administering any funds granted to the state to aid the furtherance of public assistance; providing a mental hygiene program of non-institutional care; and the supervision of county almshouses.

The annual appropriation for the old State Child Welfare Department had been cut in recent years from $125,000 to $84,000 per year. This fund was made available for the new set-up but $32,500 of this amount is ear-marked for and used exclusively for maintaining the more than 400 children who have been committed to the department as dependent and neglected children by the courts of the state.

An appropriation of $15,000 was the only additional amount made available to the department for administering all the above-mentioned functions.

The Old Age Assistance Act appropriates whatever balance there may be in the Confederate Pension Fund after the Confederate Veteran Pensioners are paid as a first, prior, and paramount claim to the State Department of Public Welfare to be used exclusively for matching county and federal funds appropriated for old age pensions.

Walnut Creek, Refuge and Sunshine

Seems as everybody is enjoying this fine springtime weather. Surely Spring is welcomed in it's fullness; and it not only affords beautiful weather, but it brings new joys and pleasures; heals that which has been wounded by the wintry blast; gives the song-birds a new song to sing; the bees a theme to hum; the trees their leaves to wave; the flowers their different, beautiful colors; the rippling streams a decoration of moss banks, ferns and lilies; the hill sides a blanket of green, knitted of the different grasses thereon and tinted with the violets and other wee flowers, and reflects the love and glory of God in a scenery that is more beautiful than any picture ever yet drawn by an artist.

Rev. J W. Enfinger filled his regular appointment at Shady Grove Sunday. Don't forget prayer service at Walnut Creek every Wednesday night.

Rev. W. E. Robinson filled his regular appointment at Refuge Sunday and Sunday night. There was a good attendance at both services.

Metaphorically Speaking

Gov. Graves was in Washington last week shaking the plum tree. As usual, he brought home the bacon.—Wetumpka Herald.

Let Us Hope They Enjoyed The Trip

The taxpayers of Alabama are perfectly justified in hoping that Gov. Graves and 25 members of his staff enjoyed their trip to Washington in January to attend the second Roosevelt inaugural. The taxpayers are naturally interested in that trip. They paid for it.

After some delay there has been finally entered in the governor's expense fund a little item of $843.65 for 26 round-trip tickets from Montgomery to Washington. It is not indicated that the account includes anything but straight railroad fare. Perhaps such matters as Pullman fare, hotel charges and meals will be paid by the members of the Graves party as a little gesture of their appreciation for having their railroad fare paid by the taxpayers. Perhaps they remembered that when Gov. B. M. Miller and some of his staff went to the first Roosevelt inaugural four years ago they paid their own expenses. But contrasts are often odious.

This page tenders its congratulations to Ralph Hurst for not overlooking this matter of the Washington trip expense. It is good for taxpayers to know all these little details.—Birmingham News.

And what about the 12 or 15 state officials and payroll boys who were in Washington only last week at state expense, for no good reason except the excuse to shake the plum tree again. Alabama, like all other states, will get its share of federal funds without the governor camping on the White House steps. One would think Alabama's governor was taking the places of our two senators and nine congressmen by the many trips he makes to Washington.—Colbert County Reporter (Tuscumbia).

ARE YOU Miserable?

Mrs. Mamie Wilson of 422 W. 4th St., Hattiesburg, Miss., said: "Backache, headache and a pain in my side caused much distress, all due to functional disturbances. The least little housework would tire me out. I started taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and I was relieved of my pains and aches, my appetite was increased and I felt so well and refreshed I really felt like a new woman." Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

In assuming the presidency, Mr. Lackey, who is widely known throughout Alabama, said "I have always believed that ability, energy and loyalty should be rewarded. The heads of .any .sound .business .institution must work up from the bottom. Th s will be the policy of Brown-Service as long as I am president".

A REAL HERO

A group of boys and girls, who were seeking a pleasure trip, went to Lay Dam. After their arrival there appeared a boy who was under the influence of strong drink. After stumbling around for a while the boy had fallen into the river shortly before. He was standing near the bank of the river when a close relative pushed him into the river. He, not being able to swim in the condition he was in rose and sink the third time. Our "Big Hero", J. C. Williams, dived into the water just in time to rescue him from drowning. He was accompanied by a friend, S. Y. Dorminey. After Williams brought him out of the water, he was given an artificial resporation and was much better.

Mr. Claude Calloway is back in Clanton for two or three months, and will be found at Calloway Drug Company. Mr. Calloway operates a telegraph office for the Florida East Railroad in Miami during the winter months.

S. C. Farmer Makes 12½ Bales Of Lint Cotton On 5 Acres

Unusually High Yield Wins State Prize

P. M. Arant, of Pageland, S. C., made the unusually high yield of 12½ bales of lint cotton on five acres, winning a $275.00 cash prize in the 1936 S. C. state-wide contest, in addition to making a net profit of nearly $1,000.00 for the cotton. His staple pulled 1-1/32 inch.

Because of his high quality yield, Mr. Arant's production methods are worthy of note. After preparing the land well, Mr. Arant planted in rows thirty-four inches apart. He applied 400 pounds of fertilizer analyzing 8% phosphoric acid, 5% Nitrogen and 5% potash. This was bedded upon ahead of planting. After the cotton was chopped he applied 280 pounds of Arcadian Nitrate of Soda per acre as a side-dresser, along with the same amount of muriate of potash. He planted Coker's Cleve-Wilt strain 4 variety.

BELIEVED IN ECONOMY

Cleveland showed that a man could be honest, fearless and courageous, and yet be popular. He believed that rigid economy was a prime obligation of government. He fought extravagance on every occasion, and sought to reduce, not increase, taxes. Cleveland was a partisan to the extent that he recognized that the party system is essential in the proper conduct of the American form of government. But he did not hesitate to abandon the candidate of his own party when he was convinced that this man's selection would do the country great harm. He placed honesty above expediency. What he promised he performed, and no pressure could move him to say or do what he felt was wrong.

He stands out as the greatest president the Democratic party has produced. But the country has traveled a long way since his day. Ruggedness of character, sanctity of promise, devotion to the right—these quaint concepts have been relegated to the horse and buggy era. In their place the nation is asked to respond to indirection, expediency and smartness. Cleveland preached the doctrine that, though the people should support the government, the government should not support the people. Today this doctrine has been reversed. It is perhaps his good fortune that he did not live to see all that he fought for mocked and abandoned by a successor.—New York Herald-Tribune.

The case for the prosecution of Chief Justice Hughes and his brethren is that but for them the people would have relief from dust storms, floods and droughts. — Charleston News and Courier.

Another modern miracle is the manner in which one's motor car suddenly looks 10 years older the day the neighbors get a new one.—Columbus Dispatch.

Geologists tell us that Niagara is changing her shape. Getting stylish in her old age, evidently.

STATEMENT BY THE COURT

There was nothing precisely new in Chief Justice Hughes' statement to Sen. Wheeler and the Judiciary Committee of the Senate. Yet its impact was great. The Court had at last spoken, and with one voice.

The whole country already knew that its president had made a misleading argument in his original message; it knew that the Supreme Court, so far from being dilitory, was abreast of its calendar; it knew that enlarging the Court could only cause delay and confusion. These points the Chief Justice now made crystal clear, with a judicial calm and reticence that spoke volumes for the force and integrity of the Court over which he has the honor to preside.

The plight in which the utterance leaves the president is not a pleasant one. He is shown to have put forward a grave proposal, touching the fundamentals of the nation, with a disingeniousness that would be shocking in the most partisan campaign harangue. True, he has not repeated these arguments. But neither has he retracted them. There was every justification, therefore, for this blunt and official denial of them by the highest authority.—New York Herald-Tribune.

MESSIAH ADMITS DEFEAT

We confess admiration for Alberta's Social Credit messiah—Premier William Aberhart—who was catapulted into office 18 months ago by promising credit dividends of $25 to all adults of Alberta. This remarkable piece of legerdemain was to have been accomplished in a year and a half. The time limit has come and gone, and now Mr. Aberhart publicly admits failure. Moreover, he is going to that part of the electorate which voted for him to ask whether or not he shall complete his four-year term.

Grounds for our admiration: First, Mr. Aberhart is the only latter-day messiah to admit that his plans for bringing on the millenium have failed; second, he is the only officeholder that comes to mind who is willing to quit his office if his former supporters say so.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

CONGRESSIONAL WAYS

Back when we were boys writing wise maxims from the copybooks to improve our script, we got the idea that a good congressman was a man of superior wisdom who always voted according to his best judgment and in defiance of evil, and that as a reward for good service he was always re-elected.

Of course, we learned better. Our early mistake was emphasized the other day by the advice of the veteran William B. Bankhead, Speaker of the House, in greeting new members. He gave them the low-down on how to be re-elected, as follows:

"Answer those letters from constituents the day you get them. Reply first to those written in pencil on tablet paper. They come from somebody at the head of the creek who will be your friend for life."

Yes, we suppose so. But could that be what is the matter with congress? — New York World Telegram.

Nowadays when a man asks you to sit down he may merely be polite, or asking you to go on strike.

One trouble is that horse sense seems to have disappeared with the horse and buggy.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Some students of contemporary national affairs are expressing surprise at the president's attitude toward the present Supreme Court as exemplified by the legislation which he proposes. It is commonly believed that much of Mr. Roosevelt's dissatisfaction with the Court is due to his resentment over the 9 to 0 which declared the NRA null and void. And yet, according to many usually discerning politicians, the Supreme Court, whether designedly or not, rendered the president a great service when this historic decision was rendered.

They explain their decision something like this: When the NRA was finally invalidated through the appeal of the sick chicken case, as it is sometimes called, the Blue Eagle was undoubtedly becoming unpopular in the United States. By the time the 1936 election had rolled around, there is good reason for believing that this unpopularity would have been politically important. The rush of business which came after the re-opening of the banks early in 1933 seemed to slacken simultaneously with the application of the provisions of the NRA. Just as strangely, business seemed to pick up again when the NRA was declared unconsitutional. By the time the campaign of 1936 had rolled around the NRA and the frictions it had caused over the country had been forgotten.

Perhaps it might be just as well to recall some of the early circumstances. Senator Carter Glass cannot by any stretch of the imagination, as a Virginia Democrat, be classed as partisanly biased against the present national administration. Yet in his great radio speech defending the Supreme Court the other night, Sen. Glass said of the decadent NRA:

"All nine Supreme Court justices threw out the so-called NRA, as an unfettered delegation of power, as it was an amazing thrust of federal jurisdiction into every conceivable private business of the country. Among its other devices it actually suspended for a period the laws of the nation against the depredations of monopoly and confided to executive discretion, under a hateful species of coercion, involving fines and imprisonment, the fate of every business interest in the United States.

"Its administration was confided to a man, a long respected friend of mine, of unsurpassed accomplishments, with no selfish interest whatsoever to subserve; but in circumstances he was as ruthless and harsh as human nature ever gets. The act and its administration created a reign of terror in the country; and everybody except the large industries which profited by the enforced failure of the smaller hailed the decision of the court with satisfaction".

Mentioning another statesman's activities in the early days of the NRA, Sen. Glass continued: "He urged the women of the country to pin white feathers on every person who would not willingly co-operate with enforcement; thus he would have put a badge of disgrace on all men and women who would not submit to the atrocious exactions of an act of congress which all nine judges of the Supreme Court, old and young alike, pronounced unconstitutional".

These thrilling days of the NRA, followed by the chicken case and the pants presser's case have gone and been forgotten, principally through the decision of the Supreme Court. It is more than possible that if the NRA enforcement had been kept alive the New Deal might not now be so politically potent as it showed itself in November, 1936.

There are men, therefore, who believe that the president, instead of showing resentment against the nine Supreme Court judges, owes them each a nice, shiny red apple. They regard the NRA decision as another bit of evidence that Mr. Roosevelt is politically one of the luckiest men who ever sat in the White House.

TIMES CHANGE

It wasn't many years back that the dependent aged were few in number. The families were large, and when the old folks really were in need of assistance, their children came forward and supplied their wants. Now the scene seems to have entirely changed, and while families yearly are becoming smaller, the increase in dependents is growing by leaps and bounds, with a headlong rush for charity that promises to bankrupt the nation. Self respect seems to be rapidly failing from the picture of a half century ago.—Jackson (Minn.) Pilot.

THE REAL CAUSE

Looking for the real cause of unemployment in America?

It will be found in the million dollar a day spending at Albany, in the seven billion a year budget at Washington, and a public debt of 35 billions.

The man who earns $1,000 a year must pay out from $154 to $186 of his income in taxes.

If he could only spend one-half, even, of that assessment, there would not be any unemployment in this country. He would be able to buy more goods and the buying of goods creates the demand which puts men back to work.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

It doesn't get publicity, but the fastest growing business in America must be the straightening out of bent fenders.—Paducah Sun-Democrat.

This Court situation is developing so fast that some of these days we expect to see the girls go into divorce court taking their judges with them.

They used to say that hell was paved with good intentions and maybe that is why so many people go there driving 90 miles an hour.

Our office boy drives way over into the next county each Saturday night to see his girl. He says that is what you call going 30 miles to the gal.

We don't know when they select these prize beauties whose pictures we see in the papers occasionally but in some cases it must be during a dust storm.

Weumpka vs. Clanton

The baseball game you've all been waiting for is coming Friday of this week, April 23, at 2 p.m. Probable batteries will be Easterling or Williamson pitching, and Armstrong catching.

C. C. H. S. beat Jemison 8 to 7 here last Wednesday. Jones and Williamson pitched for Clanton; Williamson being the winning pitcher. Armstrong was the hitting star for C. C. H. S., getting two hits for two times at bat.

Phillips High came here last Saturday and although the boys were playing out of their class they made a good showing. Phillips won the game seven to one. Easterling pitched a good game but loose fielding proved his downfall. Armstrong was again the hitting star collecting two for three.

Williamson has won two games and lost none. Easterling has won none and lost two games. Armstrong is leading the hitters and Easterling is next.

Remember Clanton vs. Wetumpka next Friday.

Lesson for April 25

THE OBEDIENCE OF NOAH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 8:20-22; 9:8-17.

GOLDEN TEXT—By faith Noah, being warned of God concerning things not seen as yet, moved with godly fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house. Heb. 11:7.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Meaning of the Rainbow.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Rainbow's Message.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Following God's Plan.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Deliverance through Obedience.

The "book of beginnings" (Genesis) has already brought before us the creation of the world, the origin of man, the entrance of sin into the world, and God's judgment upon that sin. In chapter 4 we find the first murder. Cain, who brought an offering before God which was not acceptable, murdered his brother Abel, whose offering pleased God. Strange it is that man has it in his heart to hate those who expose his sin by their godly life.

God does not leave himself without a witness in the earth. The God-fearing line of Seth appears. There are always those who have not bowed the knee to the Adversary. Consider the astonishment of Soviet officials at the deep-seated and wide-spread faith in God revealed in their recent census.

But sin again lifts its ugly head and ere long God is driven to the necessity of judgment upon mankind. Read the terrific indictment of humanity in Genesis 6:5-7. It is still true that the heart of man apart from God's grace is "desperately wicked" (Jer. 17:9). Well does a contemporary writer say that even modern "psychology has unveiled the dismal and sinister depths in human nature. Man can no longer flee from reality into the romantic refuge of his own heart; for the human heart has become a house of horrors in whose murky recesses man cannot erect for his solace either a shrine or a citadel. Man is bad: he is a sinner. The depths of his meanness are being unveiled in a ghastly way in individual and social life in these times. What a contemporary ring there is about these old biblical judgments on mankind! (Gen. 6:5, 6; Isa. 1:6.) What a tremendous arraignment of sinful human nature is Paul's prologue in Romans 1" (Mackay).

So God sent a flood upon the earth. It used to be fashionable to doubt the story of the flood, but archaeology has joined hands with geology and history to agree with Scripture. The facts are available; let us use them.

"But Noah found grace in the eyes of the Lord" and prepared an ark at God's command. Here again it can be demonstrated that the ark was sufficiently large to meet the need of Noah and all his family, with the animals and their food, and with room to spare. It is significant that the proportions of the ark were those of a well-planned boat. God knows how to build, and man does well to obey his instructions.

The rain came, the fountains of the deep were opened, and all the living perished, except those within the ark. What an instructive type of our safety in Christ is the ark!

But our lesson concerns primarily what occurred after Noah came forth from the ark and presented himself before God.

I. An Obedient Man (8:20-22).

To come before God with acceptable worship, man must come with clean hands. The question is not whether he is brilliant, learned, or of high position. The one thing that counts is obedience. When such a man offers the worship of his heart before God, it goes up to him like a sweet savor.

II. A Covenant-Keeping God (9:8-17).

The beautiful rainbow in the cloud became a token of God's promise, and the visible assurance to "all flesh" that the judgment of the flood will not be repeated. Never again will seed time and harvest, nor any of the orderly processes of nature, fail throughout the whole earth.

What a gracious God we have! And what a pity that men presume upon his goodness. Because he "maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust" (Matt. 5:45), men not only forget that he is the giver of all things, but assume that they may sin against him with impunity. Let us remind them that it is the clear teaching of Scripture that "every one of us shall give account of himself to God" (Rom. 14:12).

Well Spent Days

Oh, what a glory doth this world put on, for him who with a fervent heart goes forth under the bright and glorious sky, and looks on duties well performed, and days well spent.—Longfellow.

Purity of Heart

A holy life is the very gate of heaven; but let us always remember that holiness does not consist in doing uncommon things, but in doing everything with purity of heart. —Cardinal Manning.

CLANTON LOSES TO KILBY BY SCORE OF 19 TO 8

Manager J. E. Easterling's Woco Peppers went to Kilby last Sunday and were swamped by the jailbirds 19 to 8.

It was anybody's ball game for the first four innings, with Terrell's left-handed slants mowing down the Kilbians, and Williamson, behind the bat, looking like Mickey Cochrane every time a runner tried to steal second. But Terrell weakened in the fifth frame, and could'nt find the platter, walking three; these, together with an error and two timely punches put across five scores. After that it was a rout. Glass replaces Terrell on the mound, but he was wild, and the Kilbians went wild, too. Little Bill Armstrong finished the game.

Clanton scored one in the first inning; Reynolds was hit by a pitched ball and took second on an error, scoring a moment later on Baker's single.

Another Clanton run came in the fourth; Sims was hit by a pitched ball, and went down on Baker's hit. Here there was a halt while one man flied out and another whiffed, but Manager Easterling came then; the Sparrow rifled a hit between first and second and Sims counted; Baker was caught off third.

Two more were added in the 5th, and four more in the 8th when the locals drove Carter from the hill.

The Kilbians got three in the 2nd, five in the 5th, five in the 6th, one in the 7th, and five in the 8th. Hudson got two homers, one of them clearing the prison wall, and Carter also cleared the wall with one.

Tom Reynolds got a homer inside the park, driving it to the corner of the prison yard, in deep center field.

The Kilbians got 15 hits, while Clanton gathered 11.

VITAL REGISTRARS MET LAST THURSDAY P. M.

A meeting of the local registrars of vital statistics of Chilton County was held in the office of the County Health Unit on Thursday afternoon of last week. This meeting was presided over by Mr. Leonard V. Phelps, State Registrar of Vital Statistics. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss with the local registrars the various duties connected with their offices, and to impress upon them the importance of having all birth and death certificates filed with them, and of having the certificates filled out correctly.

On Thursday evening Mr. Phelps was guest speaker at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club. In the course of his speech Mr. Phelps emphasized the importance of registering every birth and death that occurred in the county. He stated that on many occasions persons attempting to legally establish their age were caused much inconvience and delay due to the fact that a certificate of their birth was never recorded.

Mr Phelps is Director of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, a Bureau of the State Health Department. In this capacity he also serves as State Registrar of Vital Statistics.

Chilton Co. Singing Held Next Sunday

Big Day Planned For Singing At Courthouse Sunday And Saturday Night Before

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, the chairman, announces that all arrangements have been made for one of the biggest singings ever held in Chilton County, the event being the Chilton County Singing Convention to be held at the courthouse in Clanton next Sunday, May 2nd, and Saturday night before.

Judge J. O. Middleton will deliver a brief welcome address at the beginning of singing Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

As announced last week, there will be a loud-speaker apparatus installed, so that it won't be necessary to scrouge into the house in order to hear the singing. If you can't get a good seat in the house, you can find a comfortable place outside and heat the singing just as well.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

To the taxpayers of Chilton County:

As I has stated before, the public has a perfect right to criticize their officials. As your tax collector of this county, I have certain legal duties to perform, and scarcely any of you know how much I dislike to do some of the things required by law, namely, to sell or advertise a man's home for sale for its taxes. I do not especially care or object to your criticising me for your taxes being higher than they were, but at the same time I know that most of you know that I have nothing to do with the raising of the taxes, as the tax agent and Commissioners Court raised all the taxes that are raised in the county.

The law sets the time for the starting and closing out of taxes, and the same law sets the time for me to make final settlement. For me to make my final settlement, as prescribed by law, I will be compelled to advertise the property on May 13, 1937. It will take three or four days to look up and write the description, so in view of these facts, I would like to insist and advise that you pay your taxes not later than May 8, 1937, to avoid paying the advertising cost.

As stated above, I very much dislike the legal foreclosure of homes for their taxes, and I hope and believe we have started, by this homestead exemption, to the place where homesteads will be exempted totally from taxation up to $2,000 assessed valuation.

Let me ask that you take this in the spirit of the writer, and kindly relieve him of the unpleasant duties mentioned above by paying your taxes by May 8, 1837.

Thanking you for your co-operation in this, I am, Yours very truly,—T. L. McKee, Tax Collector.

G.O.P. Senator Hits Supreme Court Plan

General Cummings Defends Proposal In Speech

Washington, April 26. — Senator Bridges (R., N. H.) declared Monday night that President Roosevelt is trying to legislate democracy out of existence.

Speaking on the eve of Senate judiciary committee sessions at which the president's court legislation will meet its first legislative test, he said:

"No dictator ever ran on a platform calling for a ditcatorship, and it is no sufficient answer to deny that a dictatorship is the aim of the group in control."

If enacted, Bridges declared, the president's bills for six new Supreme Court justices and for reorganization of administrative agencies would set up "an all-powerful executive government".

He also accused the president of attacking democracy indirectly by his fiscal policies, "which have brought about a financial crisis sufficient to challenge the stability of the government itself".

His address was a prelude to controversy due to break Tuesday at an executive session of the judiciary committee. Its long hearings concluded, the committee will begin considering the measure sentence by sentence and making such revisions as a majority of the closely divided group may direct.

Sen. Van Nuys (D., Ind.) plans to propose, at the outset, that the measure be split into two bills, with the section on the Supreme Court left to stand or fall by itself.

Opposition senators said they were confident of enough votes to do so, and that they expected to derive a considerable strategic advantage from the move. They predicted that there would be fewer votes for the Supreme Court provision if it is disassociated from the sections dealing with the lower courts.

In another address Monday night, Attorney General Cummings urged enactment of the court bill to end a situation in which, he said, the government must defend acts of congress with four of the Supreme Court's nine votes lost to it in advance.

He praised the measure as "direct, simple, workable and constitutional," the least drastic of all proposals dealing with the court controversy.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

There was a man in our town,
The chump thought he was wise.
He swore (it was his policy)
He'd never advertise;
But, one day, he advertised,
And thereby hangs a tale—
His ad was set in 6-point type
And headed "Sheriff's Sale".

GOV. GRAVES DECREES CHILD HEALTH DAY

Gov. Graves has, by formal proclamation, designated Saturday, May 1, as May Day-Child Health Day in Alabama. A similar proclamation was issued some time ago by President Roosevelt.

In his proclamation, the governor called attention to the high infant mortality due to preventable diseases, in spite of protective measures developed by scientists in the field of medicine, and appealed to health, school and welfare authorities to promote programs on May Day-Child Health Day of such a nature as to "enlist further and more enlightened co-operation of the public in carrying forward activities in the interest of child health".

May Day was changed to May Day-Child Health Day in 1924 in order that greater emphasis might be placed upon the possibilities of greatly reducing the death rates of infants and children by curbing the preventable diseases to which they are particularly susceptible. The President of the United States was authorized in a joint resolution of congress of May 18, 1898, to issue a proclamation annually designating the first day of May as May Day-Child Health Day.

"REPEAL HAS ME SCARED" SAYS PROHIBITION FOE

"Repeal has me all scared," says Courtney Riley Cooper, author of "Here's To Crime". "I put out about $2,000 to help the fight on prohibition and now I go into towns and find about 20 to 30 per cent of high school kids buying liquor. I am worried about repeal, because they're selling liquor to minors".

POLITICAL OBSERVERS SEE REPEAL ARDOR "COOLING"

The government's refusal to participate in a prohibition emancipation festival held recently in the Virgin Islands is regarded in some circles today as the first sign of a "cooling off" in the administration's enthusiasm for repeal and the re-legalized liquor traffic.

"One thing that definitely made the celebration 'unofficial'," commented Robert W. Desmond in an article in the Christian Science Monitor, " was the absence of Secretary Harold L. Ickes, head of the Department of the Interior. In fact, it seems probable that he wasn't even invited to attend."

METHODISTS BLAME DRINK FOR HALF OF AUTO DEATHS

Half of the 38,500 traffic deaths in the United States last year were laid to liquor, in a report adopted by the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church on April 17. The report also urged the necessity of total abstinence, and recommended that anyone renting or using his property for sale of intoxicating liquor be disowned as a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

CLANTON LAUNDRY HAS ADDED NEW UNITS TO CLEANING PLANT

Keeping abreast of changing times with an eye on latest improvements in laundry and dry cleaning methods, has enabled F. L. Thompson, manager of the Clanton Laundry and Cleaning Co., to bring to this section one of the most modern laundry and dry cleaning plants in the state.

Recent improvements in dry cleaning equipment being on the market, Mr. Thompson immediately installed a modern solvent cleaner and purifier, and a vacuum "still' for quick cleaning.

Cuts Out Greases

This new equipment enables the Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Company to use solvent cleaning fluid that is thoroughly cleansed of all oils and greases accumulated during the process of dry cleaning clothes the modern way. The solvent used by most dry cleaning plants is used time and time again, being forced through a filter. The new system just installed by Mr. Thompson enables them to do this work faster and more effectively, and is the same method now being used in the larger plants in cities. It is also recommended by the National Association of Cleaners & Dyers.

Moth-Proof Service

Eleven years in the laundry and dry cleaning business in Clanton has brought hundreds of satisfied customers to the Clanton Laundry for moth-proofing service. Mr. Thompson stated that they installed their system of encasing clothing in moth-proof bags some ten years ago, and have not received their first complaint from this. He explained that when clothes are cleaned by them and placed in moth-proof bags there is no danger of moths due to the thorough manner in which they cleanse clothes.

"We handle our own guarantees," Mr. Thompson stated, and to this date we have not had one complaint of moth-eaten clothes after they have been placed in our care."

Fur Storage

Another service recently added to the efficiency of the Clanton Laundry & Cleaning Company is of interest to women and other owners of valuable furs. The laundry now offers a modern fur storage service to its customers.

TWO FUNNY EGGS BROUGHT TO THE BANNER OFFICE RECENTLY

Last Saturday Mr. C. N. Eiland of Route 4 brought to the Banner office a very peculiarly shaped hen egg. It is about the size of a man's little finger and is crooked around at one end nearly like a fish hook. If straightened out it would be about three inches long.

Another egg was brought in Monday by Mr. Rufus Childress, gathered from a hen nest of his mother, Mrs. J. T. Childress, Jemison Route 1. This was a normal size egg, a little dark in color. On the large end of the egg in dim pink characters are: $1.0. What the characters mean, if anything, we do not attempt to explain.

New Attractions At Wadesonian Theat'r

Films fans are said to possess a bag of tricks to use in meeting their screen favorites that are supposed to be second to none, but it seems that the tricks tried by the players themselves in an attempt to watch Greta Garbo are even more ingenious.

Many of them have tried everything from dressing like a workman to acting as an extra in order to get by the guard stationed in front of the stage door.

Eleanor Powell had talked the studio casting director into letting her be an extra for one day, but at the last moment she found the ruse to be unnecessary for Miss Powell was one of the lucky few to receive an invitation from Garbo herself to visit the "Camille" set.

Remembering that Max Baer dressed as a carpenter, some years ago, and later claimed that he managed to pass an entire afternoon watching the Swedish actress emote, James Stewart decided to try the same trick. But the guard was'nt to be caught twice and so Stewart has to be content at seeing Miss Garbo on the screen.

Una Merkel came to the studio one morning at six and hid on the Garbo set. After waiting for hours the company finally started work, but without the star, who wasn't in the shooting that day

Johnny "Tarzan" Weissmuller is able to defeat anything from a tribe of natives to a herd of elephants in his pictures, but even though he borrowed an outfit from the M-G-M cafe and carried a tray of food he wasn't able to defeat the Garbo guard.

One of the few to "crash the gate" was Sid Silvers who walked on the set while the guard was away. And he wasn't trying to see Garbo. He actually thought his company was working there.

"Camille" comes to the Wadesonian Theatre, Sunday and Monday, May 2 and 3.

MAY 15 LAST DAY FOR FILING WORK SHEETS

Auburn. — The State Agricultural Conservation Committee has set Saturday, May 15, as the final date for Alabama farmers to file work sheets under the 1937 agricultural conservation program in county offices.

The state committee also has decided that the minimum grain requirement for home consumption needs for 1937 will be the same as was determined for 1936, which were as follows: 60 bushels of corn per mule per year; 30 bushels for each work steer; 20 bushels for each milk cow, 5 bushels for each other kind of cattle; 15 bushels for each hog; 1 bushel for each hen; and 3 bushels for each person.

Two bushels of oats may replace 1 bushel of corn for mules or cows; 1 pound of peanuts may replace 1 pound of corn.

HIGH YIELDS REDUCE COST OF PRODUCING POUND OF COTTON

"When the yield of cotton per acre is high, cost per pound is low," according to a statement issued by the National Fertilizer Association, Washington, D. C.

"A recent study shows that when the yield averaged less than 150 pounds of lint per acre, the cost was 11 cents a pound or more. When the yield averaged 301 pounds per acre, the cost declined to 8 cents a pound, and down to 6 cents with a 500-pound yield.

"Without fertilizer the average Cotton Belt soil produces only 75 to 125 pounds of lint per acre. The cost of producing such low yields varies from 15 to 20 cents per pound of lint, depending upon the location and yield. Well-fertilized cotton, on the other yields 300 to 500 pounds of lint per acre, costing from 6 to 9 cents per pound.

"In the 5-acre cotton contest the Georgia Extension Service found that cotton yielding 150 pounds of lint per acre cost 20 cents a pound. When the yield was 250 pounds per acre, the cost was 13 cents, and at 500 pounds per acre the cost was 8.5 cents per pound."

To get high yields, the following points are listed as essential by Walter S. Brown, acting director of the Georgia Extension Service:

Plant good seed of high yielding, good staple, locally adapted variety.

Fertilize the cotton liberally with a high grade fertilizer that has proven adapted to and profitable in your locality and on your soil types.

Leave a good stand. Plant the cotton in 3½- to 4-foot rows, and chop it so as to leave about two stalks every foot in the drill.

Prepare the land well and cultivate shallow and often.

FARMERS MAY LIQUIDATE 12-CENT COTTON LOANS

Auburn. — Farmers who have cotton loans outstanding with the Commodity Credit Corporation are urged by Cully A. Cobb, director, Southern Division, AAA, to liquidate their loans by taking advantage of the cotton marketing program being conducted by the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Farmers who have borrowed 12 cents a pound on their cotton from the Commodity Credit Corporation now have an opportunity to liquidate their loans and at the same time to realize a small sum on the transaction, he points out. Farmers can take advantage of this offer through April.

BEAUTIFYING CLANTON

There seems to be a general trend toward beautifying and improving all Southern cities and communities just now. With the same in view, Clanton should be included. Landscaping and growing flowers and shrubs are very contagious, and once started spreads like wild fire. All other places having their share of improvements, Clanton, likewise, is entitled to hers. There is enough for all. Our roadsides need planting. A play ground or park needs to be developed or planted, and ever so many other things could be done, but the best of all to inspire one's interest would be to have a garden club and there study various shrubs and flowers and their landscaping. Let's select the needed things to do and work on them. What do you think of this?

Clanton is to be complimented for so many beautiful homes, grounds and gardens developed. There are a number which show extensive expense and efforts in both the general planting and outdoor living rooms and gardens developed. The years required in developing gardens and grounds shows that every year's growth is important. Along with the care and attention they require, what beautiful interest and untold knowledge develops along with the gardens.

The many beautiful homes that have been built on the Maplesville highway and other parts of Clanton in the past few months will give the home makers much to do in the yards for the next several years, and there is so much to be learned about landscaping—and why should England have all the beauty, anyway? We are here in the sunny south; we have everything that is needed to be just as beautiful, or more

ALABAMA BUSINESS COLLEGE

Auburn, April 20. — The Alabama Business College—a new educational institution in the City of Auburn—will open its doors for the first time here on September 6, under the direction of Prof. F. X. Carberry.

Although the college will have no official connection with the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, its purpose is to give business training to a limited number of select students who are prepared for college, but who are financially unable or who are not interested immediately in a 4-year course leading to a bachelor's degree.

A co-operative arrangement has been worked out whereby a student in the Alabama Business College will do part time study at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. While pursuing an intensive 2-year course in the business college, a student will carry about one-half of a regular college load.

It is believed by those in charge that preparation of students as secretaries, stenographers, and bookkeepers may provide them with sufficient earning power to complete their college course either at Auburn or at some other institution. Graduates of the Alabama Business College may also be qualified for Civil Service appointments as stenographers, secretaries, or clerks.

"The Alabama Business College is not designed as a substitute for more liberal college training," said Prof. Carberry. "Its purpose is to open the door of opportunity to boys and girls of Alabama who are financially unable to undertake a 4-year course leading to the bachelor's degree."

University News

Needed improvement in county government was stressed in an address delivered at the University of Alabama last week by James N. Hard, Personnel Director of Jefferson County.

Hard, who addressed the Institute of Public Affairs at the University, named three suggested improvements. They were: adoption of a budget, classification of employes, and improvement of personnel administration.

Former Sen. J. Thos. Heflin delivered the feature address at the annual senior law class exercises at the University of Alabama last week. Heflin discussed the problem of financial panics, and laid the blame for depressions at the feet of certain groups of Wall Street financiers. The senator paid high tribute to the University's law dean, A. J. Farrah, who has just completed 25 years of service at the University. The senior class named a newly organized scholastic honor society the Farrah Order of Jurisprudence, in honor of the dean.

An Alabama region where one can climb uphill to soil of sea level characteristics, and downhill to soil of upland characteristics has been discovered by Dr. Roland Harper, state geographer, with offices on the University of Alabama campus.

The region studied lies in Franklin County, around Spruce Pine and Phil Campbell. At these points, the coastal plain reaches the highest recorded elevation it attains in the eastern United States.

Dr. Harper's findings are published in the April issue of the Journal of the Southern Appalachian Botanical Club, a journal to which Dr. Harper is a frequent contributor.

The annual "A" Day celebration at the University of Alabama will be held Friday, according to the announcement of Bill Peters, star athlete and "A" Club president.

Features of the day have been announced as: the election of Miss "A" Day, inter-fraternity relay races, a fashion show, a swimming meet, a "flour fight", and a tug of war, and the annual "A" Day dance. A baseball game with Ole Miss will feature the afternoon program.

The second annual Training School for Southern Traffic Officers will open at the University of Alabama on May 24 and run through June 5, summer school authorities announced here.

The Southern Training School originated at the University summer school last year and was attended by approximately 100 traffic officers from all over the South. It will be directed again by Lawrence B. Tipton, who has a position with the Northwestern University Traffic Safety Institute, Evanston, Ill.

The school will deal with the fundamentals of traffic control. Analyses will be made of accident records and investigations of accidents by courts.

Outstanding journalism students to receive awards offered by newspapers and concerns all over the state will be named at the first University of Alabama publications banquet to be held here Tuesday, April 27.

At the same time assistant editors and business managers who will receive paying jobs on the publications next year will be announced.

Honor guests from all over the state have accepted invitations to attend. These include Alabama editors and other persons in publications work.

MINOOKA CLUB MEETS

The Minooka Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Brady, with 20 members and two visitors present. Mrs. Stockdale gave a good reating on "Citizenship", describing a good citizen as one who co-operates in all good works of community, county and state, also in being law abiding and helpful in every way possible.

Mrs. Spencer gave a good reading on "Peace" which was enjoyed by all.

The leaders then took charge and their demonstration was on food for the sick and convalescent. Valuable instruction was given for menus for the diabetic, the tubercular, the anemic and those with pellagra.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, after which plants and seeds were exchanged, The happy and profitable meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. W. B. Broadhead next month.

Articles made of corn sacks were so few that the contest was carried over until next month.—Mrs. Myrtle Virgin, reporter.

With an electric water heater in your home, of the type approved by the Alabama Public Service Commission, ALL of the electricity you use in excess of 200 kilowatt hours a month, under the A-8 rate, comes to you at the lowest rate--1c a kilowatt hour--whether you use the electricity for heating water, cooking, refrigeration, lighting, operating your radio, or other electrical appliances.

There's a Vast Difference In the Life of Building Material
—investigate before you build your home

Frame houses deteriorate 3 per cent a year during the first 10 years. Brick houses 1 per cent a year after the first 5 years.

And the difference in the first cost is about 6 per cent.

Why say anything more?

Brick or Hollow Tile permits a great variety of styles and such a home has a far greater resale value.

And besides think of the saving in painting and upkeep.

Essay Contest

Birmingham. — A state wide contest, with $200 in cash awards awaiting boys and girls under 16 years of age who write prize winning essays on the subject, "Industry, the Soul of Alabama," will feature the big Golden Jubilee Celebration of Loveman, Joseph & Loeb, Alabama's largest department store, in commemoration of its 50th anniversary, according to Joseph H. Loveman, president.

"The boy or girl who wins first prize will receive $100 in cash; second prize, $50; third prize, $15; fourth prize, $10. Besides, there will be five other prizes of $5 each. So, boys and girls, hurry up and get your essays in!" said Mr. Loveman.

The contest closes at midnight, May 5. All entries should be addressed to the Advertising Department, Loveman, Joseph & Loeb, Birmingham, Ala.

Essays will be judged entirely on merit, and may be as long or as brief as desired. Art work, or "trimmings", will not be considered in awarding the prizes, Mr. Loveman explained.

Representatives of Birmingham papers and the Parent-Teachers Association will be sole judges of the contest.

As an aid in writing the essays, all boys and girls who can come to Birmingham within the next few days will find it worth while to study the 20 elaborate window displays featured by Loveman, Joseph & Loeb as part of its 50th anniversary celebration.

Each display contains a large size oil painting depicting in brilliant hues a phase of Alabama's industrial advancement. A vital picturization of the romantic story of steel making is one of the major exhibits. Revealing the story in word and picture, five big Birmingham concerns — Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company, Republic Steel Corporation, Woodward Iron Company, and Ingalls Iron Works — co-operated in its presentation.

Picturesque views of the hewing of iron ore and coal from Alabama hills are also a novel feature of the displays. Oil paintings and educational exhibits composing this part of the demonstration are sponsored by various coal and iron ore mining companies of the state.

The Alabama By-Products Company's display depicts the remarkable story of the extraction of many useful chemicals from Alabama coal. Alabama Power Company and the Birmingham Electric Company present an exhibit of electricity in Alabama's residential and business life. Southern Bell Telephone Company shows the far-reaching importance of communications in our state's growth.

Products made by Alabama textile mills are displayed, with murals of the cotton industry, by Avondale Mills. The way in which agriculture aids industry is shown also in another window.

Authorities have said these 20 window displays strike a new note in the presentation of Alabama's industrial development, and already thousands o people have studied them.

Loveman, Joseph & Loeb was founded in April, 1887, and has been in continuous operation as a leading Alabama firm ever since that date.

FISHING RODEO NEWS

Montgomery. — With Alabama's annual deep sea fishing rodeo an event of national importance by virtue of the fact that 3,561 people from 28 states attended in 1936, plans are taking shape rapidly for this year's contest, August 9, 10 and 11, off the shores of historic Dauphin Island.

A 139-pound tarpon, the "silver king" of the sea, holds the record as the largest tarpon caught at the rodeo, and ambitious anglers will seek to equal or surpass that mark this summer. Tom Twitty, of Mobile, caught the big tarpon last year.

Headed by Albert W. Gill, of Mobile, president of the rodeo association, the committees and officials already have launched the machinery that is expected to make this year's rodeo the best in history. Valuable prizes and unlimited opportunities for catching salt water game fish will be the order of the day.

As in the past, Alabama sportsmen from nearly all 67 counties will attend and join in showing out-of-state visitors a big time.

Of the 48 states, 30 elect the members of their state senate every four years, the others, with the exception of New Jersey, elect every two years. New Jersey elects every three years. Alabama is one of the four states that elect the members of the house of representatives every four years. The others elect every two years, except New York and New Jersey, where they are elected every year.

From the crop of 1936 there was ginned in Alabama 1,135,152 bales of cotton according to the federal census.

Approximately 500 blind persons are to be given financial assistance by the Alabama State Welfare Department.

CONFEDERATE PENSIONS AND OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

Under the provisions or the Federal Social Security Act, the federal government returns to the state 50 per cent of the amount it has paid to needy persons over 65 years of age, provided, however, that the amount paid any person shall not exceed $30 per month.

Alabama, during the month of March paid to the Confederate pensioners who could qualify for old age assistance under the federal law, $42,915. Of this amount the state was reimbursed 50 per cent, or $21,457.50. These funds have made additional state money to the amount of $42,915 available to match federal funds for other needy aged people in the state. The funds derived from this source have enabled the state to have without any additional cost to the taxpayers more than $40,000 per month for old age pensions. The state used this fund in connection with funds the counties had saved by closing their almshouses, to match federal funds. In this way the State Department of Public Welfare took care of former inmates of the almshouses and many others in need of assistance. More than 50 of the counties have closed their almshouses and are using all or part of the money which was appropriated to the almshouses to match state and federal funds, and are, therefore, in many instances not contributing an extra penny for the old age assistance they are getting in return.

The total amount expended for old age assistance, aid to dependent children and families, and the physically and mentally handicapped in Alabama for the month of March amounted to a total of $190,984.38.

J. H. JACKSON WRITES

Editor Union-Banner:

I notice on the front page of your paper a piece headed "When Is A Man A Failure?" It says a man is a failure when he quits trying. This might apply to a young person, but age will change your mind. My experience is that we quit trying because we are a failure. We set aside an old wagon because it becomes a failure; let it try to carry the load it once carried and it will collapse; then you quit trying it because it has proved a failure. It is the same with a man. Nine-tenths of the people become exhausted mentally and physically at the age of 70, and should be retired from public duty and manual labor and given a pension of not less than $50 a month.

Well, boys, I see the mayor and the sheriff have decided to publish the names of those arrested for drunkenness, so look out—we may see someone's name on the front page in box-car letters. Well, that's not so bad, but I can't see for my life how a Christian can support a law to punish a sober man for possessing liquor or wine. Jesus didn't teach any such stuff, neither did the apostles. Why should we be so cruel?—J. H. Jackson.

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

This is written in Los Angeles where the writer is conducting an evangelisic campaign in Bob Shuler's church. For nearly 20 years Bob has been thundering the Gospel of the Grace of God as well as the message of civic righteousness into the ears of the people who live here or visit this "city beautiful". The church of which Shuler is pastor has about 5,000 members. What a center of testimony and power Bob Shuler, by the leadership of the Spirit, has been able to build! Has Shuler many friends in Los Angeles? I say he has. Has he any enemies? I don't know of any personal enemies, but there are many who are opposed to the things for which he has fought. "The world prefers darkness rather than light because their deeds are evil." Bob Shuler has pressed the button and turned on the light of righteousness and many people have been caught in their acts of sin, and you can't expect unregenrate men to love the fellow who turned on the light. But even sinners respect an uncompromising preacher of righteousness. Men do not have to beg for respect. They may have to plead for love and pray for sympathy, but even Godless men have a feeling of respect for the minister who refuses to lower the Gospel standard to the level of their unrighteous living. What this nation needs now is a thousand oustanding, uncompromising, fearless, orthodox, Holy Ghost anounted preachers of the old time Gospel, properly distributed throughout America. We have many good men in the ministry, but it is possible to count on the fingers of two hands the outstanding, dominant, strong, old time, well known great orthodox preachers. The modernists in American pulpits, throwing kisses at the flesh and patting human depravity on the back by denying the necessity of the new birth, are friends of the devil and enemies of God.

The writer has crossed the American continent many times, but on a recent trip from Tennessee to California, he was more impressed than ever before with the resources and greatness of our nation. What a mighty country! America could raise enough food to feed the teeming millions of the world. I have seen the crowded population in southern Europe scratch the mountain sides in an effort to raise a little "food stuff". But we have thousands of acres uncultivated. The irrigation projects of Uncle Sam have made beautiful garden spots in the desert. We read that our Lord will some day make the desert blossom like the rose. When Jesus comes back again and takes over the throne of David, which is now fallen down in Jerusalem, He will restore the earth to its Edenic purity. The lamb and the lion will lie down together, and little children will play with serpents. That is what the Bible teaches. If Jesus died to redeem men and to bring to naught the works of the devil, then He must lift the curse of sin from creation. The desert is just a footprint of sin on this old earth. The first time sin put its foot on this earth it crushed the Garden of Eden. Even the thorn on the rose bush reminds us of the fall of man. A thorn is an abortive growth. If there had been no sin every thorn would have been a rose. Jesus wore a crown of thorns. He was sinless, but the Bible teaches that He bore our sins in His body on the tree. Some day everything in heaven and in earth will head up in Him. Then, there will be no deserts and no thorns. What an earth! What an earth we'll have when He restores at His second coming!

EMPLOYMENT ROLL FIGURES

A total of 2,711,708 employers of one or more persons in steel, automobiles, textiles, electrical and mechanical appliances, lumber and woodwork, food processing, building supplies, and other industrial and commercial groups, whose employes will benefit under the federal old age benefits provisions of the Social Security Act, have reported to the Social Security Board since November 16, 1936, that their employment rolls number 26,696,137 wage earners. This, however, is not the total of persons employed now or at any one time among the employers covered by the Act, but rather a cumulative total in which there is considerable duplication due to the shifting of employes from one employer to another during the five months period involved. The number of employers reported is the total number who filed application in the five months period since November, 1936.

T. C. I. ESTABLISHES A PUBLIC RELATIONS DEPARTMENT

Auburn. — To co-operate with the Farm Products Department in finding markets for and standardizing farm products, and to help keep the public informed in the affairs of industry, the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company has estab ished a public relations department, with E. D. LeMay as director.

"It will be the policy of the new department to co-operate with the farm products department in all matters pertaining to agriculture," says M. F. Jackson, manager, farm products department. "The functions of this department also will be to keep the public, through the press, thoroughly informed of all matters of public interest in which this company plays a part," comments J. L. Perry, president.

GINNERS AND FARMERS

Auburn. — Plans are being made by the Alabama Ginners Association and the Alabama Extension Service to inaugurate an educational program of good ginning and classification of cotton to increase the income of Alabama farmers from their 1937 cotton crop.

Ginners of the state passed a resolution at their 13th annual convention assuring their co operation with the extension service and the United States Department of Agriculture in working out a program beneficial to cotton producers in the state. They also resolved to work more closely with farmers during the coming season on matters of mutual benefit.

The ginners were assured the co-operation of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute and the extension service by Dr. L. N. Duncan, president, P. O. Davis, director, in their efforts to help improve the quality of cotton produced and ginned in the state. Mr. Davis has asked J. C. Lowery, extension agronomist, to give special attention to this project and to work with ginners and farmers on the problem.

C. D. Patterson, Decatur, was re-elected president of the ginners association; E. C. Bassett, Troy, vice president; and A. Burkart, Hanceville, secretary-treasurer.

The 12 district directors were re-elected, and three others added from the state at large. New board members include: John B. Deramus, Clanton; Frank Rice, Northport; and D. Mason, Union Springs. Those re-elected were: F. W. Hurston, Cullman; Judge Sam High, Ashville; Dr. H. H. Mobley, Gordo; E. O. Hall, Cecil; Hugh Spann, Dothan; J. C. Hudson, Monroeville; J. T. Martin, Shorter; C. M. Elrod, Boaz; N. B. Ware, Tuscumbia; E. C. Bassett, Troy; and Sam Neilson, Demopolis.

CROSS ROW CULTIVATION OFFERS MANY ADVANTAGES

Auburn. — Many farmers are using spring toothe weeders, rotary hoes and drag harrows to a great advantage in cross row cultivating their young corn, cotton, soy beans and peanuts on land not infested with Johnson grass, nut grass, bermuda or bind weeds.

Actual experiences have shown that cross row cultivation often reduces production costs, makes cultivation a much easier task, and greatly increases the number of acres that each farmer and his helpers can cultivate.

The weeder is one of the most useful implements to use in cross cultivation. It is a low cost unit and can be secured by most farmers for a very few dollars. The drag harrow can be used on soil that will support the harrow with the teeth angled backward if the operator is careful to see that it does not destroy the stand by cutting too deeply into the soil or by dragging sticks, stalks and other trash. The rotary hoe is very effective on level land but to be most effective it must be drawn at a rapid rate. These three implements do better work when used across the rows and not with the rows.

By starting shortly after the crops are planted these tools can be used very effectively in killing the young grasses and weeds and in breaking soil crusts so that young crops can come through.

Cross row cultivation is recommended by A. Carnes, head, and E. G. Diseker, assistant professor in agricultural engineering of the Alabama Experiment Station, J. B. Wilson, agricultural engineer of the Alabama Extension Service, and John W. Randolph, agricultural engineer of the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering.

Exodus 20:1-17 was read by Mrs. Roy Wilson.

Mrs. Emmett Smith and Mrs. Amos Smith each, gave a very interesting talk on "Citizenship."

As we were unable to get scales to weigh the members, we measured them and let them judge their correct weights by what they weighed on last weighing.

A report on "Overweights and Underweights, their cause and remedies", was given by Martha Kennedy.

The meeting was closed by singing the "Smile Song", and repeating the pledge.

At our next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mrs. Fannie Collins, we will study "Special Diets".—Martha Kennedy, reporter.

WOCO PEPPERS WON ANOTHER

The Clanton Woco Peppers, led by co-captains J. E. (Bull) (Sparrow) Easterling and Tom (Spot) Tiffin, went to Wetumpka last Sunday and added another baseball scalp to their collection, taking the Wetumpka aggregation in tow to the tune of 12 to 3.

The locals rapped Monk DeBardeleben for 11 ringing safeties, while L. D. (Sugar Boy) Easterling was letting his opponents down with three hits. Wetumpka's batters found the Sugar Boy's wrong-arm slants too much for them.

The Woco Peppers are shaping up fast now, and are a real baseball team. A little more practice and addition of about one more pitcher, and they will begin to go places.

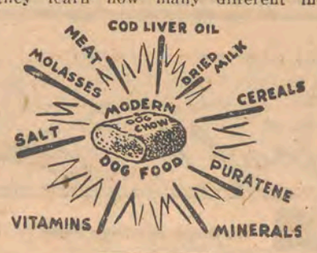
Modern Dog Foods Made With Numerous Ingredients



"The modern dog needs more than table scraps and a bone a day," says A. H. Leonard, head of the Dog Department of Purina Mills. In feeding dogs the most important thing to remember is that they require a ration that completely meets their needs.

Animal proteins from meat and milk are important ingredients in modern dog foods. Puratene, a rich vitamin A concentrate, is a valuable addition to dog foods. Vitamin A plays a most important part in building up resistance to disease and Puratene supplies an abundance of this vitamin.

Cereals in dog food must be carefully processed so that dogs can digest them easily. The dog's digestive tract is not built to take care of cereals in their natural state, yet they need the corbohydrates that cereals furnish. Cod liver oil is also a valuable ingredient in dog food since it supplies vitamin D.

Egg Goodness Is Decided By Kitchen Testing

Housewife Determines Quality of Eggs By Several Tests.

Any housewife who wishes to check on the quality of eggs she buys can do so fairly accurately right in her own kitchen. By breaking an egg into a dish and picking up the yolk with the fingers, the amount of thick white, the amount of thin white, and the firmness of the yolk, can be determined.

A good baking and poaching egg contains mostly thick white that clings to the yolk when the raw egg is picked up with the fingers.

There should be more thick white than thin. The yolk should be firm and lemon colored. When the yolk is picked up with the fingers, the thick white should cling to the yolk and the thin white should separate and remain in the dish. The more thick white the better the egg. Thin whites mean watery eggs.

Yolk Can Be Bounced in Hand

To test the egg further, the yolk should be subjected to the "pitching test. Eggs produced by hens fed on high quality feeds contain yolks that may be bounced up and down in the hand without breaking. When the white is removed the yolk should remain unbroken even when tossed from hand to hand. When an egg stands up under this test the housewife can be pretty sure that she has a good egg.

Another kitchen test of eggs is the making of angel food cakes. The amazing difference in the rise and fluffy smoothness of cakes is due to the thickness of white of eggs used in baking. Eggs with thin whites result in flat, soggy cakes that lack the fluffiness and smoothness of cakes made with eggs having thick whites.

But perhaps the most exacting test of an egg is its appearance after poaching. Because the white of the high quality egg is thicker and stands up higher on the yolk very little is lost in the water. There are no big pieces of white floating around in the water when a quality egg is poached. With an ordinary egg as much as 25 per cent of the white may be lost in cooking.

Hen Makes Egg From Feed

How to judge the interior of eggs when buying them is a perplexing problem. It is only when the housewife knows how the hens that laid them are fed that she can be sure of what the interiors are like. Feed determines entirely the color of the yolk, and to some extent the amount of thick and thin white in a fresh egg.

Practical poultry raisers and scientists agree that since the egg is made entirely from what the hen eats, "control feeding" must be practiced if eggs of uniformly high quality are to be produced. In the Purina laboratories and on the Purina experimental farm, an all-in-one laying mash that gives controlled interiors has been developed. Hens fed on this complete feed produce eggs with a wholesome delicious flavor, lemon colored yolks, and whites that stand up well when cooked.

To obtain such eggs go to the local feed merchant handling Purina checkerboard feeds and ask him for the names of his customers using this Layena mash. Poultry raisers who feed Layena to their birds produce the kind of eggs the American housewife is seeking.

LIQUOR INTERESTS WARNED NOT TO MAKE USE OF RADIO

"The radio should not be used in any manner as an advertising medium for distilled spirits, wines or malt beverages," declared Wilford S. Why start practicing again the very same abuses that brought the industry into disrepute?" he asked. "If you do, you are crazy!"

SONJA HENIE, dazzling little ballerina of the ice skating world, learned her art in Oslo, Norway, where her father, a figure skater of some note himself, began teaching her fifteen years ago. Winters in Europe, and next in the United States, brought her more and more fame.

But it wasn't until she went to Hollywood, where at 23, she has just made her first picture, One In A Million, for the Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corporation, that she reached the real perfection of art that is thrilling audiences everywhere.

Man-made weather was provided for her when filming of the feature film began. Hollywood basked in the brilliant sunshine of California, but Sonja had her own air conditioned weather, constantly adjusted to the exact degree she required for skating performances that are being hailed as the climax of her career.

The Twentieth Century-Fox Film studio where Miss Henie's skating exhibitions were photographed has a refrigeration plant that manufactured the ice surface needed for her. It has, also, air conditioning equipment that enabled the producers to give her, at every moment, just the temperature and humidity she required for the most striking exemplification of her talents. It is the same kind of equipment that is used throughout the country in buildings of all kinds, including private homes, but it never had been put to such an unusual test as it received when One In A Million was staged.

GROW FLOWERS TO USE IN BOUQUETS

Flowers and Vegetables Together.

Flowers in the home, on the dining room table, in the living room, on the verandas are now an important part of home life. The great wealth of this material comes from the annuals. Many of them while useful for providing cut flowers are not particularly valuable as decorative garden subjects in beds or borders or their blooming period is of such short duration that they are not good material for a long season planting.

Americans have taken very kindly to the European idea of the cutting garden and the old continental idea of interspersing flowers and vegetables in the garden. Growing annuals for cutting in rows in a vegetable garden with the same culture as the vegetables is a most practiced plan giving better results often than the flower garden beds which will not receive as good cultivation as the vegetables.

Alternating rows of vegetables and flowers is the commonest practice. Another is to have an occasional row of annuals or to reserve space at one side of the garden for them.

All of the common annuals may be grown this way. The principal precaution to be taken is to thin them. Usually they are sown directly in the rows where they are to grow and the sorts that make heavy growth such as zinnias, African marigolds and cosmos should be thinned to 3 feet apart.

The failure of the cutting garden is usually attributable to the fact that the seed was sown and the plants left to struggle as leaf lettuce and radishes so often are, only a survival of the fittest being of any value. This is a waste of material and the results are not adequate to the space occupied. It is easy to get good plants and a good crop of flowers or vegetables by thinning and it is certain that best results will not be attained unless they are thinned.

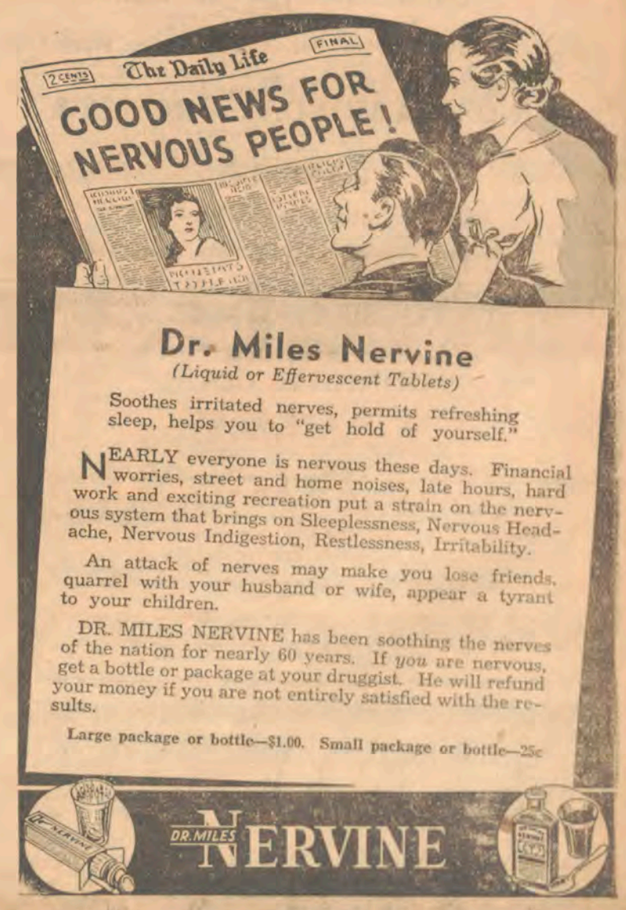
NEW BEAUTY SALON OPENING FRIDAY IN SOUTH CLANTON

Mrs. Estelle Harris is holding open house on Friday of this week, on the opening of her new beauty shop in her home in South Clanton. Mrs. Harris is carrying an adv. in this week's issue of The Union-Banner, which is in the form of an invitation to the ladies of Clanton and Chilton County to visit her new shop and see her equipment and the work she is able to turn out.

Mrs. Harris is a graduate of Mr. Rogers, proprietor of Rogers Beauty Salon, of Montgomery. Mr. Rogers has lately returned from Paris, and knows all of the latest styles and methods, direct from the style center of the world. She also studied under Mrs. A. Moore, New York stylist and accomplished beauty culturist.

All equipment in the new shop is of the very latest type. All materials are the best the market affords, and Mrs. Harris is confident that you will be pleasantly surprised with the result when you have visited her shop and allowed her to show you what she can do.



The new plant will be known as "Estelle's", and will be located in the home of Mrs. Harris, quite conveniently located on the highway, one mile south of Clanton.

Turn to her adv. in this week's paper, read it, and pay Mrs. Harris a visit on her opening day, tomorrow, Friday, April 30. She wants to show you her new and up-to-date equipment, materials and methods, and you, no doubt, will be favorably impressed.

A Philadelphia firm advertising for a salesman received a reply from a man who said that he was the greatest salesman on earth. They engaged him and gave him three lines of goods to sell anywhere in the West. They expected him to do great things.

After he had been away a week, and they had received no orders, they were surprised to get a telegram saying:

"I am not the world's greatest salesman. I am the second best. The greatest salesman was the man who loaded you up with these goods."—Exchange.

WHY NOT SENATORS?

If President Roosevelt's argument is sound that justices of the Supreme Court of the United States should retire at 70 years of age, because of incapacity for adequate service beyond that age, isn't it just as reasonable that members of the United States Senate should retire at that age? If that ruling were put in effect for the Senate, a hasty search of the Congressional Directory indicates that the following members of the Senate would be ineligible to continue in office: Johnson and McAdoo of California, Hughes of Delaware, Borah of Idaho, Lewis of Illinois, Capper of Kansas, Norris of Nebraska, Green of Rhode Island, Smith of South Carolina, Glass of Virginia, and Hitchcock of South Dakota. President Roosevelt has recognized several of these men as being among the most valuable members of congress, and made a special plea last year for the re-election of Senator Norris. If consistency be a jewel, we fear it will be one not worn by Roosevelt in his crown.—Burlington Free Press.

RIDDLE OF RIDDLES

The National Puzzles League, which makes a pastime of solving the toughest brain-teasers, is reported to be still seeking the "perfect riddle".

We enter this one:

Why is scrambled, duplicated, over-lapping taxation, the thing that hits nearly everybody first and hardest, the last thing to be tackled resolutely, effectively and co-operatively by a self-governing people that suffers from it?

Or is the tax muddle in these United States itself the perfect, permanent riddle?

Taxpayers' leagues should affiliate with the puzzlers for intensive work on the grand national tax acrostic.

It involves more than pastime or play—painfully more.—New York World-Telegram.

LIFE IN THE ELEPHANT YET

Some political writers, especially those who have consistently favored the New Deal policies, have regaled us from time to time with statements to the effect that the Republican party is dead. They have pointed out that the G. O. P. senators have had comparatively little to say about the Supreme Court issue, permitting the Democrats to lead the fight, and that the president's program is going through with little opposition on the part of Republican statesmen.

This is undoubtedly true. Perhaps there is, however, some political strategy on the part of Republican statesmen, in shying from leadership in the Supreme Court fight. If they were to try to take the bit in their teeth, immediately would there arise a cry that the Supreme Court bill was being made a partisan issue. This would certainly cripple opposition to the bill. And certainly, too, the issue is not one which concerns politics, but every American, no matter to which party he belongs. Chairman Farley of the Democratic Committee has made several speeches trying to line up Democratic party support for the president's bill. This is only natural, because the president's party is in complete control of both branches of Congress. But for Chairman Hamilton, of the Republican Committee, to take up cudgels against the Supreme Court bill, would certainly not be an evidence of life on the part of the Republican party, but an indication of poor strategy.

Aside from all this, however, there come indications occasionally that the Republican party is not entirely defunct. It must be remembered that the Republican state and local tickets ran way ahead of the national Republican ticket in many instances in the past campaign and that there are many counties in which the Republicans are in solid control. Take the instance of the special election held in Onondaga County (Syracuse), New York. A general assemblyman was to be chosen. The issue of control of the New York legislature was at stake. The Republican candidate carried all but two of the 84 election precincts and won by over 8,000 plurality. Last year when the vote was twice as great the Republicans won by only 5,800. The Republicans have gained control of the New York General Assembly.

Of course, local elections are not indicative of national trends, and it is easy to attach too much significance to them. Yet the vote at Syracuse indicates that there is life in the old elephant yet.

TARDY CONGRESS

Those members of congress who hailed with approval President Roosevelt's criticism of the Supreme Court for failure to keep abreast of its work—an unfair criticism, as events have proved—would do well to direct the same criticism toward congress itself. It is allowing its work to pile up week after week. The annual appropriation bills for the various departments are far behind schedule.

Such dilatoriness means eventually either excessive haste in disposing of essential legislation, or an unduly prolonged session. In either event, the public interest necessarily suffers.—Providence Journal.

Government by fireside chat is a poor substitute for constitutional government. — Chicago Daily News.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

The 20th anniversary of our entry into the European war, making it a world affair, has just been observed by patriotic and peace societies all over the country, and a great deal of attention has been paid to the occasion by the newspapers of the United States. Certainly the nation has learned a great deal in those 20 years. While the real causes of the war are yet a matter of dispute it is pretty generally admitted that the people of the United States, after the loss of thousands of lives and billions in property did not achieve the objectives which we were told would result from our pushing the war to a victorious conclusion by the allies. Two of these objectives most frequently mentioned were to "wage a war to end war" and "to make the world safe for democracy". Somehow or other, those two slogans have a hollow sound.

That the war was not destined to end all wars is indicated by the fact most nations are more heavily armed than ever before, and seem to fear another conflict which will be even worse than the last. And the world certainly was not made safe for democracy; when we think of the Stalins, the Hitlers and the Mussolinis that are abroad in the world today, and even hear it darkly hinted that Uncle Sam is in danger of leaving the paths of democracy, then we can certainly not feel that the world has been made safe for our popular theory of government.

The disillusionment that has come out of the last war with its new alignments, its new national hatreds, its debt repudiation, and its economic depressions, seems, however, to have made the American people more determined than ever to avoid conflict if and when it descends on the world again. The trouble is that now, as ever, there is sharp disagreement as to how we can avoid the next war. Congress has been trying valiantly through the enactment of so-called neutrality legislation designed to keep American ships, American citizens and American-owned goods out of the danger zone if war comes again.

But there are some who say that this method is insufficient. They exclaim that when war comes again, we are bound to be dragged in whether we like it or not. They reason, therefore, that the way to keep Uncle Sam out of war is to see to it that all warfare is avoided in the future. To the calm student however it must seem that if keeping the United States neutral in case of European war is a difficult task, then preventing war from breaking out in the first place would be a task a hundred times more difficult and dangerous.

The pacifist idea seems to be to form an international organization all powerful to frighten any would-be violator of the peace in the future. The trouble is, however, that international combinations have a habit of breaking up into factions when real trouble comes, and no power or set of powers goes about violating the peace in earnest until satisfied it has at least an even chance of success. And to acquire this chance no effort is left unused to destroy international unity, which is never very firm in the first place. So, if a "wicked" combination decided to wage war it would take the chance of opposing Uncle Sam as well as other peaceful-minded nations with the result that instead of enforcing peace we would wake up some morning with another first class war on our hands. The risk of this happening is a hundred times greater than the chance of our being able to maintain the peace.

After all, the political quarrels of Europe are none of our business, and it is difficult to see why we should busy ourselves trying to help settle them in advance. Nor is it certain that we would be involved in the next European war which came along, especially if we profit by our experiences during the last conflict. Holland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark kept out of the last war, and maintained their national honor and dignity although they were much nearer the scene of hostilities than we. It is more than possible that Uncle Sam's best bet for keeping out of war would be to maintain as much neutrality as possible, to put up with necessary inconveniences, in the light of the greater ones which might ensue if we got into war, and above all to see that our navy and other national defenses were strong enough to command respect across the stormy waters.

A fashion note from Paris says that ladies' millinery has taken the military mode this spring. The hats we have seen follow the culinary mode—potato pancakes.

When the next campaign rolls around can't you visualize some of the demagogic politicians promising the sit-down strikers arm chairs and meerschaum pipes?

We understand that Rex Tugwell says that if they ever start a sit-down strike in the molasses industry somebody is going to get stuck.

Baseball Game

C. C. H. S. defeated Maplesville in Maplesville, Wednesday, April 21, by score of 6 to 1. Williamson pitched a beautiful game for Clanton fanning eight men and allowing only three hits, running his winning streak to three straight. Williamson was in trouble only once during the whole game. This was in the sixth inning when with three men on and nobody out he struck out two and one grounded scoring only one run.

Clanton drew first blood when in the sixth, Easterling walked and stole second and third, and scored on Reynolds' infield out.

Clanton's big inning was the "lucky seventh" when Lawrence singled to open the inning. Locklear then walked, Alridge grounded out, Williamson singled and Lawrence scored, Marcus sacrificed and Locklear scored, Marcus was safe, Johnson doubled and Williamson and Marcus scored; Johnson stole third, Easterling sacrificed and Johnson scored, Reynolds and Armstrong were out to end the inning. Williamson was the leading hitter for Clanton, getting two for three.

Clanton plays Holtville there, April 28, and here April 30.

We're Still Unconquered

With spring comes renewed life, energy and hope. The budding trees and flowers, the songs of birds, the murmur of streams in the cool of the evening, and we again breathe in hope for the future years.

We can even draw a mantle of charity about the record of Bibb Graves as governor and smile indulgently at his boasts of great achievements. He wants us to forget his broken pledges and sings a swan song in the presence of his political ghost, for as a politician he is dead.

We can smile too at the political writer for a certain daily newspaper who sings aloud the praises of the governor, and claims that Graves has kept his every promise. But with ou smile there comes to our minds the words: "Oh, pie, how sweet is thy taste."

Then turning from these thoughts in the bright sunshine of perfect April weather, along with the anti-sales tax legions, we again raise our eyes from the dust of defeat and look forward to the approaching gubernatorial campaign, pledging ourselvse this time to find a successful man for governor, a man who is truthful and will keep his word inviolate as to burdensome taxes.

Governor Graves is now like water over the wheel. We must endure him for a time, then he will be gone forever from Alabama's political field The hue and cry that Graves can build a political machine that will dominate the next election is growing rapidly. This paper suggests that if such a political move is made by Graves that the banner carried by him will have blazoned on its surface the replica of a juicy pie resting on a damask cover sprinkled with tax tokens—the tokens that bear a black falsehood on their face when they are printed "Luxury" tax.

Political war looms in the near future. Let's see that no man of Graves' tendencies is allowed to be our chief executive. Spring, hope and courage combine so that the words ring out: "Thank God, we are still unconquered."—Montgomery Weekly.

MR. AND MRS. J. S. DAVIS WRITE

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow us space in your paper to write to the fathers and mothers of Chilton County.

We want to say to them to take it home to themselves concerning our son, Albert, and if you know anything on our boy, come to us about it, and not go to the other fellow. Suppose it was your boy that everyone was saying those horrible things about. We don't want to hurt anyone's feelings, but it almost breaks our hearts for everyone to talk like they have talked, and we would certainly appreciate it if anyone knows anything to come and tell us, and not tell the world.

The Bible says that if we have any enemies, pray for them. We have tried to raise our children right. We don't know what they have done, but it grieves our hearts to think that he is gone, and such things are being told.

So we just ask that all the praying people pray for us, and that this awful thing will come right some day.—Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Davis.

"Nature," said the philosopher, "always makes compensations. If one eye loses sight the other becomes stronger. If one loses the hearing of one ear the other becomes more acute."

"I believe you're right," said an Irishman. "I've always noticed that when a man has one short leg the other is longer."—Arcadian (Fla.).

The boy was probably mentally deficient, and a test was indicated.

"How many ears has a cat?" queried the psychologist.

"Two."

"And how many eyes has a cat?"

"Two."

"And how many legs has a cat?"

"Say, doc," asked the boy, "didn't you ever see a cat?"—Exchange.

Maynard's Chapel

The electric light line is being brought into this community. This will be a great aid to farmers. Plans are being made to carry the line to the church and on to the highway.

Rev. Snowton Hayes of Atlanta preached here Mednesday and Saturday nights. His subject Wednesday night was "Clean Out Your Wells," and Saturday night "A Long Way From Home And Dead Broke". There were good crowds out, and the sermons were very much enjoyed by everyone.

There were very good crowds at church Sunday, but there are still others who could come.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn White and Miss Sadie Horton of Birmingham visited Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Horton Sunday.

Our pastor, Rev. Dewey Robinson, has invited a young minister from Howard College to speak here next Sunday night at the regular preaching hour, 8 o'clock. Everyone is invited to come out and give him a welcome.

With no marked change in demand for farm products expected in the near future, the general level of farm prices is not likely to change greatly during the next few months, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Mrs. J. E. Evans and Mrs. Evan Parrish and daughter, Helen, were shopping in Birmingham Thursday.

We are still giving $1.00 off on all permanents above $3.00, where as many as two come together; 50c off on cheaper permanents. Helen Curtis Beauty Shoppe.

MRS. W. M. WRIGHT

On April 25 there was laid to rest in the Mulberry cemetery one of Isabella community's kindest citizens and neighbors, Mrs. W. M. Wright. The beautiful words of consolation were spoken by Rev. G. G. Williams, who served as her pastor for several years.

She was kind and gentle in her home and to all with whom she came in contact. The beautiful floral offerings were a fitting tribute to her life. The value of her kindness as a neighbor cannot be estimated.

We could not be selfish enough to wish her back, for our loss is her gain, but she still lives among us in the influence of her kindness. Inasmuch as we regret losing her, we can only offer sympathy to her bereaved family, and may our sympathy in some degree help them to bear their loss.—Mrs. A. J. Lecroy.

MRS. A. S. PRINCE HOSTESS TO METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mrs. A. S. Prince was hostess to Circle No. 2 of the Methodist Missionary Society recently.

Mrs. M. A. Gore had charge of the business.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. M. F. Jones took charge of the program, leading in prayer. She then gave a very instructive and helful talk on "The Life of Christ", by Umphrey Lee, chapters 5 and 6, "Method of Jesus' Teachings, and Jesus as His Contemporaries Saw Him".

The hostess served delicious refreshments, followed by a social hour. Those present were Mesdames M. A. Gore, M. F. Jones, O. D. Deloach, M. L. White, Glennie Evans, Maggie Wilson, C. A. Sherrod, and the hostess, Mrs. A. S. Prince.

SPARE THAT LIFE!

Let us hail the ghastly specter
Haunting every street and road
With perhaps a bony finger
Pointing at your own abode.

Every car with throttle open
Is a lethal mass of steel.
When it streaks along the highway,
Death is riding at the wheel.

Due to heedless, reckless drivers
Whom no warnings can deter,
Day by day, in endless number,
Tragic scenes like this occur:

Shattering, head-on collisions,
Bent and twisted auto frames,
Spurting gas and broken wiring,
With resultant searing flames.

Here a child with bones crushed inward,
Every limb a gruesome twist;
There a young half-conscious mother,
Staring through a crimson mist.

Here another hapless victim,
Limp and crumpled on the grass,
With his throat completely severed
By a jagged sheet of glass.

Mark the nation's yearly record:
Almost forty thousand dead,
And a million injured victims
Writhing, moaning on their bed.

O, we read about it daily,
But we think the story drab,
Till we see the mangled body
Or some loved one on a slab.

In a flash, your happy dwelling,
Gay with laughter, joy and cheer,
May find helpless, orphaned children
Sobbing at their daddy's bier.

There is not a public highway,
There is not a curve or hill,
Which at one time or another,
Has not seen a fatal spill.

Men may clear away the wreckage,
Rains may lave the gory stains,
But, somewhere, a poignant sorrow
And a vacant chair remains.

Let us realize the danger
That is lurking everywhere,
And, when driving or when walking,
Exercise the utmost care.

Be alert at intersections,
Slow down to a walking pace,
Lest some speedster from a side road
Send you hurtling into space.

When they pull you from the wreckage,
Spattered with a bloody spray,
It will give you little comfort
That you had the right-of-way.

When the roads and streets are icy,
Check your motor to a crawl;
Rather reach your destination
Somewhat late than not at all.

Let all thinking men be prompted
To adopt this vital creed:
"I will ever keep unblended
Liquor, gasoline, and speed."

Often life's concluding chapter
May be read in accents terse:
Tavern, auto, mortuary,
Tolling bells, a somber hearse.

Kiddies sometimes are quite heedless
As they romp near traffic lanes;
Sight of them should warn each driver:
"You're an adult; use your brains!"

Friends, for careful motor driving,
Let me urge this safety clue:
"Never fail to do to others
As ye would they do to you."

BIRMINGHAM-SOUTHERN COLLEGE

With the recent gift of $25,000 from Mr. Erskine Ramsay the dreams of a new building on the campus of Birmingham-Southern College began to take form. At a banquet given in his honor the local chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa, honorary education fraternity, Mr. Ramsay made this generous offer. The nature of the gift and its financial form have not yet been determined by Mr. Ramsey, but the greatest need of the college is a classroom building, and this in all probability will be known as the Ramsay building. Present at the epoch-making banquet were President and Mrs. Snavely, Dr. C. B. Glenn, members of the Kappa chapter, and initiates. Mr. Louis J. Yelanjian as president of the Southern group was toastmaster. New members were: Erskine Ramsay, Holmes Hill, Sam Goodwin, Vernon Cain, Herbert Baum, Jr., Paul Reid, Theodore Hegenbarth, Arnold King, J. C. Robertson, and Ben Stough.

Eight girls from the Junior Class received the highest honor that can come to a student at Birmingham-Southern College when they were tapped for membership in Mortar Board, national honorary leadership group. This organization recognizes and promotes ideals of scholarship, leadership and service. As a large scroll was unrolled by the president, Miss Grace Robins, the entire student body read the names of the following new members: Sarah Griffith, Alma Hayes Howell, Merle Massengale, Laura Rose Moore, Doris Murphy, Evelyn Wiley, Marguerite Johnston, and Sara Dominick. These girls are to be initiated Monday night, April 26.

Congressman Foresees Whiskey Trust Scandal

"The whiskey trust is one of the biggest monopolies ever known in this country, and is raipdly becoming a national scandal," declared Congressman Claude A. Fuller, of Arkansas, in a sensational attack which is echoing through legislative halls in Washington today, as he renewed his fight for a special investigating committee to probe the multi-million dollar liquor lobby.

Whiskey and bottle trusts are flagrantly violating anti-trust laws and employing federal officials for their "influence value" at fabulous salaries, Congressman Fuller charged.

In submitting his resolution calling for a special investigating committee for the purpose of subpoenaing officials of the whiskey trust, Fuller said that nine distilleries are selling 80 per cent of the whiskey, and that they maintain a "powerful lobby with millions for expense and for hiring influential executives with strong political corrections."

Among those he named as in the employ of powerful liquor interests, and their salaries, were as follows: Dr. James M. Doran, former Federal Prohibition Enforcement Administrator, $30,000 a year; W. Forbes Morgan, former treasurer of the Democratic Committee, employed for a period of five years at $500,000; Grover Whelan, New York politician, $75,000 per year.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the family of the late Jerome Honeycutt, wish to thank the people for their kindness shown us during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father. Especially do we thank Dr. C. O. Lawrence, Mr. Mell Martin and Mrs. Harvey, for their service rendered.

Lesson for May 2

ABRAHAM A MAN OF FAITH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 12:1-9; 13:14-18.
GOLDEN TEXT—By faith, Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed. Hebrews 11:8.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Friend of God.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Hebrew Pioneer.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Adventurous Faith.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Creative Faith.

One of the greatest characters in all human history comes before us today in the person of Abraham. He is venerated by Christian, Jew, and Mohammedan alike. His personal history is replete with interest and instruction. But his claim to an outstanding place in history is broader than any of these things, for he was the one by whom God called out a nation for himself and began his dealings in sovereign grace which continue to our day. In choosing Abraham God began the history of the Jewish people, his chosen nation. They were called by him to be not only a national witness to the one true God, but also to be the repository for his truth (the Holy Scriptures) in the earth, and, above all, to be the channel for the coming of the Redeemer to the earth.

Our lesson, however, centers on the faith of Abraham. As the Golden Text (Heb. 11:8) indicates, it was by faith that Abraham responded to the call of God. That call came to him in his father's house in Mesopotamia (Acts 7:2, 3). His partial obedience brought delay at Haran (Gen. 11:31), and wasted years, but in Genesis 12 we find his complete obedience and resultant blessing.

The study of faith is always fascinating. Faith is the thing in man that pleases God. He is quick to honor our trust in Him. Unbelief shuts the door not only to blessing, but also to usefulness.

I. Faith Calls for Separation, Obedience, and Worship.

1. Separation (Gen. 12:1). "Get thee out" was God's command to Abraham. It is his command to his followers today. "Come out from among them and be ye separate, saith the Lord" (II Cor. 6:17). This is the crying need of the church in our day. Instead of the church's being in the world seeking to win it for Christ, the world has come into the church and destroyed much of its vital testimony.

2. Obedience (Gen. 12:4,5). "So Abram departed, as the Lord had spoken." Faith obeys God, without question, without hesitation, and without reservation. We need a revival of obedience in the home, in society, and in our relation to God.

3. Worship (Gen. 12:7, 13-18). "There builded he an altar unto the Lord." Faith in God is far more than the psychologist's preachment of self-confidence. It results in fellowship with God, reliance upon him, not on one's own strength of personality. Faith worships God.

II. Faith Results in Blessing, Protection, and Liberty.

1. Blessing (12:2,3). "I will bless," said God. "The Lord's commands are rarely accompanied with reasons, but they are always accompanied with promises, either expressed or understood."

In the case of Abraham the promise was not only to him, and to the nation of which he was the father, but to "all families of the earth." That promise was fulfilled in the coming of Christ to earth to be our Redeemer (Matt. 1:1).

2. Protection (12:3). "I will . . . curse him that curseth thee." That promise to the seed of Abraham is still true. The nations have forgotten it in their hatred of the Jew, but God has not forgotten. The promise is equally true in the case of those who follow Christ, "the son of Abraham." His protecting hand is over us even in the dark hour when it looks as though the hosts of Satan had conquered.

3. Liberty (13:14-17). "All the land. . . will I give." After many and varied experiences in which Abraham proves God's grace and power, he comes out into a place of unlimited liberty.

The man who boasts of his "personal liberty," who feels that he is free from the "bondage of religion," is in fact a slave to the enemy of his soul. And the man who becomes "the bondslave of Jesus Christ," he alone is free. None is more fettered than he who shouts "I am the captain of my fate. I am the master of my soul." And none is so free as he who can say, "Christ is the Captain of my fate, the Master of my soul."

Deciding What Not to Do

CENTER HILL

Our singing at this place Sunday was one of the best we have had for quite a while. We had singers with us from the following places: Mars Hill, Providence, Jemison, Pleasant Hill, Oak Grove, Pleasant Grove, and several other communities. We also had Loly Edwards, of Siluria, a singer from the Buck Creek Quartet.

The singing was opened by the president, Mr. B. L. Cobb, he himself singing two songs accompanied at the organ by his wife, Mrs. B. L. Cobb; Mr. W. J. Northcutt followed with prayer.

The directors for the afternoon were: Mr. Lassie Northcutt, Berney Dean Cobb, Mrs. Tenell Northcutt, Mr. Posey Clackler, W. J. Northcutt, E. L. Glasscock, Miss Mildred Little, Flora Cobb, Mr. Cobern Cofer, Ellis Martin, Sam Collins, A. H. Classcock, Loyd Edwards and Velpo Mims.

Organists for the afternoon were: Mrs. B. L. Cobb, Rene Mims, Aubry Gore, Mr. Sam Collins and Miss Ruby Smith.

The Oak Grove Quartet rendered one number, and the Misses Willie Frank Northcutt and Mildred Little sang two duets, which were enjoyed immensely.

The vice president, Mr. Lonnie Cobb, sang the closing song, and were dismissed by Mr. Posey Clackler.

We thank each and every one for their help in the singing last Sunday afternoon, and invite everybody to come back again. We are going to have an all day session the fourth Sunday in June.

There will be no singing here until the fourth Sunday in June, on account of the singing at Mars Hill, the fourth Sunday in May.

HELP KIDNEYS

To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.

In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

Within approximately three weeks the grading will be completed, and the sodding of the field is progressing very rapidly; this will consist of Bermuda and carpet grass.

LAY DAM OPENS 1937 SEASON SUNDAY WITH PEPPERS

The good natured baseball rivalry between the local Clanton team and the Lay Dam Kilowatts will be renewed next Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock sharp at the new Lay Dam park, prying the lid off the Kilowatts' '37 campaign.

The Woco Peppers, guided by "Sparrow" Easterling and the one and only "Spot" Tiffin, are going at a pretty fast clip now, and are able to put a creditable team on the field.

Lay Dam, also, is said to have a better team this year than last, and the '36 powerhouse outfit was not to be sneezed at. Several new names appear on the Kilowatts' roster.

Both of these local teams can stand a little better support from the fans this year than was given them last year. If you like baseball, keep an eye on these two teams this year—the Kilowatts and the Woco Peppers.

Company officials at Lay Dam have gone to considerable trouble and expense in fixing up their new park, and Manager Crit Jones will send his Kilowatts out next Sunday on one of the prettiest playing fields in Central Alabama.

Sunday's battle is not at all a "grudge" fight, but the rivalry is keen, and fans who attend may be sure of seeing two teams putting all they have into the game.

Don't forget! Be at Lay Dam Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock sharp, to see the Woco Peppers and the Kilowatts tee off!

Ala. G.O.P. Rallies At Boaz, Alabama

Several Republican Leaders Spoke At Big Dinner Last Week

Boaz, Ala.—Calling on Republicans to get busy to elect a president in 1940, C. O. Vardaman, of Birmingham, told more than 100 Alabama Republican leaders at a dinner here that America "needs constructive liberalism" to take the place of a "squandering New Deal."

Mr. Vardaman condemned sit-down strikes, "unlawful seizure of property," and pictured President Roosevelt as a "would-be dictator."

He attacked the president's court reform measure as an "attempt to pack the Supreme Court."

Thomas J. Kennamer, of Birmingham, attacked the Graves administration and the two per cent sales tax levy in Alabama and "class hatred caused by the New Deal."

Col. O. D. Street, of Guntersville, flayed the Roosevelt court plans and lauded Congressmen Starnes and Hobbs for their stand on the measure.

Other speakers were: Mrs. Roy Wates, national committee woman from Birmingham; Dolphus Priutt, of Boaz; J. E. Thompson, of Boaz; Oscar Dendy, Boaz; Harry Brown, Altoona; J. G. Johnson, Blount county party chairman; S. E. Wright, Jackson county committeeman, and Mayor J. B. Sloan, of Oneonta.

HOME-COMING DAY AT PROVIDENCE BEAT 13

The following is a program of arrangements for third Sunday, May 16th. Most everybody is looking forward to and expecting to make this a real day. The service will begin at 10 o'clock a. m. Devotional exercise, by Rev. John T. Martin, of Brent; 10:30—Welcome address, by W. R. Houlditch; 10:45—Response by W. H. Shaw, of Birmingham; 11:00—Preaching, by the pastor, Rev. Green. The song service will be conducted by Bill Cofer, of Quinton, Ala. After preaching there will be a march to the cemetery and a short service conducted by John T. Martin.

The afternoon part of the day will be taken up in song service in the new books. We most assuredly feel that this will be a success, for we are expecting some very distinguished singers from different parts of the state; such as Prof. P. B. Shaw and daughters, and others as well. We cordially invite and welcome all singers and lovers of music to come and enjoy the glorious privileges of the day. We also hope that everybody interested will come on Thursday, May 15th, before the third Sunday and help clean off the cemetery and church grounds.—Committee, W. F. Thompson, Berl Martin, John Gothard.

Co. Fair Discussed Before Com. Court

Propose To Hold District Fair For All Farmers, Whether Union Members Or Not

About nineteen members of the Farmers Union of Chilton County met the Commissioners Court of Chilton County Monday morning of this week and discussed the matter of a fair for Chilton County and for the district embracing most of the adjoining counties to Chilton. The commissioners and probate judge expressed a favorable attitude toward the plan outlined by the Union members, and agreed to take up the matter and discuss it more fully among themselves at some early date.

The nineteen members of the Union present represented ten different communities of the county, as follows: Pates Chapel, Mt. Pleasant, Jackson Chapel, Union Grove, Center Hill, Union Springs, Free Springs, Minooka, Providence, and Chestnut Grove.

The district from which the Chilton County Union expects co-operation in the fair project comprises the following counties: Coosa, Shelby, Bibb, Perry, Autauga, and Elmore.

The plan, although sponsored by the Farmers Union, does not propose that the fair be only for Union members. It is planned to be for all the farmers of Chilton County, to be governed by a duly elected fair association, or corporation. What the Union is interested in is that the farmers of Chilton County and central Alabama may have a fair wherein they may display their products, and exchange ideas among one another relative to the best methods of farming, gardening, cattle and hog raising, Etc. The Union is merely taking the initial forward step in the undertaking which is hoped to develop into an organization really worth while to the farmers of this section of Alabama.

It is the humble opinion of The Union-Banner that the movement deserves the support of every enterprising citizen of the county, and of the county government itself, providing the latter can be done legally.

MODERN BEAUTY SHOPPE ADDS NEW OPERATOR

Mrs. Robinson, proprietor of the Modern Beauty Shoppe, has again found it necessary to make additions to her popular place and this time she has secured the services of Martha Lee, for years head operator of the Burger-Phillips Beauty Salon, Birmingham.

Miss Lee is highly trained, with many years' experence, and an expert beauty stylist. In commenting on the addition, Mrs. Robinson said:

"Service is our motto, and it is merely in keeping with our business principle to be able to give the best service obtainable. We have found our business growing, especially since our shop has been renovated, and necessitated our securing more help. It is our aim to keep the best operators we can find. We believe there is no better force operators in any shop in Alabama, and with the addition of Miss Lee, who is an expert in every way, we take our hats off to nobody, in equipment, in experienced operators, or in the type service we render.

"We welcome the ladies of Clanton and Chilton County to visit our shop. We know that we can give as good work as any shop anywhere. In making this addition, none of our operators has been let out—we have merely added another operator, to keep step with our growing business."

ANNUAL MAY SINGING AT PROVIDENCE, BEAT 16

The annual May singing will be held the fourth Sunday in this month, May 23rd. This singing started some 38 years ago at old Salem Church. It was transferred from there to Providence in 1922, 15 years ago, when the water was impounded above Mitchell Dam.

All singers and lovers of music are requested to come, bring your dinner and spend the day singing and renewing old acquaintances. The new books will be used.

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION HELD AT COURTHOUSE SUNDAY

The spring session of the Chilton county singing convention was held at the courthouse in Clanton last Sunday and Saturday night before. The house was almost filled Saturday night, and it would not begin to hold the people Sunday, although the weather was unfavorable. There must have been about two thousand people here for the evening Sunday. The loud speakers enabled everyone to hear the singing.

It could be called a genuine Chilton county singing, inasmuch as there were not many visitors present. There were a few visitors from Birmingham and Montgomery and probably Selma; but there were not nearly so many visitors as usually attend conventions here.

Prof. W. M. Devaughn, the county chairman, presided, and the singing was very good at both sessions. Both the Showalter and Stamps books were used.

Dr. J. Toy Williams, returned missionary from China, who has been in Texas for the past several months, is here for a few days with his mother and other relatives.

THREE REASONS GIVEN FOR MOWING PASTURES

Auburn. — Mowing weeds in pastures helps control weeds, builds up a better turf, and aids in controlling erosion, report agronomists of the Alabama Extension Service and Soil Conservation Service.

When weeds are mowed and brush and other tall vegetation is cut down, the spread of more beneficial grasses, clover and lespedeza, is encouraged. In this way a turf is developed which resists soil and water losses.

POULTRY FURNISHES GOOD CORN MARKET

Auburn. — Poultry furnishes an excellent market for home grown corn, reports John E. Ivey, poultryman of the Alabama Extension Service, in calling attention to the fact that "during March this year a farmer in Alabama could have sold corn to his hens for $2.87 per bushel, after paying $3.50 per 100 pounds for supplement."

FARM EFFICIENCY IS RAPIDLY IMPROVING

Auburn. — Farm efficiency has improved to the extent that each farm worker can now produce enough for himself and 11 others, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service.

"The improvement is very noticeable when we consider that in 1820 each farm worker produced for himself and four others, while in 1930 each farm worker produced enough for himself and 11 others," comments Mr. Davis.

The use of more mechanical equipment in farming is enabling each farm worker to handle more land and to produce more farm products, points out the Bureau in discussing unemployment in agriculture.

"One example of this progress is very striking. Wheat farmers of one Kansas county report that it now requires only about a fourth as much man labor to produce and harvest an acre of wheat as was needed at the close of the war.

"And farmers in the South look to the future of the cotton picker. Southern farmers know that if a cotton picking machine is perfected it will enable them to cut down their labor costs in cotton fields. Yet Southern laborers know that a cotton picking machine may cause for them serious problems of readjustment," state bureau officials.

BEST TREES FOR FENCE POST PRODUCTION NAMED

Auburn. — Experiments by the United States Forest Service show that black locust and Osage orange make the best fence posts because of their high resistance to decay, narrow sapwood rings, medium bending strength, and a high power to hold nails.

If sawed or split so that the heartwood only is used, the next best species for fence posts are the chestnut and white oak, and following these are the cedar, cypress, juniper, redwood, and catalpa, although the latter group does not hold nails or staples as well as the others.

Woods which require a preservative treatment if they are to give long service are beech, birch, maple, red oak, and elms.

Hemlocks, spruces, white fir, basswood, cottonwood, red gum, tupelo, and yellow poplar also require preservative treatment for long service.

WOODS FIRES DESTROY JOBS

In the year of 1934, eight out of every 100 persons working in the State of Alabama were employed in some kind of wood product industry, according to C. E. Haigler, senior foreman of laborers of the Soil Conservation Service Camp S. C. S., Alabama 7, at Clanton. In the past, more people were employed. In the future there will be more, if we care for the trees, cut them wisely, and protect them from fire, insects and disease.

LETTER FROM MR. R. I. VARDEN

Editor Union-Banner:

I have not written in a long time, so I now ask for a small space in your paper. I want my friends to know how much I appreciate what they have done for me. I live in Pinedale and Mt. Springs communities, and the people sure are good and accommodating. They help me every way they can.

Especially do I thank Mr. J. Mell Martin and Dr. J. E. Gowan for what they have done for me. Each of these gentlemen turned me a great favor and would not permit me to pay them anything.

I have been unable to get out in nineteen months, and cannot get off my bed without being helped. Mr. Lindsey Miner and other good Christian friends have certainly spared no effort in aiding me in my infirmities. Sometimes a preacher friend drops in and talks to me and prays with me; sometimes they have singing, all of which makes me feel much better. I ask the continued prayers of my friends and acquantances that I may be as contented as possible in my infirmities. I am glad to see any of you any time.—R. I. Varden.

COTTON CLASSING SERVICE FOR ONE-VARIETY GROWERS

Auburn. — Alabama cotton producers who are organized in one variety cotton communities to promote cotton improvement may obtain cotton classing and market news service from the United States Department of Agriculture by writing and requesting the service, announces J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service.

It is important that the one variety communities be well organized to take advantage of this service, he says, in advising officials of the organizations to keep in touch with their county agents for further details of the plan.

"This service should aid growers in understanding the importance of quality, what determines quality, and the value of quality in cotton," he continues. "It should allow farmers to better value their own cotton and sell it at a price showing a gain from better grades and staple lengths."

The amendment authorizing the service requires, upon request in writing from any group of producers who are organized to promote cotton improvement, and who comply with regulations the Secretary may prescribe, the Secretary of Agriculture to determine and supply the official classification of any cotton produced by these organizatoins.

The amendment also authorizes the Secretary to collect and distribute information on the supply, market conditions, and prices for cotton. And to prepare regularly and distribute for posting in gins, post offices, and other places in cotton growing communities, information on prices for the various grades and staple lengths of cotton.

UNION GROVE

The health of this community is good except a few cases of mumps. Our community has had the hardest rainfall on last Friday that has been in fifty-two years, so some of our old people here say. The hail was also heavy and beat the gardens and strawberries to a ruin and the land was all washed away, but God gave it to us and if He sends rain to wash it away we should be satisfied.

I also want to add that the Robinson renunion will be held as usual next Sunday. In the evening singing will be held. All the singers have a special invitation to attend.

Pleasant Hill has been kind enough to call off their singing. to be with us. Be sure to come and bring your books. The editor has a special invitation.

MULBERRY W. M. U.

The Mulberry W. M. U. met Tuesday, April 27, at the home of Mrs. D. O. Manning, and organized a new circle, No. 3. Mrs. J. H. Wells, general president, had charge of the meeting. We hope to come up in our work with Circle No. 1 (Mable Woodward Circle) and Circle No. 2 (Mulberry Circle). Our next meeting will be Tuesday afternoon, May 11, at 2 o'clock.

C. D. Patterson, president, Alabama Ginners Association, Decatur, has appointed a committee composed of J. T. Martin, Shorter, Hugh Spann, Dothan, and John B. Deramus, Clanton, to work with J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service, in making plans for improving cotton ginning in Alabama this fall.

FISH NEWS

Fishermen of several counties bordering on impounded waters of the Coosa and Tallapoosa rivers report more and better catches of fish this spring. The increase is attributed largely to an act of the Alabama Legislature in 1935 which outlawed the use of nets and other illegal devices in those waters.

Following passage of the act, more than 2,000 illegal fishing devices were confiscated on the lakes of the Coosa and Tallapoosa. The absence of these nets leaves a much larger supply of fish for anglers.

People in Wetumpka, Montgomery and other communities have been spending a great deal of time on the lakes and scarcely a day passes without bringing reports of good catches. Jordan, Mitchell, Lay, Martin, and upper and lower Tallassee are furnishing good sport for fishermen.

May 31 to June 5 is National Cotton Week, a seventh annual event, sponsored by the Cotton Textile Institute. Manufacturers, railroads, radio, publications and 30,000 stores are co-operating in the event.

Lay Dam Ball Club Will Open May 9th

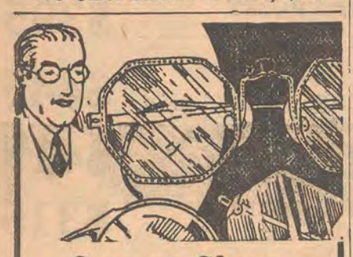
The Lay Dam Ball Club will open the season on May the 9th, with the Clanton Club as their opponents. This game will be played in the Kilowatts park, which has been greatly improved for the 1937 season. The playing field has been enlarged and fenced in and more seats added.

This year's team should be stronger than last year's although the loss of Cobb at first will be sorely felt. All infield positions except first are well filled with Clint Jones at third, Teck Galloway at short and (shorty) Thomas Marcus at second. The first base position will be filled as soon as possible.

The outfield at present has three of last year's men, with Dock Baker, the mainspring of last year's outfield, back and Greene and Lakeman. One more fielder will be added at a later date.

The pitching staff at present has only two men, Frank (Lefty) Whitaker the new member and Neal Turner of last year's staff. One or two more men will be added in the next week or two.

John "Dusty" Tatum, who caught every game for the club last year will be behind the plate again.



Managers Woodson and Jones are putting forth every effort to place a good team on the field this year and it won't be long till the ump's cry of "Play Ball" rings across the park and another season will be under way with the crack of the bat and all the thrills of a base ball game, of which the baseball fans look forward to. Our schedule will be published each week, so watch for it and come out as we intend to bring some top notch clubs to Lay Dam this season. Admission will be 25 cents including tax. Children free.

THE WAY OF A MOTHER

By Temple Bailey

The young mother set foot on the path of life. "Is the way long?" she asked. And her guide said: "Yes, and the way is hard. And you will be old before you reach the end of it. But the end will be better than the beginning."

But the young mother was happy, and she would not believe that anything could be better than these years. So she played with her children, and gathered flowers for them along the way, and bathed with them in the clear streams; and the sun shone on them, and life was good, and the young mother cried, "Nothing will ever be lovelier than this."

Then night came, and storm, and the path was dark, and the children shook with fear and cold, and the mother drew them close and covered them with her mantle, and the children said, "Oh, mother, we are not afraid, for you are near and no harm can come," and the mother said, "This is better than the brightness of day, for I have taught my children courage."

And the morning came, and there was a hill ahead, and the children climbed and grew weary, but at all times she said to the children, "A little patience, and we are there." So the children climbed, and when they reached the top, they said, "We could not have done it without you, mother." And the mother, when she lay down that night, looked up at the stars, and said: "This is a better day than the last, for my children have learned fortitude in the face of hardness. Yesterday I gave them courage. Today I have given them strength."

And the next day came strange clouds which darkened the earth—clouds of war and hate and evil, and the children groped and stumbled, and the mother said: "Look up. Lift your eyes to the Light." And the children looked and saw above the clouds an everlasting Glory, and it guided them and brought them beyond the darkness. And that night the mother said." This is the best day of all for I have shown my children God."

And the days went on, and the months and the years, and the mother grew old, and she was little and bent, but her children were tall and strong, and walked with courage. And when the way was rough, they lifted her, for she was as light as a feather; and at last they came to a hill, and beyond the hill they could see a shining road and golden gates flung wide.

And the mother said: "I have reached the end of my journey. And now I know that the end is better than the beginning, for my children can walk alone, and their children after them." And the children said, "You will always walk with us, mother, even when you have gone through the gates."

And they stood and watched her as she went on alone, and the gates closed after her. And they said: "We cannot see her, but she is with us still. A mother like ours is more than a memory. She is a living presence."—Southern Music News.

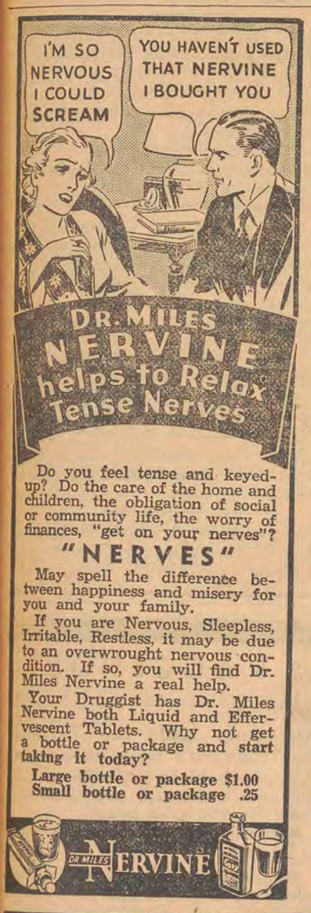
CALLS POISE MORE IMPORTANT THAN BEAUTY IN WOMEN



A woman may be beautiful, shapely, intelligent and charming—but if she hasn't got poise she has nothing!

This is the opinion of LeRoy Prinz, Paramount's dance director, who has been picking beautiful women for the movies and stage for years, and who had the enviable task of selecting the 350 beauties who make up the chorus in "Champagne Waltz," the scintillating musical remance co-starring Fred MacMurray and Gladys Swarthout, which begins Sunday and Monday at the Wadesonian Theatre.

"Women who are beautiful," he said, can destroy this beauty through a lack of poise. I have seen women with perfect forms who have not gotten by because they have allowed their shoulders to slump, their abdomens to protrude, have considered "slinking" only to become grotesque, or because they have put too much emphasis on chest, making themselves look unatural.

On the other hand, women who have poor figures give an impression of poise and even beauty through proper carriage. The average woman, by learning to stand with her head well back, with her abdomen slightly drawn in, can appear as snappy as a West Point cadet. This standing should be developed until it is an unconscious thing, for if it is conscious it has no poise."

In selecting the huge chorus for "Champagne Waltz," the largest ever assembled for a motion picture, Prinz says he always looked for poise before facial beauty or shapeliness. He said most chorus girls have poise because they are dancers. Dancing prevents surplus flesh from gathering in the wrong places and always makes a person graceful in walking and standing, Prinz declared.

Do you feel tense and keyed-up? Do the care of the home and children, the obligation of social or community life, the worry of finances, "get on your nerves"?

Pleasant Grove

Our Sunday School convention meets with Pleasant Grove Baptist Church next Sunday afternoon, May 11th. Before noon a short program by our children, after which our pastor, Rev. W. E. Robinson, will preach. We urge everyone to attend, and bring lunch. Especially all mothers as we wish to recognize the oldest and youngest mother with the largest number of children present. We invite all our former residents of this community to be present. In the afternoon several able speakers will be present to bring us inspiring messages on Sunday School work. So everyone be present to hear these speakers.

Our B. T. U. was reorganized last Sunday. Mrs. Willie Hicks was elected director, Miss Wilda Shoults, leader of senior union. We want to organize other unions soon.

Every interesting and inspiring program was rendered last Sunday night was by the young people. We need the cooperation of our parents. We must use, or we shall lose our young people. They are eager to be trained and we must help and encourage them in this training for better service. If all the church members were just like me, what kind of a church would my church be? Let's all ask ourselves this question and resolve to do more.

Again we invite every one to attend services next Sunday and bring lunch. Spend the day with God and be inspired to do more for Him.

"TRENCH MOUTH"

During the past few years a disease known as "trench mouth", or Vincent's infection, has broken out in certain communities. The World War emphasized how highly communicable the disease could become, when so many soldiers in trenches contracted the ailment. The common name of the disease, "trench mouth", arose from that situation.

In "trench mouth", the mucous membrane of the gums, cheeks, tongue and tonsils becomes inflamed, and ulcerated areas appear. A grayish membrane is formed in the mouth and throat at the site of the ulcerated areas. When this grayish membrane is removed, there is much bleeding. Saliva increases, the teeth become loose and are sore, it is impossible to chew food, the gums are often spongy and the mouth may be very red. In severe cases the patient has a temperature, swelling of the glands, a peculiar, unpleasant sweetish odor of the breath, constipation, headache, nausea, and other physical disturbances.

The majority of cases are among those of early adult or middle age, probably due to the fact that they are exposed to infection in their work or surroundings. Children may have it also, but less often than adults.

Direct contact of a well person with one suffering from the infection is one mode of transmission. It has also been traced to unsterilized eating utensils, carelessly washed drinking glasses at soda fountains, towels, common drinking cups, swimming pools, personal articles, and kissing. Sometimes the spread of the disease has been among persons living in crowded quarters where there is little or practically no fresh air and sunshine. A person may carry the organism and transmit it to another person, but with no harm to himself.

There are preventives which everyone should observe, especially in this age when we all stop at any restaurant or soda fountain that we happen to pass and eat and drink from dishes and glasses that may not be properly cleansed. Keep the mouth in a clean, healthy condition. Have decaying teeth attended to immediately. Insist upon the smallest cavities being filled. Have decayed teeth and broken-down roots removed. Cleanse the teeth and mouth well with an antiseptic powder and mouth wash after each meal, upon retiring at night and arising in the morning. Even soap and water can be used for cleansing the mouth. A clean mouth may save you from this unwholesome infection.

"Trench mouth" requires the attention of a dentist or a physican. Most cases of Vincent's infection can be cured by a quick diagnosis, proper treatment, and conscienicus follow-up by the patient.

CANE CREEK

Next Sunday and Saturday before are our regular preaching days. Rev. Norris, our pastor, asks that all the members who possibly can to be here on Saturday for he has something important to talk to us about. On Sunday, mother's day, we are planning on giving a program. We will have Sunday school at 9 o'clock, and preaching at 11 o'clock, by Rev. Norris. Come. You won't regret coming for Rev. Norris can sure preach. It's mother's day, come and spend a few hours with us in honor of your mother. If your mother is living wear a red rose, and if she is dead wear a white one. If your mother is buried here bring a bouquet and put it on her grave. Honor her in some way.

Remember the fourth Sunday in June is our regular annual singing. We are expecting a large singing. We invite everybody to come.

PROBABLE PEPPER LINE-UP FOR NEXT SUNDAY'S GAME

When the Clanton Woco Peppers open up against the Lay Dam Kilowatts next Sunday afternoon, the line-up will be about as follows:

Tom "Spot" Tiffin will have charge of the managerial reins, trying his hand on the John McGraw end of baseball for the first time. Williamson will be behind the bat, Shorty Marcus will be at second base, Benson Simms will be in left field, the lambasting "Sparrow" Easterling will bat in the clean-up position and play in the right garden, Langford on third, Gabby Tiffin in center, Nivens on short, Glass on first, and L. D. "Sugar Boy" Easterling will be serving them up from the wrong side.

Of course, there could be last minute changes, but this is the set-up that acting manager Tiffin has set his mind on.

Good baseball, lots of fun, and all of it right here among our own home folks. Every man on the Clanton team is a local man. Don't miss that game Sunday! It's going to be good!

WE SHALL SEE

We are scolded by political theorists because we cling to the quaint notion that industry is better managed when it is privately managed. The theorists will be offered another opportunity to point their argument for government ownership and government management of industry by results obtained in France.

The French government is committed to nationalization of arms factories. Recently it took possession of the Bleriot airplane plant at Suresnes and the Aeronautical Corporative Union Plant at Belgles. A decree also has been issued nationalizing the Louis Breguet airplane factory at Havre. The government hopes to increase production 60 per cent over that under private management, its schedule calling for the production of 1,500 airplanes in 1937.

Now, here is a perfect set-up for the theorists. A yardstick is supplied for the measuring of results.

We wonder what excuse will be offered by the theorists if the French experiment fails. They have been notably silent concerning recent developments in Russia. The Associated Press is authority for the statement that the Soviet's biggest automobile factory, the American Molotoff plant at Gorky, has been standing idle because of a shortage of steering rods. Managers blame the shutdown on the failure of the Sverdlovsky steering rod factory to keep up production. The Sverdlovsky manager, in turn, blames the trouble at his plant on an inadequate power station. Recent statistics published in Moscow show a bad industrial start for 1937. The tractor industry is the only one ahead of its schedule, with other basic industries 15 to 20 per cent below the planned production.

Doubtless the theorists know the answers. It is strange, however, that we are not told what they are. Can it be that the answers permit of no twisting into arguments for government ownership and government management?—Meriden (Conn.) Record.

AS TEXAS SEES IT

It is this strange reluctance on the part of the president and his closest advisers to explain to the people just what is the nature of this great crisis which compels extraordinary powers—and just what is the nature of the legislation he has in mind to meet this crisis—that represents the crux of the problem. And his persistence—in face of the fact that, one by one, his reasons for changing the Supreme Court have been devastated by cold logic—is in itself suspicious. The Court is too old, he declared—yet there is nothing in his proposal which would compel the retirement of justices at any particular age, nor is it within the power of the executive or congress to compel them to retire. The Court is too small, he said—but it is completely abreast of its docket and is dispatching more cases than any court in history. Justice is too expensive for the poor man—but there is nothing whatever in his proposal that would affect the cost of justice to either the poor or rich. The Court thwarts the will of congress—but he himself has vetoed 221 acts of congress during the past four years whereas the Supreme Court has set aside only 77 acts of congress during the past 148 years!

Every one of the judicial reforms Mr. Roosevelt has in mind could be expeditiously achieved through the orderly processes of amendment. And his argument that ratification would take too long is particularly fallible. If the crisis which compels this assumption of extraordinary powers is as impending as he says it is, he need have no fear that it will not be sufficiently apparent to the people to effectuate prompt ratification of an amendment. And if the crisis is not sufficiently apparent to the people he has the opportunity to explain in his most ingratiating fireside manner just what the crisis is. His failure to do so is a stronger argument against the enactment of his plan than any of his opponents could advance. His proposal to subjugate the judiciary strikes at the roots of the American constitutional form of government, and the people have a right to know precisely why he proposes so drastic a step. If there is to be a Newest Deal, some further incursion into the political unknown, we should like to know what he has in mind.—Dale Miller, in The Texas Weekly.

Government officials are said to be looking for the reason for the slump in the government bond market. Secretary Wallace could doubtless tell them it is a case of over-production, should be reduced in the future and the present surplus plowed under.—Linn (Kan.) Record.

A little Mankato boy at Sunday school had listened wiht rapt attention to the story of the loaves and fishes. He was trying to tell a small friend about it, and to make it important, he said: "And ma says the very same thing about pa. She says he loafs and fishes."—Western Advocate.

The way Europe is preparing for war it looks like the next big scrap is going to make the World War look like a game of dominoes. That time it will be remembered the United States drew all the double blanks.—Exchange.

The governor of Maine sent a peck of Maine potatoes to the governors of the other 47 states, and the Lawrence Journal-World thinks he may be trying to coax them back into the Union.—Greenleaf (Kan.) Sentinel.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

The statesmen around Washington now seem to be living in a new atmosphere of economy. It was developed by the president's message recently demanding a reduction in governmental expenditures. He suggested that the lump sum appropriaton for relief in the fiscal year be slashed to $1,500,000,000 and that a desperate effort be made to reduce expenditures all along the line. It has been intimated that even two or three pet administration projects are in danger. Among those scheduled for possible rejection are the Harrison-Black educational bill to permit government spending for schools in the states, the Wagner Low Cost Housing plan, and the bill suggested by the administration itself for an appropriation to aid the tenant farmers.

Things seem to have changed somewhat during the past few weeks, theoretically at least. There are suggestions in congress that the legislative body go the president one better and slash the 1938 relief appropriation from $1,500,000,000 to a mere billion. During the 1936 campaign the New Dealers pointed with pride to revived industry and busy workmen. We were informed that happy days were here again and that the financial situation was well in hand. No new taxes would be needed. Reviving business would furnish the money. But speaking the other day supporting the president's budget message, Sen. Robinson, majority leader, said:

"We cannot spend beyond the government income forever without impairing government credit. * * * It appears that the government will receive about $204,000,000 less in revenue than formerly estimated. There are pending bills calling in the aggregate for enormous sums. For seven and one-half years the government has been operating on borrowed money. In view of business conditions it seems that closing the gap between revenue and expenditures as soon as possible is almost imperative." Coming from the majority Senate leader, these words have a striking similarity to some of the remarks of the opposition orators in the campaign last fall.

One of the political phenomena of the day is the closeness of the grip which President Roosevelt seems to keep on the affections of the American people, despite administrative promises, prophesies and disappointments. The campaign pledges of 1932 were quickly forgotten, and the New Deal rolled up a tremendous majority in 1936. In the last campaign there was a promise of a quick balancing of the budget and of no greater taxes. Now we find admission that the budget will be out of balance in 1938, and there is even some hint that higher taxes may be necessory next year, although they will be deferred until after 1938 has rolled around. President Roosevelt apparently remains personally as popular as ever. This seems to be an indication of his tremendous personal charm and the confidence it has succeeded in instilling in the American people, or it may be evidence of a remarkably short memory on the part of the masses. One may, however, expect to wait until the effect of a reduction of expenses for relief and public works is felt before passing final judgment on the question.

The most encouraging sign of the times is a growing realization at Washington of a necessity for curtailing federal expenditures and balancing the federal budget. This necessity seems to be better realized at Washington than out in the country. In the nation at large there are still far too many cities and towns wanting federal money for the construction of municipal parks, swimming pools, and perhaps basketball gymnasiums.

At the same time it is well to remember there is another angle to the situation. Sen. Vandenburg, while promising "loyal support" to the president's effort to balance the budget, asked for a reciprocal "self-denial" from the executive department and a quick demobilization of "our swollen needless tax-eating bureaucratic payrolls and in suspension of unnecessary experimentalism". It is up to congress if we are to have a balanced budget in the comparatively near future to trim appropriations to the limit. It is also up to the president to veto any relief appropriations which are not absolutely essential to the welfare of a considerable part of the nation.

C. C. H. S. lost to Holtville in Holtville, Wednesday, April 28th. Easterling pitched a beautiful game for Clanton. He gave to Holtville five hits and struck out nine, but fate was against him.

Clanton scored first in the first inning. Armstrong got in on an error, and Williamson walked. Armstrong stole third and came home on Easterling's fielders choice. In the second Locklear walked Johnson and Roper singled scoring Locklear.

Holtville scored all three of their runs in the last of the second on two hits, a walk and an error.

Armstrong now leads the batters with an even 500. Johnson is second, and Williamson third. Williamson is leading the pitchers, having won three and lost none. C. C. H. S. plays Jemison and Verbena there this week.

BIRMINGHAM-SOUTHERN COLLEGE NEWS

Campus elections last Wednesday brought to a close two weeks of exciting politics at Birmingham-Southern College. Martin Kruskopf was elected editor of the college newspaper, The Gold & Black, winning this coveted post by only five votes over his opponent, Robert Shoop. Kruskof's business manager is to be Pierce Bruce of Lanett, Alabama who polled the largest majority in the entire election. His opponent was Richard Sexton. Other officials of the student government include Jim Ford, president of the student body, who was unopposed in the race. Marguerite Johnston and Sara Dominick will edit and manage the college annual, La Revue. Max Johnson is the newly-elected parade manager and Theoron Sisson is cheer leader. The athletic committee is composed of John Tillia, Fred Spence, and J. B. McLendon. The elections were especially interesting this year because of the newly-organized non-fraternity party which successfully broke the power of the Fraternity Council, an organization which has to a great extent controlled politics for a number of years.

State Capitol News

Montgomery, Ala. — Governor Bibb Graves will champion the cause of Labor in an effort to put an end to low wages in the industrial south, due in part to unfair and inequitable railway freight rates.

This was revealed early this week as the Governor prepared to attend a conference of 12 southern Governors, togther with heads of various State railway and public service commissions and rate experts, called in Atlanta on May 10th.

Purpose of the meeting is to bring about a more equitable scale of freight rates from the south to the great Chicago territory similar to the reduction on coke shipments ordered by the Interstate Commerce Commission last year and subsequently upheld by a three-judge Federal court sitting in Chicago.

Purchases of materials and supplies by county governing bodies, sales of fall types of magazines and periodicals, and printing service including book-binding, engraving and embossing, were held to be exempt from the two per cent luxury tax in two court rulings last week.

The Alabama Supreme Court held Thursday that magazines are not taxable under provisions of the levy, while the other rulings were made by Judge Walter B. Jones, in Montgomery circuit court. In each case, it was pointed out, the test suit was entirely friendly, both the State Tax Commission and the complainants being equally desirous that the luxury tax act enacted by the Legislature early this year be clarified for the benefit of all concerned.

ISABELLA

ISABELLA CLUB MEETS

The Isabella Home Demonstration Club held its regular April meeting at the home of Mrs. A. L. Smith, with 18 members present, four of these being new ones.

After a few songs the program on "Citizenship" was given, with Mrs. Wells in charge, assisted by Miss Bernice Jones. Miss Callan was appointed by the president to have charge of the program in May.

Miss Grace talked on different common diseases and ways of effecting a cure through diet. Also, she went a little further into the subject of "Underweights and Overweights".

The leaders, Mrs. Oden and Mrs. White, assisted by Miss Grace, prepared several dishes suitable for a sick person to have. These consisted of cracker gruel, eggnog, lemonade and peach whip. Miss Grace suggested oters which could also be served.

The hostess served cookies and punch, after which the meeting was dismissed with the club pledge.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Gracie Foshee on Friday, May 21, at two o'clock.

If you want to come don't stay home on account of the children. Bring them along. We are always having "little demonstrators" playing out in the yard now that we're having pretty spring weather.

Why can't we have thirty members next time instead of eighteen? We can if YOU'LL be there.—Reporter, Mrs. A. L. Smith.

THORSBY 4-H CLUB

The Thorsby 4-H Club met April 29, at 4 p.m. at the public school in Thorsby. The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Harold Oaks. After repeating the club pledge Mr. Ivey discussed fully "One Variety Cotton Ginning Day." The Club Camp was also discussed and we are all looking forward to that time. Mr. Ivey took several pictures of the boys. After singing several songs the meeting adjourned to meet again in May.—Reporter, Clayton Martin.

MAPLESVILLE 4-H CLUB

The Maplesville 4-H Club met at 10:15 o'clock, April 28. The elementary grades are out of school now so this made our attendance bad.

Mr. Ivey talked about the projects of each boy and explained how to care for them and to keep them in good condition. He also told us about the camp we will have in the future.

After the program we sang several songs. The meeting adjourned to meet again in May.—Reporter, Lewis Gandy.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

When Schiller, the German poet, was dying, he said, "I see everything clearer and clearer." Many dying men have seemed to look into the other world. Often they talk to departed loved ones and deceased friends. "All right, I'm coming, John. There is mother. Yonder is Sister. There is my darling baby." Expressions like these are often heard from the lips of the dying. Many dying saints talk of looking into heaven and of seeing the Savior. "Do they really see loved ones and friends and their Lord?" is often asked. In many cases I believe dying Christians really look into heaven. Stephen did. He saw the door open and beheld Jesus at the Father's right hand. The nearer we get home the more real the place is. Dr. L. W. Munhall, the well known evangelist and Bible teacher, was a friend of the writer, and was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Bob Jones College. The old doctor lived to be over 90. When he was 88 he visited the College and preached for a week. He talked about heaven as if it were just around the corner from his home. The other world was as real to him as this one. One day Columbus looked out from his ship and saw branches of trees floating on the water. "Human hands must have thrown these branches into the water," he said. God often gathers fruit from the Tree of Life and casts it out on life's ocean to give His children who are nearing home a foretaste of the matchless glory of the heavenly home. Columbus saw a light on the shore. "A human hand holds that light," he said. God holds a light in His hands so His children on their journey home may read their titles clear to mansions in the sky. As Columbus neared the shore, a drove of birds flew over. As the saints reach the other shore, God sends a reception committee of angels to welcome them home. Lazarus, the beggar at the rich man's gate, had a reception when he went home that no earthly king ever received from mortal men. Lazarus said goodbye to the dogs and crumbs and suffering and was "carried by angels into Abraham's bosom." Cheer up, saints of God! A few more days and then home—home with the Father and all of God's children—home and no more goodbyes and no more weeping.

"Are you the minister?" a wet and ragged young girl inquired one night of the man who came to the door in answer to her knock at the home of one of England's best known preachers. "Yes, I am the minister," the gentleman answered. "Won't you please come and get my mother in?" the girl asked with a sob in her throat. "If your mother is drunk, she needs a policeman to get her in," was the minister's reply. "My mother is not out in the storm. She's not drunk. She's at home dying. She's afraid she is going to be lost forever and she wants to go to heaven. Please come and get her in," the sobbing child pleaded. The minister, knowing the section of the city where the woman lived, hesitated and said, "You go down and get the man who runs the mission." "He may be a good man. I don't know him, but I told my mother I'd get a real minister," the girl replied. "I could not stand the challenge," the preacher said. So he went with the girl to the slum district, into an old house and along a dark hall into a little room. There lay the dying woman. "I got the preacher of the biggest church in the city. He'll get you in," the girl told her mother. The minister heard the dying woman's cry. "All my life I've been a sinner. I'm going to hell. I don't want to go there. I want to go to heaven. I want to be saved." The minister, who was modernistic in his theology, had been preaching salvation by character, but this woman had no character and she was dying and had no time to develop a character. He could not preach reformation. She was too low in sin to reform. "I recalled what my mother taught me. I gave the dying woman the old Gospel of the Grace of God. I told her that God loved her and that the blood of His son cleanses from all sin. I got down on my knees and prayed for her. I got her in, and while I was getting her in I got myself in." There in that dying room, a harlot and a cultured minister were both converted. Thank God for a Gospel that is sufficient. "'Tis the old time religion, and it is good enough for me."

Lesson for May 9

ABRAHAM A MAN OF PRAYER

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 18:17-32.
GOLDEN TEXT—The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. James 5:16.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Abraham Praying for His Neighbors.
JUNIOR TOPIC—A Great Man's Prayer.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Praying for Others.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Ministry of Intercession.

Prayer—how many are the books that have been written on that subject and the sermons preached, and yet how little it is actually practiced. One can attract an audience to hear it discussed, but only a handful will come to pray. We as Christians agree that it is God's appointed way of blessing. We put up mottoes such as "Prayer changes things," or "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of," and then (may God forgive us!) we try to change things ourselves. We struggle with problems when we ought to pray.

The lesson of today, from the life of that great hero of faith, Abraham, stresses the importance of intercessory prayer, that is, the giving of ourselves to pray for the temporal and spiritual welfare of others. In an age characterized by a grasping spirit of acquisition for personal advantage it is like a breath from heaven to read of this man's prayer for others.

I. The Nature of Intercessory Prayer.

1. It is a Privilege. Abraham had been honored by a visit from God. The covenant had been renewed, a son had been promised. The three visitors looked out toward Sodom. God who had thus appeared to Abraham in visible form and had shared the hospitality of his home now extends to him the privilege of sharing in God's purpose. How glorious to be on such terms of confidence with God, to know him and to know his will and purpose!

2. It is a Responsibility. "Abraham stood yet before the Lord"—why? To pray for Sodom and Gomorrah. Privilege and responsibility go together. Those who have audience with the King of kings are there to carry the blessed burden of prayer for others. Are we praying for our children, our families, our church, our nation? If not, who will pray?

3. It is Objective, not Subjective. Some modern "religious" leaders would devitalize prayer by making it a sort of spiritual exercise which has only the value of developing our own soul. The prayer room is to them a sort of spiritual gymnasium where the soul develops its strength and a spiritual sense of well-being floods the soul.

Undoubtedly the very fellowship with God which is inherent in prayer is spiritually beneficial, but prayer actually deals with such things as cities, men, sin, sorrow. It concerns men's physical well-being, their material prosperity, as well as their spiritual welfare. It is the means designated by God for the release of his power on behalf of the object for which we pray.

II. Characteristics of Intercessory Prayer.

1. Unselfish. Abraham already had his promise and his blessing. The cities of the plain were wicked, yet he prayed for them. Those who know the spirit of God are not selfish in prayer.

2. Courageous. Note the reverent boldness with which Abraham pleaded the cause of the condemned cities. The Bible reveals that God honored men who had a holy courage. History tells the same story. We celebrate this year the centenary of one who prayed boldly—and believed, and labored—Dwight L. Moody.

3. Persistent. No one likes a "quitter." Christ spoke of a man who was heard for his importunity (Luke 11:8). See also Luke 18:1-8. Some one has said that when we pray we are all too often like the mischievous boy who rings the doorbell and runs away without waiting for an answer.

III. Results of Intercessory Prayer.

The cities were destroyed, but the righteous were saved. God hears and answers prayer. This is the testimony of His Word, of countless Christian men and women of all ages, yes, of the men and women of our day. We know by experience that it is true—"I cried; he answered." He says to you and to me, "Call unto Me and I will answer thee and show thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not" (Jer. 33:3).

No Reason for Anxiety

Anxiety is the poison of life; the parent of many sins and of more miseries. Why, then, allow it, when we know that all the future is guided by a Father's hand!—Blair.

A Long Life

He lives long that lives well, and time misspent is not lived, but lost. —Fuller.

COUNTY ALMSHOUSES

The regular session of the 1935 Legislature passed a law which allowed the governing bodies with the permission and approval of the State Department of Public Welfare to close their almshouses. Forty-five counties have closed their almshouses and ten of the remaining twenty-two are in the process of closing—that is, have closed admissions and are gradually placing their present inmates in homes outside of the almshouses.

A survey of the almshouses made by the Department of Public Welfare in November, 1935, revealed that 63 per cent of the almshouse population of the State was above 65 years of age and therefore was qualified for old age pensions if and when removed from the almshouse. It also revealed that the average per capital cost of upkeep of these almshouses was estimated to be more than $20.00 per month.

The counties could by diverting the appropriations for the almshouses to the county departments of public welfare receive for the aged group $3.00 for $1.00—one State dollar and two Federal dollars. This enabled the county departments to provide for the persons removed from the almshouses and also gave them funds to provide for an additional number of needy aged people. For example, one county which closed its almshouse and made the almshouse appropriation of $500.00 per month to the County Department of Public Welfare was enabled from the State and Federal funds received for matching the local fund to take care of 30 inmates of the almshouse placed in their own houses and in the homes of relatives and friends, and in addition to grant financial assistance to 90 aged persons and 105 dependent children.

Sixty-five per cent of the removed former inmates of almshouses have been placed in their own homes or in the homes of relatives. The other 35 per cent have been placed in the homes of friends. The former inmates of closed almshouses are constantly visited by representatives of the county departments of public welfare.

There's a Vast Difference In the Life of Building Material
—investigate before you build your home

Frame houses deteriorate 3 per cent a year during the first 10 years. Brick houses 1 per cent a year after the first 5 years.

And the difference in the first cost is about 6 per cent.

Why say anything more?

Brick or Hollow Tile permits a great variety of styles and such a home has a far greater resale value.

And besides think of the saving in painting and upkeep.

Taxpayers Ass'n Meets June Third

Montgomery, Ala. — Dates for two state-wide meetings of the newly organized Consumers-Taypayers Association of Alabama were announced here today by Jeff Beeland, chairman. The first of these meetings will be held at 1 p. m., June 3, in the ballroom of the Whitley hotel, while the second will be held in the ballroom of the Thomas Jefferson hotel, Birmingham, at 8 p. m. on the same day.

Mr. Frank G. Arnold, of Fullerton, Neb., and president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues, will be the principal speaker at both meetings.

At these meetings suggestions for a new constitution and by laws for the association, as proposed by the executive committee of the old Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association at a meeting in Montgomery on April 15, will be acted upon by the delegations. County unit chairmen of the association from the 67 counties of Alabama, as well as representatives from all trade, civic and farm organizations have been invited to attend these meetings, those from central and south Alabama to attend the Montgomery meeting, while those from upstate sectors will attend the Birmingham meeting, Beeland stated.

Proposals to be laid before the meetings include plans for broadening the scope of the association so as to appeal to all citizens interested in "economy in government" and an end to "pie government", such as is now in force in Alabama, Beeland added.

THARP ELECTED TO FILL MUNRO VACANCY

Montgomery, Ala. — At a meeting held in Birmingham Saturday, the executive committee of the Alabama Education Association elected S. M. Tharp, superintendent of schools of Baldwin County, to fill the vacancy on the committee created by the recent resignation of Paul M. Munro, who becomes superintendent of the city schools of Columbus, Ga., July 1; adopted a sixteen-point educational platform for the quadrennium 1938-1942; and authorized an appropriation from the Association's treasury for a state-wide program of interpretation of the platform to be inaugurated in June.

Heading the comprehensive platform for schools to be advocated during the coming quadrennium is the appointment of the state and county superintendents of education by state and county boards of education respectively. The state superintendent would be named by a state board of education composed of nine members, all of whom shall be appointed by the governor with the approval of the Senate, to serve overlapping terms of twelve years. This board would fix the superintendent-s term of office and salary. Local laws under which the county superintendent of schools is now elected in 42 counties of the 67 would be repealed, as recommended in the platform, thus permitting the general law to become effective under which the county superintendent is appointed by the board of education.

SODIUM NITRATES SHOW EQUAL VALUE IN COTTON PRODUCTION

The various brands of sodium nitrate are of equal value in production of cotton, as shown by yields under conditons of experiments conducted by the South Carolina Experiment Station, according to Dr. H. P. Cooper, director of the station.

Pointing out that there has been some question about the comparative yields of cotton from the use of various brands of sodium nitrate as a side dressing at the Pee Dee Experiment Station, Dr. Cooper issues the following statement regarding the matter:

"The average yields from 1930 to 1935 reported by E. E. Hall, superintendent of the Pee Dee station, in the 49th annual report of the South Carolina experiment station should be changed slightly since the average yield for old style Chilean sodium nitrate for 1933 was for two plots whereas all the other averages for this season included yields from three plots of each.

"Since there has been some question concerning including two plots for one material and three plots for others, it was decided to include in the final figures the yields from only two plots for each material for 1933. After making these changes, the average yields of seed cotton per acre for the 6-year period from the three brands of sodium nitrate are as follows: Arcadian sodium nitrate, 1,891 pounds; Champion brand Chilean, 1,888 pounds; old style Chilean, 1,883 pounds."

Then on Friday night, just after being bonded out, Foshee got a shotgun and proceeded to go out man hunting and woman hunting. By the time the officers got him under control again he had shot two negro men and two negro women. None of them were injured seriously, however. He is now in jail charged with attempt to murder.

WARNING TO WHISKEY AND BEER SELLERS IN COUNTY

Sheriff J. R. Hardy has asked The Union-Banner to remind the people of Chilton County that it is still against the law for anyone to sell whiskey or beer in Chilton County. And the warning is hereby given out that all parties or business concerns engaging in such sales will be dealt with strictly according to the law governing dry counties.

Mr. Hardy has conferred with State officials regarding the matter, and he was instructed to bring Grand Jury action against any party or parties violating this law in Chilton County. Mr. Hardy is issuing the warning that this action is going to be taken, and everybody may be governed accordingly.

DR. PARRISH IS IN CHARGE OF COUNTY RABIES CONTROL

Dr. W. L. Parrish has been chosen by the county health unit to have charge of the movement to control rabies in Chilton County. This is a state-wide movement, and is to operate under a special act of the legislature. The act provides "For the protection of human beings against rabies, to require inoculation of all dogs running at large, to provide for the apprehension and disposition of dogs running at large which have not been inoculated in accordance with the provisions of this act; to provide for the confinement of bitten dogs and dogs that have bitten human beings, to provide a means of enforcement of the provisions of the act; the appointment of a rabies inspector, to fix fees for inoculation of dogs, and to fix penalties for the violation of the provisions of the law".

All of this work in the county will be in the charge of Dr. Parrish, and he will have the right to appoint assistants in different communities of the county, if he finds it necessary.

This is a splendid law, since in late years stray and worthless dogs have become a nuisance in different sections of the country. Mad dogs are dangerous, and every means possible should be used to protect people from them. Let everyone lend Dr. Parrish assistance in this work of the control of rabies.

VISITED OLD FRIENDS IN SHELBY COUNTY SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. Reese Mullins went up in Shelby County Sunday and spent the day with old acquaintances and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Boney Jordan, near Shelby Iron Works.

The occasion was the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan, and Mr. Mullins reports that there were some fifty guests present from over the state to help this aged couple enjoy the festivities of the happy occasion. Many gifts were presented the hosts, including golden emblems, Etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan are former residents of Chilton County, having lived in Beat 1, near Lay Dam. Mrs. Jordan is the oldest sister of the late Rolifee Bates, and daughter of Uncle Mart and Aunt Sarah Bates, in their day respected citizens of Beat 1. Mrs. Jordan was an old school mate of Mr. C. Reese Mullins, and he has enjoyed the lasting friendship of the family through many years.

According to Mr. Mullins, Mr. and Mrs. Jordan live in one of the best homes in Shelby County. Located on a large mound about the center of a 600-acre farm, surrounded by spreading oaks, the Jordan home presents a most striking picture. Extended meadows with grazing cattle, dozens of bee gums out under the trees, all make it an ideal place to live. Mr. Mullins says that he feels like he has actually visited the land of milk and honey.

Of all occasions similar to this it has been the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. Mullins to attend, they say this wedding anniversary of the Jordans should be classed as No. 1. It certainly proved to be most congenial and happy to all those in attendance.

MAYOR JONES TOOK AIR RIDE

Mayor C. Fenn Jones took his first airplane spin Tuesday morning. He went up with Mr. H. F. Wood, of Birmingham, in his big four-passenger Stinson plane. Mayor Jones says that he enjoyed the views of Clanton from the air immensely, but that he doubts yet that he has become what you would call an air enthusiast.

"It may sound rather fogy", says Mr. Jones, "but I just simply cannot feel as safe a thousand feet up as I do on the ground. I enjoyed the ride with Mr. Wood and the other gentlemen immensely, but I am not hankering to make a practice of this air business."

"THE HOLY TERROR" TO BE AT WADESONIAN SUN. AND MON.

Life Begins At 6:30 For Jane Withers, But Even Then She Has To Rush

When Mrs. Withers tucks her mischievous daughter Jane into bed at 8 o'clock, her exclanation, "Well, another day spent!" means literally a day exhausted by the youngster's energetic use of every minute of her 14 waking hours.

Bustling with energy from the time she wakes at 6:30 a.m., Jane Withers rushes about hour after hour, never wearying, outlasting parents directors and technicians working with her in the filming of her latest escapade, "The Holy Terror", the 20th Century-Fox film showing at the new Wadesonian Theatre next Sunday and Monday.

Required to be at the studio by 9 in the morning, Jane takes an hour's horseback ride three mornings a week, the other three being spent on 2-mile hikes into the hills.

Yet, before she is ready to leave for work, she feeds the chickens and weeds the flower beds in a garden of which she is very proud. The minutes when she isn't actually before the camera, or studying, she makes oddities to give the 50 or 60 people working on the set. When she first got her woodworking set, she distributed enough door stops to supply every portal in Hollywood.

The dynamic youngster also runs a clipping bureau, daily going through many newspapers and movie magazines to cut out stories about her "customers". The entire cast of "The Holy Terror", which includes Anthony Martin, Leah Ray, Joan Davis, El Brendel, and Joe Lewis, are subscribers to her service.

"The Holy Terror", a 20th Century-Fox film, was directed by James Tinling, with John Stone as associate producer, from the original screen play by Lou Breslow and John Patrick, with songs by Sidney Clare and Harry Akst.

PRETTY USED CAR LOT BEING FIXED BY CLANTON MOTORS

A unique lot for displaying used cars is this week being arranged by Clanton Motors, local Ford dealers. It is located across Third Avenue from the Clanton Motors building, just at the rear of Teel Service Station. At first glance it looks like a gaudy street fair with the small gaily colored tents set up in all directions. But on closer examination one sees the big letters "R and G" and "Reconditioned Used Cars."

And furthermore, about used cars, —if you have any idea of buying one or trading for a better used car, you will find a complete list at the Ford place. Look over the list they are running in this week's adv. in The Union-Banner. They are offering some real bargains.

CLANTON GROCER SLUGGED LAST SATURDAY NIGHT

Last Saturday night as he drove his car into his garage at his home, Mr. Durwood Broadhead was slugged in the head by a would-be bandit. Reports are that Mr. Broadhead left his grocery store about midnight and drove directly to his home. He drove his car into the garage, and after sitting in the car a brief moment listening to his radio, stepped out. As he got even with the rear of the car, someone stepped up from behind the garage door and slugged him over the forehead, knocking Mr. Broadhead to the ground. The man then got on Mr. Broadhead and hit him twice in the face. Mr. Broadhead was somewhat dazed but not unconscious, so fought back and finally freed himself. The would-be bandit ran away, and before aid could be called to the scene, no trace of him could be established.

Mr. Broadhead had some money on his person, and it is presumed that robbery was the motive of the assault. No money was taken, however.

PILOT CLUB INSTALLS OFFICERS

On Wednesday evening, April 28, at their regular meeting, the following officers for the year 1937-1938, were installed by the Pilot Club, with their former president, Mrs. Zora Guy Smith, presiding:

President, Miss Gertie Fiquette; 1st Vice President, Miss Sara Colley; 2nd Vice President, Miss Ruth Sessions; Secretary, Miss Edith Mae McCutcheon; Treasurer, Mrs. Laura Little; Directors, Mrs. Mamie C. Smith and Miss Bertha Dennis.

The Clanton Pilot Club is planning a big year, using as their objective for the year to sponsor a tonsilectomy clinic for the many underprivileged children of Clanton and vicinity. The Club has done much in the past in aiding storm and flood sufferers, building of the new lunch room at the local grammar school, feeding six underprivileged children in the lunch room at the grammar school the entire year, contributing to the crippled children's clinic, co-operating with the local Kiwanis Club in playing "Santa Claus" to many needy families in this county at Christmas time, and many other worthy causes.

The Club is very fortunate in securing Gertie Fiquette as their new president. She has served in the capacity of secretary for the past year, having been a member of the Club only two years. She is also president of the Y. W. A., and takes an active part in many other religious organizations of Clanton. She was one of the youngest Pilots to attend the International Convention in Birmingham last June as a delegate. She is also Pilot Log Reporter to the Pilot International Magazine for the local Club.

3 Killed In Wreck Monday Evening

Herbert Foshee, Arcie T. Klinner, and Melvin Perry Were Victims; All Natives of Maplesville.

Three young men, all residents of Maplesville, in this county, were killed instantly at 6:30 o'clock Monday afternoon when an empty lumber truck in which they were riding left the highway about four miles south of Clanton, crashed into a telephone pole, and then burst into flames.

The dead are: Herbert E. Foshee, 28, Arcie Thomas Klinner, 24, and Melvin Daris Perry, 22, all of Maplesville and prominent Chilton County families.

The men were returning from Montgomery, where they had delivered a load of lumber. There were no eye witnesses to the crash.

A passing motorist saw the burning truck and notified authorities, who sent an ambulance to the scene of the tragedy.

The truck, a cab model, side-swiped the pole and was a complete wreck. Authorities who examined the bodies expressed the belief the boys died instantly as it appeared they were thrown through the side of the truck's cab.

The bodies were slightly burned in the blaze which followed the crash. Gasoline, sprayed from a bursted tank, is believed to have caught from the hot exhaust pipe.

Young Foshee was a Justice of the Peace at Maplesville, and was a brother of John W. Foshee, prominent Centreville lawyer.

Klinner was engaged in the lumber business in Chilton and surrounding counties, and young Perry was also a member of one of Chilton's outstanding families.

The bodies were brought to Clanton by Martin's ambulance. They were prepared here. Funeral for Foshee was held at 2 o'clock Wednesday at Maplesville. Klinner was buried Tuesday at 11 o'clock at Sardis. The Perry young man was buried at Maplesville Wednesday.

ENTERPRISE CLUB

The Enterprise Home Demonstration Club met Wednesday afternoon, May 5, at the school house. We had a good number present; three new members were added to the Club; we have 23 members now, and wish that all would try to meet every month. We feel that those who were not present last Wednesday missed something worth while.

We had some very interesting discussions by Miss Grace on the Farm Bureau, and on diseases and diets for the sick. After hearing this talk, we feel that we know better how to care for the sick, and what to cook for them. She also gave out recipes to use for the sick.

The business of the Club was attended to in order.

We were given a book of recipes for making breads of different kinds, and asked each member to use one recipe in the book and bring a sample of the bread to the next meeting, and see which was nicest.

We will meet June 2 at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Taylor.

State Capitol News

The Alabama Highway Corporation last Friday sold $1,750,000 in warrants to be used in financing a $3,500,000 state-federal road paving program.

The state funds will be used to match cash available from the Federal Bureau of Roads. The warrants sold at par with the record low interest rate of 3 per cent, and were bought by Ward-Sterne & Co., Birmingham, and a group of seven Alabama banks, including the First National of Montgomery, the First National Bank and the Birmingham Trust and Savings Co., Birmingham; the First National and Merchants National of Mobile; the Selma National of Selma; and the First National Bank of Tuscaloosa.

The Alabama Highway Corporation was created under a 1935 legislative act, and is composed of the governor and members of the State Highway Commission. Validity of the act was upheld by the State Supreme Court about 10 days ago.

The warrants will be retired with gasoline tax revenue, beginning with $250,000 July 1, and a like amount each three months thereafter.

Alabama now holds tax property valued at approximately $18,000,000, representing loss of approximately $120,000 annually in tax revenue to the state, according to Chairman Henry S. Long of the State Tax Commission.

The heavy loss in property tax yield was due to the necessity on the part of the state of taking over property for non-payment of taxes, Mr. Long explained. Peak of tax sales was 1933 when real estate valued at $24,000,000 was stricken from the tax books.

With the creation in 1935 of the State Land Commission, designed to aid property owners to redeem their property, only $7,110,000 was thus bought in by the state, Long added.

During 1936 there were 6,359 sales and 11,276 redemptions effected by the Land Commission, he continued. Many countuies now have no tax-sold property held by the state. Under provisions of a new law, former owners may redeem their property within three years from the date of sale in four installments as long as the title remains with the state until full settlement is made.

Property turned back to owners in 1936, and now producing revenue was valued at $12,525,062.49, according to Mr. Long's estimate. All sales are based on the amount of accrued taxes, plus 6 per cent interest, though owners may redeem their property sold for taxes prior to January 1, 1935, without interest, though the provision expires January 1, 1938.

With the election last week of Bruce Airey, of Wetumpka, as president of the Southeastern States Parole Conference, the new organization largely sponsored by Gov. Bibb Graves took its place in a nationwide movement to establish modern, scientific and uniform convict release systems throughout the nation.

"We hope to form compacts among the various states whereby a criminal who is paroled will not be allowed to go into anotner state which does not have such supervision", Mr. Airey said upon assuming his new post. "Such compacts already authorized by an act of congress, one state would take over the supervision of parolees from other states.

"We disapprove parole of hardened convicts and repeaters", Airey continued, "but we also believe punishment in many cases is too severe. Also, we can't let politics or sentiment enter into parole matters. It must be a scientific system".

He pointed to a record of only 6.8 per cent of 2,514 federal parolees who were returned as violators during 1935, and added: "It is the violator who makes the front page. The fact that more than 90 per cent of them are behaving themselves is not news, and therefore the people don't know the great good such a system may bring".

It takes over 100 pounds of pasture grass to maintain a 900-pound dairy cow producing 20 pounds of milk daily. If your pasture will not do this it will be necessary to supplement it with grain if production is to be held up.

Lesson for May 16

THE FORBEARANCE OF ISAAC

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 26: 12-25.
GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. Matthew 5:9.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Wouldn't Quarrel.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Was Isaac a Hero?
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How to Prevent Quarrels.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Promoting Peace.

In a world largely dominated by the philosophy that might is right, and in which men are urged to assert themselves and demand their rights, exacting them even by lawless and violent methods, it is increasingly difficult to proclaim the truth that meekness is not weakness and that the Christian virtues of patience and long-suffering are not simply outmoded theories which do not fit our modern world.

The story of Isaac, the second of the patriarchs, is instructive from beginning to end. The five chapters preceding our lesson merit careful reading. Isaac had come through many blessed experiences and had also sadly tasted the defeat of unbelief and sin before we reach the time of our lesson. Fearing a famine, and evidently not being certain that God would care for him, he had gone down from the promised land, and was dwelling in the land of the Philistines. But God had not forsaken him, and even there he blessed him.

I. Peace, Prosperity, and Envy (vv. 12-17).

Isaac was at peace although he was in the enemy's territory. God had given him great prosperity with the result that the Philistines hated him. Times have changed, but men are the same. Many are they who will not have the Lord Jesus Christ to rule over them, but who cast envious glances toward those who because they have honored God have been honored by him with peace of heart and have been prospered in whatever they do. (Read Psalm 1.)

Note that Isaac's testimony is strengthened by his willingness to yield even what was his right, rather than cause contention. Undoubtedly there are times when one must defend his name and his possessions, but all too often those who "stand up for their rights" have wrecked homes, churches, and nations, and have gained nothing but an empty victory.

II. Peace in the World Is Temporary (vv. 18-21).

Isaac moved on and digged more wells, and for a time he was again at peace, but not for long. He was still in the land of the Philistines. We are in the world. We long for peace, we would throw all our influence on the side of peace. But let us not be misled, for as long as sin is in the world there will be strife and war.

Many noble Christian men and women have permitted their God-given hatred of war and killing to mislead them into support of unscriptural and impossible peace programs, often to the loss of their interest in the preaching of the gospel and the winning of souls to Christ. But is there then never to be "peace on earth"?

III. Perfect Peace in the Presence of God (vv. 22-25).

When Isaac came up into Canaan the land which God had promised him, he found permanent peace and renewed fellowship with God. Even so, the Christian man and woman who will step out of a spirituality-destroying fellowship with the world and will come wholly over into the spiritual Canaan will find true peace and intimate communion with God.

A broader application of the same truth brings before us the teaching of Scripture that when the One who has a right to reign, the Lord Jesus Christ, returns to take his throne, then and not before, will peace cover the earth. In the meantime those who bear the beautiful name Christian, who are true followers of the Prince of Peace, will give themselves to such patient, loving, and longsuffering testimony to Him that their personal influence will be toward peace in the home, in the church, in the community, in the earth.

Always remember that God's Word, the Bible, is our guide. Let us read it diligently, intelligently, prayerfully. To help the reader to do this, the writer of these notes will be glad to supply without cost or obligation a Bible-reading calendar with a workable plan for reading the blessed Book through in a year. If possible enclose a stamped and self-addressed envelope with your request.

Faults Showing Up

The good often sigh more over little faults than the wicked over great. Hence an old proverb, that the stain appears greater according to the brilliancy of what it touches. —Palmieri.

Sin of Not Doing

Doing nothing at all is often the worst kind of wrong doing. Simply failing to do what we ought to do may be more inexcusable than any mistake in our best methods of doing.

Mr. Douglas Nelson of Montgomery was in Clanton over the week end.

COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER IS NOW CONDUCTING ROUND-UP PROGRAM

Chilton County's future citizens, the little boys and girls of today, will have an opportunity to begin their schooling with the best possible health, if they take advantage of a program started here.

This program, termed a "Summer Round-Up", is being conducted over the county by the Summer Round-Up Committees of the Parent-Teachers Associations of the county, co-operating with the county health department and the board of education, according to Dr. J. M. Kimmey, county health officer.

The purpose of the campaign is to send to the entering grades of school children as free from remediable defects as possible. Clinics will be held for the purpose of giving each child who will be six on or before October 1 a physical examination. And, if the parents so wish, their children will be immunized against diphtheria and smallpox.

A schedule of the clinics to be held over the county for this purpose has been set out as given below. Parents of the children are requested to be present at the clinics.

ALPINE-PLETCHER CLUB

The Alpine-Pletcher Home Demonstration Club met April 27 at Pilgrim church, with six members present. We welcomed one new member and one visitor. After singing several songs the vice president took charge of the meeting.

The reading of the minutes and roll call were given by the secretary. Mrs. Mollie Bell Ousley, chairman of Farm Bureau, gave a very interesting talk on "What The Farm Bureau Stands For". Miss Grace also talked on the subject of "Farm Bureau Organization", and what we can all do to help. So come on, Club friends; we can do more good by learning more, and the more we get together the happier we will be.

The demonstration given by Miss Grace was on "Diseases and Special Diets". We find it important to know the kind of food that the body needs and how to prevent diseases such as tuberculosis, diabetes, pellagra, and Aenemia.

We then studied special diets for the person who has these diseases.

We like our birthday plan of getting money for our treasury.

We have 31 members on roll. I hope you will give Miss Grace a big surprise by being present at the next meeting.

The Club adjourned by saying Club pledges, to meet at Mrs. Lester Walkers, May 25.—Mrs. Henry Ousley, reporter.

"Attendance at the convention this year will of necessity be limited to 5 officers from each of the 143 chapters which represent a total State membership of more than 3,750 students," says R. E. Cammack, supervisor of agricultural education. An excellent program is being prepared. During their stay in Auburn the students will be housed in the state camp on the campus of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

LAST WEEK FOR FILING 1937 AAA WORK SHEETS

Auburn. — This is the last week for Alabama farmers to file work sheets under the 1937 agricultural conservation program, states Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of the AAA program in Alabama, in calling farmers' attention to the fact that the agricultural conservation committee set May 15 as the final date for filing work sheets in county agents' offices.

Last year farmers of the state were paid about ten million dollars for cooperating, and indications are that they will be paid about this amount again this year. Most growers are filling out work sheets and plan to apply for benefit payments this fall.

HENS FOR MARKET SHOULD BE CAREFULLY SELECTED

Auburn. — Hens that are to be marketed this spring should be selected with care to avoid selling some of the best layers, advises John E. Ivey, extension poultryman.

The greater than average seasonal rise in the farm price of chickens and the less than average seasonal decline in the farm price of eggs are favorable to poultry producers this year, he states. For this reason poultrymen should exercise unusual care in selecting hens to be marketed.

Fewer early hatched chicks indicate fewer pullets and less eggs for market during the coming fall and early winter.

Feed, water, pasture, shade, ventilated houses and freedom from lice and mites are things necessary for proper growth and development of the pullets and for good summer egg production from hens.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED BY JERSEY PRODUCERS

Auburn. — Will Ezell, Birmingham, was elected president; Jim Van Antwerp, Mobile, 1st vice president; N. Floyd McGowin, Chapman, 2nd vice president; and Tom McCord, Montgomery, secretary-treasurer of the Alabama Jersey Cattle Association at the annual meeting this year.

At the same time, the following were elected as members of the board of directors: Robert Jemison, Sr., Birmingham; Oscar Williams, Muscogee, Fla.; A. G. Rankin, Gallion; K. G. Baker, Marion Junction; L. T. Matthews, Montgomery; L. W. Spratling, Waverly; W. A. Gardner, Auburn; Louie Usry, Attalla; Dr. L. H. Holman, Ozark; J. Cooper Cowan, Tanner; I. W. Cooper, Spring Hill; and T. E. Drake, Huntsville.

TIME FOR SIDE DRESSING CORN AND COTTON GIVEN

Auburn. — J. C. Lowery, agronomist of the Alabama Extension Service, is calling farmers' attention to the facts that cotton fertilized with fertilizer of low nitrogen content should be side dressed about 40 days after planting.

All cotton fertilized with 3-10-3, 3-8-3, 4-8-4, and other fertilizers with less than six per cent nitrogen should be side dressed at the first cultivation after chopping, he says. A 6-8-4 applied before planting is all the fertilizer that should be used for cotton and does away with the need of side dressing of any kind.

The most profitable way to fertilize corn in Alabama is to apply the equivalent of 100 to 200 pounds of nitrate 40 days after planting. Experiments by the Alabama Experiment Station show that on an average of 50 crops of corn a ton of soda has produced 146 bushels of corn at a cost of 24 cents a bushel.

ALABAMA GRANTED BIG LIVESTOCK LABORATORY

Auburn. — A regional research laboratory to study diseases of domestic animals and poultry and methods of control will be located in Auburn, announce officials of the United States Department of Agriculture.

"This will be a central research laboratory for all the states east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio Rivers", said Dr. L. N. Duncan, president, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, in announcing that the board of trustees of the college is co-operating in the establishment of the laboratory by providing the necessary lands for buildings, grounds, paddocks, and pastures.

GIRLS' SHORT COURSE IS PLANNED MAY 31- JUNE 5

Auburn. — Plans are being made for several hundred Alabama 4-H Club girls to attend the annual short course in Auburn, May 31-June 5, states Elizabeth DeLony, girls' 4-H Club leader. A full program of entertainment and education is being prepared for girls from every county in the state. They will be housed in the state camp on the campus of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute during their 5-day stay in Auburn.

"BULL FARMERS COTTON"

Auburn. — "Bull Farmers Cotton" was used again this year by rehabilitation clients in Alabama, according to Julian Brown, State Director of Rural Rehabilitation in Alabama.

"This fine seed, recommended to us last year by the extension service and experiment station, proved to be an excellent variety for our clients. The quality of the cotton and the increased yield earned the admiration of neighboring farmers and cotton buyers", said Mr. Brown.

"This cotton was dubbed 'Bull Farmers Cotton' because last year 75 per cent of our clients in Alabama used steers as work stock."

Of the 13,452 clients on the 1936 program, 9,825 were supplied with 47,000 bushels of seed; 28,000 bushels of this seed produced 15-16-inch staple or better; 19,000 bushels produced 1-inch staple or better. Clients actually received a premium of $55,440 due to the better staple; 11,391 bushels of seed came direct from the breeder. From these the clients saved 40,806 bushels of seed which was distributed among 1937 clients throughout Alabama.

Mr. Brown further stated: "Many farmers in the locality, who are neighbors to our clients, have secured this seed and will enjoy improved yield this year.

"Our 1937 program calls for most of our farmers to be equipped with mules or with mares, and in addition to cash crops, they are well on the way toward a good rounded farm program that will produce practically all items of subsistence for their families and stock. Modern farming practices and management, under the guidance of the Resettlement Administration's Rehabilitation Supervisors, are appreciated and closely followed by our clients in Alabama, and I expect a most successful year".

Balanced Farming Program Aid To Chilton Farmers

Chilton County farmers are following a better balanced farming program than ever before. They are receiving more cash from their cotton, producing more live stock, growing more food and feed crops, and improving their soils annually over what they were four years ago, when the national farm program was launched.

This is revealed by J. W. Fant, county agent, in reporting that the cotton seed produced in the county in 1936 were worth $1,200,000, compared with only $439,500 in 1932, the year before the program was started. During this period the price of lint cotton advanced from about five cents per pound and cotton seed advanced from $9 to about $35 per ton. Cotton and cotton seed are now worth about $75 per bale compared with less than $30 in 1932.

Not only has the farm program caused cotton to more than double in value, but farmers of Chilton have received $790,356.43 in benefit payments since the program was launched. To date this year they have received $146,925.75 in government payments due for co-operating in 1936, and are still to receive about $5,000. Plans are now being made for them to obtain another large sum for co-operating this year.

That farmers of the county are improving their farming practices is illustrated by the fact that last year they grew 16,009 bales of cotton on 32,000 acres, an average of 239 pounds per acre, compared with 19,368 bales on 44,177 acres, an average of 209 pounds per acre in 1930. This increase in production has been brought about by better fertilizers, seeds, improved soils and cultural methods.

Statistics from the State Department of Agriculture show that Chilton County farmers used 7,200 tons of fertilizer in 1936. Of this tonnage, 1,296 were 6-8-4, the fertilizer which the Alabama Experiment Station has found best for cotton. The station has found that farmers produce about $25 more cotton per ton by using 6-8-4 than they do when using 3-8-5. The tonnage of 3-8-5 used by farmers of the county dropped from about 3,339 tons three years ago to only 2,383 tons last year.

Not only has the planting of soil conserving and building crops helped increase the cotton yields, but it has added considerably to the corn yields in the county. The Alabama Experiment Station reports that winter legumes increase corn yields by about 20 bushels per acre, and statistics show that Chilton County farmers planted 170,500 pounds of vetch and Austrian pea seed on 7,077 acres of land in 1936. Under favorable weather conditions this should increase the corn yields of the county by over 141,540 bushels this year.

Planting of legumes has been on the climb in the county for several years. In 1933 farmers planted 82,000 pounds of vetch; in 1935 this increased to 90,000 pounds; and in 1936 used 170,500 pounds. In addition to the vetch and Austrian winter peas, 1,000 pounds of crimson clover, co-operating farmers planted 23,000 acres of soil conserving crops.

Terracing is playing a most important part in improving soils and enhancing the value of farm lands in the county. During the past year 850 acres of land were terraced. Figured at $5 per acre this land was increased in value by $4,250. Some of the land was terraced with co-operative power outfits, and the other was terraced by individual farmers with their regular farming tools.

60 H. P. V-8 ENGINE IS WINNING APPROVAL IN BUSINESS INDUSTRY

The new 60 horsepower V-8 engine, introduced in the United States last fall by the Ford Motor Company, is establishing a firm place for itself in the field of light delivery, a survey discloses.

Reports from many sections of the country indicate that the engine is fulfilling a genuine need for a lighter power plant in certain classes of delivery service.

The baking industry is one in which the new 60 horsepower V-8 engine is proving satisfactory. Bread routes operated by bakeries, also those handled by commission men are being made more profitable through the use of equipment powered with the new engine, it is reported.

"This new unit is saving us over 20 per cent on gasoline consumption", an official of a Columbus, O., baking company states. Another in Boston, Mass., reports a substantial reduction in the route costs due to the economy of this equipment, while another in Oklahoma City, Okla., reports 20 miles per gallon, with 36 stops per day.

The 60 horsepower V-8 equipment is a boon to the laundry and dry cleaning industry. Many establishments of this kind report the equipment the most satisfactory they have ever used.

"Our gasoline mileage averages from 22 to 24 miles per gallon, which is a substantial increase over any unit we have ever operated in the past, in our door-to-door city delivery," a Miami, Fla., dry cleaner reports.

Breweries and retail beer and wine shops are making extensive use of the new light equipment, and even coal dealers are finding that a 60 horsepower V-8 unit is a handy thing to have around for small rush orders.

A great many office supply houses and furniture stores are using the light delivery units, since items which they handle are usually delivered in small lots.

"Our new 60 horsepower stake with special body is giving high mileage," an Oklahoma office supply house reports.

Many retail paint and paper stores find that they are benefitted through use of this equipment. Small quantity deliveries, easily handled by light equipment, are the rule of the business.

Dairies, groceries, meat markets, electric and radio shops, dry goods stores, bottling establishments, print shops, newspapers, taxi cab companies are among the numerous other businesses which have approved the 60 horsepower V-8 unit for light delivery work.

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

THE PEPPER STALK

The Clanton Woco Peppers began their official batting records for the year last Sunday, although they have played several games. This standing will be kept from game to game, and published in The Union-Banner every week. Watch it, and see how the boys sharpen their batting eyes as the season gets under way.

In the official opening game last Sunday the Peppers' hits came few and far between. Some of the figures below may look bad now, but they will fatten. Too, some of the top-notchers shown below will no doubt drop a bit as the weeks pass.

Nivens and Sparrow Easterling are top pods on the old Pepper stalk just now. Willie Armstrong and Hayes are hanging on 'way down the stalk, with a cluster of leaves near or on the bottom. But watch the Pepper stalk grow new pods from week to week.

Following are the averages of the various Peppers:

REFUGE SCHOOL HAS LARGE NUMBER STUDENTS OF PERFECT ATTENDANCE

Refuge School announces these children as being perfect in attendance for the seven months school term that has just closed. Left to right they are: Willie Jean Mims, Louis Connell, Naomi Mims, Bronson Minor, J. E. Connell, James Mims, Geanette Gentry, Louise Mims, and Katherine Mims.

The teachers, trustees and general community of Refuge feel very grateful to Superintendent Little and the County Board of Education for the appropriation for painting the building. Its brightened appearance meant much during the past year in building within the children an ideal school spirit Byron Bean is princpal here.

Special honor to Katherine Mims as she was also perfect last year. More to her honor in that she was the only one in Refuge school who was perfect in attendance last year.

There were several others who had good attendance records for this year. Mary Nell Easterling, 12, and Eveline Connell, 6, were absent only one day, and Horace Minor, 10, Myrtis Johnson, 10, and Odell Minor, 13, were absent only two days. There were eight others who were present at least 130 of the 135 days. They were: Howard Mims, 12, Myrtle Easterling, 13, Milford Mims, 11, Moses Connell, 7, Eugene Mims, 7, Willard Mims, 9, Myrtice Littleton, 9, and Era Mae Mims, 9. There were others who were enrolled for less than 135 days who had splendid records.

The annual percentage of attendance for this year was 88.5. The total enrollment of the school was 86 this term.

For the past three years Refuge has been a two-teacher school.

Since many of you reading this article think of Refuge School as you knew it a few years ago, you might be interested to note from the picture below how much a good paint job could help the appearance of even a building as old as Refuge.

KILOWATTS TAME PEPPERS IN SEASON OPENER, 7 TO 2

Game Showed Early Season Lack Of Form In Both Clubs

Lay Dam's Kilowatts opened their 1937 campaign last Sunday with a 7-2 victory over Clanton's Woco Peppers, in a game marred by errors and much slow play afield and in base running. Not one of the nine runs scored in the game was earned.

L. D. (Sugar Boy) Easterling started on the mound for the Peppers, and had the Kilowatts pawing the ozone for the first five innings in rather helpless fashion. During these five innings he allowed only four hits, two of them scratches, and all of them singles, as he struck out five. However, he gave up four free passes and hit two batters; these, mixed with four costly errors, lost his game for him. In all, the Sugar Boy allowed five hits, one of them coming in the ill fated 6th frame, when he lost the plate and passed three batters, besides hitting one; his mates chimed in with three of their four errors in this inning, too, and it was the showers for him. Alex (Red) Hayes finished the game, allowing one hit and striking out one. None of the Kflowatt hits were for extra bases.

Lefty Whitaker, meanwhile, turned in a fine game, his southpaw delivery allowing the Peppers only four hits, one of which was a double by Hayes. Whitaker walked eight, hit one, and struck out six.

The Peppers left 11 runners stranded on the bases, while the Kilowatts wasted only six in this manner. Little Shorty Marcus was the only man on the field to get more than one hit; he got a pair. Lay Dam also made four errors, but none of them figured in the scoring.

A play by play description of this game may be found in another part of this paper.

Cooperative Plans For Co. Education

A cooperative plan for professional advancement of Chilton County teachers, approved at a recent meeting of the teachers association, has brought to the fore numerous advantages of such a plan and has drawn wide attention throughout the state. Author of the plan is Luther E. Little, Chilton County superintendent of education, the last four years.

"Chilton County teachers like teachers in all other counties, are under the necessity of constantly trying to improve their professonal ability," said Mr. Little in explaining the plan. "This means that these teachers must attend A. E. A. conventions, obtain guidance in curriculum revision and read the many books brought out each year.

"All this involved considerable expense and the none-too-large salaries of teachers were taxed to keep them abreast of what is new in education. Many of us have given serious thought to reducing the cost of professional advancement for teachers. The cooperative plan we have adopted seems to be the best system yet worked out."

MR. LUTHER E. LITTLE

Plan In Brief

Briefly, the plan conceived by Mr. Little and given enthusiatic endorsement by Chilton County teachers call for each teacher to pay into a common fund $5 a year. The 174 teachers thus cooperating build up a total of $870. The $5 paid by each teacher pays for memberships in the A. E. A. and in the National Education Associaton. Incidentally, Chilton County this year has a 100 per cent membership in the N. E. A., becoming the first county in the south to achieve this rating.

In addition to these memberships, the fund pays for hiring a faculty member from some Alabama college to meet with the teachers once each month and instruct them in a study of curriculum revision. Heretofore, such instruction was paid for on a fee basis and the cost to each teacher was considerably higher than under the new plan.

Approximately $150 will be left in the treasury to purchase books. Matched by a similar fund by the County Board of Education, the $300 annually will build up a sizable circulating library.

Some Advantages

"Advantages of the new plan include the opportunity to learn what is beng done all over the nation in education," Mr. Little said. "New problems are constantly arising and new methods of handling old problems are being worked out. Unless the teaher keeps up with current literature, he or she will not be able to understand the changes under way in our social and economic life."

Several other Alabama counties have sent inquiries to the Chilton County Board of Education, concerning Mr. Little's plan and the Alabama Education Association has indicated deep interest in it as a possible means of solving some of the problems of teachers.

The Chilton County Teachers Association gave the plan overwhelming endorsement at its last meeting. Officers of the association including J. A. Peterson, Jemison, president; J. E. Daniels, Maplesville, vice-president, and Miss Virginia Cook, Clanton, secretary-treasurer, are supporting the plan wholeheartedly.

PLAY BY PLAY DESCRIPTION OF THE PEPPER-KILOWATT GAME

Ideal baseball weather — clear and hot — was dished out by the weather man for Sunday's opener. The new Lay Dam field was as smooth as velvet. An overflow crowd was on hand to witness the fray. Umpires were Langston behind the bat, with Sie Foshee on the bases. Play ball!

First Inning

Peppers — Whitaker struck out Williamson, Bill Armstrong and Willie Armstrong in rapid succession, using mostly a fast ball that the Peppers had to have time to become accustomed to. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

Kilowatts — Marcus walked. Galloway put him on second with a sacrifie. "Sissy" Baker was hit by a pitched ball. Harthey struck out. Jones got a long single and Marcus and Baker scored. Connatser singled. Greene out, Easterling to Glass. Two runs, two hits, no errors, two left on base.

Second Inning

Peppers — Reynolds was hit by a pitched ball, and took second a moment later when Connatser missed Whitaker's bad throw to first trying to pick him off. Hayes flied to Greene, Reynolds taking third. Tiffin out, Galloway to Connatser, Reynolds scoring. Sims and Glass walked. Easterling struck out. One run, no hits, one error, two left on base.

Kilowatts — Easterling struck out Tatum, Whitaker and Marcus. The kid was bearing down on every pitch, having steadied somewhat. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

Third Inning

Peppers — Williamson out, Jones to Connatser. Bill Armstrong popped to Connatser. Willie Armstrong out, Jones to Connatser. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

Fifth Inning

Peppers — Glass walked. Easterling forced Glass at second, Whitaker to Galloway. Williamson was called out on a play that looked like a bad decision, and drew boos from the spectators; the play was Galloway to Connatser. Bill Armstrong walked. Willie Armstrong singled, loading the bases. Reynolds grounded to Connatser. No runs, one hit, no errors. three left on base.

Kilowatts — Whitaker out, Tiffin to Glass. Marcus singled. Galloway hit into a double play, Bill Armstrong to Reynolds to Glass. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left on base.

Sixth Inning

Peppers — Hayes went safe when Whitaker dropped his pop in front of the plate, and went safe at second a moment later when Tatum threw low. Tiffin flied to Baker, Hayes taking third. Sims walked. Glass flied to Greene, and Hayes started home, but turned back, missing a sure score, as Greene's throw was wide of the plate. Easterling grounded to Connatser. No runs, one hit, three errors, one left base.

Kilowatts — Baker walked. Hartley was hit by a pitched ball. Easterling was weakening, and the Pepper defense exploded. Reynolds fumbled Jones' grounder with a sure double play in sight, and the bases were loaded. Easterling let Tiffin's return throw roll through him and past second base, Baker scoring. Connatser walking, filling the bases again. Greene flied to Williamson, Hartley scoring. Tatum walked, and again the bases were loaded. Hayes kicked Whitaker's hot grounder, and Jones and Connatser scored. Marcus singled and Tatum scored. Galloway hit into a double play, his second of the day, Hayes to Reynolds to Glass. Five runss, one hit, three errors, on left on base.

Seventh Inning

Peppers — Williamson walked, stole second, but was out when he overslid, Tatum to Marcus. Bill Armstrong struck out. Willie Armstrong walked, and was out stealing, Tatum to Marcus. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left on base.

Kilowatts — Manager J. E. Easterling of the Peppers shifted his defense. Hayes went in to pitch, Sims went to third, Nivens went to right field, and L. Easterling took a rest.

Reynolds popped to Galloway to end the game. One run, two hits, no errors, two left on base.

THE CASE FOR ECONOMY

As candidate for president in '32 Mr. Roosevelt forecast an inevitable reckoning for any government which continued to live beyond its income after an emergency had ended. It might borrow safely "for a year or two", if its revenues failed in some crisis to provide necessary funds. But it would be flirting with trouble, "if, like a spendthrift, it throws discretion to the winds, is willing to make no sacrifice at all in its spending, extends its taxing to the limit of the people's power to pay and continues to pile up deficits".

Mr. Roosevelt was speaking then of two Hoover deficits approximately one-fourth as large as the total of those subsequently incurred by his own administration. It is worth while now to recall his words, not for the sake of turning them against him, but because they fit the present situation. Though the country is now entering its fifth year of "recovery", there has been "no sacrifice at all in spending"; the government's estimated outlays for the new fiscal year are more than 50 per cent larger than those for the worst year of the depression. Meantime, if taxation has not been pushed "to the limit of the people's power to pay," it is very near that point. There are more indirect taxes on all taxpayers, large and small, than ever before in our history. Surtaxes in the topmost brackets are even higher than they were in war days. Estate taxes in those same brackets are seven times what they used to be not many years ago. Yet despite this taxation the government continues to pile up deficits. —New York Times.

In a period of 150 years the Congress of the United States has exercised its power 40,000 times. In that period the Supreme Court has declared invalid only 75 acts of congress. That is a fine showing of judicial fairness on the part of the Court. Yet we hear a lot of criticism of the Court for its "narrow interpretation" of laws to work within the framework of the Constitution.—Rio Vista (Calif.) River News.

SANTA CLAUS SLIPPING

The message which the president sent to congress recently gives a different picture of Uncle Sam's obligations than appeared in his stump speeches of last fall. Then one prompt absorption into industry of unemployed millions was blithely forecast and the increased tax yield was said to assure us automatically of that oft deferred boon, a balanced budget. New taxes? Perish that unwelcome thought!

Now the request is for one billion, 500 million dollars for relief needs during the 12 months beginning July 1, and we learn that there will be an increased deficit for the period ending June 30 of this year, and another deficit for the 1938 fiscal period, instead of the achievement of balance between income and outlay which was promised for that time. And new taxes are included in the prospect set before us.

The Roosevelt administration thus seems close to that day of financial reckoning which those few who have been deploring the carefree spending policies of recent years have been rightly envisioning as grim disillusionment for the great mass of their fellow citizens. Santa Claus' whiskers are starting to slip, and in back of the benign false face are beginning to emerge features that look very strangely like those we see in the looking glass every day. "Let Uncle Sam do it" has for long been the popular cry, but when the bill for Uncle Sam's activities comes in it's you and we who dig down in our pockets, as seems due presently to be illustrated in new tax levies.—Waterbury Republican.

ROOSEVELT AND LEWIS

While the majority of the citizens of the nation are concerned at the moment with such questions as the president's court proposals, the decisions of the Supreme Court and the labor situation, the major party leaders are making plans for the 1940 national elections.

One of the most striking political questions concerns the possibility of President Roosevelt seeking a third term or whether John Lewis will seek the office, or whether they will combine forces and support a candidate other than themselves.

Although the president has indicated that he may not establish a precedent by seeking a third term, nothing he has said to date definitely removes him as a candidate.

There is no question but that Lewis' support in the last election contributed greatly to the success of the New Dealers at the polls, and judging from reports his large labor following will prove an important factor in the next presidential election.

Authoritative observers feel that Lewis will not seek the nation's highest office for himself, but that he will make a strong bid to be "the man behind the throne".—Ansonia Sentinel.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Nothing more frequently affords a topic of conversation nowadays when people meet and engage in a serious discussion than the question as to whether public and private morals have improved or deteriorated during the past 30 or 40 years. Many like to compare the so-called Victorian days with the swifter and more revealing present and to charge sadly that we have "slipped". Others defend the rising generation with the statement that morals are no worse now than formerly, that most people are more open in their words and thoughts than they were a generation ago.

In just what direction are we drifting now? Perhaps nothing will throw more more light on this than the present trend of our amusements. Back in the days when the spoken stage was more popular than it is today, and the melodrama was all the rage, we were informed that this type of entertainment was wrong because it taught crime and disrespect for law. Well, the old time melodrama has gone, with its place taken by the wild west and melodramatic type of motion picture still under some fire. Yet there is no solid ground for stating that the stage is pitched on a higher moral plane than formerly. It is more "frank and revealing", to put it mildly. So far as our athletic amusements are concerned, gambling has been driven from the baseball park, but has been legalized in many states on the race track.

Perhaps the most definite trend at this time can be found in the motion picture entertainment, which has far outdistanced the stage in importance. It is now a two billion dollar industry, and it entertains each week something like eighty million theater goers, drawn from every walk of life. There is one motion picture theater in the United States for each 6,000 people, and all draw customers. It is only just and proper that we should be concerned with them.

Because of its importance as a public institution, the moral tone of the motion picture itself has been given more discussion on the platform and in print than any other form of entertainment. It is therefore reassuring to note the progress that has been made in its moral uplift during the past few year. The movie has developed so rapidly from a store room novelty to a great industry, and its possibilities for good and evil as well as artistry have been so changing and so great, that those who have had the business of guarding its social tone have certainly had their hands full. Great credit for marked improvement during the past few years must therefore be given to Mr. Will Hayes and the Motion Picture Producers Association which elected him to the difficult office he has been filling. True it is that a great deal of credit should go to the civic and religious societies whoch have labored constantly for better and cleaner motion picture entertainment, but it must not be forgotten that Mr. Hays and his associates have encouraged and welcomed the support of these fine organizations.

Now that the battle for cleaner motion picture entertainment seems to have been won, the victory may be counted as one for the constructive side of present day morals. Of course, another point presents itself. We are now getting better and more artistic motion pictures. It would seem to be the duty of those who wanted them to see that they are patronized. If we want more film entertainment like "Romeo and Juliet" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream", we ought to encourage the producers and distributors by going to see such productions. To demand something better and then lose interest in its support is showing about as much consistency as the average citizen who demands more intelligent and efficient men in office and then fails to vote on election day. After all there is here a public as well as a producers' duty.

But at any rate we seem to be improving in our amusement diet so far as the motion picture is concerned, at least. Let us hope that the theatrical producers and book publishers follow suit—or do they fail to do so because it doesn't pay them? Here may be another public duty—to see that it does pay.

VERMONT STANDS FAST

Two events in Vermont recently bring to the attention of newspaper readers the sturdy common sense of the people of this "backwoods" state, which didn't prove "enlightened" enough to vote for President Roosevelt in the last election. The first item is the notice of a resolution adopted at the regular town meeting in Peru, Vt. There the voters overwhelmingly passed a motion to protest the president's plan to pack the Supreme Court with six additional judges, chosen from the group of admiring attorneys who are perfectly willing to rubber stamp their approval upon any New Deal act of congress. The other item concerns the action of the Vermont legislature in passing, and sending to the governor for his signature, an act prohibiting sit-down strikes in the state under penalties of $1,000 fine and two years' imprisonment.

The action of the town of Peru simply indicates the staunch belief of the Vermonters that the president's plan menaces the fundamental three department government provided under the Constitution. Here, at least, is a group of persons honestly convinced that the president's plan is unwise. It contains no representatives of the "vested interests", no wealthy financiers, etc., but only plain, homespun variety of self-reliant Americans. On the other hand the legislative action against sit-down strikes represents a brand of forthrightness which seems to be peculiar to New England, and a rarity elsewhere in this particular stage.

The sit-down act provides that any group of persons taking possession of private property, such as a "store, factory, mill, plant or dwelling house", or "conspiring" to take possession of such property, "against the will and without the consent" of the owners, shall have violated the law. There was some objection that the penalties might be too severe, as indeed they may be, but little objection to the fundamental purposes of the bill. The legislation, of course, in no way interferes with the right of employes to strike, if they see fit, or to picket peacefully, but it should put an end to the ill-considered and unlawful seizure of property on the part of strikers, to be held from its rightful owners pending settlement of the workers' demands.—New London Day.

It is said that a lot of the government relief workers are going on a sit-down strike. It is very much to be doubted whether this will be a change in position.

When the president talks about the "veto" on legislation "assumed" by the Supreme Court, we are at a loss to know precisely what he means. The president has a veto on legislation, and in our simplicity we always thought that he alone had it. It is quite possible, of course, that what the president really means is not "veto" but "judicial review", which is a wholly different power. But since that power is inherent in the nature of the federal judiciary, it is not "assumed". Without it, there could be no Supreme Court.—America.

Our Sunday school is doing very well, but there is plenty of room for improvement.

Our church has appointed a committee to work out a plan to finance the church. The committee has a plan as follows: Our friend, Mr. J. P. CHILEAN NITRATE DEMONSTRATION IS BEING SPONSORED BY ISABELLA CHAPTER OF F. F. A.

Each year the Chilean Nitrate people give 400 pounds of nitrate to be used by a Future Farmer to determine its use for increasing cotton or corn yields.

This year the demonstration will be on the farm of Mr. E. S. Jones. The farm is located about mid-way between Jonestown (Pep's Store) and the Isabella High School.

Chalmus Jones, a Future Farmer, and the treasurer of the local chapter, will have as one of his supervised practices 2½ acres of cotton. The nitrate will be used on two of the acres of cotton. The other half acre, which will be between the two 1-acre plots, will not receive any nitrate. Some of the nitrate will be applied at planting. The remainder will be applied as side dressing at the first plowing. After this we expect a difference in the development of the cotton on the two acres as compared with the cotton on the half acre.

The chapter invites the public to notice the demonstration as you pass.

REFUGE

The Sunday school was a little short Sunday, because a number of our people atended the Mother's Day services at Walnut Creek.

Next Sunday is the day for the annual singing at this place, and we are looking forward to a great day for the Lord. There will be preaching by the pastor at 11 a.m., also preaching and conference Sunday night. We will have communion service and a membership roll call in order to assist the church clerk in placing the names of all bona fide members on the church record. We will remember, as stated heretofore, that the church record was destroyed by fire when the home of the clerk was burned several months ago.

We are looking forward to the best singing ever held at this place, followed by a great service Sunday night.

Prof. O. L. Devaughn and Marion W. Easterling will be here with a supply of Showalter books, and the Glasscock brothers will also bring a supply of Morris-Henson books. All singers and lovers of music and singing have a cordial invitation to attend. — Mrs. Ruth Lockhart.

BUILDERS

What kind of a builder are you? Do you build houses, mow lawns, or help make people and build homes?

I once heard of a monument builder. A young man wanted to study law, so he went to his father and asked if he might read in his office. His father asked: "My son, why do you wish to study law?" The young man replied: "I could make money this way, it would give me power and prestige, and access to the political arena". His father shook his gray head and said: "A lawyer's chief business is building monuments. Come with me and see some of my monuments".

First they came to two elegant business buildings. "See those buildings? Two men were in partnership and couldn't agree. Each came to me and wanted me to institute suit against the other. I arranged a conference including both of them. 'Now listen to me. Both of you men are good business men, both capable, but can't get along together. So dissolve partnership and each go into business for yourself'. There was no law suit and each is the head of his own great store and doing well".

Next they met a well dressed couple, accompanied by a fine looking youth. All exchanged friendly greetings, and later the lawyer said: "I am proud of this monument I've built too. Not many years ago they were bride and groom. He made good in business and it went to his head. He began to dissipate, neglect both his wife and his business, and she wanted me to sue for a divorce, but I said 'You let me talk to your husband'. I brought him to my office. I told him how well he had done, what a fine business man he was, what a wonderful wife he had, and of the beautiful prospects and advantages he had for a living. I also told him he was throwing all this away like the proverbial fool. He had good stuff in him. He saw where he was going and made up his mind to change. There you saw them—a happy father, mother and son".

A little further on they came in view of a derelict sitting on a curb, one of the shabby habitues commonly seen around court houses. Pointing to him the old lawyer said: "There, my son, is a monument of which I am far from being proud, but every day as I pass I must look upon it. That poor fellow you see sitting there was one time a good bookkeeper, but succumbed to temptation and indulged in systematic speculation. Later he was brought to trial. I was a young lawyer then, and did not have the vision of a monument builder I have today. Being the prosecuting attorney, my only duty was to convict him. With all the eloquence and fire and merciless logic that I possessed, I stood before the jury and the judge and sent him to the penitentiary. Today he is a piece of flotsom and jetsom, riding willy-nilly down the great sea of life—no friends, no ambition, no hope—just merely existing. When I look at that monument, my son, I think of what I made of a bright young man, and what I might have made of him had I talked to him and pleaded his case so that he might have had the chance to be the man God meant him to be.

"Now, my son," finally said the elder, "everyone in life, no matter what his work or vocation, is a monument builder, and whether you practice law or become a digger of ditches, or a miner in the bowels of the earth, whatever you are trying to do, remember the kind of monuments you are building".

IN MEMORY OF S. B. POWELL

On Saturday, May 8, God, in His mercy, saw fit to take my dear father, S. B. Powell, out of his suffering and troubles. He went to the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Taylor of Mt. Creek about two months ago from Birmingham, where he spent the winter with children.

He was born and reared in Elmore County; was 82 years and seven months old. He joined the Methodist church 60 or more years ago; was a Mason, and taught school for 35 years. He came to Chilton County 40 years ago, and here led a useful life. He had lots of friends, made no enemies. Twenty-nine years ago mother was called on, leaving my father with four little children to rear alone. It was hard for him, but he did his job well. He was both mother and father, but he bore it patiently, as he did his long illness.

He was buried by the Masons at Chestnut Creek, Rev. Bass officiating, assisted by Bro. Hughes.

He leaves to mourn his six children, J. E. Powell of Birmingham, Arnie Powell of Clanton, Mrs. Mae Taylor of Mt. Creek, Mrs. Cordelia Hall of Mt. Creek, and Mrs. Elma Smith of Birmingham; 26 grandchildren, one great-grandchild, and eight nieces and nephews. — His daughter, Mrs. Cordelia Hall.

ABOUT MOTHER'S DAY

Many readers of The Union-Banner thought of "Mother" on last Sunday, May 9th. It must be one of the most cherished days of the year—a memorial to mother's love, the most lasting of anything earthly.

Mother never gets tired when there is pain in our bodies; she does all her loving hands can find to do, and she does it cheerfully. Those of us who have living mothers ought to be and are thankful. She taught us many things about Jesus, to shun evil and obey the Lord.

Let us all try and live as mother has taught us. A living Christian mother is something to be thankful for. A mother in heaven is a glory for all eternity. Like the godly mother of Moses, let us all have more faith and courage toward bringing up the younger people in the admonition of the Lord. Let the young mothers teach their children as their mothers did before them—to live consecrated Christian lives.

If your mother still lives, begin to treat her with the utmost kindness, always doing good deeds and speaking kind words to her. When she is gone you can only give her flowers. —Virgie Gladden.

County almshouses in Alabama have been reduced from 61 in November, 1935, to 22 in April, 1937, according to Dr. E. W. Gregory, of the University of Alabama. Dr. Gregory, head of the University's Sociology department, has had an article on Alabama's almshouses published in the May issue of the University of Alabama Business News.

The inmates of the 39 closed houses have been placed in private homes. The institution of care of the poor in private homes has been made possible by the passage of the National Social Security Act, according to Dr. Gregory. This act provides for state and federal co-operation with the counties in caring for the poor.

Students living in the student center of the Wesley Memorial Foundation Religious Center took second place in scholastic standing among organized groups on the University of Alabama campus last semester, according to announcement made last week. There are 40 students who live in the Methodist group's center, and the scholastic average for the entire house last semester was 1.4390. The Wesley Center is run on the order of a religious fraternity, and has as its object the promotion of religious life and scholarship among its members; 35 of the 40 students living at the center earn all or a part of their own school expenses.

An open forum on the Wagner Labor Act decisions of the Supreme Court was held at the University of Alabama last week. The forum was sponsored by the Farrah Order of Jurisprudence, honorary scholarship group of the University's law students. Professors Hepburn and Goffs of the Law School, and Morley and Hawley of the Commerce School, addressed the forum.

The greatest improvement which could come to Alabama and the South, according to Dr. Walter B. Jones, of the University of Alabama, is the production of completely finished manufactured products. Dr. Jones, state geologist, made this statement in a recent address on "Mineral Resources and City Planning".

Discussing new industrial possibilities in the state, Dr. Jones stated that it now appears that the next large development in Southwest Alabama will be built around salt. He stated that researches of the State Geological Survey have revealed possible salt domes in Baldwin, Mobile, Choctaw and Washington counties. Other counties in the state are expected to reveal similar deposits.

Making pictures for newspapers will be part of the training for journalism students at the University of Alabama if present plans materialize. A course in general photography, stressing work for the press, is now being offered at the University. Plans are to make the course required for all journalism majors in a year or two. At present, many journalism students are taking the course as an elective.

A recognition banquet for outstanding seniors at the University of Alabama was held last week by the University Y. M. C. A. Cabinet. There were selected 29 senior men as the most outstanding representatives in their class, and were honored as "men of high ideals who have made outstanding contributions to University life". This marks the second annual recognition banquet held by the University "Y".

ANNUAL MAY SINGING AT PROVIDENCE, BEAT 16

The annual May singing will be held the fourth Sunday in this month, May 23rd. This singing started some 38 years ago at old Salem Church. It was transferred from there to Providence in 1922, 15 years ago, when the water was impounded above Mitchell Dam.

All singers and lovers of music are requested to come, bring your dinner and spend the day singing and renewing old acquaintances. The new books will be used.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"I have been rather troubled recently. I pray every day for guidance and I try to believe I'll receive the guidance, but somehow things do not always seem to turn out right". That is what a very fine young friend who had been a Christian for a short time said to the writer recently. I told the young man that the Holy Spirit who inspired the writing of the Bible always guides a human life in harmony with the things He teaches in the Bible. In other words, the Holy Spirit does not say anything to a life that is contrary to what He has said in the Holy Book. "The Lord has impressed me to divorce my wife and marry another woman", a very pious-talking man told an evangelist friend of mine. "Has your wife broken her marriage vows?" the evangelist inquired. "No, she hasn't. She is a good woman, but we just don't seem to be mated," the man answered. "The Bible gives only one ground for divorce and you admit that you haven't that ground, so the Holy Spirit would not lead you to do something that He taught in the Word you should not do. You are accusing the Spirit of being inconsistent in His teaching about marriage," the evangelist commented. If we accept the Bible as the authoritative Word of God, we can easily settle our problems. That Book of Books tells us all we need to know about life's problems. The men who are guided by the Bible need have no fear. Of course, only a spiritual mind can comprehend the teaching of the Bible. The Holy Spirit, who is the Christian's teacher, will unfold the Book He inspired to trusting Christians.

"A wicked and adulterous generation seeketh after a sign". That is what Jesus said. We Christians in this generation do not need signs. We have a Book for our guide. We walk by faith and not by sight. God wants His children to trust Him. "The steps of a good man are ordered of the Lord". "Commit your way unto the Lord, trust also in Him, and He will direct thy path". In other words, God does direct the man or woman who is surrendered to Him. I am writing this in Seattle, Wash., where I am engaged in a 12-day revival meeting. My life has been committed to God. One day I took the reigns of my life out of my hands and put them in the hands of God, my Father. He is runing my life. I am in Seattle at this time by the will of God. Of course, when I was invited to this city I carefully thought and prayed about the proposition and used the best judgment I had. I decided that I should come to Seattle. I am here. I do not have to wonder if the Lord sent me here. I know He did. He said if I would commit my way unto Him He would direct me. I committed my way. If I had a question about His guidance then I would naturally be questioning His Word. God, of course, is not the author of a senseless proposition. Suppose I should decide that God directed me to go up on top of this hotel and jump off. God would not be the author of that and I would be killed. Some eople have such foolish ideas and say God is leading. "God has good sense. Don't get 'fool' ideas in your head and think that God put them there", I tell my boys and girls at the Bob Jones College. God does guide surrendered saints. He often overrules the mistakes of His weak, untaught children. He is our Father and is far more interested in His children than any earthly father was ever interested in a child.

What is the "Low-price Field"?

YOU hear a lot about "the low-price field" these days. A good many cars claim to be in it. So whenever the low-price field is mentioned, remember:

Until Ford came, no average American could own a car.

Today all Ford prices are still low — with the prices of the 60-horsepower Ford V-8 $30 to $60 lower than those of any other car of comparable size.

But with Ford, "low price" doesn't merely mean low figures on the price tag. It means much more than that. It means low prices and low costs all the car's long life. Low prices for service — for parts — and, above all, for operation.

Both Ford V-8 engine sizes are economical to operate. The 85 horsepower gives greater gasoline mileage this year than ever, and the "60" delivers the highest mileage in Ford history.

Private owners, cab companies, fleet operators all report that the "60" averages from 22 to 27 miles per gallon of gasoline.

Check and see how much Ford saves you.

ALABAMA EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

The Alabama State Employment Service was created by an act of the Legislature of 1935, which act provided that the State Employment Service should be set up as a division of the State Department of Labor.

Agreements were executed whereby the State Service became affiliated with the United States Employment Service. On August 1, 1936, the Alabama State Employment Service began operating as an affiliated service. During the period from August 1, 1936, to December 31, the State Employment Service found employment for 8,042 persons. Of this number, 1,109 placements were made in private employment, 6,081 in public employment, and 852 in other employment. During the period from January 1, 1937, to March 31, 1937, employment was found for 5,684 persons. Of this number, 3,273 placements were made in private employment, 2,393 in public employment, and 18 in other employment. Summarizing, we find that employment has been found to date by this service for 13,726 persons, 4,382 placements being made in private employment, 8,474 in public employment, and 870 in other employment.

Applicants placed in private employment have gradually increased from 45 in August to 1,215 in March. For the entire period of August, 1936, through March, 1937, private placements by months were as follows: August 45, September 91, October 103, November 300, December 470, January 1,040, February 1,018, March 1,215.

The Alabama State Employment Service is now operating offices at Montgomery, Birmingham, Bessemer, and Opelika. Each day many new applicants are seeking the aid of the State Employment Service at its various offices. Every unemployed person should register with the Employment Service. The Alabama State Employment Service offers to both employer and employee a service of real value, for which no charge whatever is made either to employer or employee.

This service has in its files qualified workers in all lines of work, and is in position to solve the employment problem for every employer who will let them. Employers who have not investigated this service owe it to themselves to do so. This free public employment service is "your" service—use it!

A BILL TO PAY

Throngs of dogs are left dead in ditches or writhing and screaming their lives away in the roads as a result of careless or malicous motoring. In very rare instances, the luckless dog brought his fate on himself by dashing out in front of the car or by chasing it. But nine times in ten the accident could have been avoided.

You are in a hurry or you are out of temper or you are heedless. Your car hits and kills a harmless dog whose life could have been spared by a bit of care or of effort on your part. Perhaps some lonely man or woman will be ten-fold lonelier, henceforth, for the killing of that 4-footed chum. Perhaps some child will cry itself to sleep tonight, because a playmate dog has been run down and crushed to death before the youngster's horrified eyes. Did you ever stop to think of those probabilities? Or do you say in self-justification:

"What does one worthless dog's life amount to?"

My friend, that question of yours can be answered correctly only by the slain dog's Creator. In any event, you have destroyed something you can't replace. I am old-fashioned enough to believe there is a bill to pay for that, here or hereafter. Not a bill to be paid in cash. That is the easiest kind to pay. THINK IT OVER! — Albert Payson Terhune.

BIRMINGHAM REPORTED AS NEW HOSPITAL SITE

Veterans' Administration Is Said To Have Decided On Fairfield For Institution To Cost $2,000,000

Washington, May 7. — Birmingham has been chosen as the site of the new $2,000,000 Veterans' Administration hospital authorized for Alabama, it was reported by a usually reliable source here today.

A 40-acre hillside site near the T. C. I. hospital in Fairfield has been recommended in a report submitted to President Roosevelt, it was stated.

An option is understood to have been obtained on the property, owned by the T. C. I. Co. The site is said to be in the direction of Birmingham from the T. C. I. hospital.

Plans call for the conversion of the present Veterans' Hospital at Tuscaloosa into an institution for the treatment exclusively of ex-service men suffering from mental disorders, while the new hospital will become a general medical and surgical institution.

The Veterans' Administration believes that such a change will make for a more efficient operation, since the Tuscaloosa hospital is adjacent to the State of Alabama's institutions for treating mental patients.

Birmingham's claims to the new hospital, also, were based largely on the fact that it is the railroad, bus, and air travel center of the area to be served, and is near the center of white population for the area.

The president is expected to take action on the hospital site recommendation as soon as he returns from his trip to the Southwest a few days hence.

Construction is expected to start with minimum delay.

FOUR BOYS AND GIRLS WIN WASHINGTON TRIPS

Auburn. — Four Alabama club boys and girls have been awarded free trips to the National 4-H Club camp in Washington, June 17-23.

The two boys are Charles A. Haupt, Elberta, R 1, Baldwin County, and Willis Lee Gaines, Edwardsville, R 1, Cleburne County; and the two girls are Marion Sue Shaddix, Lincoln, R 2, Talladega County, and Zora Nell Hill, Notasulga, R 1, Tallapoosa County.

These boys and girls were awarded the trips because of their outstanding 4-H Club work during the past several years, state T. A. Sims, L. L. Self, and Elizabeth DeLony, State 4-H Club leaders. They will be accompanied to Washington by some of the club leaders.

ALPINE NEWS

Farmers are very busy planting since the heavy rains. Much loss is reported on cotton fields.

Quite a number attended the singing at Stanton on Mother's Day. Several songs were rendered by the Rush Quartet, and were enjoyed very much.

Strawberries are the leading market crop just now. The peach crop is much damaged by cold weather.

CARL GORE'S HOME BURNED

The home of Mr. Carl Gore, located on the Mineral Springs road, near the Joe Littleton place, was destroyed by fire Monday morning about 5:30 o'clock. It is supposed that it caught from the stove flue. Mrs. Gore and her children were at home; Mr. Gore was in Birmingham. Scarcely any of the household effects were saved.

FRANK G. ARNOLD

Montgomery, Ala. — Probably the most far-reaching steps ever taken in Alabama in the interest of economy in government are scheduled for meetings in Montgomery and Birmingham on June 3, when Frank G. Arnold, Fullerton, Neb., president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues, will address two state-wide meetings.

MR. FRANK G. ARNOLD

The Montgomery meeting, scheduled for 1 p. m., at the Whitley Hotel, and the Birmingham meeting for 8 p.m., the same day, will lay the foundation out of which it is predicted will spring a militant organization to force moderation in public taxation in Ala.

Both meetings have been called by Jeff P. Beeland, Greenville, president of the Consumers Taxpayers Association of Alabama, and will be extended by key men in the old Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association, business and civic leaders, and others interested in the problem of taxation.

Mr. Arnold will lend his assistance in expanding the Alabama organization and make of it the most potent factor in the south in the anti tax crusade now popular throughout the country.

His organization has been largely instrumntal in reducing taxes in the state of Nebraska from $66,028,255.91 in 1927 to $43,878,947.41 in 1935. His Alabama addresses, it was promised by Beeland, will be the most dynamic and enlightening ever heard on the subject of taxation in this state.

"Jane, you have broken more than your wages amount to. What can be done to prevent this?"

"I really don't know, mum, unless you raise my wages."—Exchange.

The insurance companies collect more from the people of Alabama in the form of premiums than the State collects in all forms of taxation. In 1935 citizens of Alabama paid to the licensed insurance companies a total of $40,513,174.57 for insurance premiums of all kinds.

Debts of 53,634 farmers have been reduced $44,620,153, or 25.5 per cent, in the past 19 months, announces the Farm Debt Adjustment Section of the Resettlement Administration. The debts before adjust ment were $175,031,923; after adjustment, $130,411,770.

No incidental fees are required for children enrolled in the elementary schools of this state.

The quality of the 1936 cotton crop showed a considerable improvement with a decrease in the proportion of staple lengths shorter than 1 inch and an increase in lengths 1 inch and longer.

LIEUT. GOV. KNIGHT DIED MON., MAY 17

Buried Wednesday In Selma With Military Honors

Lieut. Gov. Thomas E. Knight, Jr., 39, former Attorney General, overseas World War veteran, Colonel on the staff of Gov. Graves, nemesis of the defendants in the internationally publicized "Scottsboro case," and long rated as one of the State's ablest and most brilliant lawyers, died Monday at 5:40 p. m., at Montgomery Hospital following an illness of about two weeks.

Successively county solicitor of his native county of Hale, assistant Attorney General, Attorney General, and Lieutenant-Governor, he would have made the race for Governor next year had he lived.

Immediately upon receiving word of death of Mr. Knight, Gov. Graves cancelled all his official engagements until after the conclusion of the last rites Wednesday, ordered that all departments of the State government remain closed Tuesday and directed that the flag on the capitol dome be lowered to half-mast. The Chief Executive, former commanding officer of the 117th Field Artillery in which Mr. Knight served during the World War, and his close personal friend for many years, then issued the following statement:

"Alabama has lost her most promising young man in the death of her Lieutenant-Governor and Colonel on the Governor's staff. He was brilliant and true."

At 1 p. m., Tuesday, the body was taken from the capitol to the residence of the parents, Justice and Mrs. Thomas E. Knight, at 710 Fremont Street, in Selma. Funeral services were conducted from the residence at 10:30 a. m., Wednesday. Dr. John W. Fraser, presiding elder of the Montgomery District of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, officiating. Burial was in the New Live Oak Cemetery at Selma. T. F. Leak and Son were in charge of arrangements here, and in Selma, Brislin Brothers had charge.

Stricken Two Weeks Ago

Stricken some two weeks ago, Mr. Knight was later removed to a hospital for treatment. He improved and in the course of a few days was so much better he was permitted to go home. Last Wednesday, however, he grew suddenly worse, and had to return to the hospital. Friday, his condition was reported as very grave. He was not responding to treatment, it was stated. Sunday night it was announced that he was sinking. From that time on he grew steadily weaker until the end came late Monday afternoon.

ANNUAL MAY SINGING AT PROVIDENCE, BEAT 16

The annual May singing will be held the fourth Sunday in this month, May 23rd. This singing started some 38 years ago at old Salem Church. It was transferred from there to Providence in 1922, 15 years ago, when the water was impounded above Mitchell Dam.

All singers and lovers of music are requested to come, bring your dinner and spend the day singing and renewing old acquaintances. The new books will be used.

A BIG EGG AND A LITTLE ONE

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Culp, who live on Maplesville Highway seven miles west of Clanton, brought two eggs to the Banner office last Saturday, both layed by the same white Leghorn hen. One of the eggs was three and one-eighth inches long, and the other was less than half that length. It would take a dozen of the small eggs to weigh as much as the large one.

WOCO PEPPERS TO TAKE ON THE McDADE TEAM THURSDAY P. M.

The Clanton Woco Peppers will take on the strong McDade team, one of the best in Montgomery, Thursday afternoon (today) at 3:00 p.m., at the high school park.

The McDade team has been coming to Clanton for a number of years, and always bring a top notch team. This is the same team which beat Alabama Mills last Saturday, 10 to 2.

Manager Sparrow Easterling has been experimenting all along so far this season, using first one combination and another. Now he has what he believes is the best he can arrange from the material available. This array is about as follows:

Pitchers, L. D. (Sugar Boy) Easterling, Terrell, Ellison, and Virgil (Windy) Glass; catcher, Williamson; first base, Gabby Tiffin; second base, little Shorty Marcus; short-stop, Reynolds; third base, Langford; left field, Tom (Spot) Tiffin; center field, Willie Armstrong; right field, Sims; with Nivens, Cleckler, and the Sparrow himself as reserves. Manager Easterling makes a specialty of pinch hitting.

Having decided on a settled line-up the management believes he will get better results during the rest of the season.

Don't forget! Thursday (today) at the high school park, at 3:00 o'clock—the Woco Peppers and McDade.

TWELVE ARRESTS BY SHERIFF

Earle Jackson, public drunkenness; released on payment of fine and costs in justice of peace court.

J. R. Rhodes, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated; made bond.

Bud Wade, violating internal revenue law; in jail.

Hozzie Forehand, violating internal revenue law! in jail.

D. C. Littlefield, public drunkenness; made bond.

Lonnie Campbell, driving motor vehicle while intoxicated; made bond.

Paul R. Garner, reckless driving; made bond.

Gus Bailey, assault to murder, and abusive, indecent and obscene language; released on payment of fine and costs in justice of peace court.

Eleazer Mims, violating prohibition law; appeal bond.

Allie Plier, public drunkenness; made bond.

Amos Bean, public drunkenness; made bond.

D. P. Neal, public drunkenness; released on payment of fine and costs in justice of peace court.

There was a rather sensational and clever arrest Tuesday of a man charged with forgery. His name was Toy J. Johnson, and his home is at Maplesville. Johnson got a check cashed at Joe Grooms store, in West End, written against Tffin Furniture Company, amount something over eleven dollars. Mr. Grooms got suspicious and called Mr. Tiffin, who knew nothing of the man and had not issued such a check. The sheriff's office was called, and quick action enabled the deputies to overtake Johnson a short distance out the Maplesville Highway. Johnson had about $4 worth of groceries and the rest of the amount of the check in cash. Both the groceries and cash were returned to Mr. Grooms, and Johnson was lodged in jail.

Matters of evidence point rather strong that this same man has been perpetrating this forgery racket around here for several months.

TENANT HOUSE BURNED

Fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the home of Will Kennedy, tenant farmer living on the farm of J. J. Mims, three miles southeast of Clanton early Monday night.

The fire occurred about 9:30. No one was at the house except one grown girl and two or three children; the others were away visiting sick relatives. The occupants were awakened by the heat, and barely escaped. Nothing of the household effects were saved. The blaze started inside the house in a room in which there had not been fire for several days. It was not near the kitchen. People who lived close said that when they first noticed it, the fire had not broken through, but looked to be burning all over inside.

UNCLE REMUS WAS HERE

The Banner's good friend, "Uncle Remus", from southwest Chilton, was in to see us last Saturday. He said that he did know lots of news, but had forgotten all that was any good, so would not write anything for the paper right now; however, he agreed to send us something before long.

The Fur Is Going To Fly!

The scene is fast setting at the nation's capital for a battle royal over President Roosevelt's Supreme Court packing proposition. Senator McCarran of Nevada has had a compromise measure prepared, but since the president has announced his determination to see his pet scheme through to the bitter end, the Nevada solon has decided not to even present his compromise bill. Both sides say "no compromise".

This promises to be the fight of the century. Thirty-eight senators have announced themselves as in opposition to the president's plan, and thirty have declared in favor of it. The other ninety-six have not committed themselves. President Roosevelt has been warned by some of the strong Democratic senators that he cannot win and that his obstinacy will mean disaster to the party and the administration. However, Senator Robinson, Democratic leader and administration spokesman, tells the president that he has a little better than an even chance of winning with his plan. All of the Republican senators and representatives are lined up in favor of keeping the Supreme Court as it is.

Therefore, the lines have been drawn and the issues have been made distinct. The real "war horses" are about equally divided on either side. It seems that two forces are about to meet, neither of which can be defeated. So, we common people on the side lines can look on and "watch the fur fly", and it looks as though it will fly thick and fast.

Some predict that President Roosevelt will meet with the same fate on his Supreme Court scheme that Woodrow Wilson did on his League of Nations proposal. Many hope such will be the case; but to say the least of the president—he is a fighter, and never finds a quitting place. The latter will probably cause him to meet his "Waterloo".

It will also be interesting to note what significance, if any, will be attached to the two most recent developments of the Supreme Court racket. The Senate judiciary committee voted on the bill Tuesday, the result being 10 against the bill and 8 for it. Almost simultaneous with the decision of this committee, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court Willis Van Devanter, age 78, sent his notice of retirement to President Roosevelt. This action of Mr. Van Devanter will give Mr. Roosevelt the opportunity to appoint one associate justice of the Supreme Court. Will Mr. Roosevelt be satisfied with the chance to appoint this associate justice, or will he continue to push his plan of packing the Court with six more justices?

JOHN LEWIS ROBINSON DIED

WALTER CULP FARMING

We had missed Walter Culp from the city for the past two or three months. But he drifted into town Tuesday afternoon, spreading the news that he is farming. He has lots of accomplishments to tell about, among them—he has corn tassels already, Irish potatoes the size of your fist, English peas by the peck, etc.

Walter adds that he is farming two years in one this year—both his first and last year.

CLANTON 10—BUCK CREEK 7

The Woco Peppers went to Buck Creek last week and whipped the Bucks 10 to 7 in a hectic game marked by much squabbling and fighting. It was impossible to get a correct and complete account of the game, except that the Peppers secured 14 hits off two or three Buck pitchers.

Reynolds led the Clanton attack in smashing out three hits out of four trips up, closely pushed by Gabby Tiffin with three out of five. Sims got a pair, as did Ellison, Pepper moundsman.

COURTHOUSE PARKING GROUND

The lot at the rear of the county agent's office has been cleared of all rubbish and turned into a parking lot. It is an ideal place, suitable for parking a dozen or more cars; and the space is badly needed here, especially on Saturdays. It would not be a bad idea for some more vacant lots to be cleared for the same purpose; this would conserve some of the much needed street space in the middle of the city on busy days.

"MAID OF SALEM" IS COMING TO WADESONIAN SUNDAY & MONDAY

The romance of a Puritan maiden and a dashing Virginia cavalier in old Salem town brings Claudette Colbert and Fred McMurray together again in "Maid of Salem", a Frank Lloyd production which comes to the new Wadesonian Theatre next Sunday and Monday.

The popular pair, who scored in "The Gilded Lady", and then triumphed again as the scrappy couple in "A Bride Comes Home", enact their latest love story in the period of American history when the famous witchcraft scare of 1692 broke out in Boston, spread to the adjoining colonies, and, before it was over, was responsible for the execution of 19 innocent women who were charged with being in league with the devil.

In "Maid of Salem" Miss Colbert is seen with a handsome stranger by some children. Later, she practices a gavotte step by herself and jocularly tells a boy who watches her that she is "dancing with a man". A short while later the witchcraft hysteria breaks out. Fear stricken persons begin to remember strange things their neighbors did and this is used as evidence that the latter are "bewitched". When Miss Colbert is arrested and charged with practicing witchcraft, the stranger in the wood and the "dancing with a man" episodes are recalled and she is convicted on this testimony.

When the stranger, MacMurray, appears in the flesh and proves that he is a very human and romantic young person and not a devil at all, the folly of the witch hunt is suddenly borne upon the populace and the scare dies away as suddenly as it appeared.

The film romance, directed by Lloyd, the only director who won the coveted Academy Award three times, is based on actual occurrences which took place in Salem in 1692. A staff of over 100 expert research workers was employed to dig into libraries and private collections for old documents and letters to make the film authentic.

The huge cast of supporting players includes Harvey Stephens, Louise Dresser, Bennie Bartlett, Gale Sondergaard, E. E. Clive, Bonita Granville, Virginia Weidler, Rosita Butler, Beulah Bondi, Donald Meek, and a host of others. It is lavishly and beautifully produced, with the entire village of old Salem, as it existed in 1692, recreated from old maps and charts.

3 GOOD BALL GAMES HAVE BEEN BOOKED

Birmingham Paper Club Next Sunday; Sycamore Mills and Stockham To Furnish Two Good Games

The Lay Dam baseball club has three top notch ball clubs on schedule for the coming three Sundays.

Next Sunday, May 23, the Birmingham Paper club of Birmingham will be entertained by the Kilowatts. The following Sunday, May 30, the Sycamore Mills club will visit, and on June 6 the Stockham club of Birmingham will come down for a game.

The Stockham club played here last year in one of the best games of the year. All three of these clubs are first class, and should certainly give the fans their money's worth.

Don't forget the game next Sunday with Birmingham Paper. This team is one of the best amateur clubs in Alabama, and this is sure to be a game worth seeing. It will start promptly at 3 p.m., at the Lay Dam park.

The Lay Dam club will try to have a game at home every Sunday this summer, and will try to bring only first class clubs here. The team is fast rounding into top form, and should give the fans plenty of good entertainment.

Frank "Lefty" Whitaker showed great form in holding the Clanton club to four hits in the opener, and the rest of the team came through in grand style. When the team has acquired one or two more players it should be one of the best in this section. Watch for schedule of future games.

CHILTON HIGH 6—HOLTVILLE 3

Chilton High trimmed Holtville's Greenies Friday afternoon 6 to 3, led by Williamson, who held the visitors well in hand as Tiger hurler, and himself led his mates at bat with a perfect day, three for three.

Chilton got to Peoples and Young for eight hits, including a center field rap by McKee that rolled to the corner of the park for a home run.

Williamson struck out seven, hit two, and gave no free passes on balls. Peoples struck out five, walked two, and gave up seven hits during the five innings he worked; he was batted out in the fifth. Young, who pitched the last inning, walked one and allowed one hit, McKee's homer; he also struck out one.

The Chilton Tigers have played ten games this season so far, winning seven of them.

MARRIED ON MAY 7

On Sunday, May 7, Mr. U. L. Baker was married to Miss Hazel Bates. Mr. Baker is the son of Mr. Claude Baker, letter carrier in Clanton. His bride is a resident of Clanton Mill Village. They will make their home at Mill Village. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. G. Williams at his home west of Clanton.

THESE NOT WILD OATS

Walter Anderson brought in to The Union-Banner office last Saturday a bunch of oats — but not wild ones. They came from the farm of Mr. Sheb Ellison, on the old Mat Johnson place, three and a half miles east of Clanton. The oats measured six feet, lacking two or three inches; and it is said that Mr. Ellison has about two acres averaging as good as the sample sent to us. No fertilizer was used under the oats.

Mr. Ellison is quite a wheat raiser too. A few days ago he bought his first sack of flour since wheat harvest time last year, and in the meantime has sold some of that he raised.

F. R. WOODYARD DIED SUDDENLY FRIDAY NIGHT

The body of Felix R. Woodyard was found dead in his chair in his room last Saturday morning. It is judged that the aged man passed away in his sleep about 7:30 o'clock Friday night.

He was a deacon in the Clanton Baptist church for years, and always took a keen interest in religious activities.

Surviving are: two sons—Jess, of Birmingham, and Euell, of Montgomery; one daughter—Mrs. Pauline Grier of Augusta, Ga. There is one half brother.

Funeral services were at Clanton Baptist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Dr. S. J. Ezell officiating. Martin and Sons were in charge. Pallbearers were: H. T. Pipes, B. J. Sessions, A. C. Nelson, J. L. Ruffin, W. G. Culp, and Bud Jones.

J. H. JACKSON WRITES ABOUT THE GARDEN OF EDEN AND CREATION

Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please give me space in your paper to give my views on certain things pertaining to the Garden of Eden and the creation?

While this is a very deep subject, yet we should study it the more.

Now the history of the creation is like prophecy — it is mostly figuratively spoken, and by inspiration of God. Only it points back instead of the future. Now friends, if we notice careful we will find that creation is one thing and formation is another. Creation is to design, or an intention, but formation is to bring into existence. Now the question I desire to discuss is in regard to Adam, Eve and the serpent.

I take the position to say and to prove that Adam was the one who beguiled and deceived Eve, and not the literal snake. Now for a few proofs:

We find in Genesis 1:27 where God created male and female. So after He had created man, He says in 2:5: "And there was not a man to till the ground, so he formed man". In 2:16 God gave Adam the law. We find in 2.18 that Adam was alone, and Eve had not been made, or formed. He was the only one to whom the law was given, and Eve was innocent so far as the law is concerned, except what Adam probably had told her. Neither was the serpent or snake formed when God gave Adam the law.

Now let's consider the word "serpent" from a spiritual standpoint and see if it is not a figure or symbol of the carnal mind, or lust of the flesh. Paul says to be carnal minded is death. Jesus said to a certain class: "Ye serpents, ye generation of vipers". John 12:9 to a certain class says: "That old serpent called the devil". Now to eat doesn't mean to masticate every time with our mouth. We may eat in the way of lust or to desire to do a thing or to enjoy an imaginary thought. Jesus says that we may commit adultery by lust or thought in our heart. In this manner, no doubt Adam and Eve did eat before they committed the act. I don't think the Bible teaches that the literal serpent or snake is known in this case from a spiritual standpoint.

Some people seem to think that the prophecies say just what they mean and mean just what they say. That is not the case when it is figuratively spoken. Paul says that the natural man receiveth not the things of the spirit, neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned. Now if it was the literal snake, when did he become dumb? We have no record of God making him dumb. The fact is that old serpent in Adam that beguiled Eve is still talking and trying to deceive and to rob woman of her crown of virtue, just as he did in the Garden of Eden.

It is also called the beast, the dragon and false prophet. It always demands a warfare between the flesh, or spirit of the serpent, and the spirit of life, with a Christian; Rev. 16:13.

Its symbol is frogs. He says: "And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet". Now these frogs were not literal or natural frogs, but they are the symbols of the spirits of devils, working miracles, just as he was in the Garden of Eden, called the serpent, that old serpent called the devil.

Well, if this is printed, I may write again about the tree of life and the sword. Respectfully,—J. H. Jackson, R 1, Clanton, Ala.

A PERFECT RECORD

Imagine a railroad operating for 45 years without ever encountering a law suit! It seems unbelievable, yet that is the record of the once famous Mammoth Cave Special, according to the L. & N. Employes' Magazine for May, which desribes it as "one of the most unique 'systems' ever to spread its ballast on the American scene."

Constructed in 1887, the Mammoth Cave Railroad carried hundreds of thousands of passengers over its 8.7 miles of track between Glasgow Junction, Ky., and the world famous Mammoth Cave, until the line was dismantled in September, 1931. Although its equipment was of a type now considered crude and unsafe, and its little wooden coaches often jammed with humanity, the little Mammoth Cave Railroad in all its 45 years of hauling passengers never injured or killed a single one.

JAMES KELLEY DIED

Mr. James Kelley, Jr., age 20, died Tuesday, May 11, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kelley of Jemison Route 2. For the past 14 months James had been ill. During this time he underwent several operations, and took many treatments.

He was born and rearer at Verbena, and attended school at Verbena and Jemison. He endured his suffering with great patience; during his entire illness he never complained.

Surviving are the parents—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kelley; four sisters—Mrs. Eddie H. Williams of Verbena, Miss Evelyn Kelley of Birmingham, Kate and Mildred Kelley of Jemison; one brother—William H. Kelley of Jemison, and a large number of other relatives.

Funeral services were held Thursday at 11 o'clock at the Verbena Baptist church, with the Rev. Geo. F. Cory of Birmingham, and the Rev. Clyde Bass of Verbena officiating. Burial was in the Verbena cemetery, with Jones, of Birmingham, in charge.

Pallbearers were Orman Arledge, Harmon Glasscock, Arnold Arledge, Chelsea Thrash, Eulos Lawrence, and Gladney Thrash.

TO LIGHTEN RAILROADS' BURDEN

The constitution of the state, in making provision for the elimination of railroad crossings at grade, stipulates that half the cost of the operations shall be borne by the railroad and half by the state and the county or city in which the crossing is situated. Though this section was adopted in 1925, it reflects an attitude better suited to horse-and-buggy days, before motor transportation robbed the railroads of their monopoly, and at the same time enormously increased the need for and the expense of grade crossing elimination. Under present circumstances it is obviously unfair to require of the railroads that they assume half the burden of these improvements, whose number mounts year by year and whose benefit accrues almost wholly to their rivals.

A sense of this injustice was behind the resolution, overwhelmingly supported in the senate but, unfortunately, allowed to die in the assembly, to amend the constitution, establishing the railroads' share of expense at 10 per cent. We are glad to applaud it not only as an indication that soaking the hard pressed railroads is losing its vogue with our legislators but also as a measure of expediency. The less the railroad has to pay the more likely we are to see grade crossings eliminated when the community demands it. Next year's legislature should revive and enact the resolution.

Meanwhile, one may ponder on the inclusion of legislation of the sort in the organic law. Does it not seem a trifle ridiculous that to make the alteration proposed we should be constrained to go through the cumbersome process of a constitutional amendment instead of leaving it to the discretion of our representatives? There is a lot of lumber in the constitution of this state, as in that of most others, which belongs in a statute book.—Editorial in the New York Herald Tribune, May 10, 1937.

ALABAMA HAS HIGHEST MOTOR VEHICLE TAX

Special additional state and federal automotive taxes paid by the average Alabama motorist in 1936 are estimated to have cost him $83.98, which represents an assessment of 39.18 per cent on $212, the estimated value of the average motor vehicle. This is the highest motor vehicle tax cost of all states, and almost twice the average of the United States—$47.05.

These estimates were reported by Earl M. Hearne, Secretary of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, who said they were based upon official automotive tax reports of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads. Mr. Hearne itemized the average Alabama motorist's 1936 automotive tax bill as follows:

State gasoline tax	$48.69
State lubricating oil tax	.75
Local city and county gasoline taxes	6.21
State registration and miscellaneous fees	14.51
Federal taxes on gasoline, lubricants, tires, tubes, parts, accessories, etc.	13.82
Total	$83.98

"Special additional automotive taxes paid by the motor vehicle owner in addition to all the regular taxes he pays, are becoming large items of cost," said Mr. Hearne. "A tax of 39.g8 per cent on property worth $212 is pretty heavy taxation.

"Our state and local gasoline taxes totalled originally two cents per gallon, but now is seven cents, plus a two cent per gallon oil tax. The duplicating federal levy makes us pay two taxes, and in some instances three and four, on the same gallon of gasoline, that same federal tax accounting for two-thirds of the cost of federal automotive taxes.

"It is time to think of the welfare of the motorist, to decide whether his money is to go largely for taxes, or to go into trade. As one of the largest retail buyers in the state, his purchases account for one-fifth of all retail sales thereby creating widespread employment. Obviously, if his money goes into taxes, it cannot be spent for things he otherwise would buy. Prominent among ways in which excessive tax costs can be lowered is the repeal of the duplicating federal gasoline tax and of the federal tax on lubricants".

Do you realize that the areas primarily suited for tree growth if placed together would cover all of the United States east of the Mississippi River and most of the State of Texas in addition? Can we afford to destroy such an area?—U. S. Forest Service.

LOCAL 4-H CLUB HAS OWN COTTON PROJECT

Athens. — The Oakdale 4-H Club, in Limestone County, under the leadership of C. L. Kaufman, this year planted three acres of cotton as a club project, the proceeds to be used for recreational and other club activities.

The cotton is being cultivated and is to be harvested by the 4-H Club members, states W. G. Hood, 4-H Club agent, in reporting that the Club presented a play at the local school to raise money for purchasing the planting seed. The fertilizer was bought with money through a loan at a local bank.

TAXPAYERS MEETINGS

Preparations were virtually completed here today for two state-wide meetings June 3, one here in the ballroom of the Whitley Hotel, at 1 p. m., and the second in the ballroom of the Thomas Jefferson Hotel, Birmingham, at 8 p. m., by the Consumers Taxpayers Association of Alabama. At these meetings a new constitution and by-laws for the association as proposed by the executive committee of the old Cnsumers Anti-Sales Tax Association will be acted upon.

Mr. Frank G. Arnold, of Fullerton, Neb., president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues, will be the principal speaker at both meetings, according to B. C. Apperson, executive secretary of the association.

County unit chairman of the association from the 67 counties, as well as representatives from all trade, civic and farm organizations have been invited to attend these meetings, those from central and south Alabama attending the Montgomery meeting, while those from Birmingham and upstate sectors will attend the Magic City meeting, Apperson stated.

Proposals to be laid before the two meetings include plans for broadening the scope of the association so as to appeal to all classes of citizens interested in "economy in government" and an end to "pie government, such as is now existent in Alabama," he said.

At the same time, Apperson cited a statement issued by Henry Long, president of the Alabama tax commission, showing, in partial returns from March sales tax collections that only $231,000 had been deposited in the state treasury, as proof that the administration, "by holding back on the complete returns for the first month of the sales tax collection, was attempting to build up sentiment for additional tax legislation." In making public "partial returns," Long stated "collections to date indicate that the estimates of some people as to the amount of revenue the sales tax would bring in were too high."

HADEN URGES BIGGER COTTON PRODUCTION TO ENRICH SOUTH

Grow of more cotton and wider use of cotton seed meal and other by-products were urged today as a means of bringing direct and far-reaching benefits to people of the South.

Speaking before the National Cottonseed Products Association, Charles J. Haden, of Atlanta, Ga., widely known as an authority on farming and economics, declared:

"If we in America would respect the sound principles of common sense and the golden rule of commerce, we could market year by year double the quantity of cotton we normally produce, and do this at a profit."

"The solemn call of the hour," he said, "is not to plow up cotton, nor yet to restrict its production. Cotton and its seed have been and always will be our basic master resource."

He declared that for every 20 acres of cotton land made idle by the governments renting plan, one plow hand was made idle. The South once grew 80 per cent of the world's cotton, he said, but now grows only 38 per cent.

CLAY LATHAM BURIED SATURDAY

The remains of Mr. Clay Latham, age about 75 years, were buried at Stanton Saturday, May 15. Mr. Latham died in a Birmingham hospital Friday following a paralytic stroke about two weeks previous. Reports are that Mr. Latham was on a bus en route to the home of his daughter when he was stricken, and he being rendered speechless, neither the bus driver nor hospital attendants were able to find out who he was or where he came from. Finally when death was near, some of his relatives were located and his identity was established.

Surviving are several daughters and sons; there is one sister, Mrs. Ellen Shoults, of Lawley.

Lesson for May 23

THE WEAKNESS OF ESAU

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 25:27-34; 27:41-45.

GOLDEN TEXT—And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. I Corinthians 9:25.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Twin Brothers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Twin Brothers Trading.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Winning by Self-Control.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Conquering Appetite and Greed.

One of the difficult and at the same time challenging things about teaching the Word of God is that its divine precepts are diametrically opposed to the current philosophy of men. In our lesson of last week we saw that meekness and forbearance are strong and commendable qualities in a world which magnifies brute force. Today we are to study a portion of Scripture which shows the folly of living for the flesh, and we are living in a world where the flesh and its appetities are given full sway.

Professors in many colleges are openly advocating the free exercise of every fleshly appetite as a normal expression of life. Morality is cast off; the flesh rules. Many of the nations of the earth look upon boys and girls as merely so many physical units useful in a future war. Motherhood has been degraded into an animal-like function, solely for the breeding of more manpower. One nation recently advocated as great an increase as possible in the birth of illegitimate children to be cared for by the state as a measure of national security. One shudders to mention such unspeakable wickedness, but even so we have only touched the surface.

Is it true that man is but a beast? Is there no spirit in man capable of fellowship with God? Has the moral law of God been abrogated? The story of Esau and Jacob is most pointed and instructive in its answer to such questions. Two New Testament quotations have been chosen to express the truth of an Old Testament lesson; namely, Galatians 5:17, and 6:7.

I. "The Flesh Lusteth Against the Spirit" (Gen. 25:27-34).

Esau is a type of the man of the flesh. He was "a cunning hunter, a man of the field." Evidently he was an athletic, outdoor man of attractive personality, of free and easy-going spirit. He was a hail-fellow-well-met. Had he lived in our day he would have been featured in the rotogravure, would probably have been in the movies, would possibly have been a great athlete, and the good-looking boy who set hearts a-flutter at the country club dance.

He came from the hunt, and he had found nothing. He was hungry. What a type this is of the folly of seeking satisfaction in the world. It never satisfies. For all its glitter and glamour, it is empty and shallow. He had a birthright—a valuable possession in any case, but doubly so as a son of Abraham. But he was hungry, he would simply die if he did not eat. His brother Jacob, inspired by his scheming mother who was not willing to abide God's time for the fulfillment of his promise, had the savory pottage ready to tempt him and he sold his birthright for a "gulp of that red stuff," for so might v. 30 be translated.

One is reminded of a clergyman who attended the Keswick Conference in England. He sent a request for prayer to the platform and asked this question: "I have a habit which is dishonoring to Christ. If I give it up I will die. What shall I do?" The wise and complete answer was one word—"Die." Rather should we lose our body and its desires than to lose our soul.

II. "Whatsoever a Man Soweth That Shall He Also Reap" (Gen. 27:41-45).

Jacob and his mother found that one lie called for another, and ultimately their deceit led (as deceit always does) to the place of reckoning. The law of sowing and reaping is inexorable. Jacob fled from his angry brother. Rebekah thought it would be for "a few days" (v. 44), but it proved to be twenty years, and she never saw her favorite son again.

Let us make no mistake about it. Our sins will always find us out. Even God's people must learn to walk uprightly before Him if they are to walk in peace.

The Season of Hope

Youth is the season of hope, enterprise, and energy, to a nation as well as an individual.—W. R. Williams.

Part of His Plan

I find most help in trying to look on all interruptions and hindrances to work that one has planned out for one's self as discipline, trials, sent by God to help one against getting selfish over one's work.—Annie Keary.

Bountiful Blessings

Forever from the hand that takes one blessing from us, others fall; and soon or late, our Father makes his perfect recompense to all.—Whittier.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wyatt, of Montevallo, were in Clanton on business Monday of this week.

BOB JONES

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Here is a suggestion for a sermon. "Go to, let us build us a tower and a city". Man is selfish. HE builds FOR HIMSELF a tower and a city. That is the reason the tower of Babel fell. "Hate never wins its purpose", I heard a man say. Neither does selfishness. The most miserable people on earth are the people who live self-centered lives. The men who hoard money for themselves find that instead of the money bringing happiness it brings torment. It curses them and their children. It mocks their cry for happiness. The folks who live in themselves are always miserable. The ones who live for others and forget themselves are always happy. We take in by pouring out. We get by giving. We hoard by scattering. We gain by losing. We lighten our load by taking on our shoulders the load of a burdened brother. We dry our own tears by wiping tears from the cheeks of weeping friends. We rest by working. We rejoice by repenting. We reach up by reaching down to help someone. We climb by going down into the valley to help the lost and suffering. We find comfort for our own hearts when they break in sympathy for the sorrowing. God wants us to be unselfish. Therefore He will not let selfishness win in this world which He made and after it went away from Him bought back with the Blood of His Son Who lived in this selfish world for 33 years and never did a selfish act or uttered a selfish word.

The world is filled with men and women trying to have a good time. All the wild excitement of modern life is simply an opiate which the world is trying to give its own so they will think they are happy. As a matter of fact, the purpose of life is not to be happy. "I wish you much happiness." That is what we tell our friends when they are married. Well, of course, there is great happiness in married life when people, especially Christian people, love each other and are married according to the will of God. But there is much sorrow in the lives of normal married people. Babies are born and often die. Little coffins come into the home and leave their shadow on the family sky. Sometimes there is much sickness and suffering. Often great financial adversity comes. The husband loses his job or the bank breaks and the savings are lost. Eventually death takes the husband and wife. Death is a great home breaker. What we really should say to young people when they get married is something like this: " I do hope you will have a successful married life and that God will give you the grace that you are going to need as you two share together life's responsibility". One reason so many homes are broken is that we teach young people to look to married life as a time of supreme happiness. Then when the sorrows come they sometimes feel that after all they have made a failure of married life. Many of the most devoted couples it has been my privilege to know shared together the sufferings and sorrows of life. "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest. Take My yoke upon you and learn of Me for My yoke is easy and My burden is light". Jesus didn't say, "Come unto Me and be ye happy". A yoke is not intended to be a burden. A yoke makes it possible for the ox to carry the load. The yoke which Jesus puts on us makes it possible for us to carry the burdens of life and have rest in our hearts when we are carrying those burdens. A Christian man and a Christian woman in a normal married life share each other's burdens. They do not spend so much time wondering if they are happy. Love does not ask to be happy. Love is not selfish. Love seeks to lift the load from the shoulders of the beloved.

FLOOD DAMAGE

In order to ascertain the flood damage sustained by farmers in the Coosa River Valley, the U. S. Engineer Office in Mobile, co-operating with Mr. P. O. Davis, Director of Agriculture Co-operating Extension Service, Auburn, and the local county agents, is making a canvass of the entire river valley. Mr. Davis is taking the initiative in the work and requesting all the county agents to call meetings of the farmers affected. The county agents are very enthusiastic over the prospect of the results that may be obtained, and are asking all the low land farmers to attend the meetings on the dates set. The U. S. Engineer Office will have representatives present with questionnaires which will be filled in by each affected farmer, and it is hoped that a reasonable and accurate survey of the actual damage received by the low land farmers can be obtained. The information received will be included in studies on the Coosa River now being made by the Engineers, and later forwarded to congress for final action.

THE PEOPLE'S PUBLIC SERVICE ATTORNEY

The title, "The People's Public Service Attorney", should give you some idea as to the duties of that department.

The People's Public Service Attorney was created by the legislature o Alabama by an act approved July 10, 1935, as is recorded in the General Acts of the Legislature of the year 1935, on pages 624-5-6. This act declares that every person, firm, corporation, co-partnership, association or organization which subscribes to or purchases from any public utility or transportation company, products or services of any description, shall be deemed a patron of such public utility, and gives to that patron the right of appeal to court from decision of the Public Service Commission. It further provides that such appeal shall be governed by the rules, regulations and practices now prevailing or hereafter adopted as to appeals by a public utility.

This act provides that a duly licensed attorney shall be appointed by the governor of the State of Alabama, to act and to be known as the People's Public Service Attorney. This attorney shall hold office at the pleasure of the governor, and it is his duty to represent any and all patrons who shall request his services before the Public Service Commission and in any court proceeding where there is an appeal either by the patron or the utility involved. The act further provides that this service shall be rendered without compensation on the part of the patron. The People's Public Service Attorney is required to devote his entire time to the serving of patrons of public utilities. He is required to maintain an office in the capitol at Montgomery at all times, and he must be available to any patron at any time except when he is away from his office in the performance of his duties as such an attorney.

Mr. W. M. Brunson, attorney of Elba, was appointed by Gov. Bibb Graves as the People's Public Service Attorney on September 4, 1935, and since that time has been serving in such capacity. The services of Mr. Brunson are available to all citizens of the state who have grievances or claims against a public utility in the State of Alabama and these services are rendered without charge.

The People's Public Service Attorney's department has handled hundreds of claims and complaints since September, 1935. Many differences have been adjusted and many rates have been fixed satisfactorily to the utility and to the patrons.

There are many people of the state who are not advised of their rights and privileges in the department of the People's Public Service Attorney. If you have a complaint against a utility, write W. M. Brunson, the People's Public Service Attorney, at Montgomery, making your trouble known and asking for such relief as you think you are entitled to.

This new department is proving to be a very valuable help to those who have taken advantage of it, but many citizens of the state, in all probability, are unaware as to their rights through this department. The creation of this department is one of the most progressive steps taken by the present administration.

4-H CLUBS

The 4-H Clubs are learning to work together as never before in the National Social Progress Program. Thousands of groups are achieving results never dreamed of, and opening new fields of endeavor which promote community social and economic well-being.

Participating clubs are required to submit a record of co-operative projects, such as meetings, exhibits, and educational demonstrations, public entertainments, radio and music activities, fire prevention, conservation, social welfare, play writing for radio, and debates.

A score is designated for the different activities, and each county selects its best club on that basis to compete for state honors. A national victor is then named. Each county winning club receives through the Radio Corporation of America and its services, NBS and RCA-Victor, choice of a handsome Victor Book of the Opera or 4-H song records; state winners receive a 3100 RCA-Victor radio or portable player, or Victrola and selected records valued at $100; the national winning club receives a 15-tube RCA-Victor latest model phonograph-radio, valued at $450, and $100 worth of RCA-Victor records for use in 4-H and community activities in its county.

The leader of the national winning club and five of its top members receive all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago in December. The leader and one member of the club writing the best radio script will receive trips to NBC studios in Radio City in New York.

MT. PLEASANT 4-H CLUB

The Mt. Pleasant 4-H Club met on Thursday, May 6, at the school house at 4 o'clock p.m. W. B. Crowe acted in the placed of the regular president, who was absent. The meeting was called to order, and the minutes of the last meeting read. The roll was called by the secretary.

There were 15 members present. The Club pledge was recited by the group, after which pictures of the Club rally were delivered to various Club members.

The program was discussed by the Club, after which it was dismissed to play ball. After the ball game, Mr. Ivey told us about where our camp was to be, and then we adjourned to meet again next month.—Reporter.

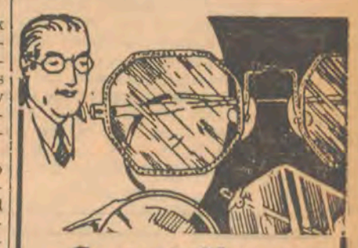
Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.



The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

STILL HERE . . .

We wish to announce to our many good friends and customers that we are still in business, serving the motorists' needs with washing, greasing, etc., as heretofore, while our station is being remodeled. We will be open for business in the NEW station at an early date.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS

America's great disgrace is going to be diminished. A nation-wide effort is going to be made to decrease the number of newspaper headlines that read "Collision Causes Death". The blemish of avoidable highway accidents must be wiped out, the toll of permanent disabilities due to automobile and truck crashes must be reduced. The Committee on Safe Highways of the American Road Builders' Association is convinced this can be done through the application of modern engineering methods — the building of safety into the nation's roads.

Fifty of the country's leading highway engineers and safety experts and enthusiasts will converge on Washington May 27, to attend sessions of this committee and put their convictions into practical procedures for the introduction and application of a campaign against highway deaths and disabilities. The assemblage of the Committee on Safe Highways will highlight the annual meeting of the American Road Builders' Association at the Willard hotel in Washington on May 26-28.

THORSBY SECTION

(Mrs. S. E. Norton, Manager)

A group of people in Thorsby are financing the fixing up of the ground which the town recently bought just west of the water tank. They hope to make it a park and supervised playground. In a few days it may be in a condition so the children may use a portion of it for a playground.

The Congregational church has practically completed the rebuilding plan of the church. This rebuilding plan has added to the church building a 2-story annex. On the first floor are four Sabbath school rooms, three of which are being used for the primary department, and one for the young men's class room. On the second floor is a large assembly room and a small kitchen. The large assembly room will be used by the young women's Sabbath school class. The Christian Endeavor will also use this room. It will also be a place of meeting for the mid-week prayer meeting. Special groups may use this room from time to time. The name voted for this room is the "fellowship" room. A basement has been excavated under the new addition to the church. In that basement is a modern hot air furnace, equipped with an electric blower to force warm air into every part of the church. This blower will also be used in connection with air conditioning the church building during the summer months. The church auditorium has been completely refinished. New pews have been added, which were built by the American Seating Co., of Grand Rapids, Mich. The minister of the church is particularly thankful to the building committee: Mrs. J. H. Goddard, Mrs. S. E. Norton, Mr. A. N. Laurell, Rev. E. W. Butler, and Mr. J. O. Johnson. Also to all the members and friends of the church who have helped make this building project possible.

The church people and the building committee are most thankful to their minister, the Rev. L. L. Stanley, for the great help and inspiration he has been during this building.

The services at the Congregational church will be as usual next Sunday. The concluding examinations of the Expert Endeavor Class will be given Sunday afternoon. Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:20 instead of 6:30.

Choir rehearsal will be on Wednesday at 4 o'clock with Miss Foss.

Prayer meeting on Wednesday at 7 o'clock in the Fellowship room. There will be a meeting of the Sabbath school council following prayer meeting.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

The planting of perennial close growing vegetation on small critical areas in a cultivated field will often protect a large portion of the field, according to James H. Wood, superintendent of the Soil Conservation Service praject near Clanton.

A critical area may occur as a steep portion of a field between more gentle slopes above and below, or as a galled spot where, due to some special condition, erosion has become particularly severe and is progressing at a more rapid rate than on other portions of the field.

Where these areas occur as a sudden break in the general topography of the field, a band of perennial vegetation extending across this steeper portion tends to slow up run-off water and thus reduces the damage to the lower portions of the field. Perennial cover on galled spots tends to prevent these areas from spreading.

The use of legumes for such plantings increases the fertility of the soil. Types of vegetation which provide food and cover for wild life, when used on such areas, give quail and other species of game an opportunity to range from this cover through cultivated fields.

Additional hay for the farm, increased fertility of the soil, and conditions favorable to wild life can thus be provided by perennial close growing vegtation used for erosion control on these critical areas, Mr. Wood pointed out.

GOLD SEAL ENGINE IS GIVING GOOD RESULTS

Owner experience with the 1937 Chrysler Royal has established that in the Gold Seal engine, with which this car is powered, Chrysler engineers achieved one of the most remarkable power plant betterments ever recorded. Everywhere owner drivers are getting from 18 to 24 miles to the gallon of fuel, and with it a very high quality of performance.

In the Gold Seal engine, Chrysler has accomplished both of the things most sought in automobile motors, a reduction of engine weight and a reduction of fuel consumption, while maintaining a high horsepower. The Gold Seal engine develops 93 horsepower, which means a tremendous reserve in a car of its weight. It does this on a piston displacement of but 228.1 cubic inches, which means that the fuel consumption is very low in relation to the power.

One of the reasons for this effective use of fuel is that the Gold Seal operates on a compression ratio of 6.5 to 1, the highest ratio ever achieved in an engine of this bore. It means that every ounce of power is squeezed from every drop of gasoline.

Valve design improvements have contributed largely to the efficiency of this remarkable engine. Valve diameter and valve area both have been increased. The increased size of the valves permits the gasoline vapor to enter the cylinders more rapidly and for the exhaust gases to be discharged more rapidly. Valve ports have been improved in design to expedite the rapid passage of gas from the intake manifold to the combustion chamber.

Austenitic steel, a new non-magnetic steel, is used in the exhaust valves. This is a steel with a higher "red strength" than the usual type used in valve construction. It resists burning, acidity and corrosion. The necessity for valve grinding, already greatly reduced by Chrysler's exhaust valve seat inserts, is still further reduced through the use of Austenitic steel.

Another improvement in valve design is the use of self locking screws on the valve tappets. These do not require locking nuts, and are easy to adjust to proper clearances. Riding contours of cams have been increased to promote quieter valve action.

A new "U" type of aluminum alloy piston has replaced the "T" slot type. Chrysler engineers have designed the "U" type stronger than the "T" and have given it added oil economy. The piston is given an anodic coating to bring its surface to the hardness of a sapphire.

The full length water jacket and water distributing tube first used in the 1936 Chrysler Six and highly successful in operation are continued on the Gold Seal engine. These features have been found very valuable in insuring efficient and uniform cooling system, which means improved performance.

Did you know that 25 per cent of all of the receipts of the National Forests are returned to the states and counties from which they are derived to be used locally for schools and roads? Receipts increase with timber growth. Forest fires destroy timber growth. Prevent forest fires.—U. S. Forest Service.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. J. O. BROWN

On Monday night, May 10, the death angel visited the home of Mrs. J. O. Brown and carried her soul to heaven. Everyone who knew her loved her for her sweet, kind and sympathetic manner, but God thought best to take from us our dear wife and mother.

Forever will linger with us the memory of that sweet smile which she always gave to whomever she met. The grief is great and hard to bear by her loved ones, though God had need of her in that beautiful home up there. Life is very short and sweet, but we must bear the sorrow and the sting of death after life's fitful fever.

She was very beautiful in her peaceful sleep. Our last wish is that we may all meet our wonderful mother in heaven.

She is survived by her husband—J. O. Brown; one son—J. B.; one sister—Lillie Sewell; two brothers—J. R., and C. C. Roseberry, all of Clanton.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, May 11, at 3 o'clock at Pleasant Grove church, with Martin in charge of burial. Pallbearers were Messrs. Sides, Addington, Alford, Patterson, Terrell, Whiton. Flower girls were Kathleen West, Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Earl West, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. Neese, Mattie Moore.—J. O. Brown and son, J. B.

TIMES DO CHANGE

Attorney General Cummings in an effort to prevent price fixing and monopoly has proposed the passage of more anti-monopoly laws. The fact that the Sherman anti-trust act has been on the statute books for a generation and that little use of it has been made by the New Deal would seem to indicate that Mr. Cummings, by asking for more legislation, is seeking an alibi. It is a popular and common thing on the part of statesmen and politicians when the public complains about something to ask congress to pass a law.

Sen. Borah called the turn on the Attorney General when he reminded him that there is plenty of legislation on the statute books to start proceedings against the monopolists and price fixers.

"It may be that some amendments to the law are desirable," said the Idaho senator, "but I think there is a vast amount of power in the law which has never been used".

Not only has the New Deal failed to apply the provisions of the Sherman anti-trust law to prevent an increase in commodities through price fixing, but it actually, in its early days, through the late NRA, attempted to grant exemption to many concerns from the workings of the anti-trust law. We were led to believe then that anti-trust legislation was a dead letter and we had entered a new era in which the Blue Eagle would hatch prosperity. It was this evident disposition of the New Dealers to forget the Sherman anti-trust law which lined up so many of the captains of big industry in favor of the NRA and lined up so many small business men against it.

Furthermore, the object of the NRA in sidetracking the Sherman law was the very thing which Mr. Cummings now seeks to avoid, an increase in the cost of commodities. Things certainly do change!

"Without exception, gambling is essentially a means of getting something for nothing", asserts a minister. You've been extremely lucky, parson; a lot of us get nothing for something.—Washington Post.

WIPE OUT THE EXEMPTIONS

There is no good reason why the salaries of public employes, local, state or federal, should be free from the income taxes paid by other citizens. That there is partial exemption enjoyed by the public servants is due to constitutional limitations on the taxing power.

That being the case, it would seem that the way out is to amend the Constitution. Congressman Cochran of Missouri conceives a plan to do it by one amendment, to be added to the federal Constitution. His purpose, stated clearly in a few words, is "to put everyone in the same class, both as to federal and state taxes".

Federal employes are exempt from state income taxes. State and local employes are free from the federal income tax. At one stroke the amendment would remove both of these exemptions.—Minneapolis Journal.

WAR DEBT SETTLEMENT

Sen. J. Ham Lewis' hint that negotiations are under way for an "adjustment" of the debts owed to the United States by various nations—commonly called "war debts", though most of the money was advanced after the war was over—is completely met by Sen. Borah's declaration that the only satisfactory adjustment of the debts that foreign nations can make is to pay them.

These debts were adjusted downward very materially in the original settlement. They were further cut 41 per cent by the devaluation of the dollar. The next adjustment will adjust them out of the window. By the way, what has become of the "realistic" means of collection which Mr. Roosevelt envisioned in 1932?—Los Angeles Times.

DOESN'T MAKE SENSE

After five years of business recovery from a depression that began nearly eight years ago, the nation is asked to believe that the need for federal relief is greater than ever and that business recovery, now up to pre-depression standards largely, will soon reach such a level that the president will be relieved of the task of balancing the government budget through actually reduced spending.

At the same time the president and some of his administrators are showing grave concern lest expanded facilities for banking credit and high prices will produce a business boom that will run into a disastrous inflation and another consequent collapse. Somehow, it doesn't make sense.—Springfield Union.

COURAGE

Missourians, irrespective of their attitude on the Supreme Court issue, have reason for pride in the courage of their senior U. S. senator. In opposing the president on the plan to pack the Supreme Court, Bennet Clark is taking his political life in his hands. But, as he said in Kansas City, he believes the question is so vital that he is bound to make a fight without regard to his political future. How refreshing to find a political leader with such courageous integrity! — Kansas City Times.

New traffic legislation for trailers impends. One law, already in force, is that the front porch of one's traveling home must not be nearer than four feet to a fire plug.—Columbus Dispatch.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Not infrequently nowadays we hear the question: "Is the old Republican party dead?" In spite of the fact 17,000,000 votes were cast in support of Republican candidates in the campaign of 1936, there are a great many who believe, or profess to believe, that the party will never return to power in the form in which we formerly knew it as the political organization which conducted the national government during the 75 years of the greatest American progress.

There is no question that the times are changing and that the Republican party of the days of McKinley and the elder Roosevelt have gone, perhaps forever. At the same time, one might be justified in asking this question: "What about the Democratic party?" If the G. O. P. is dead in defeat, then the Jeffersonian Democracy, so far as principles are concerned, seems to be as inanimate in the era of apparent victory. For the Democracy of today is no more like the Democracy of the time of Grover Cleveland than is the ocean like the desert.

The differences are not hard to find. In the old days the Democracy claimed to be the party of individual freedom. It accused the Republican organization of attempting to run the country from an aggregation of bureaucracies at Washington which sought to interfere with the rights of the individual. But now, how far we have come! The New Dealers at Washington are putting into effect policies under the name of the Democracy which in the old days would have been regarded by the simon-pure Democrats as the offspring of Hamiltonian Federalism. A great many critics of the New Deal have quoted Thomas Jefferson and Grover Cleveland to show that these men were not in favor of regimentation from Washington. Yet another Democratic hero, Andrew Jackson, has been even more to the point in some of his statements. For example, Jackson once admonished the people:

"We should bear constantly in mind the fact that the considerations which induced the framers of the Constitution to withhold from the general government the power to regulate the great mass of business and concerns of the people have been fully justified by experience, and it cannot now be doubted that the genius of all of our institutions prescribes simplicity and economy as the characteristics of the reform which is yet to be effected in the present and future executions of the functions bestowed upon us by the Constitution.

"Limited to a general superintending power to maintain peace at home and abroad and to prescribe laws on a few subjects of general interest not caculated to disturb human liberty, but to enforce human rights, this government will find its strength and its glory in the faithful discharge of its plain and simple duties".

One would have to stretch his imagination to the breaking nowadays to envision Washington, with its teeming thousands of bureaucrats and government employes, expert and inexpert, engaged in the "faithful discharge of the plain and simple duties".

Jackson's deeds bore out his ideas. His historic and successful fight on the national bank because he considered it an unsound and dangerous thing of finance is a matter of record. And so goes the Democratic record from the days of Thomas Jefferson down to those of Woodrow Wilson. But the times have changed now, and it may be repeated that the Republican party seems no deader in defeat than the Democracy does in victory.

Just what will happen, nobody of course can foretell with accuracy. We may fight it out in 1940 under the old party emblems, or there may be in the meantime new party emblems. The safest guess is that the elections of 1938 will tell the story. Whether or not the G. O. P. is able to make any inroads in congress in an off-year election will doubtless have great bearing on the political future. In the meantime, if you believe the Republican party is dead, just turn aside for a moment to view the remains fo the party of Jefferson, of Jackson, of Cleveland and of Wilson.

A CENSUS NEEDED

Sen. Vandenberg's estimate of 2,975,000 as the number of persons now unemployed is challenged by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, but the bureau chief admits that the Department of Labor has never made a count of the idle, and does not really know how many need work.

How accurate Sen. Vandenberg's is, we do not know, nor does anyone else, but his suggestion that the government get busy and take a census and find out for sure the number of unemployed squares with common sense.—Houston Post.

PARENTS TAXED UNJUSTLY

A major defect in both state and national income tax laws is that exemptions for dependents end at the age of 18 years. It is opposed to the educational aims of the country and an unjust hardship on parents.

There is plenty of talk these days about adding to income taxes by lowering exemptions or raising the rate. It is a sound tax based on ability to pay and is direct, but if changes are to be made in it, one of them certainly should be an exemption for dependents whose parents are still paying for their education.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

CHILD LABOR

Massachusetts is the latest state to reject the child labor amendment, doing so by an overwhelming vote making even dimmer the hopes of those who would like the amendment to become a part of the Constitution. Now consideration should be given to a more suitable amendment, one that will enable the federal government to end child labor abuses without assuming a blanket control over all youth, in conflict with the rights of parents.—Ft. Wayne News-Sentinel.

Following the adoption of the child labor amendment:

Farmer (with three sons ranging from 14 to 18 years of age): "Boys, harness up and get out to that wheat field".

The boys: "Sorry, dad, we're going to town to play pool. It's agin the law for us to work."

The farmer then turned to his 20-year-old son but the latter had already done his 40 hours for the week and was going fishing. So the farmer took ma out with him and did the best he could.—Lyons (Kan.) News.

AFRAID OF THE FACTS

As time goes on it becomes more difficult to escape the suspicion that the administration would rather not know the facts than risk the possibility that they will deflate its constant campaign to enlarge the powers of government at the expense of private enterprise. Very inconvenient to its purpose would be the public discovery that the volume of unemployment was comparatively negligible. Or do we do it an injustice? If so, let it proceed forthwith to count the unemployed and set the suspicion at rest.—New York Herald-Tribune.

FISH NEWS

Distribution of fish for restocking Alabama's public streams and lakes this year will be through the 67 county conservation councils following a state-wide survey of streams to be made by the councils, it was announced by Com. I. T. Quinn. Questionnaires for the survey have been mailed to each county council, and the speed with which the surveys are completed and sent to the Conservation Department will determine the systematic and efficient placing of fish during the summer months.

Last year 3,000,000 fish were planted in the fresh water streams of Alabama from state and federal hatcheries, and it is expected that a similar number will go out from the hatcheries this year. The Conservation Department wishes to see that the fish are placed where the most public good will result, and where the fish will have the best chance to live.

STATE ENCAMPMENT SET FOR ALABAMA CLUB BOYS

Auburn. — The state encampment for Alabama 4-H Club boys will be held in Aubuurn July 5 to July 14, announces T. A. Sims, state 4-H Club leader, in reporting that boys from the eastern part of the state will spend July 5-9, inclusive, in Auburn, and those of the western part of the state July 9-14, inclusive.

"The total cost per boy while in Auburn will be $5 for fee, board and lodging," says Mr. Sims in a letter to all county and 4-H Club agents in the state. "Sheets and blankets, etc., will be furnished by the camp. So the boy will need only to bring the clothes he wants and the money to pay his registration fee of $5."

Arrangements have been made for boys of the following counties to spend July 5-9 in Auburn:

Jackson, DeKalb, Marshall, Blount, Etowah, Cherokee, St. Clair, Jefferson, Walker, Calhoun, Cleburne, Talladega, Shelby, Clay, Randolph, Chambers, Tallapoosa, Coosa, Chilton, Elmore, Lee, Macon, Bullock, Russell, Borbour, Pike, Crenshaw, Covington, Coffee, Dale, Henry, Houston, and Geneva.

Club members of the remaining counties will spend July 9-14 in Auburn. These counties are:

Lauderdale, Limestone, Hale, Madison, Colbert, Franklin, Lawrence, Morgan, Cullman, Marion, Winston, Lamar, Fayette, Pickens, Tuscaloosa, Bibb, Greene, Sumter, Marengo, Perry, Dallas, Autauga, Montgomery, Wilcox, Lowndes, Butler, Choctaw, Clarke, Monroe, Conecuh, Escambia, Baldwin, Washington, and Mobile.

PAINTING FARM HOMES WILL BE ENCOURAGED

Auburn. — At the suggestion of Gov. Graves, officials of the Alabama Extension Service are working on plans for getting farmers to paint their homes and farm buildings.

"We have received from Gov. Bibb Graves a suggestion that we make the painting of farm buildings a project until every farm building is painted that is worth painting," says P. O. Davis, director, in a letter asking extension agricultural engineers to work out definite plans for approaching the problem.

"Since receiving this suggestion I have observed farm buildings throughout the state and have concluded that at least 90 per cent of them should be painted immediately," he continues. "Perhaps 95 per cent is nearer the correct figure. While authentic statistics are not available, it is my belief that there are not enough painters in Alabama to paint in 10 years the farm buildings which should be painted this year. It is a well known fact that good paint is a profitable investment. It is worth much more than it costs, and it has a wholesome effect upon the people who live in houses, or see them.

"So, therefore, the suggestion from Gov. Graves is being passed on to you with the request that you prepare and submit to me definite plans as to how we should proceed most efficiently and effectively in getting our farm buildings painted as rapidly as possible.

"I realize that it is a long time job and that it is a big job. If, for example, the cost should average $50 per building, the total would exceed $12,000,000. In approaching the problem, of course, we must endeavor to do the job the most economical way not to sacrifice quality."

AAA ENCOURAGING SIX NEW USES FOR COTTON

Auburn. — The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is encouraging six new uses of cotton in highway construction throughout the country.

The six new uses include utilization of cotton fabric:

1—As a covering or membrane, either by itself or as a re-inforcing material for sides of irrigation, drainage, run-off, or other types of ditches.

2—As a covering or membrane to re-inforce fills or cuts for roads, highways, or other purposes.

3—As a protection for hives of bees.

4—As a protective covering for vegetables and fruits during growing, ripening, or curing processes.

5—As a portable covering, hood, or tent in connection with fumigating, spraying, or dusting fruits, vegetables, vines, trees, or plants.

6—As a roof, outside covering materials, or insulation in the construction of permanent or semi-permanent structures.

NEW FOOD WRINKLES FEATURE 4-H PROJECTS

Girls enrolled in 4-H food projects may again compete for valuable prizes in the National Food Preparation Contest being conducted by Club leaders with the aid of the State Extension Service. It opens a wide and fascinating field for girls who wish to excel in culinary arts.

Use of "new wrinkles" in commercial food products are an interesting phase of the contest, as are failure-proof methods, short cuts, and economical practices devised daily in test kitchens, all of which make food and its preparation a delight.

Credit is given to poultry, garden and orchard projects, and serving of their projects, also to the preparation of special dishes promoting greater consumption of neglected health items in the diet. Drying, curing, and canning of foods, picnic and school lunches, meal planning and table decorations and settings for formal and informal occasions are significant in the program.

To encourage club girls in all these things, Servel, Inc., makers of the Electrolux kerosene operated refrigerator, offer $900 in cash scholarships and eight refrigerators to national and sectional winners, trips to the 16th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for state winning members, and gold medals to county champions. All girls are expected to participate.

4-H GIRLS OFFERED PRIZES

For the 15th consecutive year the quest for the ideal 4-H home girl is being conducted through the Girls Record Contest by club leaders of the nation. Designed to offer recognition to girls with the best all-around records, the contest offers, among other prizes, educational trips to the 16th National Club Congress in Chicago, and $1,200 in cash scholarships.

Records are sought which show successful participation in such projects as sewing, cooking, canning, room and home improvement, and in activities which have to do with demonstrations, exhibits and judging contests, and the closely allied cultural subjects.

Each state selects one girl from those with the highest county scores, to receive an all-expense trip to the Club Congress. Five cash scholarships of $400, $300, $200, $150, and $150 are provided by Montgomery Ward, sponsor of the contest, for the tops. Gold medals of honor are presented county title winners. No obligation of any kind is incurred by the contestants.

RESETTLEMENT

The record of service by the Resettlement Administration to the farmers of this county in the two years since it was established was reviewed on the occasion of the agency's second anniversary. The order setting up this agency was signed by the president April 30, 1935.

Since the commencement of this work in Chilton County more than 261 farm families have received some form of benefit from it, either in the form of a supervised loan, help in adjusting farm debts, or in some cases, outright grants.

Standard loans made to families without credit facilities for necessary feed, seed, live stock, farming equipment, and capital goods necessary to place their farms on a productive basis, are assisting these farm families in regaining economic security.

The 1937 program in this county so far has loaned $36,756.63 to 153 families. "We had a fine record last year," said the supervisor, "and this year we expect to better this record. The present outlook for rehabilitation families is very bright, and I am confident that when the harvest is made these families will have repaid their government loans and will have advanced a step or two up the rehabilitation ladder".

Supplementing the loan program the county supuervisor's office co-operates in establishing community and co-operative services for low-income families and in farm debt adjustment work being carried on by the local county committee.

Rural rehabilitation has been made part of Secretary Wallace's farm program, with official transfer for the Resettlement Administration to the U. S. Department of Agriculture on January 1, 1937.

State Capitol News

The state highway department Friday announced it would open bids on June 2 for four road and bridge projects in Lee, Russell, Tallapoosa and Mobile Counties.

The highway department received a telegram from Washington bringing the information that the roads committee of the House had passed a resolution earmarking $150,000,000 of the relief funds for roads in the various states.

This amount would be a grant and could be used by the states to match federal aid funds to their credit in Washington. H. H. Houk, chief state highway engineer, said final passage of the bill in that form would mean Alabama would receive $3,000,000 directly from the bill, and another $3,000,000 of federal aid money available for matching, making a total of $6,000,000.

Free school books valued at $400,000 have been distributed to school children of the first and second grades in the elementary schools of the state during the school years of 1935-36 and 1936-37, M. H. Killingsworth, business manager of the State Department of Education, revealed last week in a report to the Board of Education. Of the total amount spent, the state supplied approximately $300,000, most of which was derived from the tax levy on snuff and chewing tobacco.

The Alabama Association of Insurance Agents went on record in closing its annual convention in Montgomery last week as "favoring state supervision of insurance in preference to federal supervision".

The convention drew more than 200 agents, who re-elected L. J. Thomas, of Dothan, as president, as well as the other association officers. Mobile's invitation for the 1938 convention was accepted.

At the general election in 1938 the people of Alabama will have an opportunity to vote on an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting the use of funds derived from gasoline tax and other revenues derived from a tax on motor vehicle oils and fuels for any other purpose than that of building and maintaining roads, streets, and bridges.

CHILTON COUNTY COUNCIL OF HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS

May 15, at 3 o'clock the County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs met at the city hall in Clanton. The meeting was called to order by the home demonstration agent, Meta E. Grace, in the absence of Mrs. Anna Phalin, president, who was late arriving.

A song, "Is Everybody Happy?" was sung, followed by the reading of minutes of the last meeting. An article on "Good Citizenship" was followed by old and new business.

A move was made and seconded that a committee be appointed to work out plans for a county fair to be held in Chilton County. This committee is composed of Mrs. Irvin Wilson, Mrs. Jim Roper, and Mrs. Sutley. Next the rally for the annual program of work was discussed and decided to be held on May 29, at the high school in Clanton. The program committee selected for the occasion were Mrs. J. M. Kelly, Miss Lena Downs, and Meta E. Grace.

The attendance contest sponsored by committee appointed to check the secretaries' books of the Clubs and determine the winner of the attendance the County Council of Chilton County Clubs was reviewed, and the following and membership contest. The committee appointed in charge of the checking was Mrs. Anna Phalin, Mrs. Chas. Howard, and Mrs. J. D. Williams.

Report blanks for the various chairmen of the three objectives, "Farm Bureau", "Citizenship", and "Scholarship", were handed out and discussed. The Clubs were asked to continue their programs on the objectives so they may familiarize themselves with the objectives and see what may be done toward the objectives, as Clubs.

Special discussion was made of the buying of fruit jars for the food preservation season. Special prices were quoted from the Clanton Wholesale Grocery Co., of Clanton, on both Ball and Kerr jars—pints, $7.25 per gross; quarts, $8.50 per gross; and one-half gallon jars, $11.75 per gross. Suggestoins were made that Council members tell their Clubs of these special prices made to Club members. A suggestion was made by the home demonstration agent that each Club woman doing her own canning can sample jars for the fair.

A kitchen sink was discussed. The Council moved and seconded that the home demonstration agent send out special letters asking that each Club member interested in securing a kitchen sink on a co-operative plan send her name and address to the office of the home demonstration agent, and that she appoint a committee to assist her in visiting the manufacturer and see what the best prices would be in securing a large number of sinks for the Club members of home demonstration Clubs.

After practicing the new song, "Is Everybody Happy?" a move was made and seconded that the Council adjourn.

In 1929 the English House of Commons said of the world's timber supply: "In the course of the next 25 or 30 years, timber will rise in price, which will make it practically prohibitive for house building". What does that mean to our six million farmers? Protect growing timber.—U. S. Forest Service.

Did you know that forest fires alone add approximately one and one-third million acres annually to the idle land of the South? Idle lands raise taxes on productive lands. Prevent forest fires.—U. S. Forest Service.

A nation which destroys its resources destroys itself. Timber is a major resource. Prevent forest fires.—U. S. Forest Service.

Did you know that nearly two out of every three of our states consume more lumber than they raise? Alabama is one of these. It is cheaper to raise lumber, fence posts, and fuel wood at home than to buy it from others. Protect young timber.—U. S. Forest Service.

Clanton Airport Is Nearing Completion

Official Opening Exercises For Gragg Field Have Been Set For Saturday and Sunday, July 3rd and 4th

Providing the weather man sees fit to give us a fair deal on July 3rd and 4th, these days bid fair to be two of the biggest days Clanton has witnessed in a long time. The reason is that on these days Clanton's fine airport, officially known as Gragg Field, will have its dedication and official opening. There will very likely be more people here than have ever been in this neighborhood before on any previous occasion.

The local enthusiasts have had several consultations with State aviation authorities over the time, and that has been definitely set on the above dates. The airport is now practically completed—all except a few minor knowles to be smoothed down, a little sodding, Ect. All this will be attended to within a few days, and the next thing will be the grand opening and dedication.

Even noted air men and women outside Alabama have been contacted by State authorities, and these will take part in the air meet set for these two days. It is understood that several private pilots of nation-wide prominence will be here to show off their wares and tricks. There will be visiting planes here from both the Army and Navy, as well as numbers of private planes. In all there are expected to be in the neighborhood of fifty planes visiting our field during these opening exercises.

This occasion can and most likely will be made a home-coming day for lots of Clanton used-to-bes who have wandered away during years past, when old friends will be once again greeted and acquaintances renewed. Besides, Saturday especially, should be a great trades day for the merchants and business men of the city.

To say the least of it, this is going to be a great day for Clanton and Chilton county.

Next week we hope to be able to tell you more about the program and tell you in advance what some of the interesting features will be. Watch out for the announcements next week.

SHERIFF THANKS BEER DEALERS FOR CO-OPERATION

Sheriff J. R. Hardy asks The Union-Banner to extend his thanks to the shop owners of the county who have co-operated with him so kindly in getting curtailed the sale of beer illegally in the county. Sheriff Hardy notified those in the county selling beer, 18 in number, to close out all of their wares by Friday night of last week. All agreed to do it, and the sheriff says that everything is working harmoniously.

Mr. Hardy wants to avoid trouble along these lines, and the continued co-operation of everybody is urged.

METHODIST CHURCH

Our people are working to make this a great year for the Kingdom. Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be a social in the basement of the church. A good time for everyone. TWO YOUNG MEN ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY SUNDAY P. M.

In broad open daylight, two boys of Clanton were arrested last Sunday afternoon for burglarizing the Taylor Wholesale Grocery Company. Sam Lockhart and J. C. Harris were seen taking stuff out the window of the wholesale house. The alarm was given and the boys fled. Officers arrested them down below South Clanton. Only a small quantity of goods had been taken. Both Lockhart and Harris are in jail.

MRS. WALTER TEEL'S CHICKENS

One morning last week, on counting up her little chickens, Mrs. Walter Teel, of East Second Avenue, found that something had gone with about 20 of them. Noticing a piece of wire cut in the coop, she concluded that a thief had visited the chicken compartment; but upon examination it was decided that rats had taken off the little chickens. After digging into a rat hole nearby, 13 dead chickens were found, as well as two live ones. The two live ones are still living and doing well.

Two quartets were sung by the Prattville Quartet, and two were arranged by Jesse C. Jones.

After a few announcements the closing song was sung by T. E. Wyatt, and the benediction was most appropriately invoked by D. S. Robinson.

All returned to their homes, after having enjoyed a day of good singing and friendly congeniality. The next such occasion will be held the fourth Sunday in May, 1938, the Lord being willing.

DR. N. S. JOHNSON RECEIVED RECOGNITION BY POWER CO. DRS.

At the meeting of Alabama Power Company doctors at Mitchell Dam last Friday, Dr. Napoleon S. Johnson, of Clanton, was awarded the Benedict prize, donated by Mr. James M. Parry, vice president and general manager of Alabama Power Company. The prize going to Dr. Johnson was a baumanometer, or in plain English, a kind of blood tester.

This award was made to Dr. Johnson, among hundreds of power company physicians, he having been adjudged as rendering the most efficient and prompt all-around service to power company employees.

It was decided at the first meeting of this association one year ago, after the death of Dr. S. R. Benedict, that such a prize be offered each year. It is significant that Dr. Johnson received the first prize awarded. The winner is determined by the records kept in the secretarial offices of the chief medical department in Birmingham. The convention at Mitchell Dam will be held every year.

The Union-Banner, and the many other friends of Dr. N. S. Johnson, are indeed proud of the achievement he has won and the distinct recognition given him—a Clanton doctor—by Alabama Power Company. We are all proud of him and rejoice in the honor which has greeted him.

A FELLOW SUFFERER

The Union-Banner has received a card which reads as follows:

"Dear Editor:

"Will you please place Virginia's only Republican paper on your mailing list?"

This message is from "The Progress of Virginia" published at Roanoke, Va.

We know just how to sympathize with the gentleman in Virginia. But we believe, also, that we know the feelings of a white rabbit when he finds himself surrounded by a pack of old fashioned field gray cottontails. There is a little feeling of loneliness, but this is more than offset by a feeling of pride in the fact that we are the only one of the kind anywhere close, and some kind of an oddity for the cottontails to stare at, and wonder. So The Union-Banner goes to the Virgina editor, with our compliments and best wishes.

W. M. S. OF THE CLANTON METHODIST CHURCH

Mrs. M. F. Jones was hostess to Circle no. 2. of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church at her home Monday afternoon, May 24. Mrs. O. D. DeLoach opened the meeting by leading in prayer.

After the business the hostess served ice cream to the following: Mrs. O. D. DeLoach, Mrs. Glennie Evans, Mrs. M. L. White, Mrs. A. S. Prince, Mrs. C. A. Sherrod and the hostess, Mrs. M. F. Jones.

STREET TAX IN ORDER

Chief of Police H. M. Simpson asks The Union-Banner to scatter the information that it is now time to pay street tax in the City of Clanton. He has his receipt book ready for business; so, when you see him coming, you may know that more than likely he has come for your annual contribution toward keeping a smooth place to ride within the city limits.

City To Erect Three Large Road Signs

One Each on The Birmingham Montgomery, Selma Roads

Contract has been let by the City of Clanton to Mr. John P. Lawrence, Jr., to erect three large road signs at three of the city limits. One will be on the highway north, one south and one on the Maplesville highway west.

The signs will be six feet high and eight feet wide, swung to 2-inch galvanized pipe frames set in concrete. The painting will be on galvanized iron; all arranged for permanence.

The wording will be: "City of Clanton—Drive Carefully."

The city officials are to be complimented on this move. A newspaper is ordinarily not much in sympathy with the road sign business; and we do contend that means of advertising is considerably overdone. But this is different. The thousands of people coming into our city each month will feel a friendly nearness to us by seeing these signs, and the last line will probably cause numbers of wrecks to be avoided. It is a brief message, but it is good and we like it.

EIGHT CAME UP BEFORE MAYOR JONES MONDAY

A total of eight people appeared before Mayor C. Fenn Jones Monday of this week, on various charges. One was a woman; seven were for public drunkenness. They follow:

Ed Davis, driving while intoxicated. Fine and cost fixed at $57; $25 was paid, and the rest continued to June 7th.

Four coming up for public drunkenness were continued to May 29th, namely: Frank Peters, Alex Bolton, Lester Ellison and Leola Bradley.

Frank Price, for public drunkenness, was continued to June 1st. George Rogers, public drunkenness, was continued to June 14th.

Marion Littlejohn plead guilty to the charge of public drunkenness, and the fine was set at $8.00.

SOME MORE FINE OATS

This year must have been an ideal season for raising fine oats. Mr. W. B. (Jett) Wyatt brought in from the farm of Grady Taylor Tuesday a sample of the oats grown on that place. They were six and one-half feet tall, well developed and well headed. Mr. Wyatt stated that he had one and one-half acres of these oats, the whole patch being on an average as good as those brought in to the Banner. The oats were not fertilized, except vetch was planted before the oats. It was on ordinary bottom land.

PIANO RECITAL

Mrs. Barney Roberts will present Emily Sawyer in piano recital at the High School auditorium at 8 o'clock Friday evening, May 28. She will be assisted at the second piano by Peggy Page and Nell Rockett. Those interested are invitel to attend.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT WASHINGTON, D. C.

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a communication from Hon. Pete B. Jarman announcing memorial services in the House of Representatives on May 26, 1937. Our representative is chairman of the Committeee on Memorials. The services are being held in honor of six Senators and 15 Representatives who have died since May 8, 1936. There was not a death from Alabama.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL HAS GOOD BASEBALL RECORD

The Chilton County High School has had a good season so far this year, winning 9 and losing 3. Williamson is credited with 5 straight victories in his pitching role, while Easterling has four wins and three defeats. Williamson leads the hitters also, with a season percentage of .342, while Easterling is second with .333.

The whole team averages a little smaller than the average high school team, with several very young boys in the line-up, but the little fellows have been cracking the horsehide at a merry clip, and have come along fast since the opening of the season.

The team has three or four more hard games before they close the season, two of them coming with Montevallo this week, on Thursday and Friday.

THE CRUSHING BUREAUCRATIC OVERHEAD

(Editorial in The Atlanta Georgian)

THE report of the Civil Service Commission on the number of persons now on the government pay roll brings to the attention once again one of the gravest dangers confronting our country—a BUREAUCRATIC OLIGARCHY.

On April 1 there were 829,193 persons, exclusive of the legislative, judicial and military branches of the government, on the public pay rolls.

This means on YOUR pay roll, for every man, woman and child pays these employes in one way or another.

The report of the commission further shows that from 1933 to 1937 the increase in non-civil service employes was 180 PER CENT. Most of these are purely political appointees—and serve their masters first and THE PUBLIC LAST.

Add to the Civil Service Commission's figures the immense number of state, county, city and township "officials" with which the American taxpayers are weighted down—and it is a marvel that we have not gone further than we have on the road to bankruptcy.

T. E. WILLIAMS NEW PRESIDENT ATHENS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Athens Chamber of Commerce held its monthly banquet at the Ross Hotel Friday night. After the splendid feast, officers were elected for the ensuing year.

Ballots were distributed and the votes cast, resulting in the election of Mr. T. E. Williams as president.

Mr. Williams is president of the Limestone County Bank, and takes the place of the retiring president, Judge A. M. McConnell, who has served efficiently for the past two years.—The Alabama Courier (Athens, Ala.).

Mr. T. E. Williams will be remembered by many Clanton people. He is a member of one of Chilton County's most prominent families. He is a brother to Mr. T. L. Williams, local agent for Alabama Power Co., the Rev. Jerome Williams of Nashville, and Dr. J. Toy Williams, Baptist missionary to China for many years.

T. E. Williams was for some time connected with banking institutions in Chilton County.

SACRED SONG SERVICE WAS HELD AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The entire hour of service last Sunday night was devoted to sacred song service. The program, consisting of anthems, hymns, ladies' duets and solos, was in charge of Miss Kathryn Foss, of Thorsby. There was an adult choir of 12 voices and a junior choir of 10 voices. The program was enjoyed by quite a large congregation of people.

Miss Foss has been instructing these choirs for the past two months, and much progress has been made by those engaging in the practices. This young lady is a talented musician and a fine choir builder. The church is fortunate in procuring the services of such a leader and instructor.

UNIQUE VISITOR AT CLANTON BAPTIST S. S.

Clanton Baptist Sunday School had the distinct and unique pleasure of having a visitor last Sunday the like of which there has probably never before been in a Sunday school in the county. This visitor was Senorita Carmen Sierra Abodiano, a native of old Mexico, from Mexico City.

Senorita Abodiano is this year attending school at Alabama College, Montevallo; this was her second trip to Clanton, having met with Kiwanis Club some weeks ago. She could not speak a word of English five months ago. She answered a number of questions at general assembly at the close of Sunday school last Sunday. Senorita is most interesting and not bad on the eyes either.

STORES CLOSING AT 6:30

It appears that the stories and business houses agreeing to close their places of business at 6:30 every evening except Saturday are living up to their agreement, for which they are to be complimented. It is indeed hoped that they continue this practice.

The housewives and other buyers of the city can help out a lot in this direction. Make it a point to do your buying before 6:30 each evening, and thus help avoid the embarassment of causing your grocer or merchant to stay open after the closing time. The closing hour on Saturday nights is 9:00 o'clock.

PILOT CLUB PICNIC

The Clanton Pilot Club enjoyed a delightful evening on last Sunday, May 23, out at the beautiful rock home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thompson on Yellow Leaf Creek. The members and their guests met at the Thompson home about five o'clock p. m. They enjoyed the evening hiking about over the beautiful hills, and up to the mill where Mr. Thompson grinds the waterground meal that he has sold for quite a while in Clanton.

About six o'clock, the pilots and their guests gathered around a beautifully prepared table down near the spring under the trees, and enjoyed a delicious picnic lunch, consisting of various kinds of sandwiches, salad, potato chips, pickles, cake, olives, iced tea and coco cola.

The following members and their guests were present:

Gertie Fiquette, President; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Searcy, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Little, Senorita Carmen Sierra Abondiano, Mexico City, Mex., Nolen Meroney, Mr. and Mrs. Washburn, Montevallo, Alabama, Loua Thompson, Dewey Branch, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Mullins, Bertha Dennis, Sarah Colley and Reese G. Mullins, Virginia Cook and Chester Wingard, Willie Maude Kelley, Mamie C. Smith, Delilah Grant, Frances Moore, Mayor C. Fenn Jones, Mrss. Sophia Jones, and Ruth Kate Shepard, Little Hayden Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simpson, Bill Simpson. Hostesses: Edith Mae Thompson and Mrs. Thompson.

Power Co. Doctors Met At Mitchell Dam

Nationally Prominent Medicos In Attendance Last Friday, May 21

Gathering for its annual meeting at Mitchell Dam, the Association of Surgeons of Alabama Power Company on Friday, May 21, heard an interesting program in which nationally noted surgeons participated.

Dr. Walter S. Britt of Eufaula, is President of the Association. Arrangements for the meeting were made by Medical Director Dr. E. M. Mason. The arrangements were carried out, and the "catering" done by Mitchell Dam Super John Hollis and his pleasant, accommodating personnel.

Feature speaker on the program was Dr. Walter E. Dandy, Adjunct Professor of Neurological Surgery, John Hopkins University, Baltimore. Known as the Thomas W. Martin Lecture, his presentation was a vivid illustrated discussion of "Injuries to the Head." Dr. Dandy is responsible for the development of the method of injecting air in the brain cavities, making it possible for tumors, etc., to be outlined and thus visible by means of the X-Ray.

A pioneer in the treatment of fresh burns, and the repair and replacement of scar tissue resulting from burns is Dr. James B. Brown, Assistant Professor of Clinical Surgery, Washington University School of Medicine, St. Louis. Dr. Brown's illustrated lecture on the "Treatment of Burns" must have been interesting and helpful to the assembled doctors. Your reporter, however, was glad that he had his opportunity at the barbecue table before the lecture instead of after; also pleased with the privilege of hearing Dr. Brown and seeing his slides, because of the vista of hope it presented to persons suffering from burns. (Not that he would recommend that anybody get careless about being burned, just because Dr. Brown and other capable doctors would be able to fix him up into a fairly presentable looking human being again.)

Dr. Adolph B. Loveman (son of Joe Loveman, of Loveman, Joseph & Leob Department Store, Birmingham) now of Louisville, Mo., and nationally known skin specialist discussed "Some Mucous Membrane Lesions of Interest to the General Practitioner." In case you've forgotten what you learned about physiology in grammar school, the mucous membrane is the skin inside of you.

"The Doctor in Court" by Hon. J. Fritz Thompson, Judge of Circuit Court, Birmingham, brought to the assembled doctors' attention matters of law rather than of medicine or surgery (altho judges have been known to make "amputations" of the financial kind when you're on the wrong side.)

"Malaria Control," a simple, yet difficult job, requiring eternal vigilance, was interestingly discussed by Dr. D. G. Gill, Director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases, Department of Public Health, Montgomery.

J. O. Speedy, Safety Manager, gave a First Aid Demonstration, probably not to teach the doctors anything about first aid, but to show them how the Safety Department functions to teach employees how to keep the accident victim from becoming a corpse before the doctor gets there.

The meeting closed with an address by Thomas W. Martin and an enspection of the Mitchell Dam Power plant.—Powergrams.

JEMISON SENIORS TO PRESENT "TONS OF TROUBLE"

A young married man lied to his uncle about owning a prosperous farm. The young man's friend had lied to his aunt about being married. These are among the many exciting situations in "Tons of Trouble", a royalty play presented by special arrangement with The Northwestern Press, Minneapolis, and to be presented in the Jemison High School auditorium on June 4, at 8 p.m. Admission, 15c and 25c, plus tax. 5-27-2t

State Capitol News

Gov. Bibb Graves left for Washington Sunday to present a petition to the Interstate Commerce Commission this week requesting a suspension of the commission's recent order increasing freight rates on cotton goods shipped from the South to other sections of the country.

Declaring that the abolishment of unfair and discriminatory freight rates is the most important economic problem now confronting the South, the governor said the order hiking freight rates on cotton goods shipped from Southern mills which is to become effective June 8, will cost Alabama and Georgia cotton mill owners approximately $500,000 a year.

"We are making rapid progress to press claims of the Southeast for a readjustment and reduction of freight rates on articles moving from our territory into other territories of the nation," the governor said.

Before leaving for Washington he announced the appointment of Judge Edgar Watkins, of Atlanta, nationally known freight rate expert, as senior counsel for the Southeastern Governors' Freight Rate Conference, of which Gov. Graves is chairman. Hugh White, president of the Alabama Public Service Commission, and J. Van Norman, of Louisville, Ky., were named as associate counsel in the appeal to be presented to the ICC.

The governor said contributions are being solicited from interested concerns for the purpose of carrying on the fight for lower rates, and Donald Comer, Birmingham, has agreed to act as treasurer and will have charge of collecting and disbursing the funds.

New revenue measures have enabled nearly all Alabama elementary schools to complete a minimum of 7 months term, but in some instances high schools have closed two to four weeks short of the "nominal" 9 months term, Dr. R. L. Johns, director of business administration of the state department of education, said last week.

However, Dr. Johns cited improvement over last year and said that conditions should be improved even more next year.

"New revenue measures" included a two per cent luxury tax, which, on March 1, replaced a two-months-old gross receipts tax of 1½ per cent, and legalization of alcoholic beverages.

While schools throughout the state are ending their 1936-1937 terms during May and June, Dr. Johns said complete reports as to those completing normal terms or closing earlier had not been received.

"The new revenue is coming in better than was anticipated", the school official declared.

University News

The 106th Commencement of the University of Alabama was held on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of this week. The actual presentation of diplomas took place on Tuesday, and the annual Baccalaureate address was delivered on Sunday.

Monday was designated as "Alumni Day", and many classes held class reunions. William Bankhead, speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives, gave the commencement address at the alumni-senior banquet held on Monday night. Bankhead, an alumnus of the University, also attended a reunion of his class of 1893.

Dr. David Purser gave the Baccalaureate address, speaking on "What Is Truth?" and taking his text from John 18:38 and John 14:6.

More than 500 seniors received their diplomas from the hands of University President Richard C. Foster, presiding at his first spring commencement since his selection as president.

The Southern Traffic Officers Training School is in session this week at the University of Alabama, under the direction of Lawrence Tipton. Cities representing 14 Southern states attended last year's session of the school.

An effort to decrease the number of accidents is one of the prime purposes of the school, which is being attended by delegates from a number of Alabama municipalities.

Over 50 per cent of the senior engineering class of the University of Alabama have already secured jobs effective after graduation on Tuesday. Statistics on engineer employment were released this week by Prof. W. Harold Taylor, director of the University Engineering Placement Bureau. Many of the remaining members of the class have already been offered jobs, but have not yet made their acceptance definite.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

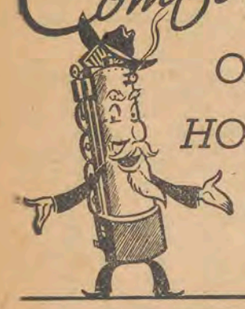
Montgomery, May 24. — Employes of naval stores operators, who carry on a big business of converting pine sap into rosin and turpentine in south Alabama, will be made eligible for unemployment compensation under a rule which the Alabama unemployment compensation commission will consider at its monthly meeting next Thursday, according to announcement of M. H. Harper, chairman of the commission.

Naval stores operators are now required to pay unemployment compensation taxes to the federal government under the social security law, but since their business has been classified as non-agricultural by the Alabama commission these taxes go to Washington and no part can be used in qualifying employes in this business in Alabama for the benefits of the unemployment compensation law.

FISH NEWS

Are you going fishing? Do you want to know in advance whether the water is high and muddy, or low and clear, what kind of fish are biting, and whether they are striking artificial lures or live bait?

All of these questions are answered in a report of fishing conditions compiled every week by the Conservation Department, and covering Alabama from the Tennessee Valley to the Gulf of Mexico. The prospective angler can ascertain at a glance where and when to go fishing. It is believed that this weekly report represents the first comprehensive effort to compile a periodic statewide survey of fishing conditions.



The Alabama game wardens make weekly reports of inspections of the streams and lakes and creeks in their territory, sending the detailed information to the Montgomery office. The complete summary is broadcast over Station WBRC in Birmingham every Friday night, and copies are furnished the newpapers.

Release of the report on Friday and Saturday is timed so that fishermen planning week end trips may be fortified with the information. Individual copies of the report may be obtained by writing the Department of Conservation, State Capitol, Montgomery.

Surveys of public streams for fish restocking purposes are now being counciled and the results filed with the department. All fish to be sent out from State hatcheries this year will go through the county councils. A more equitable distribution that will benefit the greatest public will result from this policy, according to Commissioner I. T. Quinn.

Our good friend, Mr. E. L. Jones, of Corinth, was in Clanton Monday. Mr. Jones is now living with his daughter at Pell City; but he has to come back to good old Chilton county and Corinth community once in a while.

THE REMAKING OF JACOB

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 28:16-22, 32:24-30.

GOLDEN TEXT—And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind. Romans 12:2.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jacob's Great Discovery.

JUNIOR TOPIC—What Changed Jacob.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Finding One's Better Self.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Face to Face With God.

Front Page News! "Well-Known Crook Converted!" After years of deception, thievery, and all kinds of wickedness, Jacob, "the supplanter," had a transforming experience of the grace and power of God and became Israel—" a prince of God." That is indeed front-page news and the marvel of it all is that we may today proclaim the grace of God in Christ Jesus for the redemption of every one that believeth.

Memorial day is a most appropriate one for our lesson, for the first portion tells us of a memorial stone, and the last section tells of a great victory. We do well on this day to remember the days that are gone, to recall the heroic deeds of our valiant dead. It is right that we should honor them for victories rightly won and for a noble cause. But let us not fail to recognize that the great battles of life are those fought in the realm of the spirit and that the victories won there endure for all eternity. Every teacher of a class in the Bible school should with God's help endeavor to make this a day of blessed memory and victory in Christ for the boys and girls, or men and women of the class.

We consider today two experiences in the life of Jacob, both of which have their counterpart in the lives of many of God's children in our day.

I. A Vision and a Vow (Gen. 28:16-22).

Jacob met God. Have you met Him face to face? Have you had "such a revolutionary experience in some unexpected spot"? What a sacred place it has become in your life. Perhaps it was at mother's knee, or in a little crossroad's church, or on a busy city street. God was there—you dealt with him—he blessed your soul—life was changed. Such may be the experience of each one of us. The place where Jacob had this experience had been known only as Luz. Now it became Bethel—"the house of God."

Spiritual experiences are not simply for our pleasure; they carry a real responsibility. Jacob recognized this and set up a memorial and made a vow. The depth of his purpose is revealed by the fact that it touched his earthly possessions.

The pledge of one-tenth to God is in accord with the Old Testament principle of the tithe. Many earnest believers regard the tithe as equally obligatory in our day. Others contend that it is an Old Testament principle only. Well, there is no need to differ too sharply on that point, for is it not clear that as children of God all that we have belongs to Him? Surely then we would not wish shamefacedly to admit that we give less than the Old Testament tithe. All that we have comes from His bountiful hand. He it is that gives "bread to eat and raiment to put on." Let us be cheerful (hilarious) givers of what he has entrusted to us, that his work on earth may be put forward.

II. A Struggle and a Victory (Gen. 32:24-30).

After varied experiences of both victory and defeat Jacob turns back to his own land. He hears of the approach of his brother Esau with 400 men. Before he meets him he spends a night alone. Whether it was in fear or in trust that he approached God on that night, we do not know. But we do read of the great struggle. It was more than a physical battle—real as that was—for here we have God wrestling with a weak and defeated, but proud man, seeking to bring him to the place where he will once for all "let go and let God" have his way with his life.

Into the night of struggle at Peniel have gone God's people in all the centuries, and lo, those who have submitted themselves to the mighty hand of God have come out as those that have "power with God and with men" (v. 28). Such an experience is the key to successful living and fruitful service for God. It is still true that "God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble." (Jas. 4:6).

A Strong Arm

Give me the pure heart, O Lord, to feel Thy presence near me. Give me the clear mind that understands. Give me the stainless soul that shall return to Thee fearless when my time shall come. And give me the strong arm to defend, with all my heart, with all my mind, with all my soul, the glory of Thy kingdom.

Doing Right

Do right and God's recompense to you will be the power to do more right.

REHABILITATION

Auburn, May 27.—twenty-five hundred mares have been placed with Rural Rehabilitation clients in Alabama, and 40 pure bred jack associations have been formed in a program to provide necessary work for Alabama farmers, according to Julian Brown, State Rural Rehabilitation Director.

The 1936 program was accomplished with steers as the work stock for 75 per cent of the more than 13,000 Alabama rehabilitation clients. 2,800 mules were purchased for clients in 1936. 300 western mares were purchased and 15 fine jacks were secured.

The 1937 program contemplated better work stock for the rehabilitation farmers, another 50 per cent of our clients were provided with mares, mules, and horses.

The scarcity of good mules and the mounting prices indicated the possibilities of adding to the farm income raising mules as well as to provide replacement stock for the farmer's use.

At this time most of the mules in use in the South are raised out of the South, with the exception of Kentucky and Tennessee there are few mule breeders in this region. In 1935, there were 26 per cent fewer mules of all kinds and ages than in 1920. Tractors and trucks furnished much of the power formerly supplied by the mule and fewer mules were bred and raised. Most of the mules on hand were older and less efficient and the need for replacement became greatest when the supply was least.

According to a recent survey the supply of mules on farms in Alabama is the lowest in several years, and the prices are at a level not attained in the past 15 years.

These loans were made to individuals and to associations for the purchase of pure bred jacks and these individuals or associations agreed to care for the animals, securing patronage from neighboring farmers, at stipulated fee, to insure liquidation of the loans. It is estimated that the income from these projects will gross $210,000 per year for he next several years.

There was no Sunday school last Sunday, but everyone is asked to be present at 10 o'clock next Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Martin and children, Misses Daisy and Lizzie and Mr. Lonnie Martin all spent a while Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Cleckler.

Misses Lillian Mims and Hazel Blow have been on the sick list this last week, but are improving.—Reporter.

SYCAMORE 7—KILOWATTS 2

The Lay Dam Kilowatts took one on the chin at Sycamore last Tuesday, going down before the fast Sycamore Mills team by a count of 7 to 2. The Kilowatts were helpless until the 9th inning, when singles by Tiffin and Jones, and Greene's triple brought two runs across; Greene was out at the plate trying to stretch his hit into a homer.

Turner relieved Whitaker in the 5th and turned the Milllers back with but 3 hits and no runs, but the Kilowatts were never able to overcome the 7-run lead of the first four innings.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

HIGH PRODUCING COWS FOUND MOST PROFITABLE

Auburn. — Records of the Montgomery County Dairy Herd Improvement Association show that the most profitable cows for farmers to keep are those which produce over 300 pounds of butterfat per year.

"The 23 cows in the association that produced over 300 pounds of butterfat during the year consumed an average of $62.75 worth of feed and returned a profit of $109.37 above feed cost," reports F. W. Burns, extension livestock specialist.

The highest producing herd in the association averaged 5,883 pounds of milk and 260.5 pounds of butterfat for the year, he says. The average feed cost per cow in this herd was $56.02, and the returns $86.40 above feed cost.

There were "boarder" cows in the association during the year. They returned only $36.47 above feed cost to the owners.

"For each dollar's worth of feed given to the cows producing over 300 pounds of butterfat they returned $1.74 worth of products," he says in summarizing. "The average association cow returned $1.31, while the low-producing "boarder" cows returned only $1.12."

A goal of 300 pounds of butterfat per year for every cow in the herd should be the aim of every Alabama dairy man and farmer, concludes Mr. Burns.

ARSENICAL POISONING REDUCED IN ALABAMA

Auburn. — Alabamians are now exercising greater care in the handling of arsenical insecticides to prevent accidental human and livestock poisoning, says H. W. Nixon, state toxicologist.

Mr. Nixon's records show that only two human cases of such poisoning—and these possibly accidental—have been reported to him during the past six months, whereas previously accidental arsenical poisoning had been reported to him annually at the rate of about 50 humans and a large number of domestic animal cases.

Reason for the more judicious handling of these insecticides, he believes, is that Alabamians have been informed through the press of the state as to how such accidental poisonings have occurred.

STUDY MADE ON CO-OP BUYING AND SELLING

Auburn. — Approximately 50,000 Alabama families did a total business amounting to about $7,000,000 through 100 different cooperative marketing and purchasing associations during 1936, according to statistics just compiled by G. W. Ray, specialist in agricultural economics of the Alabama Extension Service.

"This means that approximately one farmer out of every six does some form of cooperative buying or selling," he says.

WAY FOUND FOR GROWING 5,000 FISHWORMS IN A TUB

Auburn. — It has been found that approximately 5,000 fishworms can be produced in a large wash tub per year. Since it is possible to produce a large amount of fish meat in Alabama ponds this should be of especial benefit to many Alabama farmers and fishermen.

"We have worked out a method by which individual fishermen may raise their own worms in the garage, basement, or a vacant room," report H. S. Swingle and D. G. Sturkie, employes of the Alabama Experiment Station. "This is done in an ordinary galvanized wash tub, metal drums cut lengthwise, old bath tubs, or other similar water-tight containers.

"A tub two feet in diameter and 10 inches deep should produce approximately 5,000 worms of fishing size per year," they state. "We would recommend that a minimum of two tubs be kept, using the worms from one for several months and then using from the other. In this manner, each tub remains undisturbed for a considerable period, and reproduction seems to be more satisfactory under these conditions.

"Each tub of worms requires one pound of vegetable shortening or lard and two pounds of corn meal per month. The cost of the food, therefore, is aproximately 20 cents per tub per month, or $2.40 per year. With a production of 5,000 worms per tub, the cost of the food required to raise 100 worms is approximately five cents.

"Detailed instructions for raising the earthworms in tubs may be obtained by writing Mr. Swingle or Mr. Sturkie at Auburn."

AERIAL MAPS BEING MADE OF 40 ALABAMA COUNTIES

Auburn. — Aerial photographs of 40 Alabama counties are being made this year and should be available by the end of 1937.

"I do not know when the flying will be completed, as this depends on the weather, but it is expected that photographs of all the counties flown will be available by the end of this year," says Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of the AAA program in Alabama.

Aerial maps have already been made of Lee, Hale, Dallas, Houston, and one-half of Pike counties, and contracts have been let for photographing Autauga, Butler, Chambers, Chilton, Covington, Dale, Elmore, Geneva, Henry, Lowndes, Macon, Montgomery, Russell, Greene, Marengo, Perry, Pickens, Sumter, and Wilcox counties.

Bids were opened this month for flying other Alabama counties as follows: Blount, Calhoun, Cherokee, Clay, Colbert, Cullman, DeKalb, Franklin, Lauderdale, Lawrence, Limestone, Talladega, Madison, Marshall, Morgan, and Randolph.

Farmers generally have been enthusiastic over aerial mapping because this method virtually eliminates errors that may not have been caught by previous measurements. Aerial mapping also provides a uniform system of measurements eliminating possible dissatisfaction between any neighbors whose farms may have been measured by different methods.

During the week ending April 17, the State Employment Service and the National Re-employment Service found jobs for 681 persons with private concerns. During the same week 420 were placed on government projects.

NATURAL NITRATE TESTED BY ISABELLA F. F. A. CLUB

The Chilean (natural) nitrate demonstration which is sponsored by the Isabella F. F. A., is located one-half mile east of the Isabella school. The crop is 2½ acres of cotton, is a project of a local member, and will be sidedressed with 150 pounds per acre of Chilean nitrate. By using this soda it will prove the value and profits derived from side dressing cotton.

Each two weeks for the next few months there will appear in the local papers an article relating to this cotton. Figures will be kept on the demonstration to determine the profits made from using Chilean nitrate of soda as a source of nitrogen for cotton.—George Kyser, president.

ISABELLA F. F. A. CHAPTER ELECTS OFFICERS

The regular meeting of the Isabella chapter of the F. F. A. was held Wednesday, May 19, 1937. The meeting was called to order by the president, Herbert Morgan. After the program a motion was put to the house that we elect officers for the coming year. This was in good order, as it would give the newly elected officers a chance to preside at one meeting before the close of school.

We wish to commend the following last year's officers for the good work that has been done while they were in charge: Herbert Morgan, president; Willard Davenport, vice president; Donald Calfee, secretary; Chalmus Jones, treasurer; Zolon Broadhead, reporter.

The following were elected as new officers: George Kyser, president; Willard Davenport, vice president; Herbert Morgan, secretary; and Elree Calfee, reporter.

After the election each new officer promised to do his best and work for the benefit of the chapter.—Elree Calfee, reporter.

Stutt, who has made her home in Maplesville.

The demonstration given by Mrs. Roper, Miss Grace was on diseases and special dites. We find it important to know the kind of food that the body needs and how to prevent diseases such as T. B., Diabetes, Pellagra and Anemia. After the business meeting closed the members enjoyed a social hour while Miss Grace and Mrs. J. M. Roper prepared and served a menu for the sick. Later the club dismissed to meet at the home of Mrs. Effie Shaw, June 8, 1937.

Wool is selling at considerably higher prices than were paid a year ago, and is at the highest point since 1929.

In Connecticut, Iowa, Kansas, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Utah, and Washington, cigarets alone of the tobacco products are taxed. No tax of any kind on these products is imposed in the other 29 states.

Miss Grace discussed special diets and we made several dishes suitable for an invalid.

The Club adjourned by repeating the club pledge.

The next meeting will be June 3, at the home of Mrs. Joe Gaines. Everybody make a special effort to be there, an let's see if we can't have a perfect attendance.

Four successful livestock shows and sales were held in Alabama this year with farmers, 4-H Club boys, FFA members, merchants, livestock buyers, consumers, and others manifesting unusual interest in livestock development in the state. The shows and sales were held at Montgomery, Dothan, Demopolis, and Hartselle.

CONSERVATION SERVICE

Farming on the contour is becoming a popular practice in the Soil Conservation Service demonstration area near Clanton, Alabama, according to H. T. Stanley, Camp Engineer.

Properly built terraces are making this kind of farming a simple procedure, since by following the terraces each row is laid off approximately on the contour and furnishes an additional small barrier across the path of run-off water, Mr. Stanley pointed out.

Contour strip cropping, another practice being extensively used under the soil conservation program, provides a vegetative barrier of some close-growing crop between clean-tilled areas which aids in reducing the velocity of the run-off water, filters out soil, and increases absorption.

The same principle is used in pastures where contour furrows are constructed to conserve rainfall and control erosion. Water held by these level furrows is absorbed into the soil and promotes a better growth of grass, which serves as an additional aid in erosion control.

The whole problem of controlling erosion in this section is one of controlling run-off water, Mr. Stanley said. By retiring the steeper slopes and cultivating the gentler sloping land on the contour, this run-off water which carries away fertile soil can largely be controlled.

MADDOX RITES HELD

Funeral services for Mrs. Herschel Maddox, who died last Wednesday night in a Birmingham hospital, were held Friday at Thorsby Baptist church. Surviving are her husband and one child, Audrey Jean.

ICE CREAM SUPPER

There will be an ice cream supper in the grove at Mt. Carmel church on Saturday night, May 29; also a cake for the prettiest girl. The money will go for the church, so remember the place and date — Mt. Carmel, 6 miles northwest of Thorsby, May 29.

Did you know that the Southern states can raise timber more rapidly than any other section of the United States, providing forest fires are kept out? Prevent forest fires.—U. S. Forest Service.

Farm bankruptcies decreased last year. In Alabama farm bankruptcies totaled 130 last year compared with 150 the previous year. In the United States "farmer bankruptcies numbered 3,642 in 1935-36 compared with 4,311 cases in the year ending June 30, 1935."

SCOUT NEWS

Clanton Troop 57 held its regular meeting Wednesday night, May 19, at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall. Meeting was opened by roll call, then we played "Fox and Dog". We went outside and had relay races and group races. We then returned to the city hall and had a dismissal service. Chief Reese G. Mullins was in charge of the meeting.—James C. Martin, Troop Reporter.

Alabama's bonded indebtedness has been reduced nearly five million dollars since March, 1933. The 1935 legislature passed legislation to retire state bonds that were originally issued shortly after the War Between the States. None of the principal on these bonds has been paid, only the interest being taken care of, and the bonds being refunded every time they became due.

There are 15 states that do not have a personal income tax law. These are Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Texas, and Wyoming. All other states impose an income tax on both personal and corporate incomes, except West Virginia, which taxes personal incomes but does not tax corporate incomes. Connecticut taxes corporate incomes but not personal incomes.

More than one-fourth of the population of the United States resides in the 13 Southern states, and these states annually contribute one-third of the children born in the nation. This increase in the young population is making the educational problem more perplexing.

The genius of a local man had carried him to big success in business without much aid of education.

He was asked to distribute the prizes at a school, and made the usual speech of good counsel.

"Now, boys," he said, "always remember that education is a great thing. There's nothing like education. Take arithmetic. We learn that twice two makes four, that twice six makes twelve, that seven sevens make—and then there's geography." — El Paso World Herald.

Prospects for nine million cases of eggs in storage by August 1 are becoming more and more definite, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics to John E. Ivey, Alabama Extension poultryman. This would be more storage eggs than average.

More new customers were connected to farm power lines in 1936 than in any previous year, and "plans for 1937 indicate that privately financed lines will somewhat exceed the record of last year," says the Rural Electrification Authority.

More misbranded Abruzzi rye seed was delivered to Alabama farmers last fall than during any previous year in the history of seed testing work in the state, says L. N. Allen, seed analyst, in giving notice that appropriate action will be taken against parties responsible for shipping misbranded seed into Alabama.

Mrs. Henry N. Peck: "Henry, you're acting queerly. I believe you're keeping something from me."

Mr. Peck: "It's only the change out of a dollar, my dear. I'll make it up out of my allowance."—The Bourbon News, Paris, Ky.

Play Spots Blossom in Color When Designers Produce Washable Outfits

BEACHES and other play spots never have been so colorful as they are this year. Sharp, bright contrasts are everywhere and designers have been so busy and so resourceful that there are beautiful, attractive costumes for everyone.

One of the best things about such new styles is the ease with which they can be freshened in the household washer and quickly made ready for wear again. In fact, attractive, novel summer clothes never became generally introduced until the widespread adoption of washing machines in homes of all kinds showed designers they safely could produce attractive washable garments for a large part of the American public.

Here are two of the newest summer play clothes ideas, photographed a few days ago in Chicago's Merchandise Mart. One is a nautical design, with rope ties. Over it is worn a navy blue pique coat edged with white cotton rope. The other girl wears a black and white pique print in a bird design. Note the buttons and the high, big bow. The fitted coat has lapels of the figured pique.

PEANUT CHAMPION

Orlando, Fla., May 24 — Recent national surveys of the peanut industry bring to light a small, modest, unassuming man in the southern part of Alabama who started out 32 years ago in this now flourishing industry.

When R. E. Dominey, of Ozark, Ala., first undertook the growing of peanuts soil deficiencies was his first obstacle to overcome. To do this he stated: "I tried everything that I could lay my hands on to give it a try in the hope that was what the soil I was trying to grow peanuts on needed. Up until about three years ago I was on the verge of giving up the idea. Then, like a gift from Heaven, I learned of the noted soil scientist, Dr. Carles Northen, and told him of the plight I was faced with."

Dr. Northen was intrigued with Mr. Dominey's hardships, and being from Alabama himself, the doctor put every effort forward to help this situation, knowing that not only one man was going to receive benefit, but that all peanut growers in the state would.

The soil, Dr. Northen stated, was low in the necessary minerals that are needed in the growing of peanuts. They could be grown to some extent in some parts of the peanut section, but they were below par and the market value was not enough to allow a dependable profit. The same condition, pointed out Dr. Northen, existed there as did when he first started out in the search for minerals. He knew after years of study what the soil had lost. When the soils were analyzed and then given lacking minerals, peanuts were grown which brought above par value on the market. Instead of growing peanuts that were small and irregular, they were fed with colloidal minerals and soon became uniform and highly mineralized.

Today Mr. Dominey is the world's largest independent buyer and grower of peanuts. In the markets he is known for the high quality peanuts he is able to obtain. When asked by another dealer how he was able to secure peanuts with such quality, Mr. Dominey replied, "What you feed your soil, so shall you reap".

When Mr. Dominey secured Dr. Northen in trying to find a solution to his soil problem, he not only helped himself, but all other growers. These growers who have abided by the analyses of Dr. Northen have been able to reduce the cost per acre of growing and have received a much higher market value.

RELIEF AND PROSPERITY

Relief during a year of deep depression has cost about $2,154,000,000.

Relief in a year of relative prosperity will cost about $2,420,000,000.

The smaller amount represents the dollars paid out between July, 1933, and July, 1934, to take care of the nearly five million families who depended upon government for an existence.

The larger amount represents the dollars to be paid out between July, 1937, and July, 1938, to take care of approximately three and one-half million families still dependent upon government for an existence.

More dollars are to be spent for relief in recovery than were spent for relief in depression.

In the years before 1933, relief for the unemployed was left largely to local and state governments. Then congress created the Federal Emergency Relief Administration with half a billion dollars to spent in allotments to states. Congress also created the Civilian Conservation Corps to provide work for the young men in relief families.

Relief rolls quickly shot up past four million. The families involved received a dole amounting to approximately $20 each month. Enrollment in CCC camps soon averaged 300,000.—United States News.

THE UNENDING CHASE

So the government is pursuing John Raskob and Pierre du Pont about their income tax returns for 1929 (eight years ago) saying that they were false.

If government cannot tell whether a man has paid the taxes due and owing by him after 12 months, it is a government incompetent to levy and collect taxes justly.

Are all American citizens who have brains enough to earn taxable incomes to go through this transitory life never knowing when they will be hauled before a gang of inquisitors?—Charleston News and Courier.

IF VOTES WERE SECRET

Sen. Wheeler declares "there are not six men in the Senate today who would vote for the Court plan if political pressure were removed".

Sen. Ashurst proudly remarks that 50 votes for the bill are assured in the Senate. That number is one—just one—vote more than is required to pass the legislation.

Mr. Ashurst himself is opposed to the principle. During the campaign he scornfully denied claims of the Republicans that the New Deal sought to control the Court. But when the legislation was introduced, he did an abrupt about-face.

The reversal of Sen. Ashurst on the issue is proof positive that Sen. Wheeler, the progressive member and chief opponent of the Court packing, is right. If pressure were to be lifted by the administration forces, this un-American and subversive legislation would not have a chance.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

PERSONAL GOVERNMENT

No longer beating about the bush, Attorney General Cummings insisted over the radio the other evening that the President should be allowed to appoint additional judges to the Supreme Court because the present judges are not "predictable". In other words, Mr. Roosevelt should have power to pack the Court because he wishes to do so. If suuch a claim is the more astonishing as coming from the Attorney General of the United States, it is nevertheless in line with the alarming trend toward personal government in this country and confirms the belief of Carter Glass that "the country does not need a new Supreme Court so much as it needs a new Attorney General".—Springfield Union.

ROOSEVELT SAYS "NO"

President Roosevelt has put his foot down on the proposal for a federal unemployment census. The president's opposition means that in all probability there will be no census taken. But it does not mean that the need for this census has been lessened in any degree. On the contrary, the president stands virtually alone in believing that no such need exists. There are many progressives and radicals who are just as firm in believing that no adequate solution for the relief problem can be worked out until a really thorough and scientific study of the problem is undertaken. They see that the present hand-to-mouth method of dealing with relief is wholly impractical.—Baltimore Sun.

PROVIDENTIAL

Now comes suggestion that a general strike is likely to be staged by WPA workers if the president insists upon his plans for sharp cuts in the relief budget. That would seem rather amusing, and should the WPA workers indulge in a strike and refuse to continue their labors, the situation might be considered as of a providential nature for the administration, which has ordered drastic cuts in expenses.—Bangor Commercial.

Each side in Spain accuses the other faction of atrocities. And in the outside world the sympathizers with one government believe only the stories which are told about the other fellows. There ain't no such animal as neutrality.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

For the past few weeks the stories of the British coronation have crowded most of the international news concerning other subjects to the inside pages of the American newspapers. Nevertheless, a great deal of speculation has arisen among foreign correspondents as to the aims and results of the recent conferences between the representatives of Mussolini and Hitler. The pronouncements concerning Austria, which seem to indicate that Mussolini has reconciled himself to Austria's flying into the German orbit, are taken to mean that the Fascist states are seeking to build a bloc in central Europe from the Mediterranean to the North Sea, a bloc which would completely separate France from her smaller allies and her greater ally, Russia. Finally, it is predicted, the nations of Europe will line up with the Fascist states on one side and the "democratic" states on the other.

One might well ask, just what concern this is of the United States. It is certainly not our duty to mix in the internal affairs of other nations. But this new alignment in Europe is going to become our business sooner or later because the European politicians will seek to get the influence and support of Uncle Sam for another great world war. And we are going to have to be pretty clever people if we avoid the trap.

As was the case 20 years ago, there will be no appeal to the pocket-book. We will not be promised a reward in money or colonies. The child-like sentiment of the American people on international affairs is well realized abroad. Two decades ago we were invited to join a "war to end all wars", to engage in a "war to make the world safe for democracy". It is scarcely worth while to mention how wide of the mark we went in accomplishing these two worthy objectives. The next time Europe gets ready for a general scrap we can expect new high-sounding phrases. We will be told it is war between the democracies and the autocracies, of those who believe in constitutional government and those who prefer the sway of iron heeled tyranny. We will be advised that we must join to save the freedom of our children and our children's children.

As a matter of fact, when the war does come it will not be fundamentally a clash between two theories of government but between two grand alliances that are anxious about the controlling power in Europe. Such things as markets, and trade, and territory may be in the background of the propaganda, but they will be the motivating force of the politicians who will be directing the destinies of the various nations.

There can be no question that the American people are out of sympathy with the kind of government which goes under the name of Nazism in Germany and Fascism in Italy. Neither do they like any better the form of autocracy in Russia which carries the title of Communism, but has none of the real spirit of democracy. The weakness of the plea of "demracy against tyranny" is shown by the fact that autocratic Russia has veered into the camp of the democracies. Here is the best evidence that we are witnessing the formation of two more grand political alliances under the veil of high-sounding phrases.

Several industries are running at 1929 levels and unemployment has been reduced by several millions. But relief costs seem to be greater than in 1933 at the bottom of the depression. There seems to be something slightly odiferious in the State of New Dealmark.

Nobody has been able to explain exactly why President Roosevelt ran ahead in 46 of the 48 states in November, but we are expecting any evening to hear over the radio that it was because he eats Whoozis cracked wheat for his breakfast.

Amelia Earhart's wreck could very easily have happened by her hair catching in the propellor, and come to think of it, her hair looks like maybe that's what did happen.—Stafford (Kan.) Courier.

Speaking of paying farmers for not producing—after noting some of their work we are of the opinion it might be all right for Uncle Sam to pay some of those PWA artists for the pictures they don't paint.

John L. Lewis may not believe in rugged individualism for the other fellow, but personally he isn't in favor of letting even the Constitution tell him what he shall do.—Detroit Free Press.

Women own 70 per cent of the nation's wealth and soon will get all of it, figures a statistician. This looks suspiciously like pessimism born of an early marriage.—Ashville Times.

Times certainly do change. A Democratic negro congressman is suing the Pullman Company and two railroads for forcing him into a Jim Crow car while he was on his way to Hot Springs.

Holland must be a strange country. Prince Bernhard, heir apparent to the throne, has to get himself a job. Here in the United States we consider it better politics to put the boys on relief.

The old fashioned woman who used to thump her naughty boy on the head with a thimble now has a daughter who throws a cigarette lighter at Junior when he misbehaves.

They say a bald headed man hasn't much chance, but Napoleon seems to have gone a long ways without much of a crop of hair.

Our printer who goes around with a near-widow says he is going to marry her as soon as she gets Reno-vated.

Nothing would better suit the American people than the emergence of real democratic government in Italy, in Germany, and Russia, where there might be freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and no religious or racial hatred. But if our people are wise they will not be misled into the danger of war through specious pleas and high-sounding phrases that are not at all what they seem. International frame-ups in Europe, like that of Mussolini and Hitler, are of real concern to the American people, but that concern should be devoted to devising ways and means whereby the United States may keep out of any European war which is a part of the age-old struggle for power between rival groups on the dark and bloody continent.

Announcement

Mr. Hicks announced in chapel Monday, that Chilton County High School had put out a very successful baseball team this year, he based his point on the per cent of games won this season. They have played 12 and won nine. We all should agree that this is a good percentage. They have played a no error game in winning the nine. Probably if they should stay together through the summer they would really have a team.

Baseball

There is going to be a ball game here Thursday evening. The game will be played between C. C. H. S. and Montevallo High School. They have already played twice each winning one game. So this will tell the tale.

Some of you have been wondering who the little umpire is. He is no other than Jimmie Delano. When you see him umpire you will say he is straight. Don't forget Thursday afternoon.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

The writer has recently returned from evangelistic meetings in Seattle, Wash. A real spiritual work is being done in the great Northwest by an evangelistic committee composed of business and professional men. Our churches are so weighted down with ecclesiastical machinery and with program building they have little time or strength left for aggressive evangelism. God is, therefore, raising up groups of laymen for the proclamation of the Gospel and for the bringing in of lost souls. The evangelistic services in Seattle were not only stimulating spiritually, but I had a delightful rest on my return. By the way, if any of you are planning a western tour this summer, let me suggest that you either go from Chicago to Seattle or come from Seattle to Chicago on the "Milwaukee Road", and get the Olympian. This train is the last word in comfort and convenience. I have traveled many miles over railroads and I have been on ocean liners numbers of times, but I do not remember to have ever had any trip quite so comfortable and restful and certainly no trip more interesting, than my trip on "The Milwaukee" from Seattle to Chicago.

At the Bob Jones College we had some very interesting visitors recently. One of the most intelligent and scholarly men I know is Dr. Arthur Brown from Vancouver, B. C., who spoke to our students for a whole week at our daily Chapel hour. Dr. Brown is a surgeon, a scientist, and a Bible scholar. He had a lucrative practice. He felt called to give up his practice and go on the platform with a message proving that the Bible is scientifically correct. There are no scientific errors in the Bible. Of course, the Bible is not a treatise on science, but a God-inspired book could not be scientifically incorrect. Jesus said, "If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe me, how will you believe me if I tell you heavenly things?" If God is the author of the Bible, then it is easy to believe the Book. If men are the authors, then the Book is not inspired. Naturally, some of it might be, but anyone would have a perfect right to question the truth of the statements made by other men. The writers of the Bible claim to receive their message from God. They either did or they did not. The more I study the Book, the more I am sure it is not only the Book of books—it is the one "God-inspired Book". When I listen to men like Dr. Brown and other outstanding intelligent thinkers who know the Bible, I am more and more convinced that the words of the Bible came not from human wisdom, but that men wrote as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. The worst thing that can happen to human government is to shake the faith of the people in an authoritative religion. The Bible which contains the Ten Commandments stands between this nation and anarchy. If the Bible is not authoritative, then there is no God back of the Ten Commandments.

Monday, May 31, at 10:30, the graduating exercises will take place. Rev. William J. Campbell, D. D., of Nashville, Tenn., will be the speaker. Margaret Ward and Robert Weems are the honor pupils who will read their essays. Mae Pearl Sorrell will play a piano solo, and the Girls' Chorus will sing. Everyone is invited. Afterward there will be dinner on the grounds. Each family interested in Thorsby Institute is asked to bring food for the dinner. The Ladies' Guild will furnish coffee free. During the afternoon there will be an opportunity to see exhibits of school work and cooking in the dining hall.

If anyone is considering entering Thorsby Institute this fall it will be well to see Mr. H. R. Maddox, registrar, as soon as possible, in order to find out what subjects will be available for him or her.

It is expected that private lessons in Expression will be given next year by a competent teacher. Anyone not in the Institute may arrange to take these lessons. It would be preferable as in music to take two lessons a week but one could get along with one, only more slowly. Possibly there will be a class in Public Speaking.

The boarding department of Thorsby Institute enjoyed the delicious angel food cakes Mrs. Ekblad gave last Friday, and wishes to extend hearty thanks.

Mr. Marvin Marcus attended the ball game at Lay Dam Sunday.

Appearing with her from May 29 to Sept. 6 on the 160-foot floating stage at the 5,000-seat theater, amid lighting equipment three times that of Radio City, are Johnny Weissmuller and Aileen Riggin, also former Olympic champions and motion picture stars.

Therefore, if you get caught by the city or county officers, you may expect to see your name in the paper the following week. And when it does appear, do not blame anyone except yourself.

VERBENA 4-H CLUB CAMP

The Verbena 4-H Club boys held a 2-day camp at Blue Creek Camp on May 21 and 22. Meeting at Verbena High School, we left for camp at 1 o'clock. Food, blankets, and a small charge for transportation and food services were carried.

Soon after we arrived at camp the materials were unpacked and placed in camp. After this we dressed in bathing suits and went down to the river to swim. A trot line was placed across the lake. The Club had use of three boats. After a swim we went up to the cabin and rested before supper. At 6:30 supper was served in the recreation hall. Then we went back to the cabin for a rough and tumble game. All participated in this and enjoyed the bruises.

About 9 o'clock we went to the recreation hall and held games and contests. This held much fun for everyone. We had trick spelling matches, potato races with spoons, potato races by rolling potatoes on floor with the nose, and a trick relay race. Soon after 11 o'clock we went back to our cabin and went to bed on blankets—after much confusion over blankets.

Saturday we were awakened a little too early by boys wanting to fish and swim. Mr. Ivey, our leader, said: "I went to sleep about 1:30; at 2:30 I awoke and turned off the radio; at 3:30 some were wanting to go swimming; and at 4:30 the trot line was fished."

We went swimming before break fast. At 7 breakfast was served in the recreation hall. Then the cabin was cleaned and swept.

A 3½-lb catfish was caught on the trot line. At around 8 we took the boats and went fishing or boatriding. This lasted until 11. We had dinner at 12.

Saturday afternoon we all went to Gerson's Camp and were allowed to slide on the chute and dive on the springboards. We came back to camp about 4. At 4:30 refreshments were served to us on the grounds and we broke camp immediately afterward.

The following were present: Dovard Huett, Lawrence Howard, G. B. Sharp, Bill Eiland, James Barrett, Claud Downs, Jr., Morris Rutland, Melvin Robinson, Calvin Littleton, Winston Calloway, Horace Messer, James Rutland, James Messer, Jim McCary, Margis Robinson, George Gaylor, Paul Guyse, Grover Adams, Walter Dunnam, Charles Cooper, and Mr. B. N. Ivey, assistant county agent.

We wish to extend many thanks to the following for kindness shown us on this camp: Mr. Mallie Gulledge, Mrs. Claude Billingsley, Messrs. B. M. and C. D. Gerson, and the attendants of Blue Creek Camp. — Dovard Huett, president; Lawrence Howard, secretary-treasurer; G. B. Sharp, reporter.

CHILTON HIGH WINS PAIR FROM SYLACAUGA HIGH

The Chilton County High Tigers won a pair of games from Sylacauga High last week, both of them by the same score, 5 to 2.

On Wednesday afternoon, the first game of the series was played at Clanton. Although out-hit, 8 to 7, the Tigers made every one of their blows count, while Sylacauga was able to get more than one hit in only two innings.

Duke, Sylacauga pitcher, gave up 6 hits, walked 4, and struck out 9, while Easterling gave up 7 hits, walked 2, and struck out 10, being especially tough in the pinches.

Marcus and Easterling led the Chilton attack with two hits each, one of the Sugar Boy's raps being a rousing triple in the 7th. Matson and Hazelrig led for Sylacauga with a pair each.

On Friday afternoon, the Tigers went to Sylacauga and duplicated their feat of Wednesday, another 5 to 2 victory. Williamson started pitching for Chilton, but gave way to Easterling in the 4th, after Sylacauga had made two runs, and the Sylacauga attack stopped cold. Full details of this game cannot be given, as they were not turned in at time of this writing.

STATE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Montgomery, May, 24.—Alabama parents were assured today by Dr. J. N. Baker, State Health Officer, that this State is not likely to see this year a repetition of the poliomyelitis epidemic which caused so much anxiety last year, especially between June 1 and November 1, when 364 cases were reported and 30 poliomyelitis deaths occurred in the state; 40 poliomyelitis deaths, more than twice the normal annual mortality for this disease, were reported during the entire year.

Dr. Baker pointed out that poliomyelitis does not usually appear in epidemic form in the same part of the country in successive years, although it is unlikely that a State that has just passed through a poliomyelitis epidemic will escape it altogether.

A somewhat similar assurance was given a short time ago by Dr. J. P. Leake, of the United States Public Health Service, who has studied the record of this disease over a period of many years.

"In 1935, a normal poliomyelitis year, there were 13 deaths from this disease," he said. "Eight of these occurred among children under five years of age, and 11, or all but two, under the age of 15. Eight deaths occurred between June 1 and November 1, which was the period when the 1936 epidemic was at its worst."

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written By
F. G. STEPHENS
Publisher of
The Southern Democrat, Oneonta

The Alabama Insurance Bureau was created as a separate department by an act of the legislature in 1915. Prior to this time the duties of this department were performed by the Secretary of State.

The Department was created for the purpose of protecting policy holders, by careful and rigid supervision of companies; also the department protects the licensed companies from the raids on the business by unlicensed, or "wildcat" companies. Every insurance company, before it is legally authorized to do business in Alabama, must first submit to an examination and convince the insurance commission of its solvency, and at the same time deposit with the State Treasurer, or with the proper authority of some other state, securities to the actual cash value of at least $100,000 for the protection of its policy holders. A policy that is issued by a company that is not authorized to do business in Alabama cannot be collected through the courts of the state.

Only duly licensed agents may write insurance in the state. Every agent must have a license, and the public should keep this in mind.

The department receives its income from the fire insurance companies which are required to pay 1½ per cent on the gross premium received, and 2½ per cent on the gross premium received by all other insurance companies doing business in Alabama.

The department is self supporting, and laws creating it provide that all salaries and expenses of every nature shall be paid from the collection of the department only. The surplus from this department is turned into the general funds of the state. Last year this amounted to $896,104.82.

The first year after the department was established the income was $275,267.38, and the expense of operation was $10,257.81. The income continued to increase from year to year until in 1930, when it amounted to $1,047,865.22. The cost of operation by this time had increased to $26,689.72. During the following four years the income declined and amounted to only $691,310.66 in 1934. There was also a very slight decline in the expenses. In 1936 the collections amounted to $927,456.47. The disbursements were $24,228.55, more than $2,000 less than they were in 1930. Included in the disbursements for 1936 are attorneys' fees for prosecuting and collecting claims amounting to more than $12,000, this amount being recovered for the state.

During the time this department has been in operation it has collected from the insurance companies $15,386,531.44. The cost of operation has been $503,332.12.

The insurance companies collect more from the people in forms of premiums than the state collects in all forms of taxes. In 1935 citizens of Alabama paid to the licensed companies reporting to the bureau of insurance a total of $40,573,174.57 for insurance premiums of all kinds.

KILOWATTS TRIMMED PAPER CO. TEAM LAST SUNDAY, 4 TO 2

The Lay Dam Kilowatts held a paper doll cutting party Sunday afternoon, taking advantage of a first inning streak of wildness to score all of their four runs and beat Birmingham Paper Company, 4 to 2. After the first inning, however, the Kilowatts threatened only twice, and boht of these were cut off with rifle throws to the plate by Neal, Paper's right gardener. These throws were perfect, and cut down two sure scores.

Carpenter, first Paper moundsman, gave up 5 hits during his 5-inning session, and struck out 3. Griffin, who replaced him in the 6th, gave up 2 hits, and hit one batter. Neither gave any bases on balls.

Whitaker went the route for the Kilowatts, giving up 8 hits, walking 1, hitting 1, and striking out 5.

For the paper company, Davis, who replaced Shelton, who was injured in the first inning, gathered three safe blows for a perfect day at bat, two of them doubles. Martin and Neal had a pair each.

Galloway and Baker had a pair each for the Kilowatts, while Hayes' only hit was a smashing triple. Both teams left 7 runners stranded on the paths.

PEPPERS NOSED OUT McDADE HERE LAST THURSDAY 10 TO 9

Gabby Tiffin Raps Two Homers; Ninth Inning Splurge Scores Win

Paced by Gabby Tiffin's long distance hitting, the Woco Peppers pushed over a run in their half of the ninth inning, after an eighth inning rally had knotted the count at 9 each, here last Thursday afternoon, and nosed out the crack McDade team of Montgomery, 10 to 9.

In this battle of southpaws, Terrell bested big Lefty Dennison decisively, but Ellison took over the Clanton mound duties just in time to receive credit for the victory. In the seven innings he worked, Terrell gave up 10 hits and 9 runs; Ellison worked the last two innings, allowing one single, but was never in danger. Dennison pitched the whole game except to one batter, but got credit for the loss, although he had left the mound before the run came across. He gave up 12 hits and nine runs, with his successor allowing Tiffin's perfect bunt to spin around him to score the winning run.

McDade scored three in the first inning. Watts walked. Taylor struck out, but Phillips singled to right and Nivens booted the ball, Phillips taking second and Watts scoring. Brannon doubled and Phillips scored. Post singled and Brannon scored, but Post was out trying to stretch his hit into a double. Steinberg popped to Marcus to end the uprising.

The Peppers came back with two runs in their half. After Marcus flied to center, Williamson singled. Langford was out, Watts to Brannon, Williamson taking second. Gabby Tiffin hoisted Dennison's second pitch to him to the great open spaces beyond the right field wall. Reynolds followed with a single, but Jones struck out.

In the third the Peppers went out ahead. Williamson was safe on Watts' error. Langford struck out, but Gabby Tiffin came up again and shot a screaming line drive over the right wall again for his second circuit clout in as many times at bat. Reynolds then singled, stole second, went to third on Jones' out, and scored when Tatum let one of Dennison's fast ones get through him.

McDade made it five-all in their half of the fourth, when Brannon walked, Post doubled and Steinberg singled, but Steinberg was out in his try for a double. Mosley flied to center, Tatum singled, and Dennison struck out.

McDade went into the lead with two runs in the fifth. With one away, Taylor walked, Brannon singled, and Post doubled again to score both of them, but Steinberg grounded out.

The McDade team stretched their total to nine and the lead to four in the seventh. Watts went safe on Marcus' error, but was out a minute later when Tiffin pulled the age-old hidden ball trick at first. Taylor singled, Phillips walked, and Marcus bobbled on Brannon's grounder, Taylor scoring. Post forced Brannon, but Reynolds kicked Steinberg's grounder and Phillips scored, and called it a day.

The Peppers went into the eighth on the short end of a 9 to 5 score, but promptly tied it. Williamson singled and stole second, Langford singled, Williamson to third. Williamson scored on a pitched ball that Tatum let get away from him, Langford taking third. Gabby Tiffin, Reynolds and Cecil Jones singled in succession, with Langford and Tiffin scoring. Guy McKee, batting for Spot Tiffin, went safe on another Watts error, Jones scoring the tying run.

After McDade had failed to break the tie in the ninth, the Peppers lost no time in putting over the winning score. Marcus was out on a grounder, but Williamson and Langford singled, Williamson coming to rest on third. With the hard hitting Gabby Tiffin up again, Boyd replaced Dennison; he began pitching low, but the Gab laid down a neat spinner in the dirt in front of the plate, beating it out for a hit and sending "Stella" Williamson over standing up with the winning run.

Gabby Tiffin led the Peppers with four hits out of five, two of them circuit smashes. Williamson and Reynolds followed with three each, Langford had a pair, and Cecil Jones added another to total a lucky 13.

For McDade, Post led the attack with three hits, two of them doubles. Taylor and Brannon had two each, and Phillips, Steinberg and Tatum chimed in with one each to bring the total to 10.

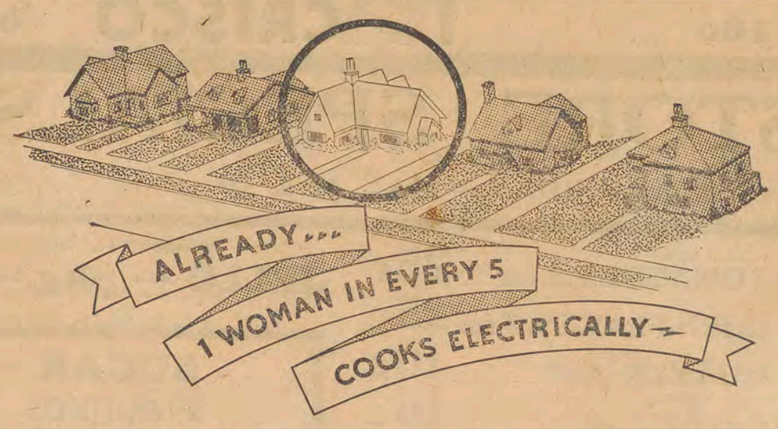
HELP KIDNEYS
To Get Rid of Acid and Poisonous Waste

Your kidneys help to keep you well by constantly filtering waste matter from the blood. If your kidneys get functionally disordered and fail to remove excess impurities, there may be poisoning of the whole system and body-wide distress.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination may be a warning of some kidney or bladder disturbance.

You may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel weak, nervous, all played out.



In such cases it is better to rely on a medicine that has won country-wide acclaim than on something less favorably known. Use Doan's Pills. A multitude of grateful people recommend Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

And by July, one in every 4 families in Alabama will be enjoying the cleanliness, economy and better tasting foods made possible by the MODERN, EASY way of cooking—electrically!

So Popular Has Electric Cookery Become That Manufacturers Are Hard Put to Make Deliveries

THIS popularity isn't sudden—for years there have been women who, replacing old stoves with electric ranges, immediately began singing praises of electric cookery. So their friends bought electric ranges when the time came to replace their out-of-date kitchen stoves. Because electricity is so cheap in Alabama they know an electric range costs little to operate. They know an electric range requires little attention, that it will cook food unattended, that it makes kitchens easier to keep clean, that food cooked the electric way tastes better.

Wouldn't You, Too, Like to Have a Kitchen that Sparkles?

Electrification will be a step in that direction. First you'll want a modern electric refrigerator—then an electric range—then an electric water heater and perhaps an electric dishwasher. Perhaps you'll want to get all four at once—prices are so moderate and terms so liberal.

IF YOU'LL LOOK YOU'LL BUY

If you'll look at one of the electric ranges below you'll be sure to want to start cooking the electric way right away! Moderate prices—easy terms.

HOTPOINT — M-W — UNIVERSAL — GENERAL ELECTRIC
PROSPERITY — MONARCH — MARION — ENTERPRISE — L&H
STANDARD — GRAYBAR-CRAWFORD — ESTATE — NORGE
KELVINATOR — WESTINGHOUSE

With an electric water heater in your home, of the type approved by the Alabama Public Service Commission, ALL of the electricity you use in excess of 200 kilowatt hours a month, under the A-8 rate, comes to you at the lowest rate--1c a kilowatt hour--whether you use the electricity for heating water, cooking, refrigeration, lighting, operating your radio, or other electrical appliances.

Plan to have an electric range and water heater installed in your home soon!

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

Montgomery, May 25. — Decision of the United States supreme court upholding the Alabama unemployment compensation law means that this state will have about $7,000,000 in reserve on January 1, 1938, with which to begin the payment of benefits to unemployed eligible workers. This estimate has been made by M. H. Harper, chairman of the unemployment compensation commission after a careful check of commission records.

Harper pointed out that the commission has already collected $3,000,000 which has been deposited with the U. S. treasury and is drawing interest. Litigants deposited in escrow in the federal and state courts are approximately $1,750,000, and will be paid to the unemployment commission during the next few days. This total of $4,750,000 represents contributions of employers and employes under the unemployment compensation law for 1936, and a small portion of 1937.

Under the law employers were required to pay nine-tenths of one per cent of their total pay rolls in 1936 provided they had eight or more persons employed during any 20 weeks of the year. This amount was increased to 1.8 per cent of the total pay rolls this year, and will be further increased to 2.7 per cent next year. After 1938 the assessment will remain stationary at 2.7 per cent until 1941, when the unemployment compensation commission will make an assessment against each employer based on the experience for stability of employment in his particular class during the years between the time the law becomes effective, and 1941.

Dry Counties Are To Be Kept Dry

State Liquor Board Stops Bulk Buying At All Stores

Montgomery, May 30. — Two blows, both indirect, were struck against "bootlegging" of state store liquor and beer in dry Alabama counties last week.

The State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board adopted a regulation permitting customers to purchase only "two quarts or two pints at one time" in state liquor stores.

Attorney General A. A. Carmichael ruled possession of liquor or beer by cafes in dry counties shall be evidence within itself "that same was kept for sale or distribution contrary to law."

In other opinions the Attorney General held: Liquor or beer being sold in dry counties can be confiscated; giving of beer to customers is prohibited in dry counties; and, liquor purchased in another state may not be possessed in Alabama.

The new customer limit for state stores, operating so far in only three of 24 wet counties, was adopted, the Board said, to "speed up service," and Chairman W. O. Baldwin said it would "make it slightly inconvenient" for persons buying for re-sale in dry counties.

Several requests for rulings handed down by the Attorney General said sales in dry counties were widespread.

The state control act prohibits sale or manufacture of alcoholic beverages in dry counties, but places no restriction on possession of liquor legally purchased in a wet county, the Attorney General has ruled previously.

SNOWBIRD BANDED IN OHIO

A snowbird was killed recently near Clanton, and on examination it was found that a band was attached to its leg. The number on the band was sent to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Biological Survey, and the editor of The Union-Banner has received the following letter from the department:

"The Biological Survey is in receipt of your recent communication. The bird carrying band No. 34-357241 was banded at Mt. Gilead, Ohio, by Alta Smith. Banding data not yet in our files.

"By means of these numbered metal bands imortant investigations relative to the migrations and other facts in the life histories of North American birds are being advanced. The bands are attached to the birds by volunteer co-operators, both in the United States and Canada, who serve without pay. Success in the bird-banding work is therefore dependent upon the reports of persons in both countries on such banded birds as come to their attention.

"Migratory water fowl have been banded in large numbers at more than 50 stations scattered over the continent and have been recovered as far south as the northern part of South America. Small song birds have been banded in still greater numbers, and many interesting facts concerning their movements are being discovered. These data are not only of scientific importance, but also of much service in the administration of this valuable wild life resource. The Biological Survey, accordingly, desires to have a report on every banded bird that may be recovered, and it is hoped that you will continue to help in this work by reporting any bands that come to your attention, giving the number (with series designation, if any, as A, B, 34, 36, etc.), date of recovery, and the locality."

IN MAYOR'S COURT

Only two cases came up before Mayor C. Fenn Jones during the past week. Both were for public drunkenness and both cases were continued. Melvious Collins was continued to June 7th; the other was Floyd Jackson, colored, and was continued to June 5th.

CEMETERY WORKING

All who are interested in the cemetery at Pleasant Hill please meet there next Friday morning, June 4th, and bring tools to work with. Let's not forget the date, Friday of this week. Come early as there is lots of work to do.

HOW OLD ARE OUR JUDGES?

In view of the fact that there has been much discussion recently about the ages of members of the U. S. Supreme Court, it might be of interest to know the ages of members of our own state judiciary.

Chief Justice Anderson of the Alabama Supreme Court is the oldest member of that body, and will be 74 in August. Justice Bouldin will be 71 in October, Justice Thomas 70 in June, Justice Knight 69 in October. Justice Brown celebrated his 65th birthday on May 18. Justice Foster will reach his 65th birthday in October, and Justice Gardner will be 61 in November.

Judge Samford is the oldest member of the Court of Appeals, and will be 71 in August. Judge Bricken was 68 in March, and Judge Rice was 51 in March.

Six of our Circuit Judges are more than 70. Ben F. Elmore of the 17th circuit is the oldest, and will be 76 in July, and W. L. Parks of the 12th circuit will be 76 in August. Judge Leigh M. Clark of Birmingham is the youngest circuit judge; he was 36 on May 16.

Child Swallowed Open Safety Pin

Removed At Birmingham Hospital Following X-ray

A rather unusual incident occurred at Billingsley on Saturday, May 22, when about 2:30 o'clock a 19-months-old child swallowed an open safety pin. It was little Marion Shirley Causey, the child of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt T. Causey, newcomers to Billingsley.

The child could not talk, but carried its mother to the dresser, picked up another safety pin, and showed the mother that it swallowed a pin just like that one. The child was not complaining, but seemed as well as ever. It was rushed to Clanton, where an X-ray was made by Dr. C. O. Lawrence plainly showing that the open pin was lodged in the child's upper intestine. The child was carried to Birmingham and placed in the Gorgas-Baptist hospital, in the charge of Dr. Wm. D. Fonville. Other X-rays and examinations were made, revealing the same as Dr. Lawrence had found. Repeated efforts were made by Dr. Fonville to dislodge the pin with instruments through the throat, but all unsuccessful. An incision in the abdomen was made, the pin worked loose and brought to an accessible place in the intestine and removed.

Little Shirley withstood the operation splendidly and has been showing marked and rapid improvement since the operation. It is anticipated by Mr. and Mrs. Causey that they can bring their child back home within another week.

The Causeys had been living in Billingsley for less than a week, having moved there from Hagler, Ala., near Duncanville, in Tuscaloosa County.

Aviation Fans Expecting Great Day At Clanton Airport July 3rd and 4th. Many Prominent Flyers Are To Be Here

A meeting of the Clanton Aero Club last week and resulted in the selection of chairmen of various committees to look after different phases of the work incident to arranging for the dedication and grand opening of Gragg Field on July 3rd and 4th.

Dr. V. J. Gragg was elected president of the Club, and J. Mell Martin secretary. Chairmen of committees are:

Steering Committee — Mell Martin, Leo Thompson, L. E. Little.

Program Committee — Leo Thompson.

Publicity committee — Billy Smith, chairman; Gene Wyatt, co-chairman.

Refreshment committee — L. E. Diefenderfer.

Finance committee — J. D. Rockett.

Police committee — J. R. Hardy, chairman; C. F. Jones, co-chairman.

Entertainment committee — L. E. Little.

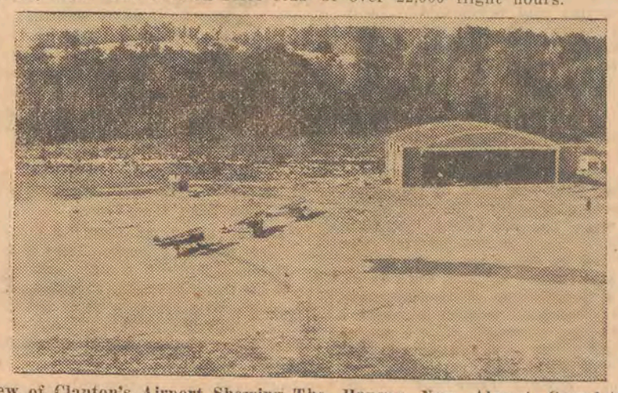
Naming of First Aid and Hotels committees was left over until a later date.

Model Aircraft Show

A feature of the airport dedication program at Gragg Field on July 3rd and 4th will be the model aircraft show, in which Chilton county lads will be permitted to compete in making the best models of aircraft. Three prizes will be awarded the winners, they being trips in an airplane. Mr. Charles Wade has charge of this part of the program, and any youngsters wishing to make a model and compete for the prizes should get in touch with Mr. Wade. This should be done at once, so that the contestants may have time to make their model planes, if they don't already have them.

Brass Band And A Dance

Definite conclusion by the entertainment committee has been reached to stage a big dance Saturday night, the same more than likely to be held at the city hall. The Clanton Pilot Club will have all arrangements in charge, and will see to it that this part of the program goes over as big as any of the rest.



Also there will be a brass band on the scene during both days. It is almost certain that the Boys Industrial Band of East Lake will be procured for this service, but if not, some band will be procured. Those who like band music may rest assured that if they are here they will get to hear plenty of band music.

Messrs. Steadham Acker and Asa Roundtree, prominent State aeronautic officials, have assured the local committee of their services in helping make arrangements for the celebration as well as their being on the scene while the performances are being executed.

The local committee, augmented by the assistance from high State and Federal officials, will make the airport opening here not one of the greatest, but the greatest public enterprise ever pulled in Chilton County. It is going to cost hundreds of dollars and will require untiring and exhaustive work for those in charge, but it is going over in the grandest style imaginable. By the time the first visiting plane lands on Gragg Field Saturday morning, July 3rd, the attention of almost the entire population of Chilton County will be directed toward that point of territory in the suburbs of Clanton. There will be thousands of people here in person to take part in the dedication and to witness the sights to be seen and to view the progress of aeronautics as will be depicted by the visiting pilots and air enthusiasts. This IS going to be an event long to be remembered by the people of Chilton County.

National Guard Planes Here

Another feature of the two days' activities will be six planes from Birmingham, national guard unit of the Observation Squadron. This unit ranks among the first national guard organizations of the United States, and its pilots have a safety record of over 22,000 flight hours.

ALABAMA GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS PRINCIPLES

Alabama bankers in session last week hit upon what, we expect, was a discordant note to the politicians of Alabama. They discussed at length the State's financial condition, its indebtedness, Etc. One prominent banker and business man, speaking before the assembly, went so far as to say that the next few years would bring about a complete change in the State's government—that such a change is essential to the well being of the commonwealth, and that dire results will ensue unless some such change is brought about.

The bankers have learned that the State's bonded indebtedness today is around $80,000,000, which amount is considerably more than twice the annual income of the State. Statistics show that Alabama is one of twelve states in the Union that have such an overhanging debt.

Last year Alabama paid out for interest on debts over three million dollars. Mind you, this was for interest alone, which means that for every eleven dollars which the State collected in taxes, one dollar was paid out for interest on debts. About seven million dollars of this indebtedness was made against the State directly following the War between the States, and twice the amount of the principal has been paid out for interest. Only a small fraction of the principal has been paid, and that was paid about a year ago. Last year Alabama paid out twice as much for interest on indebtedness as it paid on the principal.

Bankers have the reputation of being the best business men which we have; and most assuredly they find that the management of our State's affairs is considerably at variance with what they claim as good business ethics. And we do not question what the bankers say.

And too, if we remember correctly, the Brookings Institution a few years ago, after looking into the State's financial condition, gave a report somewhat similar to what the bankers say about it. From all reports, therefore, it must be a fact that Alabama's financial status is getting most too top-heavy to not be shaky. Let us hope that our officials make a change before it is everlastingly too late for our great commonwealth.

There's one thing you can say about Alabama though, and that is it is a typical "New Deal" State. The New Deal believes in and practices spending and borrowing until everybody gasps for breath; and Alabama has the habit just as bad as the nation has. Where it will all end we do not attempt to predict, but we expect those of us who have "cashed in" before the show-down of all this mess comes will be fortunate. But it is bound to come sooner or later, and we may all rest assured of that fact.

CHILD FELL FROM TRUCK, KILLED

Late last Saturday afternoon, about dusk, little James Ralph Higginbotham, age 7 years, was killed instantly when he fell from the cab of a truck as it rounded a curve 12 miles southwest of Clanton.

The truck was driven by Rev. A. E. Trice, and riding in the cab with Rev. Trice were two daughters, one of them the mother of the child. As the truck rounded a sharp curve on McCraw hill, between Jonestown and Sardis, both the girls and the little boy were flung from the cab to the ground. It was discovered that the little boy was seriously injured, and he was rushed to Central Alabama Hospital, but had been dead some minutes when they arrived at the hospital. Rev. Trice and the other members of his family were returning home at Sardis from Clanton when the accident happened.

Funeral services were held at Sardis Sunday afternoon, Rev. Homer Carroll conducting the services. Martin and Sons in charge.

ALONZA ROBINSON CAN BE OUT

and attendant ailments for six weeks, Mr. Alonza L. Robinson was able to be out riding over town a short while Tuesday morning. Mr. Robinson is looking fine, and seems to be safely and surely on the road to recovery. Mr. Robinson had a terrible siege of the same ailment that two months ago took the life of his father and which als proved fatal to a number of other victims in this vicinity. It was said to be a new and different variety of pneumonia, from which not many victims ever recover.

2 Weeks Report From Patrolmen

Henley and Waites Report Several Arrests; Liquor Cases Are Plentiful

In the past, arrests by the highway patrolmen, Henley and Waites, have been included in the report from the sheriff's office. We are advised, however, that many of the cases made by the patrolmen are never entered on the sheriff's book, and so many have been missed.

In the future the patrolmen will give us a weekly report of their work. The report below is for the past two weeks.

Patrolmen Henley and Waites call especial attention of the motoring public to the law on setting flags or flares when stopped on the highway, and also to the law against passing another vehicle on the crest of a hill or on a curve.

Another practice the officers warn against is that of failure to stop when going on to the highway. It is to the best interest of all that everyone obey this "stop" law, and the officers are serving notice that it will be enforced to the best of their ability.

They have made clear too, that the weekly reports will be published not for the purpose of "showing off", but that our people may read and see just what kind of offenses are most common, and guard against them.

Following is the report of the highway officers for the past two weeks, May 15 through May 30:

Lonnie Campbell, driving while intoxicated; out on bond.

D. C. Littlefield, public drunkenness; bond.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

FARMERS INCREASING THEIR INCOME WITH POULTRY

Auburn. — That many Alabama farmers and farm women can increase their farm returns with poultry is indicated by the returns of flock owners in the Alabama Poultry Record Keeping Demonstration Project, says John E. Ivey, poultryman of the Alabama Extension Service.

"During April 100 hens provided a daily gross income of $1.14 compared with a daily gross income of $1.18 from all sources in Alabama in 1933," he says. "The gross income from 100 hens was equivalent to 245.7 pounds of lint cotton selling for 13.9 cents per pound."

It is most important for farmers to produce a large part of their poultry feed requirements at home, he says. 'During April a farmer received $3.01 a bushel for his corn fed to hens after paying $3.50 per 100 pounds of supplement.

"To provide for three-fourths of the hen's ration it will require one bushel of corn per hen per year. For cheaper corn production follow recommendations of the Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station, county agents, and vocational agricultural teachers.

"For high egg production eliminate the culls, control external and internal parasites, make the poultry house cool as possible, feed a balanced ration, and keep the house and yards sanitary. Supply the birds with plenty of fresh water, oyster shells, grit, and succulent green feed."

ALABAMA PURCHASES MANY FEEDS AND FOODS ANNUALLY

Auburn. — Alabama farmers need to produce more feeds and foods to supply the state's needs.

This fact is clearly shown in a study by B. T. Inman, assistant professor of agricultural economics of the Alabama Experiment Station, in which he found that feed dealers in 1935 sold $10,295,827 worth of feeds in Alabama, of which $6,025,000 worth were purchased out of the state. In addition, approximately $2,025,000 worth of corn and oats was purchased outside the state by Alabama mills.

"The out-of-state expenditures for feeds and milling grains amounted to $31 per census farm, most of which represents a potential market for Alabama grown products," he said in reporting that "dairy, poultry, and animal specialty and stock ranch farms had high expenditures for feed per farm, while cotton and self-sufficing farms had low expenditures.

"The chief shortage of feed materials in Alabama is in those materials with medium and low protein content, particularly grains," he said in reporting that "the present production of such high protein feeds as cotton seed meal and peanut meal are in excess of needs with present feeding standards."

Farmers, dealers, and others interested in a detailed report of amounts of commercial feeds, corn, oats, hay, and other feeds and foods purchased in Alabama may obtain a copy of Circular 77, published by the Alabama Experiment Station, by writing to Dean M. J. Funchess, director.

RECORD SOIL CONSERVING CROPS PLANTED LAST YEAR

Auburn. — Farmers of Alabama joined with other Southern farmers in 1936 in planting the largest acreage to soil conserving crops on record.

Approximately 21,500,000 acres in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Texas, and South Carolina, were planted to soil conserving crops by producers, participating in the Agricultural Adjustment program. Throughout the United States conservation practices were followed on 53,000,000.

During the year about 30,000,000 acres of land in the country were diverted from soil depleting crops to soil conserving crops or practices. Alabama farmers diverted 990,000 acres, of which 950,000 were cotton acres.

"Most of the lands that have been diverted from cotton and other soil depleting crops under our program have been planted to soil conserving crops with subsequent general improvement," says Cully A. Cobb, director, Southern division, in a report to P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service.

By taking advantage of the soil conservation program farmers can qualify for payments sufficient to bear part of the expense of diversification and at the same time help secure a fair price for the soil depleting crops they produce, Cobb explains.

FOREST SERVICE NEWS

Frank R. Rasor, of Montgomery, Supervisor of Alabama National Forests, Tuesday addressed the conference of National Forest Supervisors in session in Atlanta on the importance of fire control and fire law enforcement on state, private and national forest lands.

"Fires on Alabama National Forest lands have shown a decrease during the past year due to better public cooperation, improved efficiency in Forest Service fire crews, and rigid enforcement of fire laws," pointed out Supervisor Rasor. He stated further that protection plans and methods which will be adopted as an outcome of this conference will undoubtedly result in an even greater reduction in future fire losses on Alabama's forests.

CONSERVATION SERVICE

Improved farm conditions in the demonstration area of the Soil Conservation Service near Clanton are becoming more and more apparent in the "well dressed' appearance of the land, according to James H. Wood, Camp Superintendent.

Many fields for the first time last winter were clothed in green cover crops, such as close growing legumes and small grains, to protect the sail against winter rains. The legumes, turned under this spring, will add to the fertility of the soil and increase the yields of following crops.

With the approach of hot weather, summer legumes and grasses are taking over their part of the job of erosion control and soil building as the definitely planned cropping system evolves into a systematic rotation, Mr. Wood pointed out.

Broad stripes are coming into style in the vegetative covering of the land as more and more farmers are adopting the practice of strip cropping and planting strips of close growing cover crops between strips of clean tilled land to increase the effectiveness of their rotations in protecting the soil against erosion.

Properly built terraces, winding across cultivated fields; broad green meadow strips, which conduct surplus terrace water out of the fields and provide the farmer with an additional crop of hay; young trees and permanent hay crops growing on the steeper slopes, all are adding to the attractiveness of the general appearance of the land as well as protecting the soil against erosion, Mr. Wood said.

NEW CEDRON 4-H CLUB

The New Cedron 4-H Club met on Tuesday, May 25. The president called the roll, with nine members present. The pledge was given by the entire club. The meeting was then turned over to Mr. Ivey, who asked questions on "The Work of the Boll Weevil". These were enjoyed very much. Having no other business, we adjourned, to meet June 25.

After the meeting Mr. Ivey carried us to the creek, where we enjoyed a swim. Among the crowd were Rufus Pruitt, Thomas Williams, Lester Powell, Talmadge Williams, Vester Powell, and Alton Lawrence. —Vester Powell, Reporter.

Mrs. W. J. Gentry spent the week end with her son, Kelly Gentry and family, on the Gulf of Mexico.

MIDWAY-MT. CREEK HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Midway-Mt. Creek Home Demonstration Club met May 12, with Mrs. R. L. Duffey as hostess. The meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. W. A. Adams. After song, roll was called, minutes read and adopted. It was voted to meet at 2:30 p. m. instead of 2 p. m. Mrs. Marion McGalliard was elected as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Chas. Cooper, who is away for the summer.

A program was rendered as follows:

Reading—Farm Bureau, by A. A. Culver; "How I Became a Gardener," by Mrs. Marion McGalliard; Song—"Old McDonald had a Farm"—Club.

A picture representing "Old McDonald's Farm," was shown and enjoyed by all. Miss Grace gave a very interesting talk on food values and salads.

The next meeting to be held at Mrs. E. H. Freeman's, subject, Deserts.—Mrs. W. A. Adams, President, Mrs. Marion McGalliard, Secretary.

ENTERPRISE 4-H CLUB

The boys' 4-H Club of Enterprise met May 13 at 4 o'clock. A few took examinations in the health contest.

Mr. Ivey took charge of the meeting after the roll was called. He discussed different projects and talked about the hog show in Birmingham September 8 and 9. We adjourned, after singing a few songs.

We want all of the members to be at the next meeting, in June, as we will have a ball game after the meeting. All members who are planning to go on the camp in July must be at the next meeting.—Norman Thomas, reporter.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

Montgomery, May 31. — Widespread confusion exists in the minds of Alabama citizens about the enforcement features of the unemployment compensation law and the old age benefits law, according to M. H. Harper, chairman of the Alabama unemployment compensation commission, who today sought to point out the essential differences. Decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in validating the Alabama unemployment compensation law and the national social security program brought a flood of requests for information.

Chairman Harper pointed out that unemployment compensation is an entirely different feature of the social security program from the old age benefits provision, and that unemployment compensation will be paid by the unemployment compensation commission, while old age benefits will be handled exclusively by the federal government.

The federal government will not attempt to distribute unemployment compensation, Mr. Harper said. It will provide operating expenses for the Alabama commission, but all benefits to unemployed will come from a reserve fund now being accumulated by contributions from employers and employes in Alabama.

OAK GROVE—BEAT 16

The fifth Sunday meeting at Oak Grove last Sunday was a grand succes. Those present had a wonderful time serving and praising the Lord. People began to gather about 9 o'clock, and by 9:30 the house was more than filled. There were people present from Helena and from Sylacauga.

The program consisted of songs and prayer. The Sunday school was called off. The welcome address was given by Bro. Henry Cleckler, and a special song was sung by the Brewer sisters of Clanton; the title of the song was "Till Something Got Hold of Me." Then praise service was conducted by Mr. Evin Baker of Lomax; this service went on until 11:30. After a special song by the Sylacauga sisters, Bro. Earl Brewer brought a soul-stirring message. There was a song and prayer, and dinner. A long table was filled with good eats, and everyone enjoyed their fill. Afternoon, all the preachers were given a chance to talk. There were in all 14 preachers present for the services. The day was a great one for all—long to be remembered. We were proud to have all visitors and invite them back again.

There will be services next Sunday night conducted by Bro. Henry Cleckler, subject "The Runaway Mule". Everybody come. —Jesse Mitchell, Clerk.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA DRAWS MANY OUTSIDE STUDENTS

Out of approximately 500 graduates at the University of Alabama this year, 227 reside outside of Alabama. They come from 30 states, the Canal Zone and Canada, the bulk of them coming from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and Connecticut.

Of all 16 of those receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science in civil engineering, not one resides in Alabama; 7 out of 10 of those receiving the Bachelor of Science degree in electrical engineering reside in other states; all 4 of those receiving this degree in industrial engineering reside in other states; 10 out of 13 of those receiving the Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering are residents of other states. Only one of the four who received this degree in metallurgical engineering is an Alabamian. Only one of the four who got the Bachelor of Science degree attached to his name in Mining engineering resides in this state.

Mrs. Earl Parrish underwent an operation at a Montgomery hospital last week. She is said to be recovering nicely.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for June 6

JOSEPH'S READINESS FOR SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 41:33-44.
GOLDEN TEXT—Seest thou a man diligent in his business? he shall stand before kings. Proverbs 22:29.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Joseph's Errand.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Joseph Goes Before the King.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Ready to Serve.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Preparation for Public Service.

Public service—that position of opportunity and responsibility—merits far better treatment than is commonly accorded to it, for we know only too well how often it is nothing but a political football carried hither and yon as the dictates of partisan purposes may indicate.

Scripture holds a very exalted view of the public servant. Paul tells us to "be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God" (Rom. 13:1). The Bible clearly teaches that every governmental agency and every public servant from the policeman on the beat to the President in the White House, is only permitted to exercise authority over his fellowmen because God has ordained that there should be such government. Clear it is that every right-thinking official of state and nation should be humble, teachable, discreet, and wise in the exercise of his power, and God-fearing in the discharge of his responsibility.

Joseph, the one in the procession of the patriarchs of Genesis who passes before us in the lesson today is interesting from many angles His personal history is charmingly written and a model of appealing biography. He is a marvelous type of Christ, and one could devote hours to such a study of his life. But our lesson subject presents him as one ready for public service, and we may well profit by the lesson. He is an example of what men who serve their country should be.

I. Before God—Humble and Teachable (vv. 33-36).

The background of our lesson is found in the four preceding chapters. Joseph, the boy with dreams and aspirations, has learned obedience, humility, purity, and many other useful lessons in the hard school of experience. It has well been said that the tuition of that school is high, but the lessons are well learned.

Now he stands before the king to interpret a double dream, sent as a warning to the nation. The wise men who knew not the true God had vainly sought to answer the king's questions. Joseph sets them and us an example—he receives instructions and guidance from God, and speaks wise words because taught of him. Would that all those who stand as counsellors before kings and presidents in our day would listen for the voice of God before they speak.

II. Before Men—Spiritual, Discreet, and Wise (vv. 37-39).

Pharaoh recognized that the Spirit of God was in Joseph. That is a great testimony for Joseph, and at the same time it reflects credit upon the king. Who can say what would be the result if our government officials were chosen for their spirituality?

Spirituality is not the only qualification, however, for such service. The Christian who expects men to favor him because he is a Christian, even though he be careless and incompetent, finds no comfort in the study of Joseph. He was discreet and wise. The follower of Christ should distinguish himself by diligent and intelligent application of all his powers to his work. Then men will honor both him and his God.

III. In Service—Responsible and Powerful (vv. 40-44).

He who had humbled himself under the mighty hand of God was exalted in due time. (See I Peter 5:6.) Joseph was willing to abide God's time, and did not run ahead of him as did his father, Jacob.

The record shows that he used his place of honor and privilege to perform a difficult and arduous task and to do it well. Right-spirited men do not glory in position or power, but use the opportunity to give themselves in sacrificial service to God and their fellow-men. Someone has aptly said that a politician is one who has his eye on the next election while a statesman has his eye on the next generation and its welfare. God give us more statesmen!

Never Despair

Let no man despair of himself. We may be sepulchres full of dead powers; but Christ is the resurrection and the life, to make us shrines full of living, seeing, soaring, rejoicing thoughts and passions.—Dr. W. L. Watkinson.

PEPPERS BLAST MIGNON 20 TO 4 LAST SUNDAY AT MAPLESVILLE

The Woco Peppers staged a field day at the expense of the Mignon Millers at Maplesville last Sunday afternoon, swamping them 20 to 4, with a 19-hit bombardment, coupled with 10 bases on balls.

Tucker went six innings on the hill for the Peppers, giving up 10 hits and four runs, walking two and whiffing six. Manager Sparrow Easterling put the handcuffs on the Millers during the last three innings, allowing one hit and no runs.

The Peppers got to Clark and Paten for 19 safe blows, including a sixth inning home run smash by Williamson. In this inning the Peppers exploded under Mignon, sending 10 runs scurrying across the plate. These two pitchers struck out 10 Peppers, but allowed 10 bases on balls.

Glasscock led the home club with a perfect three for three. Sparrow Easterling kept his season batting everage perfect, also, coming up with two for two. Marcus had three for four, Gab Tiffin and Tucker each three for six, Monroe Hayes two for five, and Sims, Williamson and Glass one each.

For the visitors, W. Downs led with three for four, and A. Henderson and Mims two for four each.

COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

Materialism is the sin of the world. It takes constant prayer and divine grace to protect even Christian people from materialistic conception of life. A young person who is a Christian has two doors open to him. One door leads into a room of comfort. There is a good salary, oriental rugs, and gorgeous chandeliers, but not much opportunity for Christian service. The other door opens into a plain room. There is no carpet on the floor. The lights are dim. The bed is hard. The salary is small. But there is a great opportunity for Christian service. The young Christian enters the first door. He makes a materialistic choice. He substitutes comfort for service. Lot, the nephew of Abraham, made a legitimate trade with his uncle. However, he chose a certain section because there was water for cattle, but he had to rear his children among sinners. He took better care of cattle than he did of his children. That is materialism. Judas Iscariot had been with Jesus Christ for three years. He had heard what the others had heard. He knew something of truth. He had heard Jesus say something about a man gaining the whole world and losing his own soul. Yet Judas Iscariot sold Christ for 30 pieces of silver. The person who knows the will of God for his life and refuses to do the will of God because there are material advantages in doing something else, sells Christ as truly as Judas Iscariot sold Him nearly 2,000 years ago. Money was the god of Judas. Money is the god of even many professing Christians.

The curtain goes up. It is the first act. Lot is in the city of Sodom. He is a gatekeeper. His wife is in society. The children are in a whirl of sensuality. Everybody seems happy. There is laughter and wine. We say it is a comedy. The audience applauds. The show is a success. The curtain goes down. Now it is up for the last act. It isn't comedy. It is tragedy. Lot is trying to get his children out of Sodom. He tells them the cloud of God's wrath has gathered. Destruction is at hand, but he seems as one that mocked. He rushes out of the doomed city leaving some of his children behind him. His wife turns to a pillar of salt. The two children who stayed with him disgraced him. There was a drunken orgy. The devil's show always begins with comedy, but always closes with tragedy. Lot chose well-watered land for his cattle instead of a spiritual environment for his children. Abraham was unselfish. He was magnanimous. He put spiritual values above material values. "Let there be no strife between me and thee and between my herdsmen and their herdsmen, for we be brethren," Abraham told Lot. Abraham loved peace more than he loved land, water and cattle. The curtain goes up. Abraham sits on the tent door with his wife, Sarah, and they look up at the stars in the azure belted dome of the eastern sky. They talk about God. There is the ringing of the camel bells, the lowing of the cattle, and the dust of the desert. The place seems dull. There is not much excitement. Most of Abraham and Sarah's life was routine. Of course, there were exciting moments. The angels visited them once in a while, and there was some fighting, which Abraham would do if he had to. But God was first. The curtain goes down and there is not much applause in this world, but the ear of the soul of Abraham can hear the applause of angels, and mingled with the applause is the voice of God saying, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." Yes, life may seem like drudgery to the faithful. There is not much that is thrilling in contact with donkeys and camels and cows. The dust of the desert is not so pleasant. It is much more exciting at a city gate. But right is right, and the eternal principles hold. If we would save our life, we must lose it. We get by giving. We live by dying. Before there is a resurrection, there must be a crucifixion.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR THE SOUTH

The pine forests of Dixie are current headline news because these fast growing trees hold the promise of a new industrial empire for the South. The pine has come to mean a lot in actual dollars and cents, now that paper promises to become a Southern farm crop.

Eighty million dollars is an impressive amount of money, and it is estimated that something like this vast sum represents the cost of construction for pulp and paper mills in the South during 1936 and 1937. The significance of this investment is not lost on those interested in the future of this section. It is difficult to appraise the effect of this development on the economy and the welfare of the people of the Southern states. Under this expanded program, the industry will employ thousands of men in the woods and in the mills. These new payrolls and payments for raw materials will run into millions of dollars, which will be reflected in all lines of general business.

U. S. MARINE CORPS OPEN

A limited number of applicants for service in the U. S. Marine Corps will be enlisted from this section, during June at the Macon, Ga., headquarters, according to an announcement by Maj. J. M. Tildsley, the officer in charge.

Applicants accepted must be between 18 and 25 years of age, not less than 5 feet 4 inches nor over 6 feet 2 inches in height, of good character, single and without dependents, and must be in excellent physical condition.

STATE HIGHWAY NEWS

Washington, May 25. — The unemployed and the roads of Alabama have been given a helping hand to the extent of an allocation of $3,172,279 for the construction of more good state highways. This amount represents the share Alabama will get of the $150,000,000 that has been ear-marked for the construction of highways by the House adoption today of the Cartwright amendment to the federal relief bill.

Congressman John J. Sparkman, 8th district, Huntsville, deserves a full measure of credit for the success of this legislation, according to Congressman Wilbur Cartwright, of Oklahoma, chairman of the House Roads Committee, who presented the highway amendment today on the House floor.

"We are going to be able to put more of our unemployed Alabama citizens to work by the expenditure of this money," said Congressman Sparkman, "and all our people are going to benefit by the construction of more good roads."

Shipmast locust fence posts that have been in the ground for 125 years and still are in fair shape have been found in New York, New Jersey, and Massachusetts. The Alabama Experiment Station has set some of these locust to see how they thrive in the South.

Mr. R. J. Alexander, who underwent an operation recently at a Birmingham infirmary, is back home at 617 10th Street. He is said to be improving satisfactorily.

WHAT THE LEGISLATURE DID FOR THE FARMERS

The present administration has been very considerate of the farmer.

The legislature made provisions whereby each county can have a farm agent and a home demonstration agent if the people of the county want it. The law makes it mandatory that the Commissioners Court or Board of Revenue provide the necessary funds to carry out the farm program, after it has been voted by the people. It made an appropriation to the extension service to enable the state to pay its part in the farm program. It provided the funds to continue the operation of the experiment sub-stations and experiment fields, as well as the exepriment station at Auburn.

It passed a law creating the Milk Control Board for the benefit of dairy farmers.

It passed a law to protect the cattle farmer against the stealing of cattle.

It passed a law placing a tax on oleomargarine made from coconut oil, and to protect the products made from cotton seed and peanut oil.

In the revenue code it exempted from taxation to each farmer 10 hogs, 20 sheep, 20 goats, 2 cows, poultry to the amount of $100, farming tools to the value of $100, implements and tools of mechanics to the value of $100, one sewing machine, two horses or mules, and kitchen and household furniture to the value of $250.

It lowered the price on automobile tags approximately 30 per cent. On some cars it was more than 30 per cent. It provided that car and truck tags could be purchased on a declining monthly basis.

It exempted homesteads up to the assessed value of $2,000 from all state taxes.

In the passage of the sales tax law it exempted all farm products when sold by the producer or members of his family. On the things the farmer might have to buy it exempted fertilizers, seed for planting purposes, sweet milk, butter milk, corn meal, white salt meat, sugar and coffee.

It gave the farmers' children as well as all other children free school books for the first three grades, and relieved them from the payment of all incidental fees in all the elementary grades.

It also passed a law providing for market organizations by which farmers may buy and sell co-operatively on a business basis.

HONOR MEMORY OF MISS SIMS

The Progressive Study Club planted a tree Tuesday, May 11, a Virginia Ann Glowcia Coniti, on the campus of the Walker County High School, in memory of Willodine Sims, daughter of one of the charter members of the club, Mrs. C. B. Sims.

Mr. Harwell spoke of this being a beautiful act in memory of a splendid student. The poem, "Trees", was read by Miss Virginia Wilson.

THE HESTERS ALL HERE

About ten days ago Mrs. J. A. Hester, William and Anna Ruth came back to their home in Clanton after wintering in Florida. Then last Sunday night Margaret arrived from New York. On Monday the family went down to Judson college, Marion, and brought back Miss Beverly and the trusty family pet dog, "Princely Pat." Man Stole Car And A Sum Of Money

A man by the name of Jimmie Delaney, who has been working for Mr. Willie Crowson for the past seven months, is supposed to have vanished with Mr. Crowson's car and about $150 Monday morning about 1 o'clock. The man got a bogus check cashed at the Dixie Cafe about that hour, and told them he was going to Montgomery on some business for Mr. Crowson. Delaney is said to have gotten a check for $5 cashed at Fairview filling station some time recently.

Delaney, calling himself an American citizen, came here seven months ago, according to his story, from Hartford, Conn. He has been a very faithful worker for Mr. Crowson ever since. He has been operating a lunch room for Mr. Crowson for the past two months.

The car taken was a Chevrolet coach, 1936 model. It is not known in what direction he left Clanton, and all efforts to find any trace of him have been unavailing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Arledge, and Mr. and Mrs. House, all of Hueytown, visited Monday night and Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Parrish on Lay Dam road.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness and help during the recent death of our little son, James Ralph; to Bro. Homer Carroll for his comforting message; also to Martin and Sons for their services.—Rev. A. E. Trice and family.

Beautiful Landlubbers at New Great Lakes Exposition

Streamlined Chorus Girls who will have a colorful part in Billy Rose's 5,000 seat Aquacade, entertainment feature of the Great Lakes Exposition that runs 101 days from May 29 to Sept. 6 at Cleveland, learned today that they must be able to swim as well as dance and sing for the world's first aquatic extravaganza.

"There will be no water wings in this show," said Rose, shown on the extreme left, as he picked the beauties of eight states for the cast of 500 in the spectacle. Gorgeous costumes for the show girls are to be made of cellophane and waterproof fabrics so that they may parade into the waters of Lake Erie from the mammoth 160 foot stage, as thousands watch from the theater-restaurant on the shore's edge.

Rose will also have a big feature, the Pioneer Palace, in the Exposition's "Streets of the World," where forty nations will be represented in authentic reproductions of foreign buildings.

The 1937 Great Lakes Exposition, all new and greater, will have as its central theme "The Making of a Nation—The Romance of Industry, Agriculture and Science" in a 100,000 square foot exhibition hall for which Juan Larrinaga is creating huge murals.

Commencement Day proved a great success for Thorsby Institute. The day was hot, but there was a good breeze. At the dinner hour the clouds kindly obscured the sun so that it was quite comfortable. The plan of having the three tables for the bountiful dinner, instead of the one long table, was quite an advantage in serving the crowd more quickly. Soft drinks and ice cream were for sale on the campus. The display of students' work on tables in the dining hall was quite interesting. The table of cookery, under the care of the matron, Miss Leech, was especially attractive. Quite a number of out-of-town gusets were present, as well as the town people.

Thorsby Chapter No. 154 of Eastern Star will have a regular meeting on Saturday, June 5, at 2:30. All members are requested to be present; visitors are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Piper had as their guests for the week end Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Higgins of Deatsville.

An interesting affair came on Saturday afternoon, May 29, when the "Class of '27" held a reunion in the Fellowship room of the Congregational church. After an hour and a half of reminiscences, presentation of greetings, and gifts from those absent, and the election of Miss Willie Littlejohn as class president, delightful refreshments were served, the feature attraction being a cake with a rainbow across the center, bearing the figures "27-37" flanked on either side by five candles. Members present were: Mrs. T. A. South (nee Meryl Freeman), Misses Betty Lakeman and Dessie Robinson, all of Birmingham; Mrs. Onzelle Eiland Willis of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Williams of Randolph, Ragnar Ekblad and Miss Willie Littlejohn of Thorsby. Those absent were: Miss Dorothy Butler of Lakewood, O., Ronald Lucas of Clio, Mich., Marcelle Wilder of Birmingham, Olin Williams of Billingsley, Mrs. Jean Johnson McCraney of Cleveland, Tenn., and Virginia Lindsey, address unknown. Miniature bouquets of sweet peas (class flowers) were given each upon taking leave, each voting a return next year. The class also gave a substantial sum of money toward the Library Building Fund for Thorsby Institute.

Thorsby Institute News

At graduating exercises of Thorsby Institute Monday the following prizes were awarded: $5 for excellence in history, to Frances Conway, Thorsby; $5 for excellence in mathematics, to Fred Blankenship, Thorsby; $5 for the outstanding pupil in scholarship, conduct, participation in extra-curricular activities was given to Paralee Henson, Jemison; 18 pupils also had been neither absent nor tardy during the year and were given $1 each; $1 each was given to Ouida Wright of Florala, Oleita Nowell of Geneva, and Dorothy Weems of Cedar Springs, Ga., for the best kept room in the boarding department; $1 was awarded to Mary Christ, of Hayneville, Ala., as the most studious girl in the Campus Cottage; there were two music prizes given: one going to Dorothy Weems of Cedar Springs, Ga., for oustanding work in the Girls' Glee Club, and the other going to Mae Pearl Sorrell, Thorsby, for outstanding work in piano. All of the above prizes were given by people living in Thorsby.

The undergraduate scholarship that gives the recipient tuition for one semester goes to Frances Conway of Thorsby. This was given by a Connecticut friend of the school. Ouida Wright of Florala, Ala., was awarded the Helen Drummond Sewall scholarship for the coming year. This is based on scholarship, deportment, and willingness to cooperate. The interest on $1,000 pays this scholarship.

The Class of 1927, at its reunion Saturday, placed in the bank $30 to be used as a building fund for the library of Thorsby Institute. The present quarters are far too small. Announcement of this was made Monday at the exercises.

The senior class also presented to the school in gifts and money the equivalent of about $125, of which $90 is to go toward making an athletic field in rear of the school building. Another of the gifts was stage scenery made by members of the class, and Mr. Sutlive.

The class play Friday night was very well attended. About $42 was cleared.

The music recital on Saturday was a very pleasant one. The Boys' Choral Club of nine boys concluded the recital with three songs.

Saturday night a lawn party was given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Horace Franklin by the alumni, of which Mrs. Franklin is one, to the senior class. A scavenger hunt was the main part of the program; 49 were present on this occasion.

Sunday at the Baccalaureate service, Rev. M. I. McLeod, pastor of the Thorsby Baptist church, preached a very inspiring sermon. A collection was taken for Student Aid, amounting to $18.66.

Rev. Wm. J. Campbell, D. D., of Nashville, was very much enjoyed as the Commencement speaker Monday. There was special music by the Girls' Chorus, a piano solo by Mae Pearl Sorrell. The diplomas were presented by Miss Helen Jenkins, principal. This was the first Commencement in which the seniors wore caps and gowns. They wore blue gowns and caps with gold tassels. The school colors are blue and gold.

Miss Ruth Ford, Miss Onita Klingelhoefer, and Miss Marian Fairbank expect to leave Wednesday by car, Miss Ford going with Miss Klingelhoefer as far as Beaver, Pa.; she will then go by train to Dalton, Mass. Miss Fairbank expects to go to Pleasant Hill, Tenn., then to Jacksonville, Ill. It is with regret that the school is not to have the services of Miss Fairbank another year, as she plans to retire. She has done such faithful work and so much of it, not only in the library, but in various other ways, that she will be greatly missed. She plans to return for a part of the summer to do some work in the library and pack up her things.

Miss Lois Leech expects to remain at Thorsby until the middle of July. She will have charge of the library, which will be open Tuesday and Saturday during the summer.

Miss Elizabeth Monroe expects to go to her home in Flowery Branch, Ga., for a few days, then to Piedmont College to study.

Miss Kathryn Foss is to attend Piedmont Commencement, then return to Thorsby and go to Alabama College for six weeks of study.

Mr. Sutlive and Mr. Maddox will probably be in Thorsby during the summer.

Mrs. F. E. Jenkins and Miss Helen Jenkins expect to leave Friday by car for LaGrange, Ga., and New England. Their address will be Cheshire, Mass.

Christian Endeavor News

A very impressive outdoor service was held Sunday evening at 6:30 on the Thorsby Institute campus. Ruth Clarke, of Montgomery, a student in Thorsby Institute, was in charge of the program. After the devotional period, she presented a program in two parts. The first part consisted of talks by the present officers of the Christian Endeavor, in which they told of the work they had attempted to do here this year. The second part included talks made by three members of the society in which they told of the way in which they hoped to adjust themselves to their home and their community when they returned. Then a discussion period followed in which the members joined enthusiastically. Rev. Stanley asked those present to go to the church for a few moments after the meeting. There he gave a talk which he made especially for those leaving the town and society when school is out.

CLANTON BABTIST REVIVAL

Beginning Sunday, June 13th, and continuing through June 23rd., the Clanton Baptist Church will hold their annual series of revival services. Dr. Frank J. Fleming, of Luverne will do the preaching. Fred Bond, of Birmingham, will lead the song services.

Dr. Ezell, the pastor, says: "We have a great pair for our revival services. We are expecting a great meeting, and we want the public to enjoy and to profit by the services."

DICK HAYES CHOSEN TO IMPORTANT POST

A singular honor was bestowed upon Clanton and one of its citizens last week when J. W. (Dick) Hayes, manager of the Hayes Chevrolet Company of Clanton, was elected by the Chevrolet dealers of Alabama to represent the used car committee of the dealers at a regional meeting.

This meeting, the Southeastern Regional meet, is being held in Atlanta today and Mr. Hayes is attending. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hayes. This honor is of note due to the larger and older Chevrolet dealers in the state who elected Mr. Hayes to represent them at this important conference.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Misses Jean Waite and Martha Jean Stewart proved to be charming little hostesses on Tuesday afternoon, when they honored Hayden Lanier on her twelfth birthday. The usual games were played during the run of the afternoon and many gifts were presented to the honoree.

Delightful refreshments were served and favors were presented to the happy guests.

The guest-list included the names of Cecile Todd, Essie White, Joe Ann Atkinson, Elizabeth Dennis, Reita Thomas, Inez Wyatt, Katherine Bell, Jerry Alred, Bess Hayes, Elizabeth Andrews, Jean Mullins, L. J. Stewart, Jr., Jack Waite, and the hostesses.

DEBT LIMIT REACHED

It was at 35 billion dollars that President Roosevelt hoped to arrest the debt and begin reducing it. The desirability of lightening interest charges is only one of two strong arguments which recommend such action. The other and still more telling argument is that every consideration of sound fiscal policy counsels using a period of recovery to store up credit for a rainy day. That we are now in a period of recovery there can be no question. Industrial employment is at the highest level reached since 1929. Hourly wages are well above the 1929 level. Farm income is at the highest point in seven years. Bank deposits have actually reached the highest mark on record. Every major index of business activity shows substantial progress.

This is precisely the time at which the United States should be reducing its debt, rather thna increasing it; bringing it down to more manageable proportions; jealously conserving the national credit for any future demand that may be made upon it for some emergency which lies ahead. For if the country cannot reduce its debts when recovery is present, how can it expect ever to reduce its debt at all? The necessity of taking thought for the future is the strongest of all arguments available to those members of congress who are now seriously attempting to bring the government's expenditures within its income. — New York Times.

The Courier-Journal is being bombarded with protests by the National Federation of Federal Employes against any 10 per cent cut of federal appropriations. These protests are unnecessary. The Courier-Journal is fully aware that persons drawing federal funds are last-ditch objectors to any reduction of government spending. — Louisville Courier-Journal.

SCORE ONE FOR VERMONT

Since the 1936 election we have read a lot of editorial jokes to the effect that Vermont and Maine no longer are a part of the United States. We are beginning to learn the real reason, so far as Vermont is concerned at least.

According to Gov. Aiken of that state, in March, 1933, at the depth of the depression, his commonwealth had a bonded debt of $8,218,000 and temporary loans of $2,420,000. Four years later, March, 1937, at the end of four years during which the national government had increased its bonded indebtedness about 15 billions, and most states were modestly following suit, the bonded indebtedness of Vermont had been reduced to $7,857,000 and the temporary loans to $1,080,000.

Any state which is so out of touch with federal practice that it actually reduces its indebtedness, surely ought not to be classified as part of the United States, so far as fiscal policy is concerned, at least.

Of course there are states like Indiana that are prohibited from issuing bonds because of constitutional inhibitions, but Vermont deserves special credit because it has the bonding privilege but has not abused it. This fiscal record has been written in the face of difficulties, too. Most of the state's forests have disappeared, and its soil, never any too rich, is certainly little if any better, while many of its industries have moved away, being attracted by a cheaper labor market elsewhere. All of this has been met in addition to the exigencies of the depression. But the people of the country who read Vermont's story are beginning to find that it possesses qualities which make it a good place in which to live. As Business Week put it recently:

"Courage, self-respect, sobriety, hard sense, and hard work count for something. At this time, when federal commissions are drafting beautiful long time programs that would merely cost a few paltry billions, when the federal budget is out of kilter and showing symptoms of permanent dislocation, and when some states that are rich and fertile seem to welcome the prospect of perpetual federal nursing, it is a good thing for the country to take a clear look at the Vermont example of debt reduction".

At any rate, in this day of pump priming and spending ourselves rich, the record of Vermont is so unique that it seems to place the state beyond the pale of modern American economic procedure. Vermont seems to have done other things than going Republican during the past four years. Can it be possible that here is something more than coincidence?

AND UP GOES THE PAY ROLL

The president and congress talk loudly of economy, high officials warn that the budget must be balanced, there is even an effort to stop naval construction and hamper national defense to save money; but the government pay roll keeps going up.

There are nearly 5,000 more deserving Democrats on the government pay roll now than there were last July 1. The federally paid personnel jumped 2,860 during March, and the pay roll went up $1,750,000. The New Deal has always been careful not to let its right hand know what its left was doing, and it is being especially cautious now.—Los Angeles Times.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

The vote of the Senate committee considering the bill, 10 to 8 against the proposal for enlarging the Supreme Court, indicates that the president's pet measure is slowly winding its way toward a final decision in congress. Just what this decision is, as this is written, remains in the lap of the gods. When Mr. Roosevelt returned from his fishing trip not long ago it was announced that there would be no compromise on the measure as had been suggested by some of the senators. The announcement had the effect of stiffening the lines, with the prediction that there would be a fight to a finish. But when the senate committee was considering the bill, it is reported, friends of the measure, perceiving that it was lost in the committee, sought to put over a compromise bill but were defeated in the effort. Whether or not this was done with the knowledge and consent of the president, was not stated. But the action gave rise to reports that, after all, Mr. Roosevelt would accept a compromise bill which would enlarge the Court by two members and give him three appointments, including the one made necessary by the resignation of Justice Van Devanter.

No matter what the final outcome may be, the fight has now gone so far that there have inevitably been deep wounds. If the bill passes the senate in some form it will have to go on to the House. But because of the political heat engendered, final adoption of the bill may not end the matter, and some of the grudges of the fight seem bound to be carried over into the campaign next year. If the president's bill is finally defeated, there will be deep wounds just the same and old scores to settle next year. Even if there is a compromise which seems satisfactory to all factions, all will neither be forgiven nor forgotten.

Political observers are calling attention to the fact that seven Democrats joined the three Republicans in the committee to defeat a favorable report of the bill. And an inspection of the names of the seven senators indicates that they were neither Liberty Leaguers nor hide-bound conservatives from anyone's camp. As a matter of fact, each of them has supported many of the so-called New Deal measures in the past. They are Senators Burke, O'Mahoney, Hatch, King, Connally, McCarran, and Van Nuys. Here is no roll call of tories, but of statesmen generally regarded as liberal.

Political conditions have a habit of changing rapidly in the United States. Many observers tell us that President Roosevelt is still as popular as ever personally with the mass of voters. But one series of facts stands out. In the November election of 1936, President Roosevelt won the presidency again in a victory of landslide proportions. It has never been surpassed in our modern American political history. He carried 46 of the 48 states. He entered office for his second term in what was apparently a new era of good feeling. It seemed that his authority and his influence could hardly be questioned in the light of his political history. Yet four months later we hear murmuirngs on every side, and the discontent comes not from the conservatives, but from many of the liberals. One hundred and twenty days have passed since the second inauguration, yet we find that on the greatest issue of the day the president is apparently unable to control a one-sided congress and is in danger of facing defeat or submitting to compromise. Victory may come even yet, but if it is achieved it will be at the expense of party harmony and only after the application of political pressure to an unprecedented degree. Here is something to think about. Is congress returning to form?

THE NEW FARM PLAN

Th plans of the New Deal for the agricultural adjustment act of 1937 have now been completed and presented to congress for adoption. They are said to combine features of the old Federal Farm Board, the old AAA and Secretary Wallace's proposed "ever normal granary". Perhaps the hope is that combination of a plan which proved uneconomic, and one which was unconstitutional, with a "new" theory will give us something workable. It is to be hoped that the architects of this new scheme will be more successful this time than they have been in the past.

The plan, it is said, provides for "parity" prices to farmers and controlled production. Just what is a parity price? It must be something arrived at by repealing the laws of supply and demand. And we have heard something of "controlled production", too. In the old AAA it had a prominent place and we were informed that the way to make the farmer rich and the consumer happy was to help them become "prosperous through scarcity". The less we raised the more money we were to make.

On the same day that the new plans were given publicity, and congress was shown what it had to do, news dispatches from Chicago carried word about the effects of one phase of controlled production. A million bushels of corn have been shipped to Chicago from the Argentine recently, the dispatches said, and the corn traders were considerably disturbed by the fact that 536,000 bushels had come in during the second week in May alone with other big consignments to follow. There have been other dispatches, too, recently, about the importation of meat products from various countries of the world, to say nothing of other commodities competing with the produce of the American farmer.

Here we may see some of the effects of "controlled production". They do not make especially pleasant reading when new American supplies come into market and prices are unduly depressed. Controlled production sounds good. Unfortunately we are unable to control the weather here or abroad, or the production of agricultural commodities in other countries not subject to the great knowledge of Secretary Wallace.

YOU CAN'T UNPACK

It has not been stressed, yet it inevitably follows, that if the president succeeds in his purpose to pack the Supreme Court no subsequent political uprising in protest can unpack the Court, except by comparatively tedious procedure.

Once a new place on the Supreme Court has been created, and filled, that member is there for life, subject only to impeachment for misbehavior. He cannot be otherwise removed; his position cannot be abolished by congress. The Constitution protects him. If the Court membership be increased now to 15, no power will rest in a succeeding congress to reduce the number by legislative enactment.—Portland enactment.

SERVICE BY SCIENCE

While the New Deal has pressed monopoly charges against the Mellon aluminum interests, the great $10,000,000 foundation established by the Mellon family in Pittsburgh has been quietly perfecting a quinine derivative, called hydroxy-ethyl-apocupreine, which furnishes medical science with a new and powerful weapon against all kinds of pneumonia. Conservatively administered to 200 human patients for whom former methods were regarded as inadequate, the new substance showed a reduction of 50 per cent in the average mortality from pneumonia in Pittsburgh, where the death rate from this disease has been much greater than in most other communities. We do not recall that the New Deal has rendered anything like a comparable service in any branch of science since 1933, although it has spent many, many times the amount represented by the Mellons' gift — indeed, many times the total life-time earnings of the Mellons. It may be a little hard to remember the name hydroxy-ethyl-apocupreine—but no harder than to understand why monopoly for the coal industry (under the Guffey-Vinson Act) is desirable, while aluminum monopoly is monstrous!—Ft. There seem to be about as many folks who think they would make good statesmen as there are fellows who think they would make good editors.

CHILTON COUNTY FISHERMEN PURCHASED 157 LICENSES

Jefferson County continued to lead the state in the purchase of resident fishing licenses, with reports received from probate judges for the months of March and April. Sportsmen of that county bought 2,712 licenses during that period. Mobile County was second with 627 licenses; Lauderdale was third with 547, and Montgomery was fourth with 496.

A total of 8,048 licenses were purchased in the two months, and that figure falls short of the estimate prepared by the conservation officials just prior to passage of the law this year. It had been expected that some 15,000 or 20,000 rod and reel fishermen would co-operate with the restocking program by taking out licenses.

Other counties in which the resident licenses are being bought in considerable numbers are: Morgan 228, Talladega 190, Tuscaloosa 160, Walker 147, Etowah 154, Baldwin 185, Colbert 330, Elmore 100, Madison 224, Tallapoosa 128, and Chilton 157.

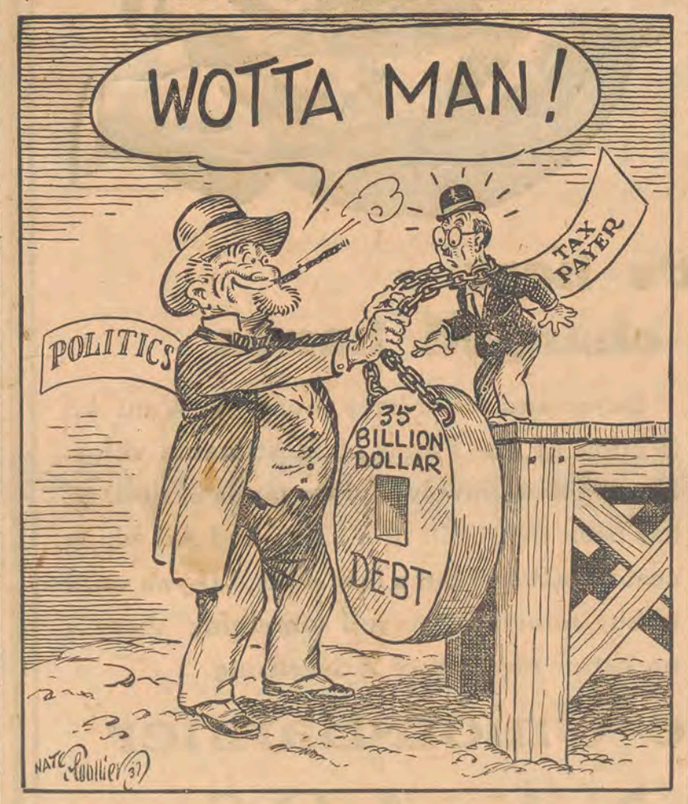
WILL JONES FILLING STATION BURNED FRIDAY NIGHT



The filling station and barbecue stand, belonging to Will Jones, and formerly known as Hillcrest Service Station, two miles north of Clanton, was completely destroyed by fire last Friday night about midnight. Sleeping in the place were Mr. Jones and Marvin Ellison, both of whom narrowly escaped getting scorched.

Nothing was saved except the oil drums which sat out in front of the station. The gas pump was considerably heated and scorched from the heat and flames, but nothing was heard from the quantity of gasoline stored in the tank below the pump.

It is thought that the fire originated from the barbecue pit inside the building. Young Ellison got his shoes burned up and had to go home in Beat 16, barefooted.

MISSION STUDY INSTITUTE PLANS

Again the W. M. U. of Chilton and Unity Associations are sponsoring a 3-day Mission Study Institute for our people. Again we wish to assure that we have planned many interesting and valuable things for the whole family, such as chalk talks by Miss Juliette Weeks, Mr. J. F. Plainfield, our interesting missionary from Tampa, Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Owens from Palestine, the Napier boys from China, and many others whom you will enjoy.

Now we ask you to do these three things:

First—Mark the date on the calendar, June 29, 30, and July 1, and don't let anything take place on those days to interfere with your coming. Begin now to make plans for those three days — all three of them.

Second—Plan at Sunday school to hire buses or cars to bring all who cannot have a conveyance of their own. Begin taking up collections next Sunday. Appoint a committee to arrange for the Institute.

Third—Pray that we plan and choose the faculty that God can best use. Pray that you and your church come in the right spirit for a blessing. See that your pastor comes.

I'll be looking for you.—Mrs. S. J. Ezell, director.

The Resettlement Administration, through the Alabama Rural Rehabilitation, recently purchased 7,200 acres of land in the bend of the Alabama River in Wilcox County. It is planned to divide the land into farms and sell them to negroes now living on them. "We plan to assist them in providing better living conditions," says Julian Brown, director.

STREET TAX IN ORDER

Chief of Police H. M. Simpson asks The Union-Banner to scatter the information that it is now time to pay street tax in the City of Clanton. STORES CLOSING AT 6:30

It appears that the stories and business houses agreeing to close their places of business at 6:30 every evening except Saturday are living up to their agreement, for which they are to be complimented. It is indeed hoped that they continue this practice.

The housewives and other buyers of the city can help out a lot in this direction. Make it a point to do your buying before 6:30 each evening, and thus help avoid the embarassment of causing your grocer or merchant to stay open after the closing time. The closing hour on Saturday nights is 9:00 o'clock.

BANKERS TOLD OF IMPENDING STATE CRISIS

Hayse Tucker Says Solution Must Be Worked Out By Next Legislature

Birmingham, May 28. — Alabama is approaching a political cross roads and the next governor and legislature must decide whether the state is to turn to the left or to the right.

This climatic picture, together with a comprehensive analysis of Alabama's "political ills", was before members of the Alabama Bankers Association today as their 45th annual convention neared a close.

It was the diagnosis of Hayse Tucker, Tuscaloosa auto dealer, bank director, and a leader of the anti-Graves bloc in the state Senate.

"I predict the next legislative session will see a whole avalanche of bills for fair trade practices, price fixing, regulation of wages and hours, and other forms of labor legislation," Sen. Tucker declared, adding:

"And I say with emphasis that in my opinion, the economic law of supply and demand, on which our system is founded, is just as much a natural law as is the law of gravity.

Neither the U. S. congress nor the Alabama legislature can deny this."

Sen. Tucker, who spoke at the bankers' opening business session at the Tutwiler, listed the question of "going left or going right" as one of seven basic problems facing Alabama's state government.

The others he listed as follows:

1. Need for reorganization of Alabama's "horse and buggy" system of local governments with a view to consolidating counties and thus cutting "overhead".

"No private business would last long which had to maintain 67 overheads."

2. Need for state-wide civil service.

"This would do away with our costly spoils system, keep state payrolls in reasonable bounds, make for greater personnel efficiency, and provide security for state employes."

3. Reform of Alabama's judiciary system to reduce expenses and expedite justice.

"Our present judicial procedure places emphasis on slow, costly delay instead of on swift justice."

4. Solution of the state's "perennial" school problem.

"The only solution is parity for education. The so-called minimum school program now in use violates local control and turns the schools over to a state constitution a budget act." program."

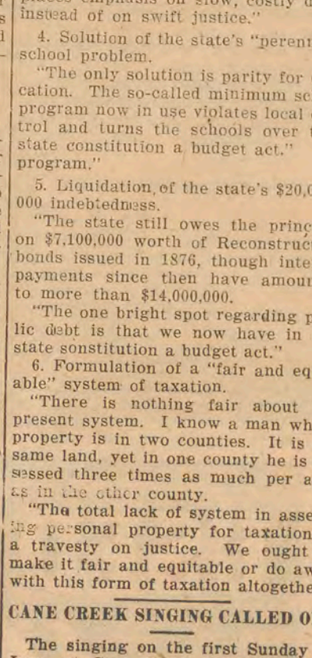
5. Liquidation of the state's $20,000,000 indebtedness.

"The state still owes the principal on $7,100,000 worth of Reconstruction bonds issued in 1876, though interest payments since then have amounted to more than $14,000,000.

"The one bright spot regarding public debt is that we now have in our state sonstitution a budget act."

6. Formulation of a "fair and equitable" system of taxation.

"There is nothing fair about the present system. I know a man whose property is in two counties. It is the same land, yet in one county he is assessed three times as much per acre as in the other county.



"The total lack of system in assessing personal property for taxation is a travesty on justice. We ought to make it fair and equitable or do away with this form of taxation altogether."

Rushing started for Sycamore, but the Kilowatts rifled him out in the 7th inning. Duke took over the mound duties, and allowed but one hit the rest of the way.

Duke led Sycamore at bat with 4 out of 5. "Mickey" Tatum got 3 for 4 to lead the Kilowatts. Alex Hayes got a freak home run in the 7th inning uprising. Holmes fired a homer over the right field wall for Sycamore.

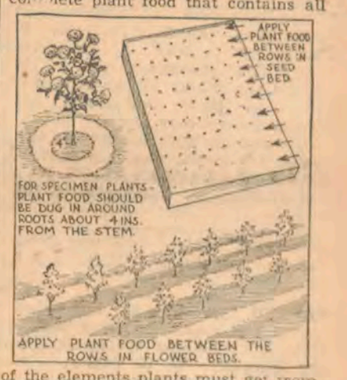
Most Beautiful Flowers are Grown From Plants Which are Well Fed



Regardless of their great variety, flowers have one characteristic in common. They desire a soil that is well prepared and one that contains plenty of plant food.

Before flowering plants can produce flowers, they must first build the necessary plant structure. A plant that is starved for any one of the fourteen essential elements of plant food is slow in reaching the stage where flowers are produced. Moreover, the flowers that are eventually produced are small in size and few in number.

Most of our soils have been depleted of much of their fertility, due to long periods of use and often of abuse. We cannot expect to grow large, beautiful flowers unless we feed the plants. In order to be sure to meet the deficiencies of your soil, it is advisable to use a scientifically balanced plant food that contains all of the plant food elements necessary and in their right proportions for maximum growth and beauty.

All types of flowering plants respond to a spring application of plant food, made at the rate of 4 pounds per hundred square feet; a second application of half this amount should be made when flower buds appear. Heavy feeding perennials should have 2 or 3 such feedings following the initial application.

Now that scientists have given us complete plant food that contains all of the elements plants must get from the soil, it's folly to trust our garden pleasure to chance. The proper use of plant food assures an abundance of all of the elements plants must get from the soil, available for their use.

BASEBALL GAMES THIS WEEK END

That baseball fans may know where to go for their entertainment over the week end, we are announcing the following games to be played in this vicinity:

Today (Thursday) at 3:30 the Chilton County High School meets Maplesville High on the local diamond in what should be a good game. The Tigers have come around in great style, the Maplesville team is said to be good, and a tight game is expected.

On Sunday the Lay Dam Kilowatts meet the Stockham Pipe Company team from Birmingham. Stockham is said to have one of the best clubs in the Birmingham city league, and the Kilowatts are not to be sneered at in any amateur competition. This affair should be a thriller.

Manager Sparrow Easterling of the Woco Peppers had nothing on his string in the way of a game for the week end.

For the benefit of those who like to see negro ball games, we have been asked to announce that the Clanton Black Sox (negro team) will play a team from Wetumpka here on the high school ground at 3:30 Friday afternoon.

ALL DAY SINGING

There will be an all day singing at Pleasant Hill church next Sunday, June 6th. Everybody has a hearty welcome. Come bring your song books and a well filled basket and spend the day with us. This is our annual singing and we are expecting some good singing.

AUTAUGA SINGING CONVENTION

The Autauga County Singing Convention was held at the Billingsley High School auditorium last Sunday, and brought to our community the third annual singing, which was filled with songs of joy, and afforded to our community a real inspiration in song and a real "how do you do".

We had the pleasure of hearing and associating with some real musical talent, such as the Titus, Tabernacle, White City, Selma, and other quartets the names of which we do not remember, and many outstanding directors, including our county chairman, Mr. Boone. This convention brought to us a Mr. Collier, from Eclectic, who lived in our community about 37 years ago, as well as others.

We could hardly mention anyone in particular without telling that Mr. H. G. Carter was on hand as usual, and that Judge Posey failed to be with us, on account of being out of town. We missed the judge! We must thank "Pop" Myers of Montgomery who brought along something to make us hear the singing better and enjoy it more. That instrument was simply marvelous.

We had representatives from Elmore, Tallapoosa, Coosa, Chilton, Shelby, Bibb, Perry, Dallas, and Montgomery counties, and we want these ladies and gentlemen to know we were glad to have them with us, and take this opportunity to invite them to come again.—E. B. Mills, Secretary.

GOVERNMENT AID ON MUNICIPAL POWER HALTED

Expansion Of TVA In Eight States Also Is Delayed By Supreme Court

Washington, — Two adverse decisions dealing directly with the government's power program were handed down Monday by the Supreme Court.

The government lost in its effort to prevent a trial before the Eastern Tennessee Federal District Court to determine whether the TVA could expand its power program in eight states.

In the second ruling, the high tribunal agreed to review a decision by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia refusing to enjoin the goverment from financing power plants from PWA and emergency relief funds.

This latter ruling means that arguments on the controversy will be heard by the court next October and a final decision delivered within a few weeks thereafter. The government had asked the court to refuse a review.

Secretary Ickes, the Public Works administrator, said such action would affect 54 public power projects, held up by litigation, for which the government had provided $51,000,000.

The litigation directly involved two utility concerns—the Alabama Power Company and the Iowa City Light & Power Company. They sought to prevent the government from supplying money to Iowa, and the following Alabama municipalities: Decatur, Sheffield, Tuscumbia, Hartselle, Guntersville and Russelville.

They contended that construction of competing municipal plants would drive the private utilities out of business and violated state's rights.

Montgomery Won In Hospital Fight

$1,000,000 Veterans Facility To Be Built Near Capital City

Washington, May 28. — The new general hospital for veterans to be built in Alabama will be located near Montgomery.

Announcement was made today of approval by President Roosevelt of a recommendation of the federal hospitalization board to this effect.

This ends a vigorous contest among 11 Alabama communities, including Birmingham, to get the new hospital. In this contest over the choice, the smaller communities lined up against both Montgomery and Birmingham at a public hearing held by the board several months ago.

A recommendation by the board was placed before President Roosevelt more than a month ago. Congressman Lister Hill, of the Second District, who has strongly urged claims of the Montgomery area, called at the White House last Friday and laid arguments before the president supporting the recommendations of the board.

Senators Black and Bankhead took no part in the struggle among the Alabama communities for the location, both urging that the sole consideration be the welfare of the veterans who are to be hospitalized in the institution.

It was Sen. Black who forced an agreement to build a new hospital in Alabama when a year ago a decision was made to locate in Tennessee a new hospital originally intended for both states.

The new general hospital will cost approximately $1,000,000, including cost of site. It will have 250 beds. Upon its completion, expected some time in 1938, the Tuscaloosa Veterans Hospital will be devoted exclusively to nervous cases.

Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, told Congressman Hill Wednesday he will send an engineer to select the exact site near Montgomery, of which some 14 have been offered, as soon as the amount of land necessary and other details have been determined.

Rep. Hill said when the hospital is complete, Alabama regional offices of the Veterans Administration will be moved to Montgomery from Tuscaloosa.

MRS. TRUETT OPERATED ON

Friends of Mrs. J. M. Truett regret it became necessary for her to undergo the ordeal of having her tonsils removed. The patient returned home from the Montgomery hospital on Friday and will soon be fully recovered.

Buford Truett, who has been attending Birmingham-Southern College is at home.

Mamie Truett who attends Hunting don College has returned home.

METHODIST MISSIONARY SOCIETY

On Thursday afternoon, May 27th, the Methodist Missionary Society of Jemison were hostesses at a silver tea at the home of Mrs. H. H. Denson.

The living room was beautifully decorated with white flowers in tall silver vases.

Mrs. H. H. Denson, president of the society, met the guests and directed them to the register, presided over by Mrs. W. S. Moore. The guests registered in a dainty book of white and silver. Near the register was a silver tea pot to receive the silver offerings.

From the register the guests were led to the dining room. The lace-covered table was centered with a silver bowl filled with sweet peas. At each end of the table silver candelabra held white lighted candles.

Mrs. A. C. Bratton directed the guests to the table, where they were served dainty chicken salad sandwiches, cookies, sandwich cakes, silvertip candy and iced tea. Mrs. Dezzie Littlejohn poured tea from a silver pot. A favor made of silver-leaf maple leaves and white phlox was placed on each plate.

Mrs. Susie Duffie, who was in charge of the program, presented piano numbers by Mrs. R. B. Johnson, songs by Mrs. Edward Glasscock, Mrs. R. B. Johnson, and Miss Mary James Patton, violin solos by Miss Mildred Jeffries, and readings by Miss Doris Jean Smith.

Fifty guests called between four and six o'clock, and were generous with their silver offerings.

NEW HARVESTER FOR CRIMSON CLOVER CONSTRUCTED

The senior vocational agriculture class of the Jemison High School, consisting largely of members of the Future Farmers of America recently constructed a harvester for crimson clover seed. The harvester was made at the request of Mr. W. L. Allen, who has an acre of the legume ready for harvesting.

The seed stripper is made on a hay rake frame, and consists of sharpened wooden fingers, one-fourth inch apart, which strip the seed from the stalk. There is a compartment at the rear to hold the seed.

The stripper works very effectively and Mr. Allen is very well satisfied with it. The class also derived some good practice in woodworking while making the harvester.

This field of crimson clover has been used as a demonstration plot by the vocational classes of the Jemison High School. In addition to inoculating the seed, the classes have visited the plot several times.

Mr. Denson, teacher of vocational agriculture in the Jemison High School thinks that crimson clover is one of our best legumes and advocates its planting in the community.

State's Legislators Face Challenge

Court Test Seen In Demand of Birmingham Man To Hold Up Warrants

Montgomery, May 29. — In a manner apparently predicating court action, a protest against employment of legislators in the various state departments is being filed in letters by J. J. Powers, Jr., 1525 Graymont Ave., Birmingham.

Powers has written State Comptroller Charles W. Lee and State Treasurer John W. Brandon reciting provisions of the Constitution of Alabama and protesting the payments of any salaries to legislators.

It was understood here also that the legislators named in the letters have been served notice by Powers.

His letter to Comptroller Lee under date of May 22 refers to "a large number of the present members of the Alabama state legislature who have been employed in various departments.

"Without attempting to give a complete list of such legislators who are now being employed in this manner, I will, for purposes of illustration, mention two legislators whom I have in mind: Sen. Forney Stephens, of Blount County, who is, I understand, employed by the State Tax Commission, and Rep. John C. Arnold, of Jefferson Sounty, who is employed by the Unemployment Compensation Commission of Alabama," the letter said in part.

Powers added that he had consulted attorneys who had advised him that such employment of legislators is in violation of the constitution.

"I therefore call upon you and demand that you desist from issuing any further warrants against the state treasurer of Alabama in favor of any member of the Alabama legislature, so long as he remains such, for his salary or remuneration for any employment or service rendered by him to any agency of or to any other department of the state government (other) than the legislative department, including the two gentlemen mentioned above," the letter read.

Powers set forth that he is a citizen and resident of the state, a qualified voter and a tax payer.

"This letter is written by me on my own behalf as such a citizen, voter and taxpayer of this state, on behalf of all other citizens, voters and tax payers of this state, and on behalf of the State of Alabama because of my firm belief that the practice described by me above is unlawful and contrary to the best interest of the State of Alabama and its citizens and tax payers, and because I believe it to be your duty to refuse to issue any more warrants for this purpose," the letter continued.

"If your views on this matter are contrary to mine, and if you feel that you are warranted and justified in continuing to issue these warrants in view of these circumstances, I should greatly appreciate receiving your reply and such comments as you care to make."

Lee on May 26 acknowledged receipt of the letter and suggested to Powers that "if you think I am violating the law in paying these members, you have a remedy in court."

The comptroller also called Powers' attention to the fact that the Montgomery County Grand Jury had made some investigation of the matter without finding any law violation.

Treasurer Brandon in effect gave the same reply.

Approximately 30 members of the two houses of the legislature, some of whom do not make even a pretense of working, are carried on the pay roll at salaries ranging from $125 to $250 a month plus expenses.

A beautiful necklace, valued at $100,000, is stolen from its owner, Mrs. Marlenburg.

Six people are in the room at the time the necklace disappears and each person has a motive for the crime.

LEVINE BROTHERS ARE REMODELING THEIR STORE

The enterprising establishment of Levine Bhothers is this week engaged in a through remodeling of their store. Nothing is going to be left like the old arrangement, but when you enter that place after this week, you will be greeted with an entirely diffirent arrangement of everything.

Dock and Sol say that "Necessity is the Mother of Invention," hence their decision to change up things. Since opening up their store less than a year ago, Levine Brothers have been greeted with a most satisfactory business at the hands of the trading public of Chilton County. It is in order that they may handle their greatly increased trade with more facility that the present changes are being made; and the public is assured of this better service when they get things re-arranged.

All items of goods of a kind are being placed in a department to itself, such as men's furnishings all put in one department, items for ladies in another, shoes in another and 5c and 10c novelties in another. In short, Messrs. Levine assure their friends that they will have the most complete department store in this vicinity when they finish their present re-modeling and re-decorating.

If you are an old customer of Levine's you cannot afford to pass up their store now; if you have not been trading some there, then you will want to pay them a visit. The Union-Banner is asked to remind you that "One always finds a friendly welcome at Levine's."

The school won the game on a wild pitch by Hartley, scoring Marcus from third. In the return game the team was riddled with injuries and lost 13 to 4. Williamson lost his first game here.

Thursday, C. C. H. S. routed Maplesville, 19 to 4. Easterling struct out 17 men in this game.

"THE PROGRESS OF VIRGINIA"

The only Republican newspaper in Virginia has made its appearance among the exchanges coming in to The Union-Banner, and it is a welcome visitor to one of the two Alabama fellow sufferers. (The other Alabama Republican paper is the DeKalb Times, of Fort Payne). But back to The Progress of Virginia. We have just received Volume IV No. 6.

Editorially this paper says: "The Progress of Virginia is the voice of over one hundred thousand people in Virginia who expressed themselves against the New Deal last fall. . . . . Now is the time of all times for believers in the G. O. P. to rally behind us as never before to help spread the good word. . . . . Let us by our united and earnest efforts give notice to the world that the Grand Old Party still stands and is powerful enough to visit punishment for corruption. . . . . We believe that we should stop chasing rainbows, that Congress should again assume legislative duty, and that government by executive orders should terminate. . . . . We are opposed to the use of federal funds for campaign purposes, that this spending spree should end. Let us boost the Republican cause to the sky. Vote the straight Republican ticket."

Editor A. L. Chocklett's pronouncements have the good old-time ring to them, and his paper will be welcomed into the field by advocates of good government everywhere. In these times when federal employes are still on the increase and government spending is continuing to mount, even after "the depression is whipped", we need lots of such outspoken men as A. L. Chocklett. The promulgation of such solid doctrine among our American citizenship is what is going to save the country from dictatorship and anarchy. This sound doctrine will run the money changers out of the temple at Washington, and will save the country from its present slow but certain drift toward Communism and chaos. Hurrah for The Progress of Virginia!

G. O. P. Increases Ranks In '38 Voting

Remodeling Of Executive Department Is Target Of Opposition

Washington, June 8. — Organized Republicans today are pushing the issue of White House power toward another election showdown with the hope of rank and file conservative Democratic and independent support in next year's congressional polling.

The question of grants of power to President Roosevelt or to agencies controlled by him is developing into a mayor issue in this session of Congress. The House of Representatives' Republican strategy committee has been hammering the grant-of-power nail for months. Its latest blow was protest against portions of Mr. Roosevelt's executive department reorganization program.

Chairman Roy O. Woodruff of the House Republican conference announced:

"United Republican opposition to those phases of President Roosevelt's reorganization plan, which would extend executive control over independent commissions of the Federal Government and abolish the office of comptroller-general was assured by adoption of two resolutions."

The Republicans complained that changes proposed in the comptroller-general's duties were a move toward "one-man government" because it would remove any check upon executive department spending until the money actually had been paid out. The comptroller-general now performs a pre-audit which has enabled him frequently to hold up proposed Administration expenditures, especially by the Public Works and Resettlement Administrations.

The grant-of-power issue extends far beyond the foregoing matters. Much of the opposition to reorganization of the judiciary arises indirectly from congressional reluctance to grant to Mr. Roosevelt unusual powers to expand membership of the Supreme Court.

Senate Democrats have been more active than Republicans in opposing Mr. Roosevelt's court bill. And some Senate Democrats are joining in Republican oposition to the New Deal wage and honors bill, the $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation and the national planning proposal to set up organizations similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority throughout the nation.

COOPERATING FARMERS PAID $9,891,506.18

Auburn, Ala.—Over $10,000,000 will be paid Alabama farmers for cooperating in the AAA program during 1936, said Walter L. Randolph, administrative officer in charge of the AAA program in Alabama, in announcing that a total of $9,891,506.18 has been paid cooperating producers to date, and that other payments are being made as rapidly as possible.

At the same time, Mr. Randolph reveals that some 250,000 farmers of the State cooperated in the program during 1936 and that about the same number have signed work sheets with a view of cooperating this year.

Robinson Springs

The Sunday school and prayer meeting of Robinson's Spring Church, are progressing nicely. Although there is room for improvement. We extend a hearty invitation to all who wish to come and be with us. The message which Rev. Cost brought to us Saturday night and Sunday, June 5 and 6, touched the hearts of many.

Communion service was held Sunday also; twenty-three took bread and wine and washed feet—a very lovely ceremony showing their love for their Savior, Jesus Christ. Preaching services are held every first and third Saturday and Sunday of each month; Sunday school and prayer services are held every Sunday and Sunday night. Sunday school at 10 a. m., and prayer service at 7:00 p.m.

We are planning for a revival this Summer. We haven't decided just what date it will be. We are hoping to have Rev. Dewey Robinson with us again during the revival. So every one begin praying for the revival. We have to pray it down, we certainly can't talk it up. Our country needs more revivals and prayers.

We had with us during the past services Bro. Cliffored Littleton, and many other visitors which we invite back with us again.

Mr. Grady Littleton of Clanton, and Miss Lessie Davis of Robinson's Spring, were married by Rev. Cost, Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Davis, Lessie's parents. They are both good workers in the church.

We received one new member into the church, Mr. Calvin Littleton, son of Mr. Sidney Littleton of Mitchell Dam. We extended the hand of Christian fellowshipto five members, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Littleton and son, Calvin, and daughter, Pauline, also to Mrs. Virgie Farrs.

BEST AGES FOR BREEDING HEIFERS GIVEN BY BURNS

Auburn, Ala.—"Calf club heifers should not be bred until they are from 15 to 18 months of age," advises F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service, in giving club members a few suggestions on how to make their calves produce 300 pounds or more of butterfat per year.

"Be sure and breed them to the best bull in the county, because you cannot afford to pay $50 to $75 for a good heifer and then breed her to a scrub bull," he writes club members of the State.

When on good pastures, bred heifers will need 4 or 5 pounds of a good grain mixture. Equal parts of cracked corn, ground oats, and wheat bran is an excellent mixture for this purpose.

"Be sure to provide all the roughage in the form of good legume hay," he concludes.

4-H WINNERS OF $500 COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS

A trip to Radio City, the mecca of all boys and girls, is part of the award which Daphne DeBruin of Fort Benton, Montana, and Billy Hale of Hixson, Tennessee, judged the outstanding 4-H boy and girl in last year's National 4-H Social Progress Program, will receive late in June.

Winners of $500 college scholarships for their work in this contest, which was sponsored by the Radio Corporation of America, they will receive certificates from David Sarnoff, RCA president, at a "Magic Key" broadcast from Radio City on Sunday, June 20.

Following this day they will spend two days in sightseeing in New York and meeting many new radio stars. They will be shown "behind the scenes" in the huge NBC studios and the Radio City Music Hall, and will also be heard in another special broadcast on Monday, June 21, on the Farm and Home Hour. Following their two exciting days at Radio Headquarters, they will go to Washington, D. C., to attend the National 4-H Camp.

The Social Progress Contest has been continued this year and 4-H clubs in forty states are now competing in it. The awards this year also include a trip to Radio City for a club leader and one member of the club, in addition to trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago and valuable radio prizes.

FAIRVIEW 4-H CLUB

Our Fairview Club met Monday, at 4 o'clock, at the schoolhouse, with nine members present. The club started with a game which we all enjoyed.

Mr. Ivey gave an interesting talk on the boll weevil, its origination and control.

Our attendance was better this time than last mnth. Let us try to make it better next meeting, which will be in June. Come and bring some one with you.

FUTURE FARMERS SIDEDRESSING COTTON

According to the Teachers of Vocational Agriculture at Isabella High School, the two-acre cotton demonstration being sponsored by the local Future Farmer Chapter has just been sidedressed with 200 pounds Chilean Nitrate of Soda per acre. Based on Experiment Station results this farm operation should take place just ahead of Squaring.

The Future Farmers have been sponsoring such demonstrations for several years and they have learned from experience that sidedressing pays good dividends. During the past three years the State F. F. A. Organization has conducted 165 cotton demonstrations in which they applied about 400 pounds 3-8-5 per acre before planting and sidedressed with 200 pounds Chilean nitrate. The average yield from the above ferterlizer without the nitrate sidedressing was 761 pounds of seed cotton per acre. The per acre yield with sidedressing 1074 pounds, giving a 313-pound increase.

These young farmers have learned that sidedressing is safe and practical. Less nitrogen before planting with a liberal sidedressing application insures better stands, less grass, cheaper chopping costs, less leaching and all-round better results.

An acre of cotton should receive for maximum yield and profit about 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen. This is equivalent to 200 to 250 pounds of Chilean nitrate. Therefore, the nitrogen in the before planting mixed goods plus that in the sidedressing should equal the amounts mentioned above.

Every farmer should keep an eye on these Future Farmer Cotton Demonstrations. These tests are valuable to the whole community. The demonstration is located on the farm of Mr. Span Jones.

MEAT ESSAY CONTEST

Two Alabama young people, James Powhatan of Tuscaloosa, and Miss Cleo Forsythe of Anniston, have just been announced as state champions in two national contests for high school students.

Mr. Powhatan is state winner in the second national meat poster contest and Miss Forsythe has been awarded first place in Alabama in the fourteenth national meat essay contest. Committees of prominent artists and home economics authorities selected the winners.

A total of 20,581 students from 1,017 high schools representing every state participated in these competitive events, according to the National Live Stock and Meat Board, sponsor of both contests.

Agricultural leaders of the South are urging farmers to plant cowpeas, soybeans, velvet beans, and other summer legume crops for hay production and for qualifying for full AAA payments in 1937.

Georgia has followed the example of Alabama in establishing a milk control board to stabilize milk prices in the state.

SIDEDRESS COTTON BEFORE THE SQUARES APPEAR

The soil is composed of three elements that are essential for vigorous growth of the cotton plant. These elements are nitrogen, phosphate and potash. Nitrogen is found commercially in complete fertilizers and in Chilean Nitrate of Soda.

To insure sturdy crop growth in cotton that has been fertilized with a small amount of nitrate it is essential that it be side-dressed with nitrate of soda in order for a profitable yield be made. Experiments conducted at the Auburn Experiment Station have proven this fact. Cotton being the basic cash crop for this section makes it very important that we make each acre yield its very best. Hence it is necessary that cotton receives at least 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre. In order to apply this amount of nitrogen it is necessary to apply 400 pounds of 3-8-5 fertilizer at planting and then sidedress with an additional 26 to 30 pounds of nitrogen. This can be applied by side-dressing with 80 to 125 pounds of Chilean Nitrate of Soda per acre.

For a good view of the contrast of cotton receiving 150 pounds of Chilean nitrate as side-dressing as compared with cotton receiving no nitrate visit the Chilean nitrate demonstration sponsored by the Isabella Chapter of Future Farmers. The demonstration is located about one-half mile east of the Isabella school on the farm of Mr. Span Jones.

AMERICA IS HEALTHIEST COUNTRY FOR LIVESTOCK

Auburn, Ala.—America is now the healthiest country in the world for livestock and farm animals—in fact, the toll of disease among animals is decreasing almost as rapidly as among human beings, according to a nationwide study by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

Foot and mouth disease, grave threat to cattle raisers a few years ago, have been entirely eradicated, the report discloses. No serious outbreaks of anthrax occurred in America last year, and tuberculosis is rapidly being brought under control.

Major credit for America's favorable showing compared with foreign livestock losses is given to the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry and American veterninarians. Last year government veterninarians made port-of-entry health inspections of nearly 500,000 cattle coming in from foreign countries, in addition to 43,000 swine, 9,000 sheep, and 30,000 horses. At the end of 1936 over six million herds of cattle containing 59,000,000 animals were under supervision for eradication of tuberculosis. Livestock authorities report substantial progress, too, in the control of Bang's disease.

Hog cholera still remains the American farmer's most deadly enemy, the report shows, with an annual loss estimated in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.00. Most of this loss could be prevented if farmers would have their herds vaccinated each spring, states the Foundation.

CAPITAL FOR CO-OP BANK INCREASED TO $7,000,000

Auburn, Ala.—The Farm Credit Administration has added a million dollars to the paid-in capital of the New Orleans Bank for Cooperatives, making the paid-in capital of the Bank total $7,000,000, reports the Farm Credit Administration to P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service. The paid-in capital is in addition to the capital subscribed by borrowing co-ops.

"This million dollar increase in capital was made necessary because of the rapid increase in the amount of loans made to farmer co-ops by the Bank in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, which comprise the fifth federal land bank district," said the official announcement.

CAN YOU TELL WHICH IS THE WATER HEATER?

TALKING about placing a water heater in a kitchen suggests to some people that you are recommending that their kitchens be "uglified" instead of beautified. But look at the above illustration! Nothing ugly about that kitchen, is there? And yet the water heater is there—next to the range. Where space permits, many women prefer to have the new square, flat-top type of electric water heater, because built table-high, it gives that much more working surface. (Oh, no, the electric water heater doesn't heat-up the kitchen!)

Electric water heaters are also made in the round type which cost a little less than the square type.

Don't Let Anybody Confuse You About the Operating Cost of the NEW TYPE Electric Water Heaters

Eight or 10 years ago electric water heaters were expensive to operate, because manufacturers had not discovered the BEST way to build them. But today, an electric water heater for the average family of 4 persons uses only 300 kilowatt hours a month, which come to you at the lowest rate.

While You Are Buying An Electric Range Ask About An Electric Water Heater Too!

You'll be surprised at the low price and easy terms. Any of the following makes of electric ranges or water heaters will give you satisfaction:

M-W — MONARCH — GENERAL ELECTRIC — PEMCO
MARION — L&H — STANDARD — ENTERPRISE — REX
GRAYBAR-CRAWFORD — ESTATE — KELVINATOR
PROSPERITY — WESTINGHOUSE — UNIVERSAL
SEPCO — HOTPOINT — HOFFMAN — HERCULES

Lesson for June 13

THE BROTHERLY LOVE OF JUDAH

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 44:18-34.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let brotherly love continue. Hebrews 13:1.
PRIMARY TOPIC — Benjamin's Big Brother.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Big Brothers.
INTERMEDIATE TOPIC—Loving as a Brother.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Self-Sacrifice in the Family.

The fundamental unit of society is the family. It is of more importance than the state, the church, and the social order of which it is a part. The breakdown of the home and the sacred relationships sustained between parents and children, or brothers and sisters, points to the destruction of society itself.

God established the family in the garden of Eden. His plan and purpose have never been changed, nor have his laws for the protection of the home, for the sanctity of marriage, for brotherly love, been set aside. Men and nations may devise other plans and follow the dictates of the flesh, but that road always leads to ruin.

The continuation of our story of the life of Joseph and his brethren brings before us today the filial and paternal love of Judah, and affords us an opportunity to stress true brotherly devotion. No one should fail to review the connection between the chapter before us and the lesson of last week. Joseph had been dealing with his brethren who had failed to recognize him as the one they had sold into captivity. He was bringing them kindly but definitely to that point of repentance at which he could show himself gracious to them. In doing so he had brought disaster upon them. Being happily on their way homeward with a new supply of food, they were overtaken and Benjamin, the beloved of Jacob, stands accused as a thief, and by their own words condemned to die.

In this crisis the mouths of the ten others are closed, but Judah, who had really saved the life of Joseph (Gen. 37:26, 27), stands forth to make an eloquent and pathetic appeal to Joseph. It presents him as a brother who is

I. Courageous

Easy rests the yoke of family life as long as all is joyful and prosperous. But when adversity strikes, when sorrow comes, or sickness, or sin, then the true test of devotion is at hand.

It was a brave and manly thing for Judah to stand before the one whom he knew only as the man who was "even as Pharaoh." The circumstances were all against him. He expected the flaming anger of the offended ruler. His brethren had collapsed in despair. It was one of those dark hours which come to every family when someone must demonstrate true love by being strong-hearted and steady.

II. Intelligent.

Crises call for more than a cheerful smile or an encouraging word, much as they do mean in such an hour. But we must be prepared by our close contact with our loved ones to speak and act with vigor and assurance.

The plea of Judah is a masterpiece of logic, argumentation, and appeal, demonstrating that Judah was not only well-informed about his family and its problems, but ready to use his knowledge skillfully and effectively.

III. Sacrificial.

One step deeper goes the devotion of this man to his father and his brother He has done no wrong that merits punishment, but evidently his brother has been guilty. Had he been of the spirit of Cain he would have said "Am I my brother's keeper?" and let him answer for himself. Why should he suffer for another? Why should he allow himself to be imprisoned in a strange land to save his father from sorrow and his brother from what seemed to be the just reward for his deeds?

Thus reasons the man of the world, but such is not the language of love. "Let thy servant abide instead of the lad as a bondsman"—so speaks the true brother. And this is but a faint prefiguring of the One "who sticketh closer than a brother," who "though he was rich, yet for your sakes became poor that ye through his poverty might be rich" (Prov. 18:24; II Cor. 8:9).

Let us improve the opportunity to review our relations with our own family, to determine whether there is aught that we in intelligent and courageous self-sacrifice should do for our own.

An Aim in Life

We want an aim that can never grow vile, and which cannot disappoint our hope. There is but one such on earth, and it is that of being like God. He who strives after union with perfect love must grow out of selfishness, and his success is secured in the omnipotent holiness of God.

A Guide to Paradise

The life of a faithful Christian man is a guide to paradise.—Thos. a Kempis.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

"Be not deceived. God is not mocked." I used to wonder why that little expression "God is not mocked" was put by the Holy Spirit in this verse of Scripture. I believe I understand it now. Here is the law. "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." This law holds in the physical, intellectual, and spiritual world. Plant an acorn and you raise an oak. Sow wheat and you reap wheat. Plant cotton and you raise cotton. That is the law. "Everything brought forth after its kind," according to Genesis. Evolution is a lie. Evolution denies the law set forth in the statement, "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap", and the further statement that "everything brought forth after its kind." "God is not mocked." When He makes a statement, it is true. His law cannot be set aside. No man will ever be able to look up to God and say, "We beat the game that You said we could not beat."

"He that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption." What is flesh? Flesh is nature in the rough. It is man as he is. It is the natural man. Man in hisnatural state cannot produce anything except corruption. Unregenerated man may build civilization, but the civilization he builds will die because the flesh produces corruption. Unregenerated man says, "The flesh does not produce corruption. I will build schools and colleges and educate people." All right, go ahead and do it, but when you build your colleges and libraries and educational institutions with God crowded out, your students will come out drunkards, atheists, homebreakers, and with a torch of anarchy in their hands with which to set the world on fire. The flesh produces corruption. "In the flesh there dwells no good thing." "That which is born of flesh is flesh." It is nothing else, and flesh is corrupt and produces after its kind. We have now a brotherhood of labor in America. I believe in labor and labor organizatins, but labor organizations built upon the flesh will produce corruption. It is not far from pure democracy to socialism, and it is only a step from socialism to anarchy. In Adam, the human race died. Jesus Christ is the Head of the now creation. In Christ we are "new creatures". The words "new creatures" literally mean "new creation." Christian men and women belong to a "new creation." Unregenerated men belong to the old creation. They died in Adam. The old creation can produce nothing but corruption. He that soweth to the flesh reaps what he sws. The law holds. "God is not mocked."

LIFE-PREPARATION FOR YOUTH

For a half-century The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, founded by D. L. Moody in 1886, has provided instruction and training without cost for tuition to earnest minded young men and women who desire either to be better informed workers in home churches, or to devote their lives to full-time Christian service in some specialized field. Ministers, evangelists, missionaries on home and foreign fields, Christian education directors, gospel song directors for churches and Sunday schools, and many other types of workers, have received their training at this school. More than 2,000 students were enrolled in the Day and Evening Schools during the past year. Moody-trained missionaries numbering above 1,400 are now laboring under different church boards in some seventy countries.

The Bible ranks first in all Institute courses, and around it are gathered such subjects as Sunday School Administration, Gospel Music, Public Speaking, Home Economics, Manual Training, and also Homiletics, Apologetics, Greek, Hebrew, and medical subjects for missionary work.

There are three terms a year—Fall, Winter and Summer. An illustrated catalogue will be mailed on request. Address, 153 Institute Place, Chicago.

SUPERVISOR BLAMES COURT FOR BAD ROAD CONDITIONS

Supervisor T. J. Arledge makes public the following letter to the Judge of Probate and Commissioners Court, in which he explains why some repairs have not been made on roads of the county:

"June 5, 1937.

"Hon. J. Lee Smith, Chairman,
"Hon. Commissioners Court,
"City.
"Gentlemen:

"Reference is made to my various and numerous letters during the past three months relative to the slow and non-delivery of lumber and materials so necessary to repairs and replacement of those bridges which were destroyed or badly damaged in the early part of April by those heavy rains and and floods. And I again respectfully call your attention to the following lumber requisitions issued by this office, and which have not been filled at this date:

"District No. 1 — Order No. 884, dated March 24, 5733 feet, for Killingsworth; Order No. 936, dated May 1, 6426 feet, for Littlefield; Order No. 950, dated May 3, 1280 feet, for Langston.

"District No. 2 — Order No. 970, dated May 13, 7065 feet, for Thorsby bridge; Order No. 971, dated May 13, 2280 feet, for Thorsby bridge.

"District No. 3 — Order No. 882, dated March 23, 2500 feet, for Motley; Order No. 924, dated April 26, 5119 feet, for Motley; Order No. 925, dated March 26, 6096 feet, for Motley; Order No. 932, dated April 28, 5520 feet, for Motley.

"District No. 4 — Order No. 847, dated March 2, 4083 feet, for Strock; Order No. 921, dated April 24, 6496 feet, for Strock (part delivered); Order No. 975, dated May 15, 5892 feet, for Strock; Order No. 976, dated May 15, 6452 feet, for Clanton yard.

Total, 64,942 feet.

"The U. S. mail carriers and various citizens are constantly calling on this department for repairs to bridges and water boxes throughout the county. Some of these have been completely out of commission since the heavy floods more than ten weeks ago, and unless the Commissioners Court make purchase and see that this material is delivered, we cannot make such needed repairs. May we have your co-operation?

"Respectfully,
"THOMAS J. ARLEDGE,
"Road Supervisor.

TAX-PAYERS ASSOCIATION OF ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala. June 5.—Alabama consumers and taxpayers were united under the banner of the Consumers-Taxpayers Association of Alabama today to combat high taxes and obtain economy in government, organization of the association having been perfected at two meetings Thursday, one in Montgomery and the other at Birmingham.

Jeff P. Beeland, of Greenville, chairman of the old Consumers Anti-Sales Tax Association, was named president. Other officers elected included: J. W. Johnson, Langdale, and E. M. Megginson, Mobile, vice-presidents; B. C. Apperson, Birmingham, secretary; Dr. C. C. Thomas, Selma, treasurer; J. F. McGraw, Vincent, and T. L. Clay, Tarrant, co-chairmen of the finance committee. An executive committee was named, to be composed of the officers and the following additional members: L. M. West, Opp; N. L. Walker, Montgomery, Frank Holcombe, Oneonta; G. W. Ponder, Cullman; H. C. Bloxom, Wetumpka; Myer Blumberg, Dothan; Sigmund Weil, Montgomery; W. A. Webber, Montgomery; Paul Tarrant, Birmingham; A. G. Harden, Wetumpka; and R. M. Wilbanks, Gadsden. Directors were named from each county in the state.

Election of officials and adoption of new by-laws and a constitution widening the scope of the association so as to include all classes of consumers and taxpayers and to demand and fight for "rigid economy instead of willful waste in government and no more taxes" followed a stirring address by Frank B. Arnold, president of the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers Leagues to organize. Mr. Arnold, speaking at both the Montgomery and Birmingham meetings, urged an "unselfish organization dedicated to combatting high taxes and to obtain economy in government."

ANNUAL COUNTY WIDE RALLY

The annual county wide rally was held Saturday, May 29, at the high school in Clanton. This is the big occasion of the year, and is always looked forward to with pleasure.

Mrs. Anna Phalin, County Council President, presided, and the meeting was opened with the song, "America".

Judge J. Lee Smith welcomed the club women and their guests, and assured them that he and his board of commissioners were behind their program of work 100 per cent.

Bob Goode, from the State Department of Agriculture, was the outstanding speaker of the afternoon. His address was on the "Possibilities of Alabama and the South, and the part the rural people will play in this development." This was one of the finest speeches ever given our rural women.

Miss Helen Kennedy, foods specialist of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, stressed leadership development of the club women, after asking the leaders that each and every one put forth every effort in making their club a success, which will strengthen their clubs and themselves individually. She awarded leadership certificates to each of the leaders having attended three-fourths of the leadership schools and assisted with these demonstrations in their own clubs. The leaders who won these certificates were as follows:

Mesdames Harry Anderson, Russell R. Sutley, A. B. Jones, J. D. Williams, John Moore, W. E. Broadhead, D. G. Baker, Morris Keen, W. A. Adams, J. M. Roper, G. W. Sansom, A. T. Ryan, C. S. Howard, Tom Littlejohn, H. M. Kelley, and E. J. Driver.

The Minooka Club won first place on attendance and new members. Each of their ilub members were given a combination hot pan lifter and can opener.

The Sardis Club won second place. Each of their members were given fruit juice extractors.

About 300 people attended the rally.

Miss Paula Arledge and mother were in Birmingham Saturday.

JACOB'S LADDER DEPICTED AT MULBERRY SUNDAY SCHOOL

On Sunday, May 30, at Mulberry Baptist Sunday school, Mrs. Frances McCary told her class about Jacob's Ladder, using a pretty and impressive illustration.

A large chart, with a drawing of a ladder, on paper, was posted up before the class. On the right side-piece of the ladder were the words "Christ Ascending", and on the left "Christ Descending". Beginning at the bottom and going up, the rungs of the ladder were named: First rung—Faith, Hebrew 11:6; second rung—Repentance, Luke 13:3; third rung—New Birth, John 3:5; fourth rung—Baptism, John 3:5; fifth—Prayer, Luke 18:1 and Thes. 5:17; sixth—Obedience, Matthew 7:21; seventh—Sanctification, Thes. 4:3 and John 17:17; eighht—Good Works, Matthew 25:34,35,36. The top or ninth rung of the ladder bore the one word, "Love", the reference being taken from John 15:12 and I Cor. 13.

A most impressive lecture was given on the different parts of the ladder by the teacher, a fine discourse being woven around all of the words and phrases depicted on the chart. All of the classes of the Mulberry Sunday school were permitted to listen in on the lecture given by Mrs. McCary to her class—the older ladies of the school.

FACTS FROM THE RECORD

Written By
F. G. STEPHENS
Publisher of
The Southern Democrat, Oneonta

The sales tax law enacted by the 1936-1937 special session of the legislature provides for the distribution of the net proceeds from the operation of this law as follows:

Replacement in the public school fund of the 3-mill constitutional levy for schools and in the general fund of the 1-mill levy for Confederate pensions, and the 2½ mills for general purposes lost to these funds by the exemption of homesteads. After this has been taken care of, three-fourths of the remainder is placed to the credit of our Special Educational Trust Fund; one-fourth of the net receipts is to go to the counties. All counties share equally in half the funds set aside for the counties, and the other half is distributed on a population basis.

The collections for March and part of April have been distributed by the Comptroller. That [illegible] cial Educational Trust Fund is being paid out to the teachers, and warrants are being sent to the counties for their share of the receipts.

The law earmarks the counties' part of the funds derived from this source for public welfare, health, and extension service. It does not specify how it is to be divided among these three departments. This is left to the Commissioners Court or Board of Revenue. The law says it must be used exclusively for full time health service, in cooperation with the State Board of Health and the federal government; for public welfare in cooperation with the State Department of Public Welfare and the federal government; and for the extension service in cooperation with the Alabama Extension Service and the federal government.

For the month of March and part of April the counties are getting as their share, $78,602.49. Chilton County's part of this sum was $886.85.

Mrs. Hugh Foshee returned last week from a visit to relatives in Louisiana.

LIME SPRINGS

There will be an all day service at Lime Springs church the second Sunday, June 13. Jimmie Dubose will speak in the morning, and Bro. Bass in the afternoon. Everyone has a special invitation to come and enjoy the day.

ALABAMA POWER COMPANY EMPLOYEES' ASSOCIATION

Alabama Power Company Employees' Association, for the past two years the sole and majority bargaining agency recognized by the Company, announces the following officers after the election June 3, at Birmingham: Robert Klein, General Chairman; Cecil E. Lyle, Secretary; W. Howard Williams, Treasurer.

According to General Chairman Klein, Alabama Power Company Employees' Association is not a so-called "company union" and never has been. It is a voluntary organization of employees supported solely by dues from its membership. The purpose of the organization is to deal with the company not only on matters of hours, wages and working conditions, but on matters pertaining to insurance, eafety and general welfare of employees as well.

Early this year the Association negotiated a mutually acceptable contract dealing with hours, wages, seniority rights with the company. All employees of the company, excepting those with the authority to hire and discharge employees, enjoy the benefits of this contract, regardless of whether they are members of the Association or not. Chairman Klein stated, "While there have been some difference of opinion regarding some of the matters we have presented to the Company for discussion, our negotiating committees have always been met in a friendly and open-minded manner. The Company has made many concessions. We have made a few. We have found "big stick" methods unnecessary.

ATTACK OF JITTERS

Judging from the attack of jitters from which Ambassador Dodd is suffering, it is perhaps as well that the holiday season is at hand. A reasonable rest is indicated for him, perhaps in the quiet of his cottage in the North Carolina hills where the solace of a few well chosen works on history—ancient history preferably—he may regain his customary equanimity.

For the ambassador has been imagining things. He is reported as having sent a letter to several senators, warning that an American revolution, financed by an unknown billionaire, is in the making. Apparently he is troubled by rumors of disaffection in the ranks of the Democratic party, a thing which could contribute to his perturbation. He writes:

"If the party breaks up, the 80 per cent anti-Democratic press may do what the 80 per cent pro-slavery press did in the South in 1830 and 1860. There are individuals of great wealth who wish a dictatorship and are ready to help a Huey Long. There are politicians, some in the Senate, I have heard, who think they may come into power like that of the European dictators in Moscow, Berlin, and Rome."

The atmosphere of Nazi Germany cannot but be trying on scholarly constitutions. It would be highly unfair of the State Department to keep a man of Mr. Dodd's temperament too long on the job without giving him suitable opportunities for recuperating his shattered nervous energy in the bracing air of his own country.—New York Sun.

Sen. Robinson, Democratic floor leader, tells his colleagues that they will have to reduce governmental expenses or impose new taxes. Everyone is entitled to a guess as to which course will be followed, and having guessed, can start digging down in his pocket.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The old fashioned man who used to pray each day for his daily bread now wants it delivered sliced and wrapped in cellophane.

SOMETHING WRONG

In spite of the ballyhoo about the return of prosperity and the singing of the happy days that are here agin, some people have been puzzled over the fact that government relief is now costing several times as much as it did in 1933, the worst of the depression years, and that state relief has grown measurably during the same time. They are inclined to wonder, on occasion, especially when they see the figures on the rise of relief cost and see that the president is asking for a billion and a half next year, just what is the matter.

Several reasons have been advanced for this situation. John C. Gebhardt, director of the National Economy League, who says that relief is now costing the government eight times as much as it did in 1933, asserts that the prinipal cause of this rise in expenditure is the "embarking upon costly relief work experiments". He believes that the WPA has raised rather than lowered the cost of relief to states and communities, so that the smaller units of government are now spending about twice what they did in 1933.

Mr. Gebhardt says that his survey of the situation indicates the WPA has not worked out as intended. In fact he declares there are reports from various localities that persons in need of relief have been unable to get employment on WPA projects, or to get relief from local units of government. Continuing, Mr. Gebhardt says:

"For five years we have treated unemployment as an emergency problem. During that time the federal government has spent $9,500,000,000 for relief of all kinds, while state and local governments have spent over $2,000,000,000.

"If to these totals we add federal and state outlays of $4,500,000,000 for emergency public works, we reach the staggering total of $16,000,000,000 spent either to relieve distress or to prevent unemployment. Of this vast expenditure we, as a nation, have derived real benefits; destitution and suffering have been relieved and many public works of permanent value have been created.

"But the time has now come to formulate a permanent policy of relief. With a national debt of over $35,000,000,000, of which $19,000,000,000 has been accumulated within seven years, the revamping of costly relief and work relief programs can no longer be postponed."

As a remedy the director of the National Economy League suggests that the WPA be abandoned and a cooperative system be set up under which state and national government would share equally in relief costs.

No matter what one may think of any specific remedy, a study of the figures for relief must convince even the most enthusiastic New Dealer that the time to apply a real remedy is at hand. Relief seems to be becoming a permanent national institution. If we keep up the pace on useless or inefficiently executed projects the time may come when we shall have absorbed not all the potential general taxes of the country, but a considerable portion of the social security collections as well.

The president on returning North said that the New Deal would continue to seek to make farming a profitable occupation. Fine! We suspected that when we noted the flood of corn that is coming into the country from the farms of Argentine. This makes farming profitable for the alien farmers.

The reason they increase the horse power of automobiles each year is because it is necessary to pull against taxes as well as gravity.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

The message of the president to congress recommending minimum wage and maximum hour laws for workers engaged in business in interstate commerce, has set the country to thinking about these social and economic problems again. While there are still a few people who believe that too much leisure, like enforced idleness, is a bad thing for the individual, it can be stated that the American people generally approve of reasonable hours and good wages. The high standard of wages in the United States has been pointed to with pride in our political platforms for more than a century.

Nevertheless, the questions now confronting congress require a little serious thinking. Shorter hours and higher wages mean an increased cost of living, and this in turn makes for consumer resistance and less business, fewer jobs and more relief and taxes. But aside from this, say that it can be overcome, is a more serious issue. Our wages are higher and our hours shorter now than in the other countries of the world, which have lower standards of living and cheaper costs of production even now. To increase this competing advantage on the part of the alien nations will require a tariff measuring the difference in the cost of production at home or abroad—this at a time when in the face of higher production costs we are already facing the danger of loss of our own markets through Secretary Hull's reciprocal tariff treaties. Let us be sure that in seeking to help our own people socially and economically we do not create a harvest for the importers, and more jobs for the wage earners abroad.

The average American, when he reads of 30- or 40-hour weeks and minimum wages for workers in businesses engaged in interstate commerce is apt to regard the subject as an academic issue so far as he is concerned, as he is not impressed usually with the prospect of higher living costs and consequent loss of business. They seem too far in the future.

In his own little business or on his farm he seems not directly affected by activities regulated by congress through its interstate commerce powers. But one point to be kept in mind is that enactment of federal legislation on this subject will naturally be followed by state legislation along parallel lines to regulate the workers not affected by interstate commerce so far as their jobs are concerned.

Now the average man must know that if his employes in the store or the little mill or on the farm can only work on a short week at a minimum wage, he must curtail his labor expense wherever possible, with the result that he will make a desperate effort to get along with fewer workers, or clerks, or farm hands, as the case may be, if a lessening in business should make it necessary for him to trim expenses. Take, for example, the man whose wife keeps one servant to help with the house work. If, through state legislation, patterned after federal enactments, this servant should be limited to a 30- or 40-hour week at a minimum wage, it is very likely that his wife would try to get along with less help or no help. The result would not be conducive to jobs or prosperity on the part of the servants.

Here is certainly no argument for long hours or poor pay. But it does advance the possibility that when we are inclined "to try anything once", to ride the chariot of experimentation to a new prosperity, we ought to map the road very carefully lest we drive not to the end of the rainbow but into another depression. Of course some folks tell us that another depression is impossible. But that is what they told us early in 1929.

Sanitary facilities provided by American industry have made us the largest consumer of water in the world. Paris uses 47 gallons per person a day, London 43, Berlin 38, Amsterdam 30, but in New York the consumption of water per person is 142 gallons per day.

KILOWATTS 5—STOCKHAM 1

The Lay Dam Kilowatts came back to strong form Sunday, after a bad let-down Thursday, and defeated the highly touted Stockham team of Birmingham, 5 to 1.

The Stockham club presented an imposing array of left-handed swingers, and Lefty Whitaker took his chance to get out of his system one of the best games he has pitched this season. While walking six and striking out only four, his wrong-side slants kept the Stockham batters completely bottled with men on bases; Whitaker allowed only four scattered hits.

The visitors scored their run in the fourth on Whitaker's error, an infield out, and Snyder's long single. In the ninth. Jowers went safe on Hayes' error, stole second, and scored on Rancont's single, but Jowers was in too big a hurry to get home, missing third base, and the ball game was over.

For the Kilowatts, Alex Hayes, Tatum and Whitaker led with a pair of hits each, one of Hayes' going for a triple. In all, the home boys rapped out 12 hits off Jim Alley and Vinson. "Mickey" Tatum continued his phenomenal hitting streak; once considered one of the weakest hitters on the Club, Tatum has suddenly started to swinging his war club lustily, blasting out base hits consistently.

PEPPERS LOST TO MIGNON LAST SATURDAY, SCORE 4-1

The Woco Peppers went to Sylacauga last Saturday and lost to the Mignon Millers by a count of 4 to 1, after trouncing them at Maplesville a few days before 20 to 4.

The Peppers gathered a total of nine hits off Mims, while Ellison gave up 13. Captain Sparrow Easterling and Ellison led the peppers with two hits each. And incidentally, the Sparrow fell off the top limb of the Pepper Stalk and lost his season batting average of 1.000; he got two for three. Up to this time the Pepper skipper had four safeties for as many times at the plate.

Moates, Lanster, A. Henderson, Dawson and Lee shared the batting honors for Mignon, with a pair each.

TALLASSEE 7—KILOWATTS 1

Playing far off form, the Lay Dam Kilowatts lost to the Tallassee team at Lay Dam last Sunday, 7 to 1.

"Spot" Knowles kept the Kilowatts eating out of his hand all the way up until the ninth inning, when with two away, Tatum singled and Whitaker shot a triple over the dump in left center for the lone run. Marcus popped to short to stop the rally.

Alex Hayes started on the mound for Lay Dam, and the opposing team batted around in the first inning, registering six hits and three runs; the bases were jammed when Knowles struck out to end this hectic first inning. The visitors kept pecking away at Hayes, however, adding two more runs. In the sixth Hayes gave way to Turner, who in turn gave over to Ellison, with the visitors scoring another pair.

Due to loss of the official score card a full account of this game could not be secured.

CARROLL RE-UNION

On Sunday, May 30, the children and relatives of Mrs. N. G. Carroll gathered at her home to celebrate their fourth annual reunion. The children and grandchildren all being present, it was a day of rejoicing among the families.

At noon a bountiful dinner was spread on tables under the beautiful shade trees. This was a part of the day to be appreciated and long remembered by each one.

There were a few relatives absent on account of sickness, and they were missed. We hope to meet next year with no one absent.

Those present were: Mrs. N. G. Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

BIRMINGHAM - SOUTHERN NEWS

A $25,000 check presented in person by Mr. Erskine Ramsay to President Guy E. Snavely was a fitting climax to the graduation exercises of the largest class in the history of Birmingham-Southern College. Following a brief speech of acceptance Dr. Snavely led the large assembly tothe former Science Hall where the unveiling of the newest sculptural work made the dedication of "Erskine Ramsay Hall" the finel gesture of appreciation by Birmingham citizens of what President Snavely had meant to the College and to the State during his 16 years residence here.

Immediately after the Commenceent exercises Dr. Snavely left by airplane for New York where he assumed his duties as Executive-Secretary of the Association of American Colleges.

World consumption of American cotton for the season ending July 31 this year is expected to exceed the 1936-37 United States crop by close to 1,000,000 bales, reports the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

MINERAL SPRINGS

The church workers of this community has planted three acres of cotton for the purpose of the up-keep of the church. The day has been set for Friday, June 11, to work the cotton out. Everybody that is interested be sure and be there on that day.—M. Gore.

THOMAS DIXON HALL

The death angel visited the home of Mrs. T. D. Hall on Friday morning, May 28, and bore the spirit of her loving husband away. He was feeling well that morning and went out to work in his garden early. He came back in a few minutes complaining with his heart. Within an hour God saw fit to take him away. He was sick only a few minutes.

Mr. Hall was an ardent Christian, and a most loyal citizen to his community. He was greatly loved by all who knew him. He never made friends to lose, but always kept them.

Mr. Hall came to Birmingham from Louisiana while a young man. There he met Miss Dee Youngblood, whom he later married. They lived there for several years, then moved to Chilton County, where they lived about 16 years. He always made a host of friends weherever he lived. Mr. and Mrs. Hall had been married 31 years, one month and 28 days. It had often been said that no one had ever visited in a more pleasant Christian home. Everyone liked to visi tthere. A most touching incident is related by the family when they found his glasses, his pipe, and all his credentials right where he left them. Mr. Hall and his family moved to Sylacauga in 1933, and there he made a number of good friends.

He leaves his widow; three daughters—Mrs. Green Dorminey, Misses Eustene Hall and Zalia Hall of Sylacauga; one son—Elbert Hall of Ensley; three grandchildren; two sisters—Mrs. D. J. Atkinson and Mrs. D. G. Dungan of Ensley; one brother—Fred Hall, who is in T. C. I. hospital; and a host of friends and relatives.

Funreal services were held at Union Grove, Rev. Lowery officiating, assisted by Rev. Carroll and Rev. Berkstresser; Service Funeral Home in charge. Acting pallbearers were Percy Robinson, Pink Martin, Gus Glasscock, Pate Arledge, Ben Kelley White, and Ed Robinson. The floral offerings were beautiful.

If skim milk is available, heifers should be fed one to two gallons each per day until they are six or eight months old, advises F. W. Burns, livestock specialist of the Alabama Extension Service.

The sale of fertilizer tags by the Department of Agriculture last year amounted to $141,570. It will be much larger this year.

MINOOKA HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

The Minooka Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. W. E. Broadhead, May 27, with 18 members and one visitor present.

Meeting was called to order promptly by the president; after roll call a short talk on the Farm Bureau was given by the chairman, Mrs. Myrtle Virgin.

Articles made of sacks were displayed and Roy Roberts won first on the table, a scarf of dark green and tan. Some of the most beautiful were taken to Clanton and displayed at the Club rally.

The leaders gave a demonstration in salad making. Four beautiful and delicious salads were made.

We were much pleased to have with us our former county agent, Mr. C. E. Stapp, who gave an interesting talk on "Adverse Criticism as opposed to Constructive Criticism," cooperation, etc., ending, by request of the Farm Bureau chairman, with a short history of the Farm Bureau, its purposes and achievements.

The sum of $1.19 was collected for the treasury.

A delicious salad course was served by the hostess, assisted by leaders.

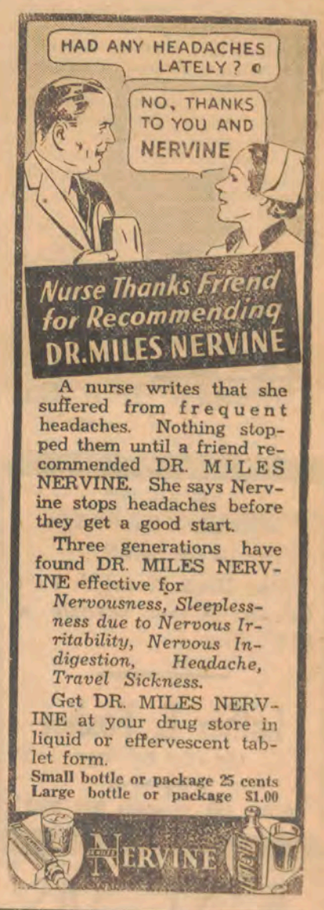
Quite a number of Minooka Club members attended the rally at Clanton Saturday, May 29, and carried away first prize for attendance and new members during the year.

A nice can opener was presented to each member of the Club, for which we thank the county council and all others who were instrumental in giving the prizes.—Myrtle Virgin, reporter.

PRIZES TO BE AWARDED IN THE DEEP SEA RODEO

An imposing array of expensive prizes, donated by nationally known fishing tackle manufactuurers, will be awarded to deep sea anglers at the close of Alabama's ninth annual fishing rodeo August 9, 10 and 11 at Ft. Gaines, on historic Dauphin Island in Mobile Bay. Rods, reels, lines, lures, subscriptions to sporting magazines, an outboard motor, and dozens of other valuable articles are now accumulating with the rodeo committee.

Last year more than a score of individual prizes were awarded, several of them consisting of rod, rell and line, or a complete deep sea fishing outfit. The actual cost of many of these prizes exceeds the entire amount a contestant expends on the 3-day outing.



The new rodeo folder has just been issued by the association. It contains pictures and full information about the rodeo. A copy may be obtained by writing the Deep Sea Rodeo Association at Mobile, or the Conservation Department. Already registrations have begun to come in from all over the country. A new feature this year will be the operation of a ferry from Cedar Point to Ft. Gaines, providing regular transportation to and from the mainland to rodeo headquarters. Passenger schedules are contemplated every two hours or less.

The State of Alabama is divided into 35 senatorial districts; nine of these districts are composed of three counties each, 14 have two counties each, and 12 of them have only one county each.

Man Placed In Jail For Stealing A Mule

Special Deputy Sheriff Velpo Mims, of Mars Hill community, last week end made for himself quite a record for chasing down a burglar. According to Mr. Mims, the story goes like this:

A mule was stolen from Mr. J. N. Ervin of Free Springs in north Chilton Thursday night of last week about 10:30 o'clock. The culprit seemed to have taken out of Mr. Ervin's lot first a wild mule which he could not handle very well, so he brought that mule back and swapped him for a tamer one. This mule was taken away, led and ridden around in circles, up and down branches, across creeks, and even across one river. In all, Deputy Mims reports that he trailed and tracked the mule about 150 miles.

Finally, just after the mule had been ridden across a ford in Cahaba River near Green Pond in Bibb County, the burglar and his captive were overtaken early Saturday morning. The culprit proved to be Frank Thompson, about 44 years old, who said that he lived at Brookwood, Ala.

The man was immediately placed under arrest, brought to Clanton by Deputy Mims, and placed in jail. The charge made against him was burglary and grand larceny.

DANCE AT CITY HALL

This dance will begin at 9 o'clock and continue until —? Admission will be $1 plus state tax.

In the capacity of representative of the General Wildlife Federation, Com. I. T. Quinn, of Alabama, attended a meeting Sunday, June 13, at Hot Springs, Ark., of the Arkansas Wildlife Federation. Com. Quinn was asked to represent the national organization by Carl D. Shoemaker, secretary-general of the Federation, at Washington, D. C. The Arkansas meeting was timed to coincide with an annual fishing contest sponsored by the city of Hot Springs. Election of officers and a gathering of leading Arkansas sportsmen conservationists marked the meeting.

Two Good Baseball Games For Week End

Two good baseball games are on the sport menu for this week end. On Thursday Lay Dam's Kilowatts and the Woco Peppers will resume their "cat and mouse" series, with the Peppers determined to take the Kilowatts in tow. Manager Sparrow Easterling says he intends to beat Lay Dam if he has to import the Yankees to do it. It should be a grand fight. This game will be played on the high school field in Clanton, beginning at 3:30 o'clock sharp!

The Kilowatts tangle with the Homewood team on Sunday at Lay Dam. Homewood usually puts out a good team, and advance notices say this year's team is up to par. This, too, should be a good game.

If you like baseball — don't miss these two!

WILL TEACH SINGING SCHOOL AT THORSBY STARTING JULY 5th

Beginning on Monday morning, July 5, Prof. L. T. Grant will teach a singing school at Thorsby at the public school building. Sessions will be held each morning from 7:30 o'clock until 12 M.

Anyone, young and old, who wishes to equip themselves with a better knowledge of music, singing and composition, should arrange to go to this 18-day singing school. Prof. Grant will be glad to furnish all information about the school to prospective students. He urges that all who can arrange to attend the first day and stay with it until the close. Uninterrupted attendance is necessary for the best results to be obtained from the school.

JUDGE L. H. REYNOLDS WILL SPEAK AT JEMISON

Judge L. H. Reynolds will speak on "Prohibition" at the Jemison Baptist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock. Everybody has a cordial invitation to hear Judge Reynolds on this, the leading question of the day. Judge Reynolds has been in the fight against whiskey for the past half a centure, and he is an authority on the question. Don't fail to hear him.

"RED INK"

Only three times in 17 years has the State Convict Department gone "into the red".

First, deficits resulting from taking convicts out of the coal mines forced the use of red ink in 1922-23. Second, the first Graves administration ran up a deficit in the department of $837,509, although it inherited a surplus of $70,578.97.

Red ink was used for the third time last week when Chairman C. B. Rogers' annual report revealed a convict department deficit of approximately $227,000. (The previous administration had wiped out the first Graves deficit and turned over the department with its finances in the black to the tune of $282,141.61).

Commenting last week on these "cold facts from the record books", the Selma Times-Journal said: "Now it is up to the people to decide whether or not they want more of this deficit-creator, in person or by proxy. It is not too soon to think seriously upon it."—Alabama Magazine.

APRIL BIRTHS AND DEATHS

There were 29 deaths and 46 births in Chilton County during April, the monthly report of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health reveals. The county's death rate for the month was 13.6 per 1,000, and its birth rate 21.6 per 1,000 population.

The April death for the state as a whole was 11.9 per 1,000 population, as compared with 14.2 per 1,000 population for March. Its April birth rate was 21.1 per 1,000 population, while its March birth rate was 22.1 per 1,000 population. The state's April deaths totaled 2,807 and its births for that month numbered 4,998.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING

An important Sunday School meeting for all the Sunday Schools of the Unity and Chilton county associations, will be held at the Clanton Baptist church next Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Miss VonHagen of the Sunday School Board, Nashville, and a State worker will be present.

All pastors superintendents and officers of Sunday Schools are urged to come. Miss VonHagen is a specialist in the Extension Department of Sunday School work. Our associations are very backward in this important phase of the work, and we should do something about this important work.

Pastors and superintendents are asked to announce the meeting in all Sunday Schools next Sunday, and appoint some one to attend.—S. J. Ezell.

Prominent Aviators Will Be At Airport Dedication

Clanton and Chilton County To Get Splendid Advertising From Greatest Event In All Our History

10,000 PEOPLE EXPECTED TO ATTEND

Dr. V. J. Gragg anounces that a number of prominent visitors will be at Clanton's airport dedication July 3rd and 4th.

Definite arrangements have been made by the entertainment committee to have a loud speaker arrangement to broadcast the band music, announcements, speaking, Etc. Negotiations are under way to have the Avondale band here to furnish the music, but definite announcement will be made later.

Ample parking space will be provided for automobiles. There will be state highway patrolmen in sufficient numbers to look after the traffic. There is almost certain to be a crowd of between 10,000 and 15,000 people here for the two days activities.

The program for the two days activities is fast taking on concrete form, and more and more attention is being centered on the dedication ceremonies from all over the county and adjourning counties.

The fine advertising for our city and county, city especially, coming from this great event cannot be overlooked. It is going to be the greatest thing Clanton has ever had. The merchants and business men will benefit from it, because of the great throngs of people it will bring to the city from far and near. The city of Clanton will benefit, because the eyes of the entire State of Alabama will be turned toward Clanton. We can afford to put much into the dedication program, because we are expecting and will receive much wholesome advertising from it.

Following are some of the notable fliers and air fans, who will be present and take part in the airport dedication here July 3rd and 4th:

GLENN MESSER

Mr. Glenn E. Messer is one of the early birds in commercial aviation, having started his flying career in 1911 at Bay City, Michigan. His first plane had a top speed of 48 miles per hour. During the World War he received a commission at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas. He came to Birmingham in 1920, and since then has engaged in carring pasengers, taught a flying school, designed planes, Etc. Since 1934 Mr. Messer has been operating the Glenn E. Messer Company at Birmingham Municipal Airport, doing charter service, passenger carrying, and student instruction.

HARRY KING

Starting his first flight training with the Aero Club of Alabama in 1929, he completed with a transport license at Birmingham Airport under Captain John M. Donaldson. He is noted as a repair shop operator, and has government recognition in this work. He has also operated a flying school—in fact, he is in this work at the present time. He will take part in Clanton's airport dedication.

MAJOR HENRY L. BADHAM, JR.

One of the outstanding features of the dedication program will be the six planes of the 106th Observation Squadron, 31st Division Aviation, Alabama National Guard. The organization consists of 28 officers and 84 enlisted men, and is commanded by Major Henry L. Badham, Jr.

MR. AND MRS. ODELL GARRISON

These two people will occupy an important and interesting part on the programs here on July 3rd and 4th. Both Mr. and Mrs. Garrison are highly experienced flyers. Mr. Garrison was one of the first private plane owners in Birmingham. He was the first flying deputy sheriff in Alabama, having been commissioned in Selma in 1931. While in this capacity Mr. Garrison carried an insane person from Selma to Bryce's Hospital in Tuscaloosa.

STEADHAM ACKER

Steadham, Acker, manager of Birmingham Airport, is one of the outstanding aeronautical figures of the United States. Mr. Acker has graciously consented to lend his assistance in putting over the program at Clanton's airport dedication.

SHALL WE CHANGE THE SUPREME COURT?

(Questions and Answers by Women's Constitutional Committee of Alabama)

Q. What is the President's plan regarding the Supreme Court?

A. He proposes to add an additional judge for each one now on the Supreme bench over 70 years of age, the total number of judges not to exceed 15, which means adding six new judges now.

Q. What are the objections to this proposal?

A. It sets a dangerous precedent, for while Mr. Roosevelt might never abuse it, a less conscientious man, having this precedent, might make changes so radical as to destroy representative government in America.

Q. Does this proposal result in too much power in the hands of one man?

A. To quote Mr. Roosevelt himself: "More power than a good man wants, and much more power than a bad man should have".

Q. Why is the independence of your Supreme Court desirable?

A. The Supreme Court must be independent in order to render fearless and impartial decisions. It was for this reason that the judiciary was appointed for life, and thus made independent of the President, the Congress, or the people.

Q. What happens when any one of the three branches of government—judicial, executive or legislative—is made subservient to any other?

A. Democratic form of government ceases to exist.

Q. If democracy disappears, what takes its place?

A. Anarchy or dictatorship.

Q. Why is a dictatorship not desirable?

A. Because it abolishes your rights guaranteed you by the Constitution—the rights of life, liberty and property.

JUDGE SMITH REFUTES CHARGES MADE BY SUPERVISOR ARLEDGE

Commissioners Court Denies Charges of Supervisor as to Court Being Responsible For Bad Condition of County's Roads

Following is a letter written by Judge J. Lee Smith to Road Supervisor T. J. Arledge, relative to charges made last week by Mr. Arledge that the Court was responsible for the bad condition of the roads:

"Clanton, Ala., June 10, 1937.

"Hon. T. J. Arledge,
"Road Supervisor,
"Clanton, Ala.
"Dear Sir:

"I have noticed an article in The Union-Banner of June 10th, headed, "Supervisor Blames Court For Bad Road Conditions". I, being a member of the Court of County Commissioners, wish to deny the charge as to being responsible for the bad conditions of our roads.

"I have approved all requisitions made by your office except your request in 1936 for approximately $30,000 worth of machinery. You knew at the time that there were not sufficient funds in the treasury to pay for same. I believe that you will agree with me that I have given you and your office 100 per cent cooperation in the working and maintenance of roads, and inasmuch as you have attempted to place the blame on the Commissioners Court for the bad road conditions, I am sure you will agree with me that the citizens and taxpayers of our county should be properly informed as to who is responsible.

"Therefore, I feel that it will only be fair to all concerned that we have a meeting of the taxpayers of our county at an early date at the court house, so that each side can present his side of the question. I am willing for the citizens to place the blame where it belongs, inasmuch as they pay the operating expenses of our county. I shall be glad to explain to the people the deplorable condition, and the great handicap the Commissioners Court is laboring under in connection with the roads of our county.

"Please advise me if it is agreeable with you to have the meeting and at what date you can be present.

"Yours very truly,
"J. LEE SMITH,
"Chairman of Commissioners Court".

Judge Smith said Monday that at that time he had had no reply from the Road Supervisor regarding the matter of a public discussion of the road question.

COMMISSIONERS ANXIOUS TO DISCUSS ROAD MATTERS

In an interview with a representative of The Union-Banner Monday, Judge J. Lee Smith and the members of the Commissioners Court expressed themselves as being willing and anxious to meet with Mr. T. J. Arledge, the county road supervisor, or any of his vouched representatives, and have an open, public discussion of the cause of the bad condition of the roads of Chilton County.

The members of the Court say they feel that the road business of the county is the tax payers' business, and that the people who pay the bills have a right to know where, how, and why their money is spent. It is with this in view that they suggest having a public meeting and a public discussion of both sides of the question.

Elsewhere in this issue of The Union-Banner is published a letter from Judge Smith and the Commissioners regarding charges made recently by the road supervisor, in which a public discussion is suggested.

BOY KNOCKED DOWN BY AUTOMOBILE MONDAY NOON

Sonny Craig, age about nine years, was knocked down by an automobile near Burdett's service station about noon Monday. The boy was hit by a car from Indiana going south. He was carried to Central Alabama Hospital by Martin's ambulance, where it was found that he was not seriously injured. There were no bones broken—only several places of skin knocked off.

Sonny is the son of Mrs. Craig, supervisor of the relief sewing room at the courthouse.

INJURED MAN BROUGHT TO CENTRAL ALABAMA HOSPITAL

Martin's ambulance went up to the crossing above Calera Saturday night about 10:30 o'clock and brought to Central Alabama Hospital Jack Watts, who was said to be suffering serious injuries—mostly internal. It was reported that Watts had fallen from the overhead bridge and had landed on the railroad 35 feet below, while he and some other boys and girls were congregated on the viaduct.

He was said to be in a rather serious condition, suffering with bad internal injuries, when he was checked in at the hospital. He did not completely regain consciousness until some time later.

FIVE BEFORE MAYOR JONES

Five law fracture cases came up before Mayor C. Fenn Jones Monday of this week. They were: Ed Goodgame, public drunkenness, continued to June 21st; B. E. Mims, public drunkenness, continued to June 21st; James Davis, col., disorderly conduct, continued to June 21st; Millie Verner, col., disorderly conduct, continued to June 21st; W. H. Rhodes, driving while intoxicated, continued to June 19th.

Wrecked Stolen Car Just South of Clanton

Martin's ambulance was called to a wrecked car and an injured boy three miles below Clanton Tuesday morning about 3:30 o'clock. The boy was brought to Central Alabama Hospital, where medical aid was administered. There were only minor injuries.

Check-up on the tag number showed that the boy was not the owner, and further checking and telephoning revealed that the car had been stolen in Birmingham about 2 o'clock. City officers then called the hospital, asking for the boy to be retained there, but he had just paid off the hospital bill, gathered up his clothes and pulled out. A telephone call from Montgomery about 6 o'clock said that the boy was in jail in Montgomery.

The boy gave his name at the hospital as B. G. Godwin. The car was a blue Ford V-8, and was brought in by the wrecker from Hayes Chevrolet Co. The car was said to have run into a telegraph pole, and the pole fell across the top of the car; it was almost demolished.

DIXIE MELODIES QUARTET TO BE AT STANTON NEXT SUNDAY

The Union-Banner has been informed that the Dixie Melodies, quartet from Reform and Tuscaloosa, will be a special feature at the Stanton singing all day next Sunday. This is a famous band of singers who have been putting on concerts extensively in the western part of this state and in Mississippi. They often broadcast over the radio from Tuscaloosa, and are said to be very fine singers.

Members of the quartet are: A. G. Holliman, tenor; R. S. Holliman, basso; Mrs. A. G. Holliman, alto; Earl Holliman, soprano. Miss Rosa Findley accompanies at the piano. They have been singing together for nearly three years, but this is the first time they have come to this part of the so; Mrs. A. G. Holliman, alto; Earl singing school teachers, and the other members are very talented musicians. These people will be glad to meet and get acquainted with the singers of Chilton County.

Stolen Crowson Car Found In Columbus

Mr. Willie Crowson has gotten back his car which, it is alleged, was stolen three weeks ago by his hired man, Jimmy DeLaney. The car, a Chevrolet coach, was taken away from Clanton on Sunday night, May 30th, about midnight. It was first noticed in Columbus, Ga., parked on the street, about 8 o'clock the following Monday morning. Through insurance agencies, Mr. Crowson was notified of the whereabouts of the stolen car on Tuesday, June 8th. There was nothing wrong with the car except one flat tire and an empty gas tank.

Mr. Crowson says that he has heard nothing of either DeLaney or the $156 which he is alleged to have taken with him from Mr. Crowson.

CLANTON BAPTIST IN REVIVAL

The revival at the Clanton Baptist church began last Sunday. Dr. Frank J. Flemming and singer Fred Bond, are ministering to large and appreciative audiences each day at 10:30, and each evening at 7:45. Dr. Flemming is one of the best preachers that Clanton has ever had the privilege of hearing. Fred Bond is a singer that knows how to sing and how to get people to sing. There is a fine spirit in the meeting, and those who are missing the services are missing a real treat in spiritual things.

The pastor urges upon the public not to miss these services. You are most urgently invited to come. We want you to come and hear. It will do you good.—S. J. Ezell.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

SOIL CONSERVATION NEWS

The control of erosion is bringing about a new standard of values for farm crops in the Soil Conservation Service area near Clanton, according to Mr. James H. Wood, superintendent.

The old system of farming which put the production of clean tilled crops ahead of everything else, left only a small proportion of the farm acreage for pasture and hay crops, and thus further increased the amount of land needed for clean tilled crops to supply the feed needs.

The legumes, small grains, and other close growing crops which were given little consideration are now being grown much more extensively since their value for erosion control has been fully realized. By providing additional feed they have reduced the acreage required for other feed crops.

The growing of legumes, which increases the fertility of the soil as well as aids in erosion control, has made it possible to further reduce the acreage devoted to clean tilled crops, by increasing the yields of these crops grown in rotation with the legumes.

The steeper clopes can thus be devoted to pasture, hay crops and trees, which control erosion, and the more level areas, where erosion is less severe, can be devoted to the production of clean tilled crops.

Conservation farming thus does not mean that yields of cash crops be reduced, but rather that erosion resisting crops be given an opportunity to provide a well rounded farm program, Mr. Wood said.

Lesson for June 20

JOSEPH'S KINDNESS TO HIS KINDRED

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 46:1-7, 28-30; 50: 24-26.

GOLDEN TEXT—And be ye kind one to another, tenderhearted, forgiving one another, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven you. Ephesians 4:32.

PRIMARY TOPIC—When Joseph Saw His Father Again.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Joseph Honoring His Father.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Kindness in the Family.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Mutual Helpfulness in the Family.

A happy ending—yes! Modern writers may look with disfavor on it (and perhaps rightly so, for most of them write about life apart from fellowship with God) but to those who trust God and who seek his will, the story of life has a bright and joyful conclusion.

But someone may object that the lesson for today closes with the last words of the book of Genesis, which are "a coffin in Egypt." Is that a happy ending? It is, because even that forbidding emblem of death pointed in faith toward the day when God was to keep his promise and bring his people into the promised land.

Our lesson centers around the last of our patriarchs, Joseph, and his kindness to his father and his family. The highest official in the land of Egypt (save for Pharaoh himself) proves his inherent greatness by forgetting position and power, except as they enable him to be a loving son and brother. We consider his kindness as it is centered in his devotion to God, shown forth in thoughtful provision for others, expressed in affectionate deeds, and as it imparted itself by faith to others.

I. Founded on Fellowship (Gen. 46:1-4).

Jacob, having heard from his sons that Joseph was in Egypt, and having thus learned of their treachery and deceit, came at last to realize that his beloved Joseph is alive. He has been urged to go to Egypt but he hesitates about leaving Canaan. How shall he know whether to believe in and respond to Joseph's invitation. He asks God, the One who is the joy and center of Joseph's life, and of Jacob's as well, and he has his answer.

Real family life and devotion center around a mutual fellowship with God. There may be little else to share, but "little is much when God is in it." Has God been honored in your home? Has He been made the center of family life? These are vital questions.

II. Evidenced by Thoughtfulness (vv. 5-7).

Joseph had arranged for Pharaoh to send wagons to bring his aged father, the women, and the little ones.

Many men in our day glory in being "hard-boiled." In their relentless pursuit of fame and riches they ignore and even trample on the members of their own families. They are ashamed of the broken bodies, the humble apparel, the uneducated speech of their parents, fearing lest their new-found friends in the circle of wealth and position may ridicule them. There is a crude but apt expression that describes such persons as "stuffed shirts."

III. Manifested in Love (vv. 28-30).

Joseph kissed his father whom he had gone out to meet, and held him close and wept for joy. Again he showed his true greatness by being his natural self.

We are not all demonstrative in showing our affection. Furthermore, we would not plead for more of that sham public expression of affection which is so distasteful to right-thinking people. But may we not suggest that there is room for improvement in our loving consideration for our kindred. Let us ask ourselves how long it is since we did something to show that we really love our mother, our father, or a faithful wife, son, or daughter? How long is it since you wrote home to mother, or went home to visit?

IV. Imparted by Faith (50:24-26).

Jacob had been gathered to his fathers; time had gone on its relentless way, and Joseph is about to die. What shall be the heritage to his family? Money, property, position? No; he leaves them something infinitely more valuable—a forward-looking faith that will keep alive in their hearts the expectation that God will in due season bring them into their own land. Joseph had spent most of his years in Egypt, he had attained high position and great honor, but he never lost his vision of the promised land. He imparts to them by faith that hope.

Hope

Ah, what thoughtful, loving provision God hath made for us in the gift of the angel of Hope! There is no path so dark but we may see the glimmer of her shining wings, no misfortune so heavy but her helpful hand is outstretched to us, and her smile still ready to cheer and encourage us.

The Natural Tone

Peace is the natural tone of a well-regulated mind at one with itself.—Humboldt.

Above is a section cut from a smooth, worn tire, which shows the non-skid protection worn off. Tires in this condition are more liable to punctures, blowouts and skidding.

Above is section cut from a new Firestone Tire. Note the thick non-skid protection against skidding, blowouts and punctures. Come in today, see by actual demonstration.

County Farm Agent's Notes

Compiled by J. W. Fant, County Farm Demonstration Agent for Chilton County

PROGRAM LAUNCHED FOR INCREASING LIVESTOCK

Auburn. — Believing that livestock is essential to soil fertility, more efficient utilization of labor, and to sounder farm finances, the Alabama Extension Service is launching an educational program to help farmers expand and improve the livestock industry in Alabama.

The program was inaugurated at a meeting of farmers and farm leaders here this week in which it was agreed that Alabama should at least produce sufficient livestock and livestock products for supplying the needs of the state.

"Our major agricultural problem is to develop throughout Alabama a balanced system of agriculture which is sound in practice and in economics," it was said. "That which we have had and now have, in the main, is inefficient in the use of labor, destructive in the use of soil, and unsound in financial practices.

"We in the Extension Service are certain that to use our farm labor more efficitntly, to protect our soils and to avoid unsound financial practices, we must have more livestock on our farms. In some areas this may be beef cattle, in others hogs, in others dairy cattle, and in others sheep, with poultry general throughout the state. Combinations of these domestic animals, along with crops, will work on many farms.

"In promoting our livestock program, we shall not in any sense discredit or depreciate cotton, but magnify it and protect it because it fits nicely into the combination of crops and livestock under Alabama conditions."

ALABAMA HANDLES 8 MILLION POUNDS OF FARM SURPLUSES

Auburn.—More than 8,000,000 pounds of surplus farm products, removed from price depressed markets in order to increase returns to producers, were distributed iin Alabama during 1936 to needy and unemployed persons certified to the relief rolls of this state, reports the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation to P. O. Davis, director, Alabama Extension Service.

Surplus Irish potatoes are at present being purchased by the corporation in Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana in an effort to assist producers by improving marketing conditions and prices.

The surplus products were removed from the markets by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation, in cooperation with the various state relief agencies, in connection with programs designed to improve returns to producers, encourage domestic consumption of agricultural commodities, and prevent waste. The products were distributed to state relief agencies by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation.

The commodities distributed in Alabama included the following: canned beef 240,000 pounds, dry skim milk 120,150 pounds, flour 1,534,982 pounds, enriched oat cereal 40,000 pounds, rolled oats 200,000 pounds, fresh apples 3,090,000 pounds, dried beans 50,000 pounds, cabbage 276,738 pounds, citrous fruit 1,026,000 pounds, onions 382,500 pounds, dried peas 300,060 pounds, and dried prunes 840,000 pounds. Also distributed in Alabama were 4,144 boxes of pears, 24,073 gallons of syrup, 290,087 pounds of raw cotton, and 46,072 yards of cotton ticking.

MORE QUAIL HATCHED

Almost exactly on schedule, nearly 300 baby quail peeped out into the world for the first time at the state operated game farm in Autauga County last week. They trepresented the initial batch of eggs placed in the incubator the middle of May. The percentage of loss in the hatching process was small, and officials are well pleased with the initial effort. As the 75 hens continue to lay eggs throughout the summer, they will be placed in the incubator and it is hoped that 2,000 young birds will be produced this year.

Three hundred proposals of marriage have been received by Shirley Joy Ellis of Seattle, chosen "Miss Western America" in a contest sponsored by the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

Approximately 300 Cherokee County farmers have this year planted red Otootan beans for producing planting seed.

COUNTIES SLOW IN FISH RESTOCKING

Only 20 counties out of 67 in Alabama have submitted lake and stream surveys for the 1937 fish restocking program, according to the records of the Conservation Department. Apparently the 47 counties that have failed to compile surveys do not desire fish from state hatcheries, or the gathering of the information is not progressing as rapidly as it should. County conservation organizations will direct the restocking this year after surveys are made to determine suitability of streams and lakes.

Counties that have failed to send in surveys are: Autauga, Barbour, Bibb, Bullock, Chambers, Cherokee, Chilton, Choctaw, Clarke, Clay, Cleburne, Conecuh, Coasa, Covington, Crenshaw, Cullman, Dale, Dallas, DeKalb, Elmore, Escambia, Fayette, Franklin, Geneva, Greene, Hale, Henry, Houston, Lamar, Lawrence, Lee, Limestone, Lowndes, Marengo, Mobile, Montgomery, Monroe, Morgan, Perry, Pike, Randolph, Shelby, St. Clair, Sumter, Talladega, Walker, and Washington.

FEDERAL LAND BANK LOANS UP

More land bank loans to farmers were made by the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans during the first five months of this year than were made by the bank during all of last year, according to the report received by Mr. D. W. Waite, Secretary-Treasurer of the Chilton County Farm Loan Association.

"There are many interesting angles to the report sent out by the bank," Mr. Waite said. "The record shows that of all applications received during the first five months of last year 58 per cent were approved for loans, while up to the end of may this year the bank has approved 86 per cent. This indicates a much healthier financial condition of the individual farmers who are seeking credit this year. Another important and encouraging fact is that the number of applications for loans to be used for the purchase of farms has increased 29 per cent over last year. These facts reflect the improvement which has taken place in agriculture during the last several years in the fifth Land Bank district."

PAYING ICE AND LIGHT BILLS BY MONEY SAVED AT HOME

Auburn. — With the money saved by baking its own bread, a Baldwin County farm family has installed electric lights and a radio, and is paying the light and ice bills.

As told by Mary Guarisco, a leading 4-H Club girl of Daphne, her family is saving $14.40 every seven weeks by making its own bread. She gives figures showing that the family used to spend 40 cents per day, or $19.60 each seven weeks for bread. The flour, lard, yeast, sugar and salt used in making the bread at home is now costing only $5.20 for each seven-week period.

"Because of the amount saved, we were able to have electric lights put in, and also get a radio. Our light bill being on an average of $3.50 and ice $6.30 for seven weeks, we are able to pay for both with the saving. In summer we have $4.60 left over and in winter when we do not buy ice we have $10.90 left after paying the light and ice bills."

HOME AGENTS STUDY RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

Auburn. — Alabama's home demonstration agents attended a three day rural electrification short course here this week and were given facts by electrical authorities on how they can be of maximum service in helping farmers and rural women in making efficient use of electricity.

They were told by J. B. Wilson, extension agricultural engineer, that the Alabama Extension Service is stressing the following four-point electrical program:

1—Adequate wiring of home.

2—Providing running water in the home.

3—Equipping home with washing machine or refrigerator.

4—Developing ways of saving and making money on the farm with electricity.

NO ADVERTISEMENT IS BIG ENOUGH TO TELL WHAT 20,000 WOMEN ARE SAYING

EVEN a whole newspaper wouldn't be big enough to tell you what all of the 20,000 Alabama women who have electric ranges in their kitchens are saying about them. And if we printed what they are saying, perhaps you wouldn't believe it, because, with few exceptions, they say, "FINE!"

Why Do They Like Their Electric Ranges?

Recently an electric range manufacturer determined to learn just why women DO like electric ranges. So he had his representatives ask thousands of women who already had electric ranges. He found almost as many reasons for liking an electric range as there were owners of them. But the Chief Reasons For Liking An Electric Range The Women Visited Gave Were:

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because it's easier to keep pots and pans clean."

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because the whole kitchen's easier to keep clean."

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because it costs so little to operate."

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because it seems that when I started cooking electrically, food tasted better."

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because it doesn't heat up the kitchen so much."

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because I like to be up-to-date."

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because it gives me more time to do the things I like to do—and I spend less time in the kitchen."

"I LIKE MY ELECTRIC RANGE because it gives my cook time to help me with other things."

Once again I am able to sleep in my own home, and wish to offer my humble thanks to everyone who helped me and my family in any manner. If I can ever be of any assistance to any of you, do not hesitate to call upon me. —Will Kennedy (col).

IS THERE ANY SUCH ANIMAL?

A Mississippi editor pulls this one, and it is good:

"What is it that has two legs in front, two behind, two on each side, and one on each corner; it looks somewhat like a horse, eats oats, grass, hay, corn, or most anything else a horse eats; can see as well out of one end as the other?" Is there any such animal, and if so, what is it?

In case you cannot think up the correct answer, it will be published in The Union-Banner next week.

Unity-Chilton Mission Institute To Be Held

Sessions to Convene at the Clanton Baptist Church; Run For Three Days, June 29, 30, July 1

We are sure that all Christians are anxious that we make a success of anything so far-reaching in its consequences for good as the Mission Institute. It is far too large a thing for a few people to manage. If it is to be what it ought to be, every good person in Chilton County will have a part in it.

First, we will all be praying. Second, we will attend ourselves, if possible, and make plans for others to attend; we will be especially careful that our pastor comes. We will plan ways for all our children and young people to come, because the speakers and the teachers are unusually fine.

Mr. Roswell Owens, missionary from Palestine, is one of the most interesting speakers. Mr. Charles Leek, who teaches the adults the book on Palestine, has visited that country, and is one of the best teachers to be had anywhere.

Dr. Plainfield, who teaches the other adult book, is an outstanding man in our Southern Baptist Convention. He brings the key addresses at Ridgecrest during Home Mission Week, which is evidence that he is the finest that can be gotten.

Mrs. Sam Heath, Y. W. A. teacher, is Eastern District Young People's Leader. She is a young woman of fine training, great charm, and unusual ability. Miss Margaret Hall, young scholarship girl from Eastern District, and Miss Lois Thompson, honor graduate from Montevallo, have the Junior girls. All Intermediate girls who were here last year know that Miss Juliette Weeks can not be beaten. She will teach them again this year. All our boys have the most unusual treat for them. The Napier boys, who grew up in China, and three other very fine young men, will lead their classes. Don't let the boys miss this great experience.

All who love to sing will greatly enjoy Bro. W. L. Cooper, of Montgomery, one of our very fine evangelistic singers, who will have charge of the music.

These things we have done, but we must have help. So we are asking the women named in the Hospitality Plans given below to make certain that there will be lunch each day. We are trusting these leaders to get in touch with each woman on her lunch committee right away and make plans. It will be hard for no one, if each does her part. If each Association prepares lunch for 150 each day, we will have enough, for Clanton will serve sandwiches to all the small children, and tea for everybody.

Each leader may ask each of her churches to prepare lunch for a certain number, or she may let one church bring all the cakes, another all the chicken, etc., until the menu is prepared. The Circles will serve the lunch, but the leaders are asked to stay downstairs until it is all in, so that she may know how her churches responded. All who bring dishes are urged to go back into the kitchen for them in the afternoon.

Please, leaders, get in touch with your committees and make plans. Please, women, prepare lunch for one day; see that your church feeds about 40, if your leader doesn't tell you what to do. Please, superintendents, announce the programs and plans, and help get ways for your folks to come. Please, pastors, announce the program, come, invite others to come, and together we'll greatly serve the Lord, and we will all be blessed.

CONCORD AND WALNUT CREEK SINGING SOCIETY

We met at Walnut Creeck Sunday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a singing society. On account of other singings, we did not have a very large crowd. We will meet at Concord the fourth Sunday afternoon, June 28. Everyone has a cordial invitation to attend. Be sure to bring plenty of books, as we are expecting a large crowd. Don't forget the date.—S. L. Baker.

PEPPERS NOSED OUT C. C. H. S. IN 11 INNINGS THURSDAY, 5 TO 4

The Woco Peppers outlasted the C. C. H. S. Tigers in an over-time affair last Thursday afternoon, taking an 11-inning fracas from the high school by a 5-to-4 count. Even then it took Locklear's third error of the day to let in the winning run.

Although the high school lads bobbled eight times during the game, and Sugar Boy Easterling gave up nine hits, the kid portsider was tighter than a clam with men on bases. His mates kept him in hot water all the way, but he was elbowing the Peppers out in grand style, and really deserved to win. The earned run count was 2 to 1 in favor of the high school.

The Tigers could get only five hits off Ellison, but managed to make all of them count. Williamson and Armstrong got a couple each, and Marcus chimed in with the other blow. Marcus' hit was a triple, and one of Williamson's sailed over the distant left field wall for a home run.

For the Peppers, Reynolds had three hits, Langford and Glass a pair each, and Gabby Tiffin and Cleckler one each; all of these were singles except one double by Glass. Manager Sparrow Easterling failed to connect in five trips to the plate.

The Sugar Boy struck out seven Peppers, walking one. Ellison struck out six, walked two, and hit one.

"DUTCH" NIVENS IN SHELBY

Stanley "Dutch" Nivens, popular clerk with Alred Drug Co., is visiting relatives in Shelby County this week.

According to "Shorty" Barger, another one of the boys at Alred's, Dutch said upon leaving that it was an old and honored custom in some parts to hold a big celebration when a young fellow becomes 21 years of age; at this time the whole community gathers in, and the individual who has just reached his majority is run down, caught, and fitted with shoes for the first time in his life. Shorty states that Dutch said he had an idea it was about time to catch up some of the boys and put shoes on them, and he wanted to be on hand to see it done.

We don't vouch for the veracity of Shorty's quotation of Dutch—the boys like to kid each other. But any way, Dutch is away visiting for the week.

MOBILE "FREE TRADE ZONE"

Gov. Bibb Graves was in Mobile last Monday for a conference on the proposed establishment of a seaport "free trade zone" there, by which it is hoped the port of Mobile may become the largest shipping point on the Gulf of Mexico.

Several officials of the special committee appointed by the U. S. Department of Commerce empowered to select the gulf port to be made a "free port" inspected the state's $10,000,000 docks, which is likely to prove a great factor in Mobile's application. The Alabama legislature was the first state lawmaking body to enact the necessary enabling legislation looking toward selection of Mobile for the foreign trade zone.

Rep. Fish Suggests Examination of F.D.R. Tax Returns

Says President May Be One Of Major Tax Dodgers

Washington, June 11. — The House heard Rep. Fish (R), New York, suggest today that congressional investigators of alleged tax dodgers scrutinize President Roosevelt's income tax return.

He said he had information from a "reliable authority" that Mr. Roosevelt had deducted losses on his "so-called farm at Hyde Park", New York. "In reality," he said, "it is not a farm, but a palatial residence".

His assertion virtually coincided with the president's signing of a measure creating a Senate-House committee to inquire into tax dodging by the wealthy, and methods of stopping up revenue loopholes. The House meantime plunged into strenuous debate on a resolution to continue "nuisance" taxes and 3-cent postage for two more years.

After criticizing some of the levies—which apply to gasoline, automobiles cosmetics, furs, electricity, and a wide variety of products—Fish suddenly diverted to the question of tax evasion.

"Let me say to members of the ways and means committee—Democrats and Republicans alike," he said, "that if they propose to plug up these holes and stop tax evasions and tax avoidance, that there are other income taxpayers whose income you should also look into.

"I have not myself seen the income tax returns of the President of the United States and I do not believe I would be permitted to see them, but I suggest the committee look at the returns of the president."

An undertone of asides ran through the big chamber when he continued:

"I am informed on reliable authority he has deducted from his income tax the losses on his so-called farm at Hyde Park in my district in New York which, after all, is not a farm, but is a palatial residence.

"If he has done that, why should not others under the law deduct their taxes in the same manner? If you are going to investigate anyone, I suggest that you investigate these taxes as well. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander".

LAY DAM'S LUCK SAVED THE DAY

The luck of the Irish was with Lay Dam again last Sunday, and saved the Kilowatts from what appeared to be a severe shellacking at the hands of the Mignon Millers, from Sylacauga.

Sugar Boy Easterling started on the mound for the Kilowatts, but the Millers hopped on him at the jump like a duck on a June-bug, for a flock of hits and runs, with an error or so thrown in to help the merry-go-round. Clint Jones followed him, after the Sugar Boy had allowed the Millers to bat around, and only one man was out; six more men faced Jones before the uprising was quelled; when the smoke cleared, 15 Millers had poked out nine hits, and 11 runs had clattered across the plate.

Lay Dam got a run back in the third inning, and then in the last half of the ninth, old Lady Luck trumped the Mignonites, and the rain came down in torrents, turning the field into a veritable quagmire, and terminating the day's activities. Inasmuch as five innings had not been played, according to official rules, the umpire called the game on account of wet grounds, declared it "no game", and Lay Dam's luck had saved them again, apparently. Of course, the walloping Kilowatts might possibly have overcome the big lead, and with Whitaker mowing down the Millers with machine gun precision, it is possible that they might have won—possible, but not probable.

The six-months-old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Lesley Cagle was buried at New Harmony, out from Mt. Creek, last Sunday. The little child died Saturday at the home in that community.

HUMANE SOCIETY REPORTS COMPLEX LIQUOR PROBLEMS

Excessive use of liquor since repeal was blamed by William I. Lacy, director of the Cleveland Humane Society, for an increased demand on the services of that organization, in his annual report. Drunken mothers were a greater problem than drunken fathers, the director asserted.

"Drink," Lacy said, "is playing havoc with homes. In 12 per cent of the general cases presented to our intake committee in the past five months, there was surface indication of increased use of alcohol".

Martin's ambulance brought Mrs. Leonard Easterling to Central Alabama Hospital Sunday night about 9:30 o'clock. She underwent an operation Monday morning.

Several Chilton County people attended the singing convention at Capital Heights, Montgomery, last Sunday.

GRAND JURY INDICTS OLD JOHN BARLEYCORN

One of the most amazing exposes of liquor and its effect on American life since repeal is on file from the county grand jury in Cleveland, Ohio.

"In every one of the distressing cases of death caused by a motor vehicle which came to our attention," says the Cuyahoga County Grand Jury, in a report presented by Prof. Henry M. Busch of Cleveland College, "liquor was an important element, if not the chief factor, leading to the accident.

"The jury is strongly of the opinion that a lethargic public opinion with respect to criminal potentialities in the mixture of gasoline, alcohol, and emotional excitement, is largely responsible for the tragic situation today.

"The jury finds that liquor is an important factor in many cases of arson, burglary, sex offenses, stabbing, robbery, assault, and other crimes".

METHODISTS LAMENT LIQUOR USE AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Methodists are interested in action of the the New England conference of the Methodist Episcopal conference in session in Gardner, Mass., in adopting a resolution criticising what it termed the "serving of liquor in the White House".

"We note with sincere and profound regret," the resolution said, "that liquor is served within the home of the President of the United States, and that it was even served at a New Year reception to young people within the White House. We note also that the government has recently dispatched its first shipment of rum from the Virgin Islands, where it was made as a Works Progress Administration project."

REPEALISTS LOSE GEORGIA AGAIN BY 8,277 VOTE EDGE

Late Rural Count Cuts Away Big Wet Majority To Repeat '35 Story

Atlanta, June 9. — Complete, unofficial returns tonight showed defeat of a proposal to repeal Georgia's 22-year-old prohibition law by 8,277 votes.

The vote was: for repeal, 94,652; against repeal, 102,929.

In the same election, Georgians gave a heavy majority to 26 constitutional amendments sponsored by Georgia's pro-Roosevelt Gov. E. D. Rivers, and opposed by the state's anti-New Deal ex-Gov. Eugene Talmadge.

Talmadge conceded the adoption of the amendments, and Marvin Griffin, chairman of the Georgia Alcoholic Control Association, said "the anti-repeal forces have scored another victory."

JOHNNIE IS GRANDPA NOW

Mr. Johnnie Johnson, the county gas truck driver, is looking somewhat decrepit this week; the reason is that on Tuesday at 2 o'clock he became grandpa. The youngster, a 9-pound girl, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Revis Patterson. We believe this is William Patterson's first grandchild, too. Reports are that both grandpas are doing fairly well.

WHY THE SPEED?

When President Roosevelt's bill relating to wages and hours for labor was introduced in congress last Monday, there was immediate prediction of early passage. The sponsors of the bill, Chairman Black of the Senate Committee on Education and Labor, and Chairman Connery of the House Committee on Labor, have announced joint hearings on the proposed measure, to begin next Tuesday. They hope, they say, to conclude the hearings in two weeks. And that is all the time the American people are to have to be heard on the most far-reaching measure—permanent measure—that has been before the present congress. If ever there was a time for careful consideration of legislation, it is here, in connection with this wages and hours bill.

The measure proposes to set up a labor standards board of five members. To this board is to be entrusted the administration of the wages and hours act. As the measure is at present drafted, great discretion is to be lodged with the board. It will pass upon exemptions from the operation of the general rules laid down by the board for maximum hours and minimum wages. It has been said, although the actual language has not yet been included in the bill, that the board will have discretion in fixing the hours and wages, with differentials between various regions of the country. Here is power, indeed. If it is honestly but unwisely used, it can do as much harm as if it used dishonestly. Where in the country to find five Solomons at $10,000 a year to fill the board? Or at any price, for that matter?—Washington (D. C.) Star.

"What is a farm leader and what is it that distinguishes him from a plain old dirt farmer?" a reporter has asked. We admit we were stumped, but tried to cover up with this explanation: "A farm leader is a fellow who travels around the country attending all the conferences on soil erosion, while a plain dirt farmer is a dull plodder who stays at home and cultivates his fields to prevent it."—Garden City (Kan.) Telegram.

"REVITALIZING" THE G. O. P.

Charles Michaelson, publicity director for the Democratic National Committee, whose effectiveness can hardly be gainsaid, in view of the political results since 1930, has come forth in a recent number of the American Magazine with some advice for the Republican party and its leaders. He thinks that if the party is to get anywhere in the future it must get back to its "traditional" conservatism, get rid of its progressives and cease trying to carry water on both shoulders. By inference he may be taken to mean that in the recent campaign the party through its leaders tried to please more than one section of our national political thought.

Whatever was the real reason, it is patent to all that the strategy of the party did not succeed in the recent campaign. It is barely possible, however, that in view of the resources and advantages possessed by the New Deal, no Republican strategy would have succeeded.

The Republican party, however, is not traditionally ultra-conservative. It started out in life as distinctly progressive, and its first president, Abraham Lincoln, was known as a radical. This is not an argument in favor of radicalizing the Reublican party, which has always been anti-socialist and must continue so to be. It is good sense, however, to realize that reviving the Republican party is something more of a job than a mere return to "conservatism".

What is sauce for the gander is sauce for the goose. If he believes that the Republican party should become ultra-conservative and rid itself of all liberals, does Mr. Michaelson believe that the Democratic party should rid itself of its so-called conservative members and so become entirely New Dealistic? Would he have his organization read out of the party such constructive statesmen as Senators Glass and Byrd of Virginia, Vice President Garner, and others who belong to what was known as the "old school" of Democrats? If so, then what about such liberals as Sen. Wheeler of Montana, who has recently seen fit to break with the administration on the Supreme Court question? And does he want Miss Democracy to welcome such Republican liberals as Senators Borah and Nye, and the independent Sen. Shipstead, who has been as vigorously opposed to the court packing idea? Perhaps he advocates an abandonment of all its so-called liberal statesmen by the Republicans, but feels that the New Deal Democracy should retain its Jeffersonian Democrats, and at the same time receive into the fold those statesmen expelled by the "newly conservatized" Republican party. Truly, the problem has its complications.

In closing, it may be added that when it comes to attempts to carry water on both shoulders, the Republican party cannot be justly accused. Those who read the 1932 Democratic platform and compare its principles with subsequent events, and those who read the 1936 platform and the pronouncements of the New Deal orators, and have compared these with what has happened since—with the Supreme Court proposals as an example—will be of the opinion that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones—unless they are sure that the money for relief will hold out for at least another four years.

We are, it seems, on the threshold of an age of reality in federal finance. The first move is to take rose-colored glasses off all government bookkeeprs.—San Francisco Chronicle.

National Affairs

(By FRANK P. LITSCHERT)

Some political observers in Washington have expressed the opinion privately that the president will desist in his efforts to enlarge the Court by six members because, through recent decisions of the Supreme Court validating many of the New Deal measures, they say, "he got what he wanted" and can therefore permit the Court bill to die an easy death, since he has played "smart politics".

The soundness of this assertion of "smart politics", however, seems to be open to some question. In the first place there is no indication that the president was trying to play "smart politics". He is evidently in dead earnest in his desire to enlarge the Supreme Court.

Some of his friends insist that he is going to keep on asking for the passage of his Court bill either in this session of congress or the next because he believes its enactment is necessary to carry out the plans he has outlined. Again there is no ground for believing that the Supreme Court would have ruled otherwise on the New Deal legislation, had the court bill never been heard of. To assert the contrary is to question the intelligence and good faith of the court.

Finally there is no evidence that the president's pushing the Supreme Court bill has added any to the political happiness of the New Deal or the Democratic party as a whole. It was to have been expected that the fundamental Democrats and Republicans would oppose the court program. They have been firmly grounded in the traditional principles of the constitutional ideals. But there has been a rift in the liberal ranks which supported the New Deal generally in the 1936 campaign. Senators like Burke, Wheeler, Van Nuys, Shipstead, Johnson and Borah have opposed the court program, and certainly these statesmen can usually be found in the liberal camp. They are just as opposed to the court program as ever, and there is evidence that the wounds inflicted in this grueling fight are not going to heal so easily.

Already they are indicated in some of the publicity given the new minimum wage and maximum hour proposals, which have been hailed in many quarters as a step toward fascist control of labor in America. Opinions of this kind have materialized not alone with conservative writers. Some of the most caustic comments in the press have come from Dorothy Thompson, one of the outstanding liberal newspaper writers of the country. In a recent syndicated article, widely published, she criticized the proposed wage and hour bills as a step toward regimentation which is incompatible with free democratic government and stated bluntly that, in her opinion, the president's motive in seeking to continue to push his Supreme Court bill is that he wants to put a majority on the court which might enable him to get into law measures which would not be observed as constitutional by such liberal jurists as Justices Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo.

David Lawrence, another publicist of national reputation, states that while he believes that a federal wage and hour law may be necessary to supplement state legislation, he thinks the subject should be studied carefully for at least a year before any action is taken, and asserts that the trend is toward a fascist state, pointing out that executive control of labor has been found essential in Italy and Germany. He expresses the belief that we are drifting in the same direction in the United States.

There has been criticism in the Senate from Democratic leaders, too. Sen. King, an opponent of the original NRA, declared the new bill is "worse than the NRA". He added that "it goes too far and infringes on the power of the states", and declared: "It is in harmony with the plan instituted in Italy by Mussolini to bring all labor under one head". Sen. McCarren of Nevada stated that while he is in sympathy with the purposes of the bill, it raises questions which need careful study, "possibly more than could be given at this session".

Taken all in all, the political situation in Washington at least is more than slightly mixed, and the bitter fight over the so-called court packing proposal has left some scars which indicate that politically the court proposal has not been "smart politics" for the New Deal.

FROM J. M. COFER

Editor Union-Banner:

Allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words in regard to the difference in behavior in our community since Mr. T. V. Mims went back to work as an officer.

Myself and my brother deal with the public quite a bit. We operate in this community a gin, saw mill, and a grist mill, also run a 12-horse farm. You can readily see that we deal with a large group of people.

We people here in this end of Chilton County truly appreciate what Mr. Mims has done for us in the way of law enforcement. I can say, and tell the truth, that when Mr. Mims went to work up here there were plenty of stills and bootleggers. In a short time they were all caught; what didn't get caught quit. They soon learned he would get them. We people up here are behind every move he made, and are still with him.

We people up here understand the matter. The class of folks who wanted to get Mr. Mims off the sheriff's force were a bunch of law violators. I am not writing this letter trying to cast any shadow on anyone. I want the better class of people in this county to know that we are with Mr. Mims in what he has done for us already. We have had a few real large gatherings lately ,and the behavior was perfect. I think we can give Mr. Mims credit for this.

Yours for better citizenship.—J. M. Cofer, R 1, Jemison, Ala.

When the State had a total population of 996,992 it collected $315,000 in poll taxes. When the population had increased to 2,646,294 it was collecting only $309,675.

The taxes on gasoline collected in Alabama during the first three months of 1937 amounted to $2,986,757.93. For the same period in 1934 it amounted to $2,105,181.47. This was an increase of 42 per cent. The rate is six cents per gallon and one half the proceeds goes to the Counties and one half to the State. Under the law all of it must be used in connection with the improving, building and maintaining roads, streets and bridges.

The entire West will be co-hosts at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

ALABAMA STATE FAIR

Birmingham, June 7. — Alabama's greatest State Fair was insured the past week when Secretary-Manager P. T. Strieder announced that the dates chosen for this year's annual show would be September 27 to October 2 inclusive. Mr. Strieder, the man who has made the State's annual show an institution since he took charge three years ago, has arrived in Birmingham and started the machinery in progress for a more elaborate exposition than was ever before held at the State Fair Grounds in Birmingham.

The genius of P. T. Strieder has been buey for the past three years in plannng a veritable flower paradise for the Alabama Fair, and after three years of planning and planting, the scene of this year's show promises to be a revelation to beauty lovers. Thousands upon thousands of blooming plants will greet visitors from over the State when the gates swing open for a week of education, thrills and amusement Monday morning, September 27. Roses in profusion climbing the fence throughtout the confines of the grounds and all abloom, thousands upon thousands of blooming dahlias and other blooming plants. Beauty is one of the watchwords of the Fair for the coming Fall and a veritable paradise who journey into Birmingham to see the State's annual show.

As plans go rapdily forward for the staging of the best fair in the history of the State, preparations for the second annual livestock show are rapidly assuming shape. When the livestock show was inaugurated last year, it was one of the hits of the entire week. A whole year's planning has gone into the building of this year's livestock show. Mr. M. F. Jackson will be in general charge with R. S. Suggs of the Extension Department at Auburn superintending the beef cattle entries and F. W. Burns of Auburn looking after the dairy cattle entries. It is to be an All-Alabama show, with only cattle bred in the State being eligible for the premiums and purses offered.

PETROLEUM TAXES EIGHT TIMES EARNINGS DURING PAST DECADE

Birmingham, June 11. — Mr. D. H. Bohler, Chairman of the Alabama Petroleum Industries Committee, today stated that taxes paid to federal and state governments by and through the petroleum industry have averaged approximately eight times the industry's earnings in the past decade. In 1936 alone the tax collector received a return in taxes of about 8.62 per cent on the industry's capital investment, or more than three times the industry's own return, and during the past decade has enjoyed a return of about 6.57 per cent, whereas the industry averaged 0.83 per cent.

He went on further to say that the situation is revealed in an analysis of the relationship between petroleum taxes and earnings made by the American Petroleum Industries Committee. It was found that the estimated petroleum tax bill in 1936 totalled $1,180,876,256, or approximately three times the 1927 tax bill totalling $398,922,804.

"The study indicated that in the 6-year period 1931 through 1936, taxes on the industry and its products reached the staggering total of $5,785,661,369, whereas the industry had a net loss of $37,757,824."

MT. PLEASANT CLUB

The Mt. Pleasant Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday, June 1, at the home of Mhs. Emmett Reid. We had a good attendance of members and three visitors.

After the roll call and the Bible reading, Psalms 34:1-19, we had a discussion of club business. One item of interest mentioned during this discussion was the possibilities of a County Fair.

At the close of this discussion the meeting was turned over to the leader, who busied themselves in the kitchen to carry out as best they could the demonstrations of salads and Desserts as given at the last leadership school.

After the completion of this demonstration the meeting was adjourned, and we were served with vegetable supper salad, potato salad with sliced frankfurters, lemons chiffon pie and apple tea.

The recipe for the apple tea was given by Mrs. W. H. Kennedy. It is as followers:

Bake dried apples until a golden brown. Place baked apples in a pitcher and pour boiling water over them LLet this steep until cool enough to pour over crushed ice. It is sweetened to suit the taste of the individual. The same apple may be used two or three times. We hope other club mebers will find this delicious becerage very useful during the hot summer months.

The next club meeting is to be held with Mrs. Cleve Thomas.

A "Port of the Seven Winds" will accomodate trade ship exhibits from foreign countries at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition.

BOB JONES COMMENTS ON HERE AND HEREAFTER.

In my contacts with Christian workers in many sections of the country, I often hear the expression, "I follow my guidance," or "I believe in daily guidance", or "I should have done what I was impressed to do". It is true that God gives daily guidance to surrendered Christians. God promises, if we commit our way unto Him, He will direct our paths. We read in the Acts of the Apostles that God's servants were sent out by the Holy Ghost. We also read where one of God's servants said, "We would have gone to a certain place, but the Spirit suffered us not". Yes, God gives daily guidance, but God never draws upon the supernatural when the natural is sufficient. God gave me eyes with which to see. What would we think of a man, with his eyes closed, walking across a crowded street asking God to guide him? Eyesight is as much a gift of God as wisdom. We should use whatever eyesight we have, and ask God at the same time to give us daily guidance. We received our mind from God, and God never guides any man contrary to the dictates of ordinary Christian common sense. I am an evangelist. I have an invitation to go to two cities for evangelistic meetings, and both cities want the same date. I cannot go to both places. I should sit down and in a common sense, practical way, figure out where I could be of most service. I should ask God to save me from selfishness in my decision. If I unselfishly desire to do the will of God and use common sense in making up my mind and pray for divine guidance, I will always go to the right place.

"I am against emotional religion", a man said some time ago. Strange to say, this man was an orthodox Bible teacher. In the course of conversation with the gentleman, I noticed that he was very bitter in his criticism of some Christian workers. I saw quite a good deal of emotion manifested when he expressed himself about those Christian workers with whom he did not agree. Ripley had a picture recently in "Believe It Or Not" of a man who lived to be a hundred years old, and he never smiled and never cried. Jesus was the best all around, well balanced character in human history. The New Testament gives no record of His ever having laughed; however, we read of the joy of the Lord. So Jesus must have had joy. We know He was a man of sorrows. Sorrow is an emotion. He wept at the grave of His friend, Lazarus. Tears are the result of emotion. A wicked woman came and wept on His feet and dried those feet with her hair. The woman did this because she knew Jesus loved her. Love is an emotion. Life without emotion would be cruel. "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace". "In whom believing we rejoice". If there were no emotion there could be no rejoicing. No sane, normal Christian can endorse a "worked up" emotion where people all in the same tone of voice say "Hallelujah", "Praise God", "Glory". One time in the chapel at the Bob Jones College, a very sweet girl, when an announcement which she liked was made, said "goody". That little expression was simply an overflow of the joy emotion. It was perfectly natural and very attractive. "Amens", Hallelujahs", and "Glories" that overflow the heart in a natural, easy sort of way are all right. Sam Jones used to tell about a steamboat that couldn't blow and run at the same time. Some Christians have enough steam to shout, but when they shout, that is all they do. If you have enough Christian steam to say "Amen" and work at the same time, "O. K."

Four thousand trees will be transplanted to the site of the 1939 World's Fair in San Francisco.

NEW DRY CRUSADE RECALLS THE FERVID PRE-VOLSTEAD SPIRIT

Reminiscent of the fervid dry campaigning which led to enactment of the 18th Amendment, a new organization of speakers is in the field now, and will barnstorm through more than 40 states this summer, under auspices of the National Voice, national temperance tabloid.

The itinerary of Miss Ethel Hubler, publisher of the National Voice, calls for more than 100 speeches, in person and on the radio, in California, Oregon, Colorado, Iowa, Illinois, Michigan, Virginia, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia, Georgia and Texas. Miss Hubler's radio program, "Repeal News Flashes", is now broadcast regularly on approximately 80 radio stations from coast to coast.

The Rev. Sam Morris, whose Voice of Temperance broadcasts have been heard three times nightly by radio listeners throughout the nation, is covstates.

Covering still another route, the Rev. L. T. Eaton has undertaken a speaking tour under National Voice auspices, taking him through Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, and the Dakotas.

Dry leaders say it is the most far-flung campaign endeavor in this direction since the Flying Squadron made its sensational nation-wide appeal for prohibition in 1914-1915.

Highlight of the three itineraries will be a memorial mass meeting in ering a different itinerary, barnstorming through Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, the Carolinas, Kentucky, and then back through the middlewestern states into the Pacific Northwest. Before the end of summer Mr. Morris will cover nearly all of the 11 Western Sioux City, Iowa, where the speakers will converge on August 1, in memory of the Rev. George C. Haddock, prohibition martyr who was murdered by liquor men in Sioux City a half century ago. The meeting will attract many nationally known leaders of the temperance movement, and will mark the launching of a great 1937-38 drive for the return of national prohibition.

DRUNKENNESS IS NOW THE PRINCIPAL DIVORCE CAUSE

Drunkenness has become the chief complaint in district court divorce cases in Des Moines, Iowa, according to judges on the bench in that city.

Judge Joseph Meyer, long time head of the court of domestic relations, said there had been a marked increase yearly since the end of prohibition, with this year exceeding previous years, and that habitual drunkenness was the principal grounds for sepration.
